Nader aide spices cocktail party with Nixon tape

WASHINGTON (UPI) — William A. Dobrovir, a lawyer for Ralph Nader, told a federal judge today "I made a very foolish mistake" in playing one of President Nixon's subpoenaed tape recordings at a cocktail party.

U.S. District Court Judge William B. Jones, in a half-hour special hearing he called because of Dobrovir's action, accepted the lawyer's explanation and refused a Justice Department request for a protective order —in effect a "gag" on Dobrovir.

Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott suggested a bar investigation of what he called "questionable ethics" on the part of the lawyer.

Dobrovir represents Nader in a lawsuit contending that an administration decision to allow increased price supports for raw milk was related to dairy industry's campaign contributions to President Nixon's 1972 Campaign.

The tape recording played by Dobrovir Monday was a tape of a meeting by Nixon with dairy leaders on March 23, 1971.

Dobrovir told Judge Jones that he stopped at a Georgetown cocktail party Monday night after making a copy of the tape.

He said he and six other persons were sitting around a fireplace eating salami.

"I made a very foolish mistake. I said I've got in my pocket the hottest item in town. It was suggested —it may have been me —in a moment of relaxation —'may we hear a little bit of it?'"

Dobrovir said he played "maybe four to five minutes."

He told a reporter earlier that the tape was "virtually inaudible."

"I am a very embarrassed man," Dobrovir told the judge.

A Justice Department lawyer, Erwin Goldbloom, asked Judge Jones for a protective order to keep Dobrovir from revealing any of the documents in the dairy case and from making "extra judicial statements."

Jones declined to sign an order, saying if the Justice Department felt there had been unethical behavior, it could file a complaint with the grievance committee of the federal bar.

Jones commented: "I regret very much the condition that exists today. I certainly accept Mr. Dobrovir's explanation. I am quite satisfied there will be no other occasion such as this."

Prices going up

Oil-producing nations adopt new guidelines

VIENNA (UPI) — Representatives of the world's 12 major oil-producing nations have decided on new guidelines expected to increase energy prices for the rest of the world.

Sources in the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) said a conference Tuesday agreed prices should be based on supply and demand. Until now, oil prices have been fixed in advance by the 12 countries.

The sources agreed plans to resrtict supply combined with increasing demand would push prices higher.

Several companies including unidentified American firms last week bought oil at auction from Iran at more than three times the current world price.

OPEC nations from the Middle East, Asia and South America produce 85 per cent of all the world's oil imports. Most other countries must buy oil at OPEC prices or go without fuel.

The sources said closed-door meetings Tuesday and today by technical experts were expected to lead to new price guidelines to be put before OPEC oil ministers at a conference in Tehran Saturday.

OPEC members are Iran, Libya, Saudi Arabia, Iraq, Abu Dhabi, Algeria, Ecuador, Indonesia, Kuwait, Nigeria, Qatar and Venezuela.

Japanese government sources said the nation intended to bid at a Libyan oil auction today, despite the risk of recriminations from American oil companies whose supplies were nationalized by Tripoli earlier this year.

Japan faces the largest fuel shortage of any major industrialized nation. It imports virtually all oil and has had supplies cut back because of its allegedly pro-Israel stance during the Middle East war.

Iraq's oil minister said in an interview with a Beirut newspaper Tuesday his country intended to step up oil production because it did not believe the Arab oil cutback policy was a sound one.

Laird resigns, but agrees to remain until Feb. 1

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon accepted with deepest personal regret Wednesday the resignation of counselor Melvin R. Laird effective Feb. 1. The resignation had been long expected.

Laird, a former defense secretary, said he would be joining Reader's Digest as a senior counselor for national and international affairs.

"I'm leaving in a very pleasant fashion," Laird told a news conference. "There is no difficulty between the President and me."

He said he discussed his departure with Nixon for an hour Monday and at the President's urging agreed to stay on for an additional month to assist in preparing the State of the Union address and the new budget Nixon will submit to Congress in January.

Laird, a former Wisconsin congressman, told reporters that the House should vote on the question of impeaching the President in connection with the Watergate scandal by March 15 at the latest.

"There is no reason why they can't pass judgment in the next 60 days," he commented. "So I call on my colleagues to face up to that responsibility and I hope they will."

He added he had not discussed the question of an impeachment deadline with Nixon and made it clear that he did not expect the House to vote for impeachment.

Laird said: "My estimate is that there is not a majority vote for indictment of the President of the United States. I feel a majority vote does not exist on indictment."

At the same time, Laird said he was "shocked" that a Ralph Nader lawyer had played a subpoenaed White House tape recording at a cocktail party.

Attorney William Dobrovir acknowledged playing the tape at the home of a friend in Georgetown where he stopped for a drink.

State mulls suspension, delay for smog devices

STORM DAMAGE MOUNTING

A crane attempts to lift a tree which crashed against a house Tuesday due to its ice-laden boughs. This was the scene at New Hyde Park, N.Y. in the wake of a winter snowstorm which downed power lines throughout the area, leaving tens of thousands of homes without heat and lights.

Controversial move will be decided today

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The recently shaken up State Air Resources Board Tuesday considered suspension or delay of programs for reduction of air pollutants as a result of the oil shortage crisis.

The five-member board, with four of its members replaced during the past week, heard arguments pro and con for relaxing standards for pollutant emission devices both stationary and automotive.

The principal resolution before the board, to be voted on today, called for deferring for one year the mandatory installation by the end of 1974 of nitrogen oxide control devices on all 1966-70 cars in the state.

The hearing came after Gov. Ronald Reagan wrote former ARB chairman A.J. Haagen-Smith that it was necessary to weigh whether the "immediate need to conserve fuel" does not outmatch air quality controls.

Gladys Meade, one of the former board members, made a plea to the newly constituted ARB not to drop or roll back the nitrogen oxide retrofit program.

"It is the single issue on which we spent the greatest amount of time and it is desperately needed," she said.

"We must not let the energy crisis put us in a state of automatic rejection for environmental programs."

Richard J. Ronan, area manager for technical services and research for Texaco, said that the gasoline industry could not supply sufficient lead free gasoline of the proper octane levels to satisfy the entire car population if all autos were fitted with catalytic converters.

The retrofit program for 1966-70 cars had called for installation according to license plate numbers throughout the state and completed by October.

The resolution before the board would instead defer the plan for a year and call for installation of smog devices on transfer of ownership and registration as is presently under way.

However, it called for that program to be limited at least until next April to the San Francisco Bay, San Diego and Los Angeles basin areas.

Staff reports prepared for the ARB detailed the loss in mileage incurred by cars outfitted with retrofit and catalytic converters.

Legislators agree to give President authority to impose gas rationing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House and Senate conferees have agreed to give President Nixon unlimited authority to impose gasoline rationing, without the consent of Congress.

Hoping to have emergency energy legislation on President Nixon's desk before they adjourn for the holiday, the conferees also agreed Tuesday to allow the President to order other energy conservation measures until June 30, subject only to veto by either house of Congress. After June 30, the president would have to seek specific legislation for any further energy conservation moves except gasoline rationing.

The conferees, trying to iron out differences between House and Senate measures to deal with the energy crisis, worked on the measure until midnight and scheduled another meeting this morning to work out compromises on other portions of the bill.

As a result of lower speed limits imposed because of the energy crisis, the Teamsters union demanded Tuesday that its national contract with the trucking industry be reopened. Truck drivers are paid by the mile, and Teamsters President Frank Fitzsimmons, invoking a wage reopener clause in the contract, said the union will seek to raise the per-mile pay of long-haul drivers. The lower speed limits were imposed to save fuel.

Nixon scheduled a mid-afternoon meeting today with William Simon, his energy chief, presumably to discuss the possibility of rationing. Simon has said he will announce, possibly before the end of the week, whether he will recommend rationing, an option he has said should be used only as a "last resort."

The Senate planned to vote today on legislation creating a federal energy administration, the office now headed by William E. Simon, and a Council on Energy Policy.

Prior to final passage, due late in the day, the Senate scheduled votes on amendments that would strictly limit price increase for crude oil and refined petroleum products, but would allow now-regulated gas prices at the well-head to rise freely.

Lewis misses majority, to face Ayala in runoff

By PAUL HILL
P-B Staff Writer

Assemblyman Jerry Lewis and San Bernardino County Supervisor Ruben Ayala will compete in a runoff election Jan. 15 to decide who will fill the unoccupied 20th Senate District seat in the state legislature.

The runoff will be held as a result of Tuesday's special election in which Lewis barely missed getting the 50 per cent plus-one majority needed to win the election outright and avert a runoff.

Lewis, a Republican, received 26,860 or 49.1 per cent of the votes cast. Ayala, a Democrat, captured 20,512 votes or 37.5 per cent.

The remaining votes went to Democrat Ralph Carter and Republican Robert Allenthorp. Carter, a Rialto city councilman, received 6,280 votes (11.4 per cent), while Allenthorp, a Big Bear businessman, got 1,014 (1.8 per cent).

Only 26.4 per cent of the district's, 209,092 eligible voters turned out for the election, which was being held to fill the position vacated five weeks ago by William E. Coombs. Coombs, a Republican, resigned to take a job with the Treasury Department.

Lewis maintained a slim lead over Ayala in the first four hours of the counting, which consisted mainly of returns in the heavier-populated western sections of the district. But his lead gradually began to grow shortly after midnight as returns from the Republican-dominated desert areas began pouring into the registrar of voters office in San Bernardino.

By 2 a.m., all 275 precincts had reported, and the registrar of voters released the semi-official tally which confirmed the runoff.

Democrats hold a 56 to 39 per cent edge over Republicans in terms of registered voters in the district.

The election has statewide importance since an Ayala victory could give Democrats a 21-19 edge in the Senate and control of both Houses in the Legislature.

Local observers are also keeping a watchful eye on the outcome, since the winner will be the incumbent in the newly-reapportioned 32nd Senate District in next year's elections. The new Senate district will consist of the western portion of San Bernardino County and the city of Pomona.

Under the shadow of Watergate, the candidates made integrity the main issue during the short five-week campaign. It is likely Lewis and Ayala will follow the same approach between now and the time of the runoff.

Both Lewis and Ayala made repeated attempts to outdo each other in opening up their campaigns for close scrutiny by the press and the public.

White House to get subpoenas for tapes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Watergate committee's chief counsel said the White House would be served today with subpoenas for about 200 tape recordings and 100 other documents.

The committee voted Tuesday to issue the subpoenas some 15 hours after a new law took effect empowering it to take such action in quest of Presidential documents.

Samuel Dash, committee counsel and staff director, said today that lawyers for President Nixon had "graciously agreed" to accept the subpoenas on the President's behalf.

Dash would not say precisely when the subpoenas would be served, "because I want this to be as low-key as possible."

There was no word how soon the White House might comply with the subpoenas. The new law empowering the committee to issue subpoenas took effect without Nixon's signature at midnight Monday. He made clear he was opposed to it but allowed the act to become law on grounds a veto might be misunderstood by the public.

Chairman Sam J. Ervin, D-N. C., said in announcing the subpoenas Tuesday that the materials sought "relate to the matters the committee is authorized to investigate."

Some of the tape recordings sought were said to include conversations the President had with such former top officials as H. R. Haldeman, John D. Ehrlichman, John W. Dean, Charles W. Colson, John N. Mitchell and others.

Ervin said the tapes and other documents the committee wants to screen include materials relating to "the burglary of the Watergate, the bugging of the Watergate, the dirty tricks and sabotage of the (1972) campaigns of people seeking the Democratic nomination for President, and all campaign funds."

It was learned that the subpoenas also cover documents related to the dairy industry's $427,500 contribution to the Nixon re-election campaign after price supports for milk were raised, and billionaire Howard Hughes' gift of $100,000 for Nixon through the President's friend, C. G. "Bebe" Rebozo.

Central U.S. paralyzed by blizzard conditions

By United Press International

Freezing rain, heavy snow and blizzard conditions today paralyzed portions of the central United States.

Heavy snow or winter storm warnings extended from the mountains of Colorado and New Mexico, through the Central Plains and Central Mississippi Valley region, and into the northern portions of the Texas Panhandle, Oklahoma and Nebraska.

Blizzard or blizzard conditions, backed by winds up to 45 miles per hour, were expected to last during the day over much of Kansas, Colorado and New Mexico.

Many schools in the Colorado-Wyoming area were closed today. Numerous basketball games scheduled for Tuesday night were canceled.

Firefighters near Glenrock, Wyo., braved 15-degree temperatures and gusty winds with blowing snow in their battle against a two-week old oil well fire where damage was expected to go into the millions.

In the East, many of the 200,000 homes that have been without power since Sunday night today were still without lights or heat.

The Denver Headquarters of the State Patrol reported their switchboard was swamped with calls from drivers who had fought the weather and lost.

"When we have 30 pileups all over the roads, that's pretty bad," said one dispatcher. "We can barely handle all of the accident reports that are pouring in. And it's all over, not just Denver."

The Museum of Natural History in Denver City Park closed up Tuesday after the storm knocked out all power in the building. The Denver Post decided to cancel printing its final street edition because of distribution problems.

Governors from Arizona and New Mexico were forced to cancel their attendance at the Four Corners Regional Commission meeting in Denver because of the snow.

The storm dumped 10 inches of snow in Montana, seven inches in the Black Hills of South Dakota, 12 inches in Meeker, Colo., and in Silver Bay, Minn., 18 inches fell, forcing the closing of schools and keeping many residents home from work. The 18 inches were more than the total received all of last winter.

The new Arctic blast tumbled temperatures in the South by more than 30 degrees, with as much as four inches of snow expected in Texas today.

"We've got snow and blowing snow helped along by northerly winds gusting to 50 miles per hour," said a Dalhart, Tex., resident. "This puts the wind chill factor down to less than 20 degrees below freezing."

A Long Island, N.Y., lighting company spokesman said up to 70,000 customers, mainly in Nassau and Norfolk counties, were still without power today. He said an earlier figure of 53,000 had to be revised upward "Because downed trees and travel conditions prevented us from making a complete inspection."

The death toll from the eastern storm reached at least 22 Tuesday. The weather was blamed for six deaths in New York, five in Virginia, three in Pennsylvania, two each in Connecticut and Maryland, and one each in Massachusetts, Rhode Island, New Jersey and Indiana.

Two deserters to surrender seeking amnesty for selves, 50,000 others

NEW YORK (UPI) — Two men who deserted the U.S. Army because of the Vietnam War planned to surrender to military authorities today. They hoped to establish a precedent of "de facto amensty" for the estimated 50,000 draft dodgers and deserters living in exile or underground.

They are Edward McNally, 24, who has been living with his family somewhere on Long Island for four years and Lewis Simon, 29, a leader of an American deserter group in Sweden since his desertion in 1968.

They were to formally announce their decision to surrender at a Christmas party of Safe Return, an exile support group whose backers include film producer Otto Preminger, film critic Clive Barnes and theatrical producer Joseph Papp. The actual attempt to surrender may take place at Fort Hamilton in Brooklyn.

An Army spokesman said that, normally, deserters who turn themselves in are put on restriction, assigned a lawyer and brought to trial.

The spokesman said McNally and Simon might be able to plead guilty to the lesser charge of being absent without leave rather than desertion.

If found guilty on the AWOL charge, they could be sentenced to jail for six months to two years. The desertion charge carries a penalty of up to life in prison, although the spokesman said that, in practice, this is not used.

Safe Return hopes to persuade the Army to forego court martials for Simon and McNally and instead grant them administrative discharges.

"In a sense, I've come home as a test case," said Simon, a New York City native who returned here last week from Sweden. "If the army is easier on me, that hopefully will set a precedent so that when others continue to come home, they will get better treatment."

Simon, who has a master's degree from the University of Hawaii added, "What we're working for here is a kind of de facto amnesty."

McNally, who grew up in a broken home in a poor area of Brooklyn, came back from Vietnam with a drug habit which he later kicked.

Recently, he enrolled in a Long Island University, posing as a discharged veteran, began helping drug addicts in a rehabilitation program, and became engaged to be married.

"I decided to turn myself in because I was tired of lying, of living dishonestly," he said. "I decided it was time to build a real future.

ANG security officer jailed on dope count

ONTARIO — An 18-year-old Air National Guard security policeman at Ontario International Airport was arrested by an Ontario police officer during a routine traffic stop and booked in the West End Jail on suspicion of possession of marijuana.

Police Officer Harold Hoehn said he observed a vehicle with loud mufflers in the area of Berlyn Avenue and Fourth Street Tuesday and stopped the car driven by George Gustavo Cortes, 18, of 916 E. Granada Court.

Hoehn said Cortes had no driver's license in his possession, but identified himself as a security policeman at the Air National Guard at OIA. Hoehn was given permission by Cortes, to make a search. Hoehn said he found a plastic baggie in Cortes' left outer coat pocket. The baggie contained a green leafy substance and some stems believed to be marijuana, Hoehn said. Cortes was arrested and taken to the West End Jail for booking.

Boyle sentence reduced; ordered to begin term

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal Judge Charles Richey today ordered W. A. "Tony" Boyle jailed immediately for making illegal political contributions from United Mine Workers funds, but reduced the sentence of the former UMW president from five to three years.

Boyle, 72, is expected to be taken to a federal prison hospital at Springfield, Mo. He has been in a hospital since a suicide attempt Sept. 24.

Richey originally sentenced Boyle to the five-year term, and said he was reducing the period because of his health. The pale Boyle, defeated a year ago for re-election as UMW head, sat throughout the hearing in a wheelchair.

Boyle uttered only a few words during the proceeding, telling Richey he had nothing to say on his own behalf.

Richey denied a defense motion to suspend the prison sentence entirely, saying he hoped word would go out "that at least one judge does not view crimes of this type as anything less than serious."

Five hijackers await safe passage from Kuwait camp

KUWAIT (UPI) — Five hijackers waited in a Kuwait military camp today for safe passage out of the country, with the bloodiest Arab guerrilla attack over and the last 12 hostages heading back to Rome where it all began.

The 30-hour ordeal ended Tuesday when the five terrorists surrendered after their hijacked Lufthansa Boeing 737 landed in Kuwait, completing an odyssey of terror stretching from Rome to Athens to the Middle East.

A Lufthansa spokesman in Frankfurt said the hijackers were taken under guard to a Kuwaiti military camp to await safe passage to an unannounced destination in exchange for freeing the hostages unharmed.

The spokesman said the passengers and crew were brought to a Kuwaiti hotel to await a flight later today to Italy.

The Lufthansa official said the terrorists left behind two submachine guns, five pistols, six hand grenades and a few pounds of explosives.

The two days of terror left 33 dead—32 killed at Rome's Leonardo Da Vinci airport and the last victim dying en route to Athens after being wounded in Rome.

In Athens, the guerrillas dumped the last body onto the airport tarmac and ordered the pilot to tell authorities they were killing the hostages one-by-one.

Kuwaiti officials said later there were no killings in Athens, but the commandos ordered the pilot to lie to pressure Greek authorities into releasing two imprisoned Palestinians.

The casualty figure made it the worst Arab terrorist attack to date, topping the 28 persons slain in 1972 during an attack at Israel's Lod International airport.

One hijacker told Kuwait officials the guerrillas "are not criminals" and "carried out this operation in defense of our rights."

The commando raid, however, was condemned by Arab guerrilla organizations and political leaders. Palestinian chief Yasser Arafat called it "an immoral act."

The ordeal began Monday afternoon at the Rome airport when the five suddenly began spraying the passenger lounge with submachine gun fire.

They ran outside and boarded a Pan Am jet, lobbing grenades and firing at the 68 persons on board, including 30 Americans planning to spend Christmas with relatives working for the Arabian-American Oil Co. in Saudi Arabia.

Viet Cong release American civilian

SAIGON (UPI) — The Viet Cong freed an American civilian today more than two months after he was seized by the Communists in a evening ambush in the Mekong Delta.

A spokesman for Pacific Architects and Engineers (PAE), an American contracting company, said Homer L. Elm, 43, of Arcadia, S.C., was set free in a remote hamlet near Can Tho, 75 miles southwest of Saigon.

Airline strike ends, operations resumed

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Trans World Airlines, grounded by a 45-day strike by cabin attendants, resumed operations today. Officials said the nation's second largest air carrier would be back on its normal schedule in time for the Christmas crush.

The Transport Workers Union approved by "a substantial majority" a three-year contract that increased wages by 13.5 per cent and a 5.5 per cent increase retroactive to the expiration of the old contract on Aug. 1, 1972.

A union spokesman said the contract also provides improved life insurance and medical benefits, better travel expenses, and other fringe benefits.

Don't shop for tree in a national forest

SAN BERNARDINO — If "doing your thing" includes cutting your own Christmas tree from a national forest—reconsider.

The practice of providing Christmas trees from the San Bernardino National Forest was abandoned many years ago, officials said.

The demand resulting from increased population, coupled with the constant fight to control smog and insect damage, far exceeds the supply.

A policy exception is a limited number of trees provided for military hospitals through a cooperative program with the military and Red Cross.

Previously selected trees will be cut and the Red Cross will distribute them to hospitals at March, Norton and George air force bases, Twentynine Palms and Barstow military installations.

Unathorized cutting of trees or shrubs on national forest or private land is punishable under the state penal code. Persons convicted may receive a maximum $500 fine and six months in jail.

Japan leader to quit hospital soon

TOKYO (UPI) — Doctors treating Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka for an ear infection say he will be released from the hospital about Christmas Day— well before his scheduled departure for a tour of Southeast Asia in January.

Attending physician Masateru Kashima said today the prime minister is "recovering favorably" and would be able to leave the hospital for a while on Friday to attend three conferences, including a regular cabinet session.

Tanaka was admitted to the government-run hospital Saturday for treatment of inflammation of the inner ear caused by a cold aggravated by fatigue.

Actor says U.S. Russ detente alive

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Actor Chuck Connors, who has an "in" at the Kremlin, says that as far as Russian leader Leonid I. Brezhnev is concerned, the Soviet-American detente is still healthy despite the Middle East war.

Connors met Brezhnev at the Western White House and discovered that the Soviet leader is a Western movie fan. Since then the two have become friends, exchanging gifts—Connors gave Brezhnev a six gun— and the Russian leader invited Connors to Moscow.

Connors went to Russia earlier this month and said Tuesday Brezhnev told him the detente "did not fall apart at the seams" because of the Arab-Israeli war and that he considers the course of U.S.-Soviet relations "very positive an very good."

Newsman's widow to get $700,000

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The county agreed Tuesday to pay $700,000 to Sally Salazar, widow of newsmen Ruben Salazar who was killed by a deputy sheriff in August, 1970.

Salazar worked for the Los Angeles Times and KMEX. He was a commentator on Mexican-American affairs and a foreign correspondent in Latin America. Salazar was in the Silver Dollar Cafe when the sheriff's deputy, acting on a report there were armed men inside, fired a tear gas shell into the cafe. The shell hit Salazar in the head, killing him.

Mrs. Salazar sued for $1.5 million on behalf of herself and her three children. The County Board of Supervisors approved a $700,000 settlement, described as the largest such settlement in the history of the board.

Nixon appoints 3 to commission

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Leonard H. Marks, former director of the United States Information Agency, was named by President Nixon Tuesday to be a new member and chairman of the U.S. Advisory Commission on International Education and Cultural Affairs.

Nixon also nominated for reappointment to the commission Leo Cherne of New York, executive director of the Research Institute of America, and added New York lawyer Rita E. Hauser as a new member.

The appointments are subject to Senate confirmation.

Committee okays envoy to Soviet

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee Tuesday recommended confirmation of Walter J. Stoessel Jr., to be the new American ambassador to the Soviet Union.

Stoessel, a career foreign service officer, is now assistant secretary of state for European affairs.

The committee recommended confirming Arthur A. Hartman of New Jersey, also a career diplomat, to replace Stoessel as assistant secretary on the European desk. The Moscow post has been vacant for almost a year.

Richardson bids for U.S. Senate

H. L. RICHARDSON

LOS ANGELES — State Sen. H. L. "Bill" Richardson said today he will seek the Republican nomination next June for the U.S. Senate seat now held by Democrat Alan Cranston.

Richardson made his announcement at press conferences in Los Angeles, San Diego and San Francisco. He is the first Republican to declare Senate candidacy.

Richardson currently represents the 19th state Senate District, which includes San Dimas in the Pomona Valley. However, when the newly reapportioned districts go into effect next year, he will serve the 25th Senate District, which, besides San Dimas, will take in Claremont and La Verne in the Pomona Valley.

He will not have to relinquish his present position in the legislature to run for the U.S. Senate post, since state senators in odd-numbered districts do not have to face re-election until 1976 despite the reapportionment.

The country's economic situation, Richardson says, will serve as the basis for his campaign.

"In the United States, the federal government has embarked upon an inflationary policy, and if it continues I see a 20 per cent inflationary rate by 1975," Richardson said.

Richardson charged the legislators in Washington are "refusing to come to grips with a very difficult economic picture. They have this crazy idea we can spend our way into propserity by the printing of paper currency."

He believes there should be less government interference and regulation in the private sector, and warned that unless action is taken to do so the inevitable conclusion will be "the demand by those in public office for nationalization of our industries for their (industries') common good.' "

Richardson, who did not endorse President Nixon in the 1972 GOP presidential primary (he endorsed Rep Wayne Ashbrook of Ohio), said fallout from Watergate will have an effect on both his Senate campaign and on other Republican candidates running for office.

"Yes, it will have a bad effect," Richardson said. "Any Republican who doesn't think so is fooling himself."

At least three other Republicans are reported considering Senate candidacy. They are Dr. Earl W. Brian, 31, the secretary of the State Health and Welfare Agency; Robert H. Finch, 48, former lieutenant governor and Nixon administration official; and S. I. Hayakawa, 67, retired president of San Francisco State University.

Claremonter nabs suspect in home theft

CLAREMONT — A 24-year-old man subdued a burglary suspect he found carrying two rifles from his ransacked home at 369 S. Mills Ave. late Tuesday afternoon.

The suspect, 18-year-old Christopher Watts, 1102 E. La Verne Ave., Pomona, was taken to Pomona Valley Community Hospital where several stitches were used to close a cut in his scalp. Then he was booked on suspicion of burglary and possession of drugs.

Police gave this account:

Gary W. Pocock returned home shortly before 4:30 and saw Watts in an alley, carrying two rifles belonging to him. Pocock confronted him, subdued him and took him to his landlord's house nearby where he called police.

During the call, Watts tried to leave and was hit on the head with a coffee pot wielded by the landlord. Police arrived shortly after and placed Watts under arrest. They found three-quarters of an ounce of marijuana on him and 43 pills suspected of being amphetamines.

Officers said Pocock's house had been entered through a back door and ransacked. They found a pillowcase containing stereo equipment and other items from the house hidden behind the garage.

Officers quoted Watts as denying the burglary, saying he was just passing by and saw the guns lying on the ground. He said he also found the drugs, they reported.

Suspect in Pomona store slayings charged with gas station robbery

POMONA —Tommy Langston, 21-year-old suspect in the slaying of two men here during a liquor store robbery Oct. 11, has been arraigned on a robbery charge involving a service station.

Langston was arraigned in Pomona Municipal Court before Judge Houston A. Snidow who scheduled his preliminary hearing for Jan. 2, The defendant was ordered held in lieu of $10,000 bail.

No charges have been filed against him in the robbery-slaying.

Langston was returned last weekend from Arkansas by Pomona police officers who went there to pick him up after his arrest on the robbery warrant by Arkansas authorities. The suspect waived extradition.

The holdup he is accused of involves a service station robbery, not the robbery of the Plaza Liquors, 1785 N. Garey Ave., where owner Merle M. Paup, 63, and clerk Herbert Yount, 62, were shot to death.

A second suspect in the slayings, Curtis Lee Williams, 29, is awaiting arraignment in Pomona Superior Court. He is ill in the jail ward of County-USC Medical Center. His statements to police reportedly linked Langston to the Plaza Liquors incident. Police still seek a third man in connection with the killings.

New suspect is arrested in slaying

LA VERNE — A new suspect was arrested this morning in the slaying Nov. 11 here of Jon Balfour Soupcoff.

La Verne officers booked Ruben Sanchez, 20, 15214 Homeward Ave., La Puente, on suspicion of murder after taking him into custody this morning at his home.

Detective D. F. Griggs said Sanchez is suspected of being the one who stabbed Soupcoff following a party at the La Verne Inn, 1520 White Ave. Soupcoff, 508 Meadow Lane, Pomona, was stabbed four times when a fight broke out on the center divider near the inn.

Three hundred to 400 persons had attended a birthday party there that night. The fight was the result of words exchanged earlier during the party.

During the investigation, police booked six persons in connection with the slaying, but all were released. Griggs said today they expect to make no other arrests.

Two youths arrested in knife holdup

POMONA — A pair of 13-year-old boys were arrested late Tuesday morning on charges of trying to rob three other boys at knife point near Freda and Las Vegas avenues.

Brian K. George, 14, one of the victims, said he had a knife put to his stomach, was hit by a rock and chased by the pair who demanded money from him and the others. All five are students at Palomares Junior High School.

The two suspects were booked on suspicion of assault with intent to commit robbery and assault with a deadly weapon. Police quoted them as claiming they weren't serious and were only "fooling around."

Driver arrested after crash

POMONA — A woman motorist was arrested early this morning after her car hit a parked car and then a house at 643 N. East End Ave.

The motorist, Inez B. Daab, 39, of 707 N. East End Ave., was treated for minor injuries at Pomona Valley Community Hospital and booked on a drunken driving charge.

Police reported she was northbound on East End Avenue shortly after 2 a.m. when her car hit the parked car, jumped the curb and hit the house, breaking a hole in the wall. Both the house and car belong to Harold E. Wells.

Man hit on head and robbed

ONTARIO — A Los Angeles man told Ontario police that he was hit on the back of the head and robbed of a small amount of cash while he was walking in the alley by the Orange Hotel at Firestone Avenue and Lemon Street Tuesday evening.

Joseph Karo, 27, of Los Angeles staggered out of the alley about 5:30 p.m. and called police to report the robbery. Karo was taken to San Antonio Community Hospital with a head injury, and was later released.

Karo said he saw no one in the alley before he was struck on the back of the head. The victim told police that the robbers took the money from his wallet.

Man with revolver robs mart

ONTARIO — A man wearing a wide-brimmed black hat with a gold band and armed with a revolver robbed a cashier of a small amount of cash and checks at Jesse's Market, 606 E. Francis St. Tuesday night, police reported.

Police said that the robber walked into the store, said "Hi" to the cashier, Cayetano R. Bustamonte, and displayed a snub-nosed revolver.

The robber ordered Bustamonte to empty the money from the cash register into a paper bag.

Bustamonte told police that the robber also demanded the checks from the register. The robber escaped on foot.

The robber was described as a Negro, 5 feet 11, 170 pounds, wearing a red shirt and a black leather jacket.

Derailment injures worker

INDUSTRY — A railroad worker was injured in the deliberate derailment of a Southern Pacific work train here late Tuesday night.

John T. Owen, 29, of 1020 St. Malo Ave., West Covina, sprained his back when he jumped from the boxcar which was derailed. Owen was treated at Queen of the Valley Hospital in West Covina.

Sheriff's deputies reported that the four-car work train struck a piece of angle-iron which had been placed on the track. The incident occurred near 15630 E. Valley Blvd.

Armed youth robs motel

POMONA — A youth with an automatic pistol robbed the Chalet Lodge Motel, 2030 W. Holt Ave., Tuesday night.

Annie G. Kow, 14-year-old daughter of the motel owner, said the youth walked in, selected a greeting card from a rack and then pulled the gun as she rang up the sale. He reached over and looted the cash register before running.

The robber was described as a chubby negro about 17, 5 feet 7 weighing 140 pounds. He wore a black windbreaker and blue jeans.

Fumigation job raises big stink

POMONA — Weary of being bugged, an apartment owner at 759 N. Caswell Ave. decided to take matters in his own hands Tuesday evening.

The result was his rescue by the Pomona Fire Department and he was cited for breaking the law.

Firemen said Robert Helm, owner of the apartment, was trying to fumigate the apartment by placing sulfur on the inside of several garbage can lids and igniting the sulfur. The lighted sulfur created a great deal of smoke which firemen cleared out of the apartment.

Mark Graves is the occupant of the apartment.

Helm was cited for violation of a municipal code which prohibits do-it-yourself fumigation projects such as his attempt.

Chino's change of zoning dispute remains unresolved

By MAE TATE
P-B Staff Writer

CHINO — The City Council failed to resolve a zone change controversy Tuesday night after 3½ hours of debate and discussion with local residents.

The public hearing merely continued in greater detail the issues presented previously at Planning Commission and council meetings.

The controversy involves a zone change from light manufacturing (M-1) to multiple residential (R-2) for property on the south side of Chino Avenue between Monte Vista Avenue and Third Street.

The council tabled the matter Tuesday night, failing to affirm its action six months ago which amended the general plan to allow for R-2 zoning in this area.

At that time, the council acknowledged nearly two years change in order to improve and expand their homes and adopted the general plan change as an expression of faith. However, although reminded of that action Tuesday, the council balked under protest from an owner of manufacturing property.

The council deleted this area from an ordinance which involves 15 other zone changes after the four members present split on any action to be taken.

Mayor Bob McLeod and Councilman Ed Lynch moved from the matter to be sent back to the Planning Commission with instructions to correct the general plan to conform with land uses. Councilmen Leonard Frketich and Angel Martinez opposed the motion and then moved for approval of the Planning Commission recommendation for the zone change. McLeod and Lynch voted no to this.

City Atty. Bill McVittie told councilmen that the parcel had to be deleted at the end of the 16 zone change hearings in order for the total ordinance to pass.

Bruce Lance, an Ontario attorney representing Pete DiSandro, owner of industrial property in the affected area, spoke against the change to R-2. He pointed out that M-1 zoning was consistent with the existing zone around the area, would cause no substantial loss to landowners and residential citizens could continue to live as they had in the past.

Martin Selgado spoke on behalf of those favoring R-2.

Selgado stated that residents became concerned when DiSandro purchased property in the neighborhood that gave him access to F Street and created a situation to allow heavy traffic to concentrate in the area. Citizens expressed worry about the danger for children of increased industrial traffic and the further deterioriation of the streets. The R-2 zoning would give some control over these concerns, Selgado said.

Two petitions were presented for each side, both having signatures in some instance of the same person. A parade of residents came before the council, protesting both R-2 and M-1 zoning.

Gale Carr, director of building, planning and community development, explained that if the area is to remain M-1 a general plan amendment would be in order because of the previous action by council six months ago. With M-1, residents would be allowed to maintain their houses, but they would not be able to expand or improve, he explained.

Likewise with R-2 zoning, industrial use could continue, but could not expand. He added that DiSandro could expand his industrial use by constructing an office building during the interim period of 45 days before a R-2 zone would go into effect.

"These people in this area have a right to R-2," said Frketich. "As far as when they can sell, economics gives them that right, not the City Council."

"DON'T DISBAR ME" — Spiro Agnew leaves Anne Arundel Circuit Court in Annapolis, Md., Tuesday where he pleaded with a three-judge panel not to disbar him. The former vice president asked for suspension.

Agnew pleads with court not to strip his livelihood

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (UPI) — Former Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, his voice barely audible, pleaded with a three-judge state court Tuesday "not to strip me of my means of livelihood" by forbidding him to practice law in Maryland.

Instead, Agnew, in a 12-minute presentation, suggested that he be suspended temporarily.

"I can resume a useful place in the practice of law after my suspension," Agnew said in a low voice. "The practice of law means quite a lot to me. I want to return at some later date to bring credit to my practice and to the courts."

Agnew, who was governor of Maryland before President Nixon tapped him as his running mate in 1968, was dressed immaculately in a gray suit, light blue shirt and dark tie. Agnew resigned in disgrace as vice president Oct. 10 minutes before he was fined $10,000 on a charge of tax evasion. In a deal with the government to avoid a possible prison sentence, Agnew did not contest the charge. A number of other charges that he extorted thousands of dollars in kickbacks while he was a local official, governor and vice president were dropped.

Professional misconduct

The Maryland Bar Association's ruling board of governors unanimously recommended that Agnew be forbidden to practice law in the state, arguing that his no-contest plea was evidence of "professional misconduct, a crime involving moral turpitude or conduct prejudicial to the administration of justice."

"I had very good reasons to plead the way I did," Agnew told the judges at the crowded disbarment hearing in the 148-year-old Anne Arundel County couurthouse. But he said that "some of the reasons must remain held within me for the foreseeable future."

Agnew said he thought that suspension, rather than disbarment, would be "a reasonable solution to preserve the integrity of the court, the bar, and the legal profession."

Agnew, accompanied by five Secret Service agents, slipped on the ice and momentarily lost his balance as he entered the courthouse. He grabbed a policeman's arm and smiled. Immediately after the hearing he sped away in a chauffeured limousine.

Eddie Fenton, a Baltimore radio station political reporter who has known Agnew for many years, said the former vice president's hand trembled when he shook it at the close of the 2-½ hour hearing.

Agents stationed at doorways with a metal detector checked parcels and handbags carried by spectators, including curious housewives and a gallery full of midshipmen from the Naval Academy.

Sits straight

Agnew sat very straight in his chair during the hearing, occasionally turning to confer with attorney E. Dale Adkins. He showed no emotion as Alfred L. Scanlan, representing the bar association, argued for disbarment.

"A large segment of the public has become disenchanted and distrustful of lawyers in public office," Scanlan said. "The purpose of this disciplinary action is to protect the public."

Speaking on behalf of the former vice preesident, Adkins told the panel: "We ask no specific consideration for Mr. Agnew as a result of his former high position. We ask that the sole position of this proceeding is whether he should be permitted to practice law. His atonement has been decided by Judge Walter E. Hoffman." It was Hoffman who fined Agnew $10,000 and placed him on three years probation.

The three-judge panel took the arguments under advisement and promised a recommendation as soon as possible. The Maryland Court of Appeals is expected to make the final decision in the case about 90 days after it receives the panel's reports.

Prescription drug prices can be slashed, says Nader

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Ralph Nader says Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Casper Weinberger has it within his power to shave millions from what consumers and the government pay for prescription drugs.

Weinberger could issue a regulation prohibiting the HEW Department from paying above the lowest price for generic drugs when it makes purchases under federal health programs such as Medicare and Medicaid, Nader said.

When drugs are sold under their chemical, or generic, names they are usually cheaper than when the identical compounds are sold under brand names. The U.S. government spends $1.5 billion a year on prescription drugs. Consumers spend another $7.5 billion.

Weinberger will have an opportunity to reply to Nader today before the Senate health subcommittee.

Nader told the subcommittee Tuesday that if Weinberger would direct the government to buy drugs only by their generic names and if it educated doctors to prescribe by generic names, the savings could exceed $1 billion.

Series of hearings

He was the first witness at a series of hearings into drug industry practices chaired by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass. The hearings are expected to stretch into the summer and to be conducted in other cities.

Nader said they could equal in importance the hearings in the 1960s by the late Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., which led to many reforms and removed from the market drugs found to be ineffective.

Nader said the Food and Drug Administration has established that there is no significant difference in quality between generic and brand name prescription drugs.

"Surely this is reasonable ground for the immediate institution of regulations providing that HEW will pay no more than the lowest-priced generics under its programs," he said." After all, senators and congressmen — and indeed the President — receive generics when they enter Walter Reed or the Naval Hospital (in Bethesda, Md.)."

When the Defense Department bought the tranquilizer meprobamate from a Danish firm under its generic name, Nader said, it paid $1.68 per 500 tablets. When the Veterans Administration bought the same drug from a U.S. maker, he said, it paid $10 for the same quantity.

But when pharmacists buy the identical drug, the prevailing price is $31.20, he said, to which druggists add their customary markup of 66.7 per cent.

Higher ethics

Another witness, Henry J. Stern, deputy consumer commissioner of New York City, said the supermarket industry has higher ethics than drugs stores exhibit in their pricing policies.

He said studies in New York showed some supermarkets charging as much as 20 per cent more than others for identical products. Some drug stores were found to be charging five times as much for a prescription as others for the identical drug, he said.

If shoppers found a quart of milk selling for 39 cents in one store and $1.25 in another, he said, "people would be shocked, but that is the situation in the drug field."

Nader called for these reforms of the drug industry:

—Ending patents for new drugs. He would permit drug makers to be the exclusive marketers of new products for two years, after which they would be required to license their processes to other firms.

—Repealing state laws which prohibit pharmacists in most states from substituting a generic drug when a doctor has prescribed by brand name. He said drug makers lobbied such laws through the legislatures in the 1950s.

—Requiring drug stores to post prices for prescription drugs so consumers can shop around.

Oregon leads in removing billboards

SALEN, Ore. (UPI) — Oregon may be among the first states in the nation to rid itself of roadside billboards, part of the cleanup and beautification program that began with Lady Bird Johnson and the Congress a few years ago.

The state has let contracts to bring the billboards down at the rate of 25 per week and there were 2,400 billboards to be taken down in the program. Cost of removing the billboards was estimated at $6.5 million, with the federal government covering 75 per cent of those costs.

Energy crisis cuts estimate of traffic deaths

CHICAGO (UPI) — Because of the nation's energy crisis the National Safety Council has reduced its original estimate on the number of persons who will die from traffic accidents during the Christmas holiday by 50.

"Our adjusted Christmas fatality estimate of 550 to 650 traffic deaths represents a reduction of 50 fatalities from what the toll might have been if the gasoline shortage did not exist," said NSC President Vincent L. Tofany. "Our projection of 25,000 to 29,000 disabling injuries below our non-shortage estimate."

The four-day Christmas holiday starts at 6 p.m Friday, Dec. 21, and ends at midnight Tuesday, Dec. 25.

Tofany Sunday advised motorist to observe reduced speed limits and schedule trips to avoid running low on gasoline on Sundays.

"Under no circumstances," he said, "should drivers try to expand their cruising range by carrying extra cans of gasoline in their cars. This is a potentially lethal practice, since as little as 1.4 parts of gasoline per volume of air is an explosive mixture."

Not true, says automakers

Super-carburetor story going around

By EDWARD S. LECHTZIN
UPI Auto Writer

DETROIT (UPI) — You've probably heard the story about the guy who invented a superbarbureator and then had it bought up by one of the auto companies so the fantastic device would never get on the market. So have the automakers.

In one form or another, that story has been making the rounds for years. What with the state of the energy situation, it's getting even wider circulation.

The story usually goes something like this:

You heard from a friend who has a friend who knew a guy that somehow got a new car that was giving him 50 miles to a gallon of gasoline—or maybe 75 or 100 miles. It seems an experimental carburetor was accidentally put on the car.

When he took it back to his dealer, he was given an offer he couldn't refuse and another "supercarb" comes off the market.

"It used to be the oil companies that got blamed for trying to hide these miracle devices," said a Ford Motor Co. spokesman. "Now it's us."

An East Coast radio personality recently wrote to Ford and cited "three sources" as saying a special carburetor has been developed that allows gas mileage as high as 35 to 40 miles per gallon.

"One source said he got the demo by mistake and Ford refused to allow him to keep the auto," he said in the letter. "I understand it took litigation on your part to regain this vehicle."

Richard Place, emissions and power train product planning manager at Ford—better known as the company's economy expert—says he usually answers the letters by saying that rather than suppressing such a device, Ford would be fighting to be the first on the market.

"If we were aware of anything that gives us 20 per cent more in fuel economy—an advantage our competitors didn't have—we'd break down the Great Wall of China to get it on the market," says Place. "Any car with that kind of advantage would sell."

Cooler temperatures may cut off poundage

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Turning the thermostat down to 60 degrees won't give you a cold, flu or pneumonia, and it might be help you lose a few pounds, the government says.

Health, Education and Welfare Caspar W. Weinberger said Monday: "Our medical specialists report that a reduction in room temperatures from 72 to even down to 60 degrees would have no effect on the likelihood of an individual contracting a common cold, influenza or pneumonia, and by the same token, a reduction to 68 (the officially recommended level) would certainly have no ill effects."

According to an HEW study, cooler living may be more healthy because most bacteria and viruses thrive better at higher temperatures.

"For some individuals, particularly the affluent, overweight person, reduced temperatures may assist in weight reduction since more calories will be used to maintain body heat and there probably will be more physical activity," the study said.

In general, the study said, temperatures should be reduced gradually to aid the adjustment, people should dress warmly, and room humidity should be maintained at as high a level as possible.

The study said no special precautions need be taken for infants, preschoolers or pregnant women, and elderly persons should be able to adjust—although some may take a month or longer to be comfortable with a 10-degree reduction.

'Saturday Night Specials' chief weapon of muggers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The "Saturday Night Special," a cheap, easily concealed handgun usually .32 caliber or less, has become the chief weapon of muggers, according to Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms Bureau (ATF) director Rex D. Davis.

Davis said Monday a new study showed 70 per cent of 4,537 handguns used in street crimes in four selected cities were "Specials" and the bears out law enforcement officials suspicion the guns are muggers primary weapons.

The ATF traced every weapon seized in street crimes in New York, Detroit, Atlanta and New Orleans to the original dealer—more often than not located in a distant state. Davis said that in the next phase of the project the ATF will try to dry up the sources by prosecuting illegal sellers and persons who purchase guns under false pretenses.

"Statistics from this ATF generic study show concretely for the first time that a majority of guns used in crimes in these cities are Saturday night specials," Davis said. He said the percentages were nearly the same for each city. "It is likely that this pattern will be found to be nationwide."

Davis said the ATF, a Treasury Department agency responsible for enforcing federal gun laws, believes the study will provide information helpful to congressional efforts to tighten present gun laws.

Erma Bombeck

New York magazine came out recently with an article by Elin Schoen and Aaron Cohen entitled, "100 Ways To Stay Warm."

Only three of the 100 suggestions made any sense to me at all. One advised, "Gain ten pounds for better insulation." The other urged, "Eat chocolate sandwiches which Swiss skiers swear by to keep them warm on the slopes" and the third was "Get into isometric exercises."

Normally, exercise is a word I do not use in front of the children, but isometrics are different. You don't have to climb into —a little jump suit, straddle kitchen chairs, or wind your legs around your ears like a yo-yo. You just pit one muscle against the other.

The first exercise was relatively simple. I stood in the center of the kitchen with my legs slightly apart, weight on the balls of my feet and held my hands, as if in prayer, at breast level. Then I breathed deeply in and out as hard as I could.

My husband watched for a full ten minutes before he spoke. "You're trying to tell me one of the kids flushed a Dixie cup down the john again."

I continued to push my hands together in prayer and breathe deeply in and out.

"You've just been to the obstetrician and the 46-year-old rabbit died!" he continued.

I shook my head vigorously, "Don't interrupt. I'm circulating my blood."

"What happens when it is circulated?"

"You keep warmer," I explained.

"You're kidding," he said.

"No, no, here's another way the article said to keep from getting cold." I sat down at the kitchen desk and in spread-eagle fashion pressed one leg against one side of the kneehole desk and the other leg against the opposite side. "You feel a little like Carol Burnett at first," I giggled, "but you get used to it."

My husband walked over to the picture window and drew the curtains. "You may get used to it, but the milkman won't. I just saw him fall to his knees and promise God he'd never touch another drop if He'd make the hallucinations go away."

I stood up, smoothed my skirt and took a bite out of a chocolate sandwich. "That's the trouble with some people They want an end to the energy crisis, but they're not willing to sacrifice!"

San DIMAS — The recreation department has planned an action packed program to keep youngsters busy during the Christmas vacation.

Five supervised playgrounds will be open from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. beginning Thursday. The playgrounds will be closed Saturdays, Sundays and on Christmas Day. The program will conclude Dec. 31.

Activities are scheduled at Ekstrand School, San Dimas Elementary School, Gladstone School, Lone Hill School and at Via Verde at 1370 Camino Del Sur.

The program will feature sports, tournaments, crafts, games, parties, bike hikes, cook-outs, and drama. In addition to the individual playground programs, five other city-wide events will be planned during the holidays.

These include a trip to Santa's Village, a bike rallye, a movie day and a visit by Santa to the playgrounds and a teens-only excursion to Disneyland.

The trip to Santa's Village will be held Dec. 21 youngsters 3 to 13 will pay a $3 fee and those 14 and older will pay $4. All children under 7 must be accompanied by an adult. The bus will leave city hall at 9 a.m. and return at 5 p.m. Advance registration is required.

Santa will visit the playgrounds in his sleigh on Dec. 24 to talk to youngsters and to give away Christmas treats. He is expected to visit San Dimas Elementary at 11 and Via Verde at 11:30 a.m. and Lone Hill School at 12:15, Gladstone School at 1 and Ekstrand School at 2 p.m.

A bike rallye will be held Dec. 26 at 10 a.m. at city hall.

Movie day Dec. 27 at 1 p.m. in the Stanley Plummer Community Building will feature the Three Stooges in a full length film.

A teens-only excursion to Disneyland is planned for Dec. 28. The bus will leave city hall at 11 a.m. and return at 11 p.m.

Specific information about the recreation program may be obtained at city hall at 599-6713.

Claremont schools study ways to conserve energy

CLAREMONT — Energy use, payment for board members and year-round school were discussed at the Claremont school board meeting Monday night.

A representative from the Southern California Edison Co. said it was "unpredictable" whether lengthening the Christmas vacation and then extending school in June would result in a savings of electricity.

This had been one method of conservation the board had considered.

Board members, allowed to pay themselves for attending board meetings under Assembly Bill 1489, discussed this possibility and directed Supt. Richard Kirkendall to return at a latter meeting with a recommendation on which board members could make a decision.

A status report was presented on the year-round program at Oakmont Elementary School. It is anticipated that administrators, at a later meeting, will recommend to the board that it be continued next year.

Several options open in gas rationing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — If President Nixon decides this month to ration gasoline one result is certain—his rationing system will not satisfy everyone.

In simple terms, Nixon and his newly appointed energy chief, William E. Simon, have several basic options. They can:

—Let the price of gasoline rise, perhaps as high as 75 to 90 cents a gallon on the assumption that the high price will cut consumption.

—Place a stiff federal tax on gasoline, again in hopes the tax will keep consumption down.

—Institute a system of "coupon rationing" similar to that used inWorld War II.

—Use a combination of these systems.

Energy officials are predicting that Nixon will pick the combination formula.

One front-running proposal is to create a so-called "white market" to prevent a World War II style black market.

The white market idea has many variations. Basically, consumers would be provided with gasoline rationing stamps which they could either use or sell. A consumer who needed more than his normal gasoline allotment could buy stamps from other consumers who needed less.

In another possible version, the price of gasoline could be raised by a 50 cent tax, bringing the total price per gallon up to about $1. The government would also issue each driver six specal gasoline stamps with a value of 50 cents each.

With a rationing system based on six gallons a week, a driver would use the stamps to pay the 50-cent tax. If he needed more than six have to pay the additional 50 gallons a week, he would cent tax per gallon out of his own pocket. But if a coupon holder didn't want any gasoline, he would be able to redeem the stamps for the original price.

Officals also are considering a plan which has worked in Israel, using different colored stickers. Under this plan, a driver must decide on which day of the week he would prefer not to drive his car. Each day is color coded and a sticker is placed on the car to indicate to police the day it should be kept idle.

Burlap wrap saves roots

NEW YORK (UPI) — If you are buying a live tree for Christmas make sure it is balled in burlap and not too big to handle.

Move the tree indoors gradually. First to the garage or a sheltered area outside, then to the basement and finally to the room where it will be displayed, a room that usually is warmer.

More school lunches at reduced price

WASHINGTON (UPI) — More children will be eligible to buy school lunches at reduced prices under new Agriculture Department guidelines.

States previously could serve lower priced luncheons to students whose family income level was 50 per cent higher than the annual income level set by the federal government as the minimum with which a family can sustain itself without serious deprivation.

Department spokesmen said Thursday that under child nutrition legislation signed Nov. 7 by President Nixon, states will be authorized to serve lower priced meals to children whose family income is 75 per cent higher than the federal poverty-level minimum income.

That minimum now is $4,250 annual income for a family of four.

The new guidelines will permit schools to serve reduced priced luncheons to children from four-member families having an income of $7,440. Under the 50 per cent provision, the cutoff figure was $6,380.

Use of the new 75 per cent guideline by schools is optional, so there is no estimate on how many children might benefit from it.

The successful bidder will be required to furnish a Labor and Materials Bond and a Faithful Performance Bond in amounts equal to 100% of the Contractor's price, said bonds to be secured by a surety company satisfactory to the City Council of the City of La Verne; and adequate proof of workmen's compensation insurance, and $300,000-$500,000 public liability insurance and $500,000 property damage insurance.

2 — The construction of the Palomares Avenue grade crossing over the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway spur line between Arrow Highway and Third Street, Westerly of Wheeler Avenue.

The successful bidder will be required to furnish a Labor and Materials Bond and a Faithful Performance Bond in amounts equal to 100% of the Contractor's price, said bonds to be secured by a surety company satisfactory to the City Council of the City of La Verne; and adequate proof of workmen's compensation insurance, and $500,000-$1,000,000 public liability insurance and $500,000 property damage insurance.

Opening of Proposals: The proposals for both projects will be publicly opened and read at 11:00 A.M. on Wednesday, Dec. 26, 1973, in the Council Chambers of the La Verne City Hall, 2061 Third Street, La Verne, California, 91750.

Obtaining Contract Documents: Contract documents, plans, and specifications are available in the office of the City Clerk. A $5.00 deposit will be required for each set of contract documents, said deposit to be refunded on the return of the contract documents in good condition within five (5) days after award of contract.

Proposal Guarantee: Each proposal shall be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check or bidder's bond in the amount of 10 percent (10%) of the total bid price payable to the City of La Verne as a guarantee that the bidder, if his proposal is accepted, will enter into a contract within 15 days after being requested to do so by the Council of the City of La Verne.

Insurance Certificate: The Contractor shall file with the City, prior to execution of the Contract, a certificate issued by the insurance carrier certifying that the stipulated insurance policies are in effect, and that ten days written notice will be given the City prior to cancellation thereof.

Wage Rates: Not less than the general prevailing rate of per diem wages so adopted by the Council of the City of La Verne by its Resolution No. 73-36 (a copy of which the Contractor, if awarded the contract, must post at the job site) shall be paid any workman needed to execute the agreement, including workmen employed by the Contractor or any Sub-Contractor. Changes, if any, to such general prevailing rate of per diem wages since the adoption of said resolution are indicated in the proposal forms.

Each bid shall be in accordance with the Contract Documents now on file in the office of the City Clerk of the City of La Verne and each envelope shall be marked with the project name. Detailed information may be obtained from the Department Head involved with each project.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ZONING CASE NO. 6026-(1)

PROPOSED CHANGE OF OFFICIAL ZONING PLAN OF THE SAN JOSE ZONED DISTRICT NO. 21, AMENDING SECTION 332 OF ZONING ORDINANCE NO. 1494, COUNTY OF LOS ANGELES, STATE OF CALIFORNIA.

Notice is hereby given that a public hearing will be held by the Board of Supervisors on the matter of proposed changes of zone. Said hearing will be held on January 10, 1974 at 9:30 a.m. in the Hearing Room of the Board of Supervisors, Room 381, Hall of Administration, 500 West Temple Street (corner of Temple Street and Grand Avenue), Los Angeles, California 90012, at which time proponents and opponents of the proposed changes will be heard before the Board of Supervisors. The affected properties are within the area bounded as follows:

On the east by the Orange Freeway; on the south by Brea Canyon Cut-off Road; on the west by a line parallel to the adjacent A-1-1, R-1-8,500 and A1-20,000 zoning and on the north by a line perpendicular to and running between the A-1-20,000 zoning and the Orange Freeway.

The Regional Planning Commission, County of Los Angeles, has adopted a resolution recommending:

1. Change of zone to RPD-8,000-6.5U (Residential Planned Development—8,000 square foot required area — 6.5 units per acre) and CPD (Commercial Planned Development) for the expanded areas as shown on Study "A" dated December 5, 1973 on file with this case in the office of the Regional Planning Commission;
2. That the Board of Supervisors find the recommended change of zone is consistent with the Los Angeles County General Plan;
3. That the Board of Supervisors approve the Environmental Impact Report and certify its completion, and determine that the project will not have a significant effect on the environment;
4. That the Board of Supervisors repeal that portion of Section 54 of Ordinance No. 10,710 which established Urgency Zoning of R-1-25,000 and R-1-7,500 on portions of the subject property;
5. That the Board of Supervisors hold a public hearing to consider the above-recommended change of zone.

By order of the Board of Supervisors, County of Los Angeles, State of California, adopted December 11, 1973

Junk car program moves ahead

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A state program to rid the countryside of junked cars is "moving along without problems" with 50 per cent of California's counties joining 147 cities in the cleanup effort, it was reported today.

Lt. Bob Mitchell, coordinator of the highway patrol's abandoned vehicle abatement program, said that 38 cities said they did not wish to join the state effort, but in most cases they had their own abatement program.

"Overall we are moving along with no problems and full cooperation," Mitchell said in an interview.

The abatement program went into effect last July 1. the aim of the effort is to rid the state of some 240,000 derelict vehicles and the 80,000 added each year.

Mitchell said in January the program will begin removing 120,000 abandoned vehicles from public and private land each year. He said in five years the 240,000 vehicles will be scraped plus the additional ones added each year.

Mitchell said among the 38 cities not wishing to join in the effort were San Jose, Berkeley, San Bernardino and "we are still negotiating with Los Angeles."

The project is being financed by a $14 million fund created by a one-time addition of $1 to the 1973 automobile registration fee.

So far, nearly 30,000 of the derelicts have been contracted under the program with county officials and another 28,000 through cities.

If local governments do not wish to contract with the patrol, the state agency will contract with private operators to remove the junked cars and scrap them.

With the program nearing its first six months of existence, Mitchell said 29 counties will join the state program for removal of the vehicles starting Jan. 1, with the remaining 29 handling their own abatement.

Mitchell said 147 cties have entered into the program and an additional 190 have indicated they want to join.

Mitchell urged citizens to call the highway patrol and report any cases of abandoned vehicles. He said cars can be removed after 10 days of receiving such a report.

Those cities joining the program, according to Mitchell, range from Sacramento to San Diego.

Body-detecting device used in MIA search

YUBA CITY (UPI) — A body-detecting device, developed as a result of the Juan Corona mass murder case, is being tested by the U.S. Army in Soutseast Asia in the search for bodies of missing American servicemen.

Army Disposition Program Director William Annetti Monday also reported in a telephone interview from Washington, D.C., that a staff sergeant recently received three weeks training in the instrument's use at a Yuba City firm which developed the device.

Annetti said S. Sgt. Ronnie L. Watson of Ft. Pierce, Fla., underwent training at the Andermac Inc. firm here to learn how to use the device which detects body gases given off by decaying animal tissue through the use of probes pushed into the ground.

It was first developed in June 1971 during a search for bodies in the Corona case. Corona was convicted of hacking to death 25 farm workers and burying their bodies in orchards along the Feather River. The device did not locate any bodies in the case.

MAY COMPANY PRESIDENT HOSTS LUNCHEON FOR MAY DEPARTMENT STORES COMPANY BOARD OF DIRECTORS

Mr. George Foos, President and Chief Executive Officer of May Company California, hosted a luncheon recently in the Founders Room of the Dorothy Chandler Pavilion, Los Angeles Music Center. The luncheon, in honor of the Board of Directors of the May Department Stores Company, followed the Board's quarterly meeting, held in May Co's Downtown store.

Luncheon guests were leading representatives from the business, industrial, and government communities in Southern California, including Mayor Thomas Bradley; Mr. Alfred Bloomingdale; Mr. Armand Hammer, Chairman of Occidental Petroleum Corp.; Mr. Philip Hawley, President of Broadway-Hale Stores, Inc.; Mr. William Arnold, President of Robinson's Department Stores; Councilman Billy Mills; Judge Charles Older, Superior Court of Los Angeles; Dr. Norman Topping, Chancellor of the University of Southern California; Mr. Dennis Stanfill, Chairman of the Board of 20th Century Fox; Assemblyman Julian C. Dixon and Assemblyman Bill Greene; and Mr. Stanton G. Hale, Chairman of Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company.

Mr. Stanley J. Goodman, Chairman of the Board of the May Department Stores Company, spoke to the group about the Company's strong belief in the ever-increasing potential of Southern California; within fifty years May Company California has grown from one to twenty-one stores, and by 1980 will number over thirty stores in order to serve a projected population of thirteen million.

The May Department Stores Company, founded in 187[illegible] by Mr. David May, is one of the largest retailers in the United States, operating 134 department and discount stores in cities coast to coast. The Company has divisions in nine states and the District of Columbia, with Corporate headquarters in St. Louis. May Company California is the largest division in the corporation, totaling 21 stores in the Southern portion of the state.

HHH among officials who got deductions for papers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey got a tax deduction after donating his papers, and a large number of other prominent and middle-echelon officials did the same and presumably claimed tax relief, according to the Scripps - Howard News Service.

Scripps-Howard staff writer Dan Thomasson, who surveyed General Services Adminstration (GSA) records for the last 10 years, said Humphrey's office confirmed his gift and that a tax deduction had been claimed.

"He is now preparing the figures and a statement," a Humphrey spokesman said.

Humphrey, now Democratic senator from Minnesota, was vice president from 1965 to 1969 and donated his personal papers from those years to the Minnesota State Historical Society.

Checking Nixons gift

The Congressional Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation is currently checking, at President Nixon's request, the propriety of Nixon's gift of his vice presidential papers and the $576,000 in tax deductions he got for doing so.

Scripps-Howard said it obtained a GSA list of present and former public officials who gave their personal papers to the government in the last decade for inclusion in one or more of the seven presidential libraries supervised by the GSA and the National Archives.

"While there was no indication that tax deductions were claimed under the tax provision which Congress abolished effectively July 25, 1969," Scripps - Howard said, "those making the donations had the opportunity to do so and presumably did."

GSA records made available to Scripps-Howard showed that the late President Lyndon B. Johnson donated his presidential and vice presidential papers in 1965, presumably claiming a tax deduction in 1965. He also donated personal papers to the government in 1966, 1967 and 1968, all eligible for use as tax deductions.

Gift by Ike

A gift of President Dwight D. Eisenhower's papers was made June 27, 1969—less than a month before the new regulation abolished tax deductions on such a transactions. His widow, Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower, donated papers to the government in 1966.

"GSA records," Scripps-Howard said, "show that a surprisingly large number of prominent and even middle-echelon officials in the last five administrations donated their papers on which they could have claimed tax deductions from 1963 through the first six months of 1969 when the law was changed."

In addition to cabinet members and presidential advisers, the list included officals who served in relatively minor jobs ranging from an associate director of the Bureau of Land Management to a director of the Federal Housing Administration.

It also included three newspapermen and authors who made donations of their papers in 1965, 1966 and 1968.

Others named

Among those named in the GSA list were: Stephen T. Early, press secretary to President Franklin D. Roosevelt; Rexford G. Tugwell, an undersecretary of agriculture and adviser to Roosevelt; Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, former military aide to President Harry S Truman, and the late Supreme Court Justice Sherman Minton.

Also—under the Eisenhower Administration — Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy, Attorney General William P. Rogers, Economic Adviser Arthur F. Burns, and Assistant Defense Secretary Chales G. Finucane.

From the Kennedy Administration the GSA listed such figures as presidential advisers Arthur M. Schlesinger Jr. and Theodore C. Sorensen; John Kenneth Gailbraith, ambassador to India and a leading economist; Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler; Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman and science adviser Jerome B. Weisner.

The three newspapermen said to have made gifts of their papers in 1965, 1966 and 1968 and to have been entitled to tax deductions, were:

—Theodore H. White, author of "The Making of the President" series;

—Clark Mollehoff of the Des Moines Register and a former adviser to Nixon;

— Walter Trohan, former Washington Bureau Chief of the Chicago Tribune.

Scripps-Howard said "one of the champion givers of personal papers appears to be James E. Webb, budget director under Truman and later head of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration." He gave papers in 1963, 1964, 1965, 1966 and 1968 with the last donation April 1, 1969 just before the law was changed abolishing tax deductions for such gifts.

UC establishing council to solve energy crisis

BERKELEY (UPI) — The University of California is establishing a Council on energy & resources to propose solutions to ease the energy crisis, according to the university.

Members of the council will be appointed within the next several weeks by UC President Charles J. Hitch.

In addition, the university said Monday, an advisory group to the council will be formed which will include ex officio public members and other citizens selected for their knowledge and concern for energy and resources.

Cal administrators said they were also implementing measures to cut energy useage on campus, including reducing lighting, lowering thermostats to 68 degrees, turning off ventilator fans in unoccupied buildings and discontinuing hot water in most rest room facilities.

City hiring policy proves elusive

POMONA — More than two years after the state Fair Employment Practice Commission (FEPC) issued a report critical of the city's hiring practices, city hall has been unable to come up with an acceptable program on equal employment opportunities.

Members of the present City Council, organized last April, agree on the principle of equal opportunity but disagree on how this should be worded in a written policy statement to comply with federal and state requirements.

The FEPC authorized an investigation into the city's hiring practices Sept. 10, 1970, at the request of the Pomona Valley Chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), and made its findings known in a report dated September 1971.

Eleven major recommendations for improving city employment opportunities among minority ethnic groups were included in the report. Some of the recommendations subsequently were implemented by the city.

But since issuance of the report, the city has come under increased pressure not only from the state but also from the federal government, for an acceptable employment program on opportunities not only for ethnic minorities but women as well.

The Merit System Commission, the council's advisory body on personnel and employment matters, working in conjunction with community groups, the FEPC, department heads and others, developed a proposal for an Affirmative Action Employment Policy and Program.

Simply put, the carefully written proposal lists the steps and principles believed necessary to insure that employment and promotional opportunities for minorities and women are brought to fair level.

Final recommendations of the commission are included in a 10th draft of the proposal submitted to the council Monday for approval.

Following much discussion, the council was unable to reach an agreement and unanimously voted to hold the matter over at least until Jan. 14.

Major differences of opinion were voiced by Councilman Ben Ochoa Sr., who described the latest version as "watered down" and Councilman Charles W. Bader, who said the proposal went too far.

Ochoa referred to the more than $7 million in funds from the federal and state governments the city stands to gain in the next two years by saying:

"We stand to lose this if we don't have a good Affirmative Action Plan."

Bader repeated the position he took in 1971 that he desires to have the city as an employer judged on its actions rather than words.

He objected to a chart on goals and a timetable attached to the proposal. On a department-by-department basis, the chart lists the number of present employes and desirable increases among females, Negro and Latin-American employes as goals for 1974-75.

"It's so specific it is a quota and I don't support that," said Bader.

One of the FEPC recommendations was that "specific goals and timetables must be established to increase the utilization of minorities and correct identifiable deficiencies."

Mayor Ray J. Lepire said he had been told by a U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) official the federal government did not want a "quota" system.

Sidney Simms, personnel officer, defined a quota as a specific target the city had to meet or suffer penalties.

The goals and timetables, Simms continued, were put together based on the past turnover rate in each department and were things to shoot for that would not result in penalties if not met.

In some of the steps listed to insure against discrimination in employment, the words, "whenever possible" are used, and Ochoa obected to their inclusion.

He said he recalled the council had appropriated funds to validate all employment tests but Simms said this would cost close to $10,000 of which the council had appropriated $2,000 although about $2,400 already had been spent for this.

Ochoa said he believed that if the city did not come up with an acceptable program, the federal government would move in and do the job for the city.

Bader said he did not want to see the council act on the basis that if the city didn't do something, "someone will clobber us."

Man is found guilty of rape in laundromat

POMONA — A young Montclair man has been convicted in Pomona Superior Court of rape and robbery in a laundromat here Aug. 1.

Harry Donaldson, 19, 4521 Bonnie Brae Ave., was ruled guilty of first-degree robbery, forcible rape and being armed with a pistol during the commission of both offenses.

The jury received the case Monday morning in the courtroom of Judge Glenn M. Pfau and returned with the verdict that afternoon. The case was prosecuted by Deputy Dist. Atty. William Roth.

The incident occurred at 10:30 a.m. in the laundromat at 140 W. Orange Grove Ave. The victim, a 45-year-old Pomona woman, said she was attacked while another woman was nearby, working. The second woman said she saw the incident taking place, but was too afraid to do anything but grab her purse and run.

After attacking the victim, the man looted the cash register and fled in a car.

Judge Pfau scheduled Donaldson's probation hearing and sentencing for Jan. 15.

Youth finally receives part of yard-work pay

My 14-year-old son worked several days last summer cleaning the yard of a vacant house. He hasn't been able to collect his pay.

When my son or I call the man who hired him, we are told that he will call back but he never does. He knows our phone number and where we live.

Let me know if you can help my son get money he earned the honest way instead of the easy way.

Kids can get money stealing or other illegal ways. They get in trouble because they figure: "Why work, if we don't get paid?" —Mrs. A. R., Pomona.

The man who hired your son explained that he didn't own the house but represented the owner when he employed your son.

He paid your son $40 of the $45.50 you say was owed him out of his own pocket and will try to recover the sum from the owner.

You report the boy used the money to buy clothes.

This letter is being written at the request of a woman whose husband was killed while working on his job on Oct. 13. The woman is from Mexico and speaks very little English.

I was asked to look into the life insurance coverage that her husband had on his home. I phoned Lomas & Nettleton Co., who are the policy holders, in Los Angeles.

One of the company's agents informed me that United American Life Insurance Co. was no longer in business and that the policy had been switched to Bankers American Insurance Co.

I was told that Bankers American, in taking over United American, no longer included the "death benefit" after Oct. 1. The agent went on to say that all United American policy holders were notified of the change by letter.

I informed the agent that the widow does not recall receiving such a letter, that there was no new policy to sign and that no agent or representative was sent to their home to discuss the change of coverage.

Enclosed is a copy of the November computer payment card. Please note that the original premium with death benefit coverage was $4.16. On the computer card you will find that the present premium is $6.30. If I understand correctly what the agent said, the increased premium apparently represents less coverage.

Anything that Action Line could do to help resolve this problem would be appreciated. —K. E., Chino.

Norman R. Hall, executive vice president of Lomas & Nettleton Co., sent Action Line a copy of an undated letter which he said was mailed approximately Sept. 10 to all individuals who were carrying the insurace under-written by United American Life Insurance Co.

Accompanying the letter to homeowners, he said, was the policy of the American Bankers Life Assurance Co. of Florida.

The letter stated that the policy had been issued "at the same premium you are now paying monthly."

It continued with the statement that the policy "provides you with monthly disability income to make your monthly mortgage payments during periods that you may be unable to work as a result of sickness or accident for as long as five years (2½ years for those age 50 and over) after you have been disabled for more than 30 days."

The dropping of the death benefit was indicated only by omission in the letter to homeowners.

We wrote again, asking about the change in premium shown on the computer card. We were told that the premium was changed Jan. 1 to $5.50 per $100 monthly payment, which brought the premium up to $6.31.

Santa workshop begins giving toys

POMONA — Some 250 families will shop for Christmas toys at Santa's workshop here today and Thursday.

The toys are offered by the Santa Claus, Inc., at no cost to the recipients. They include bikes, trikes, baby buggies and puzzles. There are also doll cribs, wagons and games.

Shopping hours are 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 5 p.m. both days. The toy center is located at 163 Pomona Mall West.

Some 3,000 toy items are expected to be given during the two days, said Mrs. Ella Bockover, Santa's vice president.

Families will come from Pomona, San Dimas, La Verne and possibly Walnut. Their sizes range from three to eight children. These families have been referred by the Salvation Army and must have referral slips to get inside the toy center. Once inside, however, the parents will have counters of toys from which to select.

Shoppers will be assisted by members of Junior Women's clubs of Pomona and Diamond Bar.

The toy distribution will climax a year of preparation for Santa's volunteers. This group includes Mrs. Bockover and her two daughters, Eula Smith and Barbara Jefford.

Santa's program has also been aided by various service clubs and church groups.

Worden to be installed as new Royal Masons leader

POMONA — David W. Worden of Pomona will be installed high priest of Pomona Chapter 76, Royal Arch Masons, at a public installation dinner at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Masonic Temple.

He will head a slate of officers who will be sworn into office by Joseph L. Bellot state grand chaplain, and Oliver F. Fisher, past high priest of the local chapter.

Installed with Worden will be Dale R. Connor as king; Sal Giuliano as scribe; John B. Forbes as treasurer; Chris A. Celaya, secretary; John W. Ridley Jr., chaplain; Daniel Martinez, captain of the host; Richard G. Little, principal sojourner, Samuel G. Weaver, royal Arch captain; Clyde Brodell, William W. Hamel and John H. Rizley, masters of the veils; and R. Collins as sentinel.

Frederick B. Erbe, outgoing high priest, will give the welcoming address.

The chapter takes its name from the stone arch that completed King Solomon's Temple about 3,000 years ago. The keystone of that arch is frequently used as a symbol of the organization.

Most of the offices are named for the parts they play in the Royal Arch degree, which depicts the return of the Jews from captivity in Babylon to rebuild the temple after its destruction by King Nebuchadnezzar.

Kaiser asks delay in pollution control

FONTANA (UPI) — The Kaiser Steel Corp. Tuesday asked the county Air Pollution Control District for a variance that would allow it to continue to emit pollution from one of its coke ovens. The APCD will hear the firm's request Jan. 10 to give it until March 7 to successfully develop a new afterburner that would virtually eliminate smoke from the plant's stacks.

Kaiser already has spent $100,000 on the afterburner.

Arson detail probing three fires at home

POMONA — The arson detail of the Pomona Fire Department is investigating three fires that were set Tuesday at 1157 N. Hamilton St.

The fires did $100 damage to a two-car garage, destroyed a 1973 model car valued at $3,000 and did $200 damage to another car parked at the rear of the house. The property and the cars are owned by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Soto.

The first fire started in the garage and burned the walls. While firemen were putting out the blaze, they discovered a 1969 model car parked at the rear of the property was also on fire. A short time later, another fire was discovered in a 1973 model car in front of the house. It was a total loss.

A flammable liquid was used to start each fire, authorities said. The liquid was apparently poured on the front of the hoods of both cars until it soaked through to the engine.

Firemen believe that the arsonsist may have remained in the area and could have set the fire in front of the house while firemen were fighting fires in the rear of the property. The fires were set before daylight Tuesday.

Redevelopment unit mulls 2 proposals

POMONA — The Community Redevelopment Commission, meeting at the Heritage House Coffee Shop Tuesday, further considered two tentative redevelopment proposals but took no action.

The proposals are from Caesar C. Cantu and Associates and the Spanish Speaking Management and Construction Corp. Cantu's proposal is for a complex that could include a trade center, some 400 stores, apartment housing and a park. The other proposal, estimated at $75 million, is for an International Village development.

HHH among officials who got deductions for papers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey got a tax deduction after donating his papers, and a large number of other prominent and middle-echelon officials did the same and presumably claimed tax relief, according to the Scripps - Howard News Service.

Scripps-Howard staff writer Dan Thomasson, who surveyed General Services Adminstration (GSA) records for the last 10 years, said Humphrey's office confirmed his gift and that a tax deduction had been claimed.

"He is now preparing the figures and a statement," a Humphrey spokesman said.

Humphrey, now Democratic senator from Minnesota, was vice president from 1965 to 1969 and donated his personal papers from those years to the Minnesota State Historical Society.

Checking Nixons gift

The Congressional Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation is currently checking, at President Nixon's request, the propriety of Nixon's gift of his vice presidential papers and the $576,000 in tax deductions he got for doing so.

Scripps-Howard said it obtained a GSA list of present and former public officials who gave their personal papers to the government in the last decade for inclusion in one or more of the seven presidential libraries supervised by the GSA and the National Archives.

"While there was no indication that tax deductions were claimed under the tax provision which Congress abolished effectively July 25, 1969," Scripps - Howard said, "those making the donations had the opportunity to do so and presumably did."

GSA records made available to Scripps-Howard showed that the late President Lyndon B. Johnson donated his presidential and vice presidential papers in 1965, presumably claiming a tax deduction in 1965. He also donated personal papers to the government in 1966, 1967 and 1968, all eligible for use as tax deductions.

Gift by Ike

A gift of President Dwight D. Eisenhower's papers was made June 27, 1969—less than a month before the new regulation abolished tax deductions on such a transactions. His widow, Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower, donated papers to the government in 1966.

"GSA records," Scripps-Howard said, "show that a surprisingly large number of prominent and even middle-echelon officials in the last five administrations donated their papers on which they could have claimed tax deductions from 1963 through the first six months of 1969 when the law was changed."

In addition to cabinet members and presidential advisers, the list included officals who served in relatively minor jobs ranging from an associate director of the Bureau of Land Management to a director of the Federal Housing Administration.

It also included three newspapermen and authors who made donations of their papers in 1965, 1966 and 1968.

Others named

Among those named in the GSA list were: Stephen T. Early, press secretary to President Franklin D. Roosevelt; Rexford G. Tugwell, an undersecretary of agriculture and adviser to Roosevelt; Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, former military aide to President Harry S Truman, and the late Supreme Court Justice Sherman Minton.

Also—under the Eisenhower Administration — Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy, Attorney General William P. Rogers, Economic Adviser Arthur F. Burns, and Assistant Defense Secretary Chales G. Finucane.

From the Kennedy Administration the GSA listed such figures as presidential advisers Arthur M. Schlesinger Jr. and Theodore C. Sorensen; John Kenneth Gailbraith, ambassador to India and a leading economist; Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler; Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman and science adviser Jerome B. Weisner.

The three newspapermen said to have made gifts of their papers in 1965, 1966 and 1968 and to have been entitled to tax deductions, were:

—Theodore H. White, author of "The Making of the President" series;

—Clark Mollehoff of the Des Moines Register and a former adviser to Nixon;

— Walter Trohan, former Washington Bureau Chief of the Chicago Tribune.

Scripps-Howard said "one of the champion givers of personal papers appears to be James E. Webb, budget director under Truman and later head of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration." He gave papers in 1963, 1964, 1965, 1966 and 1968 with the last donation April 1, 1969 just before the law was changed abolishing tax deductions for such gifts.

UC establishing council to solve energy crisis

BERKELEY (UPI) — The University of California is establishing a Council on energy & resources to propose solutions to ease the energy crisis, according to the university.

Members of the council will be appointed within the next several weeks by UC President Charles J. Hitch.

In addition, the university said Monday, an advisory group to the council will be formed which will include ex officio public members and other citizens selected for their knowledge and concern for energy and resources.

Cal administrators said they were also implementing measures to cut energy useage on campus, including reducing lighting, lowering thermostats to 68 degrees, turning off ventilator fans in unoccupied buildings and discontinuing hot water in most rest room facilities.

This letter is being written at the request of a woman whose husband was killed while working on his job on Oct. 13. The woman is from Mexico and speaks very little English.

I was asked to look into the life insurance coverage that her husband had on his home. I phoned Lomas & Nettleton Co., who are the policy holders, in Los Angeles.

One of the company's agents informed me that United American Life Insurance Co. was no longer in business and that the policy had been switched to Bankers American Insurance Co.

I was told that Bankers American, in taking over United American, no longer included the "death benefit" after Oct. 1. The agent went on to say that all United American policy holders were notified of the change by letter.

I informed the agent that the widow does not recall receiving such a letter, that there was no new policy to sign and that no agent or representative was sent to their home to discuss the change of coverage.

Enclosed is a copy of the November computer payment card. Please note that the original premium with death benefit coverage was $4.16. On the computer card you will find that the present premium is $6.30. If I understand correctly what the agent said, the increased premium apparently represents less coverage.

Anything that Action Line could do to help resolve this problem would be appreciated. —K. E., Chino.

Norman R. Hall, executive vice president of Lomas & Nettleton Co., sent Action Line a copy of an undated letter which he said was mailed approximately Sept. 10 to all individuals who were carrying the insurace under-written by United American Life Insurance Co.

Accompanying the letter to homeowners, he said, was the policy of the American Bankers Life Assurance Co. of Florida.

The letter stated that the policy had been issued "at the same premium you are now paying monthly."

It continued with the statement that the policy "provides you with monthly disability income to make your monthly mortgage payments during periods that you may be unable to work as a result of sickness or accident for as long as five years (2½ years for those age 50 and over) after you have been disabled for more than 30 days."

The dropping of the death benefit was indicated only by omission in the letter to homeowners.

We wrote again, asking about the change in premium shown on the computer card. We were told that the premium was changed Jan. 1 to $5.50 per $100 monthly payment, which brought the premium up to $6.31.

Santa workshop begins giving toys

POMONA — Some 250 families will shop for Christmas toys at Santa's workshop here today and Thursday.

The toys are offered by the Santa Claus, Inc., at no cost to the recipients. They include bikes, trikes, baby buggies and puzzles. There are also doll cribs, wagons and games.

Shopping hours are 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 5 p.m. both days. The toy center is located at 163 Pomona Mall West.

Some 3,000 toy items are expected to be given during the two days, said Mrs. Ella Bockover, Santa's vice president.

Families will come from Pomona, San Dimas, La Verne and possibly Walnut. Their sizes range from three to eight children. These families have been referred by the Salvation Army and must have referral slips to get inside the toy center. Once inside, however, the parents will have counters of toys from which to select.

Shoppers will be assisted by members of Junior Women's clubs of Pomona and Diamond Bar.

The toy distribution will climax a year of preparation for Santa's volunteers. This group includes Mrs. Bockover and her two daughters, Eula Smith and Barbara Jefford.

Santa's program has also been aided by various service clubs and church groups.

Worden to be installed as new Royal Masons leader

POMONA — David W. Worden of Pomona will be installed high priest of Pomona Chapter 76, Royal Arch Masons, at a public installation dinner at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Masonic Temple.

He will head a slate of officers who will be sworn into office by Joseph L. Bellot state grand chaplain, and Oliver F. Fisher, past high priest of the local chapter.

Installed with Worden will be Dale R. Connor as king; Sal Giuliano as scribe; John B. Forbes as treasurer; Chris A. Celaya, secretary; John W. Ridley Jr., chaplain; Daniel Martinez, captain of the host; Richard G. Little, principal sojourner, Samuel G. Weaver, royal Arch captain; Clyde Brodell, William W. Hamel and John H. Rizley, masters of the veils; and R. Collins as sentinel.

Frederick B. Erbe, outgoing high priest, will give the welcoming address.

The chapter takes its name from the stone arch that completed King Solomon's Temple about 3,000 years ago. The keystone of that arch is frequently used as a symbol of the organization.

Most of the offices are named for the parts they play in the Royal Arch degree, which depicts the return of the Jews from captivity in Babylon to rebuild the temple after its destruction by King Nebuchadnezzar.

Kaiser asks delay in pollution control

FONTANA (UPI) — The Kaiser Steel Corp. Tuesday asked the county Air Pollution Control District for a variance that would allow it to continue to emit pollution from one of its coke ovens. The APCD will hear the firm's request Jan. 10 to give it until March 7 to successfully develop a new afterburner that would virtually eliminate smoke from the plant's stacks.

Kaiser already has spent $100,000 on the afterburner.

Redevelopment unit mulls 2 proposals

POMONA — The Community Redevelopment Commission, meeting at the Heritage House Coffee Shop Tuesday, further considered two tentative redevelopment proposals but took no action.

The proposals are from Caesar C. Cantu and Associates and the Spanish Speaking Management and Construction Corp. Cantu's proposal is for a complex that could include a trade center, some 400 stores, apartment housing and a park. The other proposal, estimated at $75 million, is for an International Village development.

Opinion

Russia again shows caution

No matter how strongly they threaten, the men in the Kremlin have always — as of this writing — backed down when faced with a determined, resolute and reasonably strong adversary.

This seems to have been demonstrated again in the Soviet decision to back the U.S. proposal to the United Nations that any peacekeeping forces sent to the Middle East exclude troops from Russia, the United States and other great powers. Only a few hours before, Moscow had threatened to send its own armies to impose unilaterally its concept of a truce.

Back some years ago, the Russians withdrew their forces from northern Iran when President Truman insisted. So far as is known, the President had no practical way of enforcing his demands, but there was no doubt of his determination.

When Tito of Yugoslavia broke with the USSR, letting it be known his people would fight to the death in the hills if Soviet armies invaded, Moscow let him alone.

In the Cuban missile crisis, much of the world held its breath when President Kennedy ordered a blockade of the island to halt the Soviet shipment of missiles threatening this nation. But no Soviet ship defied, or even threatened to, that resolute U.S. action.

Though the North Koreans received a great deal of help from Moscow when their forces invaded the South, no Soviet armies moved in to help the North Koreans even after the United States and the United Nations entered the war and drove the invaders north. The Soviet Union made gestures; but it was the Chinese who entered the war.

Hungary, Czechoslovakia and East Germany were not exceptions to this Soviet caution. The forces opposed to the Russian armies were brave, but so small and scattered as to be no threat. And neither the United States nor West Europe took, or even threatened, anything resembling resolute action.

There is some worry, however, that the Soviet Union will no longer back away from confrontations when and if its strategic forces become noticeably more powerful than those of the United States. It is known that Secretary of State Henry Kissinger has been deeply concerned with that problem the past several years and that he has said that it was a different world altogether back at the time of the Cuban missile crisis, when our strategic muscle was as 10 times that of the Russians.

U.S. consumer has excess of energy

If a 100-pound man loses 25 per cent of his weight, he is likely to be in serious trouble.

But if a 200-pound man drops 25 per cent of his weight, not only is he not in trouble, he may even feel better and live longer.

As regards the energy crisis, and the resulting cutback in fuel, power and a large assortment of consumer products, the United States is that 200-pound man.

The profligate American consumer has long enjoyed an excess of energy. The question is not what happens if the American economy stumbles to a power-starved halt but what is the minimum amount of energy needed to fuel the fires of industry, transportation and people — with the dampers on?

The question is easily put, but not so easily answered. Since this nation has no semblance of a realistic energy policy, and no amount of catch-up baseball in Washington is likely to fashion one in the critical months ahead, the energy statistics which have been flying about lately are not necessarily accurate.

For example, President Nixon says our supply of petroleum will fall from 10 to 17 per cent short of our anticipated demands this winter. But Congresman Mike McCormack, chairman of the House Subcommittee on Energy, believes the shortage will probably amount to about twice as much. No one knows, for sure, who is right.

A writer in the current issue of New Times estimates that by February this country will be enmeshed in a deep recession. His grim forecast notes that factories will be closed down, work weeks will be reduced, the price of food will continue to rise, the stock market will continue to fall. And he adds:

"Some industries such as travel, packaging, food will have changed beyond recognition. Others such as petrochemicals, fertilizers, drugs, cosmetics and film, will be heavily regulated. Housing starts will be dropping 10 per cent a month, newsprint in short supply. There will be a total rationing of all kinds of fuel. Probably about 10 to 15 gallons a week for your car, 50 per cent to 70 per cent of what you burned for your house except in the Southwest."

"Crisis," under the circumstances, is an appropriate word.

Fiddle-playing while our Rome freezes is not an appropriate response, nor is raising the spectre of imminent catastrophe. As any portly person can tell you, enforced diets are no fun — but when the doctor says "get rid of the excess fat or suffer the consequences," the prudent portly person may miss his cheesecake but will nevertheless comply.

Who says we must have our dessert, anyway?

Petroleum firms siphon Navy oil

WASHINGTON — The Navy suspects that commercial oil companies may be siphoning oil from both its Teapot Dome field in Wyoming and the larger Elk Hills reserve in California.

A few weeks ago, Standard Oil of California opened up five new wells just north of the government's Elk Hills field. These wells are now producing between 10,000 and 30,000 barrels a day.

The Navy is concerned that the oil is actually being drained from Elk Hills. By the geological "law of capture," oil will run to a nearby well like water toward a drain.

The navy has been unable to prove that Socal is pumping military oil. But as evidence of its alarm, the Navy has rushed to create its own drain by sinking three new wells within the Elk Hills field. Two more wells are planned.

Doesn't want wells

The drilling cost the taxpayers an estimated $450,000 per well. This didn't bother Socal which, incredibly, is squeezing profits from both sides of the Elk Hills boundaries. For Socal has a contract to provide the Navy with its drilling equipment and crews.

The Navy would prefer to leave the oil in the ground. But because of Socal's new wells, the Navy is forced to use Socal men and equipment to drill wells it doesn't want.

In Wyoming, three oil companies have been busily drilling oil wells around the infamous Teapot Dome reserve. Representative John Moss, D-Calif., has charged that the Bureau of Land Management and the Geological Survey let the companies drill illegally.

Meanwhile, President Nixon has recommended that the Navy open its oil reserves for civilian use to help ease the energy crunch. This would mean unparalleled profits for the oil companies involved.

Billion-dollar profit

Socai, forexample, owns 20 per cent of the Elk Hills oil. Experts in the oil industry estimate that the company would reap more than $1 billion from the commercial opening of Elk Hills.

The Dutch-owned Shell Oil Company would also ring up windfall profits. For the Navy's 80 per cent share of Elk Hills oil must be sold to Shell under a 1970 contract signed by President Nixon. This is worth about $2.6 billion, according to a General Accounting Office estimate.

The decision whether to open the Elk Hills reserve, meanwhile, awaits congressional action.

NIXON AND MILLS: When President Nixon wanted someone to clear him of income tax irregularities, he personally chose an old friend, Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark.

This has caused some sour comment in the cloakrooms on Capitol Hill. If Congress is going to do the President's financial wash, members have complained, the investigation should have gone through the Senate-House leadership and should never have been assigned by the President to the committee of his choice.

Some congressmen suspect that the President deliberately selected Mills as the committee chairman most likely to whitewash the charges. Consider these facts:

— Mills' own political skirts are soiled. A Mills associate accepted a $15,000 cash contribution from Gulf Oil to help finance Mills' abortive 1972 presidential bid. The cash was transmitted in a sealed envelope from Gulf's Vice President Claude Wild to Mills' crony Carl Arnold who, as it happens, was a lobbyist for the American Petroleum Institute before opening his own lobbying office.

— Gulf pleaded guilty on November 13 to the criminal offense of skimming the contribution from corporate funds. Yet Mills declined to return the $15,000 until we began inquiring into the possibility of federal prosecution. It is a crime punishable by a $10,000 fine and two years in jail to accept a corporate contribution knowingly. Parenthetically, Mills' committee has granted the oil industry tax breaks, which permitted Gulf to get away with a shockingly low 1.2 per cent tax rate in 1972.

— Mills' joint committee whitewashed the Internal Revenue Service by claiming it didn't hound those on the White House "enemies list." A painstaking American Civil Liberties Union study showed just the opposite and a high IRS official has admitted secretly to the Senate Watergate Committee that favors were granted at White House request.

— When a White House task force was about to bring more oil into the United States in 1969 over the objections of most oil companies, Mills fired off a telegram to the task force chief warning against "tinkering with oil imports." The task force was overruled by President Nixon's personal oil advisers.

— When Mills let it be known he had a speaking engagement on the West Coast, Tenneco, the oil-and-gas behemoth, flew him across the country in a sumptuous private jet. Yet he could have made just as good time in any one of 12 daily scheduled commercial flights.

LETTERS FROM P-B READERS

As others see it . . . . . letters

Stop dividing nation

I feel like a very small, lonesome voice going against the networks, the news services, the Washington opinion makers, the New Left, etc. to support the president against this impeachment, but I think it's important.

They have campaigned relentlessly to get Nixon. And the crucial key to their strategy lies in the next few weeks when Congressmen are home. Will the only voices they hear be the organized left-wingers, college professors and students, etc., with plenty of time and a lynch mob hysteria behind them, or will you find a little time to phone, visit or write your Congressman to tell him to stop this impeachment drive and get back to doing the job that we elected him and Nixon to do of running the country not dividing it? It's public opinion now that will determine whether he is impeached or not!

It amazes me that Nixon could withstand over a year of furious accusations, circumstantial evidence, twisted and half truths and lies and come out as clean as he has. Millions have been spent and trillions of words have spewed forth, but not one scrap of solid evidence. Could Johnson have withstood such an attack? or Kennedy? or Truman? or Roosevelt? or any other president or Congressman, or you for that matter? Sure they've come close on his raising campaign funds exactly like every other major politician from our beginning. So let's run all of them out, not just one.

For a moment, pause and consider what Nixon has accomplished — more than any other president. His critics have accomplished a lot too. Decreasing value of the dollar overseas, panic on Wall Street, division of the nation to name a few. Also this group has ruined the Democratic party, possibly the Republican party now and maybe our entire political process. Is Nixon the guilty one, or are his single-minded accusers? Who is working for the country and who against?

Example: Nixon sent bills and spoke to Congress on the fuel crisis last winter and spring, but his accusers said, "Yes, but what about San Clemente?" He alerted our military in the latest Mid-East crisis and they said, "Smoke screen to divert us from Watergate." Now they are selling us to have a recession. Instead of asking when will the real guilty party be brought to justice, we buy their story — hook, line and sinker and say nothing.

Please speak to your Congressman against this impeachment foolishness and urge your friends and their friends to speak to him before he returns to Washington. Your voice does count! Our nation deserves better than to be run by this small mob of well placed, loud mouth critics. — Harold Cannon, Chapel Hill, N.C.

Corporate power

On Dec. 11 the Progress-Bulletin carried a lead editorial captioned "The Pure Myth of America, Inc.". The editorial quoted Prof. Neil H. Jacoby of U.C.L.A. as stating that America is not on the way to domination by a few giant corporations because "Corporate economic power is effectively constrained by market competition". As "proof" of this he notes that there are more than five million established business enterprises in the United States.

No analysis is made in the editorial as to how many of these enterprises are service enterprises. Certainly there are a large number of small independent service enterprises in the United States, but these do not exert control of the economy. Control is exerted by giant corporations in such basics as steel, oil, rubber, the automotive and food industries, utilizing such instruments as cartels, monopolies, mergers, conglomerates, interlocking management and directorships, and control of trust assets by banks.

Concentration in these basic fields is high and increasing. Dr. Willard Mueller, chief economist of the Federal Trade Commission testified before the Senate Subcommittee on Antitrust and Monopoly in November, 1969, that the 200 largest manufacturing corporations in the U.S. then controlled two thirds of all assets held by corporations primarily engaged in manufacturing.

In a market so dominated, the law of supply and demand no longer operates freely. Prices remain high, no matter what the state of the economy. Characteristics of such an economy are waste, artifically restricted output, unemployment, inflation.

Until the American people wake up to the true facts and face them, we shall continue to suffer these calamities. — Leisa Bronson, Pomona.

Mexican heritage

It gave me much pleasure to read in the paper that there will be a column in Spanish.

The other day I went for the first time to buy a few things at a place called Pomona Mall. I was so sad to see so many empty stores and so much money which appears to have been spent on sculpture and other pieces of art. It appears the Spanish-speaking community is not willing to do anything.

I did not find stores to buy Mexican bread or tamales or hand-made tortillas. I did not find a place to buy fruit or vegetables. There is no center where one can take the family, a place not so formal lest it become too expensive, and at the same time, a place that does honor to our heritage.

There should be studies to teach Latin songs, dances and arts. Much of our generation our parents did not teach us the Mexican idiom.

Why can't we in the Spanish-speaking community do something for ourselves and for each other and at the same time help Pomona because it appears the city has been dormant for a long time like ourselves. —Anna Landeros, Pomona.

Gossip for today

We have the genius it takes to install topless shampoo girls in barber shops. We have sufficient ingenuity to start a "Dial a Smile" business which answers your call with recorded jokes. We have a woman who has invented a never-fail reducing system by simply having her jaws cemented together to make it impossible for her to cheat on her eating. And even more wonderful, we have developed a contraceptive pill that can be taken by either the man or the woman. — So why should we worry about a little old thing like an energy crisis? With brainpower like I have just mentioned abroad in the land, someone is bound to come up with an answer. Already a start has been made. A faculty member at the University of Texas claims that sewer gas may be the magic solution to the problem. And while we are waiting for him to perfect a method for harnessing that sewer gas, it's nice to know that everybody and his brother has patriotically become an energy conservationist.

"Since Christmas cards account for almost one third of all mail delivered," says one super brain, "think of all the energy that would be saved if we all quit sending them."

Caretaker veep? Ford has better idea

It's now a fairly strong bet that, despite his present protestations to the contrary, Vice President Gerald Ford will be a live candidate for the GOP presidential nomination in 1976.

The polls which quickly thrust him to the fore don't mean much today except recognition as result of his long grilling in Congress. But they may come to mean a lot more if he is sustained at fairly high levels.

For one thing, that very process has given him a verdict as clean, if somewhat bleached and bland. He gets automatic good marks for accepting the good soldier's role, and seems unlikely to be tarnished by it, no matter what the revelations about the Nixon regime.

Furthermore, a good many party people, including some segments of the leadership, may be drawn to Ford by the awareness that, in the circumstances of Watergate and surrounding issues, he might become president at any time. That may or may not happen. The hard hunches in this town aside, there is yet no convincing sign that President Nixon will either resign or be impeached. But the mere prospect will give him special political life.

Ironically, his situation almost instantly has become like Nixon's in 1959-60, when the late President Eisenhower's varied illnesses put his then vice president in a posture of clear advantage for the next election. Those observers who were around at the time will tell you many Republican leaders were almost afraid to oppose Nixon, for fear he might be president the following day.

Ford, to be sure, will have handicaps to overcome. He will not have had the lengthy national exposure Richard Nixon had enjoyed by 1959-60.

And he will need to build a strong personal staff, well beyond the regionally-flavored group he brings to the job. Some of our recent vice presidents have not been conspicuously endowed with broad-scope assistants of high talent. Ford already is being watched closely on this front.

His position virtually guarantees his steady access to the speaking circuit the other GOP 1976 prospects obviously intend to travel. If Republicans somehow should manage to salvage more from the 1974 elections than is presently indicated, who will get the credit? Ford, a retired Ronald Reagan, a Nelson Rockefeller resigned from office, traveling businessman John Connally?

Ford might come off fairly well. His strength thereafter might show best in those states which don't have primaries. That's where his incumbency would be of most aid.

With so many of the 22 primary states requiring automatic entry for highly visible or avowed presidential prospects, the Vice President — short of an ironclad declaration of non-candidacy — could not of course avoid the primaries. Yet there again he might do reasonably well.

Today Reagan is the clear inheritor of the southern party strength that formerly clustered around resigned Spiro Agnew. Rockefeller is the presumed top candidate of the Republicans' progressive wing.

But both will have to run the gamut of primaries in sectors where they have weaknesses, both will be past 65 by 1976, and many GOP spokesmen privately think a Reagan-Rockefeller struggle has a tired ring to it. Despite Rocky's center-ward move, moreover, the fight would take on a left-right tone.

None of this means Ford is suddenly hot stuff. It does mean, though, that he's a lot more than a caretaker prospect.

Natural gas demand forces Edison to switch fuel

ETIWANDA — The energy crunch is even having a crunching effect on energy.

Because of an increasing demand for natural gas by residential, commercial and other industrial customers, the Southern California Gas Co. has turned off the valve to Southern California Edison Co.'s steam generating plant here.

The "curtailment" began Nov. 11 and is expected to last during the cold season, said Wayne Lynch, the gas company's division manager. He could give no date when gas service will be resumed, but said it should be before March or April.

What effect has this had on the electric company plant?

When the natural gas was turned off, the plant had to turn to low sulphur oil, said Vincent Martin, Edison's division manager. "And getting the low sulphur oil is exceedingly difficult."

He reported the company once purchased the oil at $2 a barrel, but is now bidding at $10 a barrel and still can't get all it needs.

The Edison Co. has a storage capability of 23 million barrels of oil and uses approximately one million barrels a week to keep the entire system operating.

With the storage tanks "topped off," this would give Edison a 23-week supply, he said.

Noting that some municipal power departments are short on oil supplies, Martin said Edison might be asked to share its oil with them.

"We have contracted for our oil from major oil companies and from Indonesia," he noted.

The importance of the Etiwanda plant was described by Martin. The company has a total generating capability of about 13,000 megawatts. Etiwanda can produce 1,000 megawatts, or nearly 8 per cent of the total capability.

The company serves about 2.5 million customers in Southern California. This totals about seven million people.

Should there be a cutback in electricity, the company is considering a plan to conduct a "rolling" blackout where individual circuits serving from 500 to 1,500 customers will be turned off for short periods of time.

The natural gas curtailment has also included the Portland Cement Co. plant in Colton, said Lynch.

For these plants to receive the gas company's low industrial rates, they had to be equipped with stand-by fuel systems, he explained.

The length of the curtailment will depend on the weather, he noted. "As the weather gets colder, there is an increased use by residential and commercial customers."

The gas cutback hasn't affected any commercial users.

In an effort to obtain more natural gas for its customers, a gas company affiliate applied to the Federal Power Commission for permission to import liquefied natural gas (LNG) from Indonesia.

Application by Pacific Indonesia LNG Co. includes terms of a previously announced 20-year contract signed Sept. 6 by Pacific Lighting International S. A., and Pertamina, the Indonesian national oil and gas company.

The contract calls for delivery of the liquefied natural gas equivalent to 620 million cubic feet per day, or about 20 per cent of the amount consumed on an average day throughout the system, said Lynch.

The Port Hueneme area north of Los Angeles is being considered as the location of receiving and regasification facilities, he said.

The Edison Co. had hoped to generate more electricity with less fuel oil through development of two electric generating units at the San Onofre Nuclear Generating Station, said Martin.

The California Coastal Zone Conservation Commission, however, voted recently to deny these permits.

The decision will require an additional 25 to 30 million barrels of oil each year to provide for Southern California's needs, Edison officials said.

New Air Force recruiter named for Montclair

MONTCLAIR — T. Sgt. Scotty McCullough has been assigned by the Air Force to its recruiting office at 10665 Mills Ave. He has been in the Air Force for more than nine years, and served in Illinois, Arizona, Thailand, Japan and Texas before being assigned to the Asuza office for the past year.

McCullough is married, and has two children.

During his time off, he studies at Mt. San Antonio College and is working toward a degree in broadcast science and journalism.

McCullough has extended an invitation to anyone living in Montclair, Pomona, San Dimas, La Verne, Claremont or Chino to visit his office Monday through Friday 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. or Saturday by appointment.

Vernon Jr. High concert slated

MONTCLAIR — A Christmas concert featuring the Vernon Junior High School orchestra and vocal groups will be presented Thursday in the school auditorium.

The concert will begin at 7 p.m., and is open to the public free of charge.

Chaffey, O-M districts cutting back on fuel use

ONTARIO — Like other school districts throughout the Pomona Valley, the Chaffey and Ontario-Montclair districts have taken steps to conserve fuel and energy.

Both school districts have adopted conservation measures similar to those in other districts.

At Chaffey, the Board of Trustees has approved a broad administration-developed plan which allows the superintendent and his staff to act immediately to meet any problems that arise from fuel and energy shortages.

The Chaffey administration has compiled a list of 17 conservation measures, six of which are now in use. The measures include a reduction in the allocated mileage for each of the five high schools for field trips and athletic events, the discontinuation of "rooter" buses for the remainder of the year, and lowering the thermostat to 68 degrees.

While the Ontario-Montclair district also took similar measures like lowering the thermostat to 68 degrees, its most urgent problem is an acute fuel shortage for its buses which provide student transportation to and from school.

Supt. Jack Jones said the district is already this year "several thousand gallons above last year's consumption rate." This situation exists, Jones said, because the district provided extensive bus service for summer school class students last summer in order to get compensation from the state for average daily attendance (ADA), and established additional bus routes due to the closing of San Antonio school. The school was closed because it did not meet earthquake safety standards in the Field Act.

Deputy Supt. George Duerr said the district has been notified it will receive less gasoline in 1974 than it did for the current year.

As a result, Duerr said, the district's entire field trip program will be eliminated after the holiday season.

With the exception of buses, all district vehicles will be limited to a maximum speed of 50 miles per hour. Buses will be allowed to go 55, which Duerr described as "their most efficient operating speed."

Currently, kindergarten through third-grade students living farther than one mile from the school they attend are provided bus transportation to school. Fourth through eighth grade students who live farther than 1½ miles are transported to the school by bus.

15 Serrano Jr. High girls cited for aid

MONTCLAIR — Fifteen girls from Serrano Junior High School were recently honored for serving 50 or more hours helping retarded children and senior citizens in convalescent homes.

They are Debbie Albert, Elena Gomez, Jessica Gomez, Julie Haynes, Lisa Hemphill, Jane Johnson, Kerrie Kean, Linda McClure, Darlene McKay, Betsy Molitor, Vicki Outlaw, Kathy Payton, Pam Seal, Jammee Tedder and Janet Tedder.

The girls, all members of Volunteens, were honored at Red Cross capping ceremony at San Antonio Community Hospital in Upland.

Yule show tonight at Chaffey High

ONTARIO — A holiday musical, "That Christmas Feeling," will be presented tonight at Chaffey High School's Spring Auditorium, beginning at 7:30.

The Chaffey choral department along with the Ontario Youth Orchestra will provide the musical entertainment.

TOYS FOR TINY TOTS

Capt. Clyde Mathis, left, of the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Posse, hands over one of many Snoopy dogs being donated by the organization to the Marine Corps Reservists' Toys for Tots program. Accepting the gift are Sgt. Ralph Prince, middle, Marine Corps recruiter at Montclair, and Cpl. Guy Woods of Pomona. The Reservists' toy drive will continue until Saturday.

17 achieve all-A grades at Chino High School

Russ children's art

ONTARIO — Children's art from the Soviet Union will be on display at the city library beginning Friday.

The exhibits will be displayed in the library's children's department through Jan. 26, and is sponsored by the Jane Addams Peace Association and the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom.

6% rise in passengers

OIA not hurt by strike or oil crisis

ONTARIO —An airline strike and a cutback in flights due to the energy crisis failed to reduce the number of airline passengers at Ontario International Airport. In fact, the airport posted a 6.3 per cent gain last month over November 1972.

The 91,719 passengers counted during November 1973 boosted the 11-month total to 1,082,324. This compared to 86,312 passengers for November 1972 and an 11-month total of 934,947.

Due to a fuel shortage, three airlines, Western, Air California, and PSA, reduced the number of their flights between Ontario and San Francisco, San Diego, San Jose and Oakland. In addition, PSA later halted all its Ontario operations on Nov. 16 because of a strike.

"Service from Ontario to 24 destination cities is still good but travelers just have to plan a little further ahead during the holiday season," said Robert Hamilton, airport manager.

"Nine airlines that service the Ontario airport continue to fly convenient schedules to many Midwest and Western states. It is sometimes easier to get a flight from Ontario than Los Angeles International Airport," he added.

"The first-time traveler thinks of only Los Angeles, which gets inundated during the holidays. Those who travel frequently realize the flight they need may be leaving Ontario," said Hamilton.

Contrary to the increased passenger count, there were fewer flight operations last month than during the previous November — 11,622 compared to 13,601.

Showing a decrease were military, general aviation, air taxi and alternate operations. Only the air carrier activity was up due to an increase in charter flights.

The amount of air cargo last month totaled 565,114 pounds, a sharp increase from the 363,269 pounds during the previous November.

Owners of Upland massage parlor guilty of 3 charges

UPLAND — The owners of the Roman Holiday massage parlor at 931 W. Foothill Blvd. have been found guilty of pimping, pandering and conspiracy to commit prostitution following a court trail in West Valley Superior Court.

Thomas Cook, also known as Jim Roberts, 39, and Wanda Davis, 39, both of 790 W. Wellesley Drive, Claremont, the owners of the massage parlor, were ordered to return to the Superior Court within 90 days for sentencing. They were found guilty of the charges by Superior Court Judge Richard C. Garne Friday after a court trial.

Cook and Miss Davis were arrested on warrants at their Claremont home on Jan. 19 after a police investigation into alleged prostitution at the massage parlor.

The doctor comments

Enzymes are needed to assist digestion

DEAR DR. LAMB — I would appreciate anything you could tell me about enzymes in the intestines.

I have a little grandson who is 2 years old, and ever since he was a small baby he has had this problem with his bowels. The first of this year he was so bad he became dehydrated and had to be hospitalized. The hospital said he had no enzymes in the intestines to make food into solids and would always have this diarrhea problem. And, of course, he was put on a very strict diet.

Now the little fellow is a typical youngster, runs and plays and enjoys life, but at least three or four times a day, and often many more, he has diarrhea.

The doctors I have talked to all seem so evasive that I am of the opinion that no one really knows too much about the enzyme bit.

Several of my friends have suggested I write to you and perhaps you could tell me if there is really no cure for this problem, or if he will eventually outgrow it. what really causes it? I'll appreciate any information you can give.

DEAR READER — The enzymes in the small intestine that we need to digest our food are from the pancreas or from the juices formed by the intestinal wall. I would guess that your little grandson has a problem with his pancreas.

The enzymes are used to split our carbohydrates down to simple sugars that can be absorbed through the intestine into the bloodstream. They also split the fats and even the proteins down to basic small units that can be absorbed. When this is not done properly, the undigested food is not absorbed, and what is worse, it acts to some extent like a chemical laxative. This is what causes the diarrhea, and sometimes the bloating and abdominal discomfort.

The severity of the problem depends on just how many enzymes are missing. A lot of otherwise healthy adults lack the enzyme to split milk sugar and they only need to guard against milk and foods made with milk. In more extensive loss of enzymes, the diet problems are much more complicated.

Lack of enzymes is usually a result of characteristics present from birth. And, in most cases, the problem is one of managing the person through diet and other medical means, if required throughout life. However, new things are being learned all the time and if the problem is limited to deficient enzymes, perhaps in time it can be managed better.

I know from the rest of your letter that your grandson has been seen by an outstanding medical staff, an I am confident that he has been given the best of care. So, what remains is following their instructions, hoping for the best, and perhaps time will improve the outlook. Or perhaps new advances will eventually make the problem more simple. I do wish there was more to offer at this time, but at least you can be thankful that your grandson was diagnosed early and that so much is known already to help in such cases.

Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, in care of The Progress-Bulletin, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. For a copy on Dr. Lamb's booklet on balanced diet, send 50 cents to the same address and ask for "Balanced Diet" booklet.

Russ general, once purged, expires at 82

MOSCOW (UPI) — Army Gen. Alexander V. Gorbatov, who fought in the Russian Revolution and was later jailed by Stalin, died recently, the army newspaper Krasnaya Zvezda reported. He was 82.

Gorbatov joined the Russian army in 1912 and first saw battle in World War I. Later he became a cavalry officer. In 1937 he was relieved of command by Stalin but reinstated a year later.

Soon afterward he became caught up in Stalin's army purges. He was transferred to the reserves, arrested and sentenced to 15 years in prison. He spent two years in a concentration camp before being released and appointed deputy commander of the 25th Rifle Corps.

In 1950 he was appointed commander of airborne troops, a post he held for four years. Later he was commander of the Baltic Military District and worked at the Defense Ministry in Moscow.

Rattles & straws

No news is better

By JOSEPH FIRMAN

About this time of year, give or take a bowl game or two, it behooves every columnist worth his wire taps to survey the waning year and compile a list of the Top Eleven news stories of 1973. Exempt, of course, are all items dealing with Watergate, the ITT, the dairy industry and donations to the Committee to Re-Elect the President. Who wants the IRS knocking at his door?

To my mind, the significant stories of any year are those that add to our knowledge of man and his environment. Watergate and its subsequent flushings simply reiterate that politicians are venal, which civilized man has known since the days of early Greece, so the peccadilloes on Capitol Hill, however bizarre and imaginative, do not constitute a news story as it is known in the trade.

Obviously the No. 1 news story of 1973 — possibly of the decade — was the landing of our astronauts on Jupiter. This was an incredible scientific feat, paralleled perhaps only by the Battle of San Juan Hill or the discovery of athlete's foot. All civilization will profit from the explorations of the mysterious "Red Planet," and I'm sure we will all welcome back our intrepid radio-active space explorers when they return in late 1983.

The second most important news story of the current annus mirabilis was the United States cutting off oil to the Arab countries, causing power failure and blackouts in Cairo, Suez, Port Said, Port Says, Beirut, Sodom, Gomorrah and Miami Beach. Despite UAR naming Henry Kissinger the Abdul Abulbul Ahmir of the Bar-Lev Line and increased shipments of Russian wheat to the United States, the sanction continued, and American service stations refused to pump gas for Arab caravans on Sunday.

Well up among the Top Ten news stories of 1973 was, of course, the nomination of Disney's new medical film, "Deep Throat," for seven Academy Awards — Best Black and White Musical Not Starring Julie Andrews, Most Tracheas, Best Editing of the Eustachian Tubes, and others. It is a tribute to showbiz that in times of crisis they are able to recognize where the real contributions to the film industry are being made.

Sports made a significant bid for news recognition when it was announced that the San Diego Vicars, professional baseball team, formerly the Washington Representatives, had been sold to Venezuela in exchange for Howard Hughes. The San Diego team, recently traded to Tijuana for two bullfighters and the tequilla concession, will be managed by Richard M. N---, until recently chief strategist for the Washington Redskins. The new manager said he had some reservations about leaving the Redskins but felt he could hold his new team together with tape, if none of them were missing.

Another important news story of the year was Ronald Reagan's Machiavellian defeat of Proposition 1, a tax measure he bitterly opposed. "I wanted it to lose," he said, after it did. "I knew that anyone who had seen my old movies on television would vote against it if I supported it. Whatever happened to Shirley Temple?"

There really aren't any other news items worthy of the top ten anything. Not till next year. Honk if you love Kohoutek.

Female employes told to get BVDs for cold

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — An assemblyman has suggested that female state employes put on "some BVDs or something" to beat the lower 68-degree settings on state office thermostats.

Assemblyman Willie L. Brown Jr., D-San Francisco, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, made the comment Monday at a committee hearing into state actions in connection with the energy crisis.

One state official reported some female employes were attempting to beat the 68-degree thermostat settings by bringing in portable electric heaters.

Brown then commented, "Let them put on some BVDs or something."

Officials assured Brown the practice of using the heaters was being stopped.

Assemblyman Ken MacDonald, D-Ojai, told the committee some state employes are ignoring Gov. Ronald Reagan's order that state cars be driven no faster than 55 miles an hour.

MacDonald said he was driving at 55 in the Sacramento area recently, and "I had state cars passing me like I was standing still."

Wreath on bed bespeaks tragedy

Family fights to ban hitchhiking

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI) — The wreath on the bed that once was Katherine Merry Devine's speaks in red and green of Christmas and of sorrow.

It says that Katherine won't be home for the day that was to be both Christmas and her 15th birthday.

She was last seen alive by two classmates Nov. 25 as she stood hitchhiking at a North Seattle intersection. Her body, with clothing partly removed and her throat slit, was found two weeks later in the woods of a state park south of Olympia.

Because of that, her family announced Monday a campaign to repeal the state's 1972 law that legalized hitchhiking except on interstate or other limited access highways.

"Our daughter wouldn't have been hitchhiking if it was against the law," Mrs. William L. Devine said.

"She thought because it was legal, it was safe," the girl's father added.

"I want it all banned," said Sherrie, Katherine's 16-year-old sister. "Nobody has to hitchhike. I don't want what happened to Kathy to happen to anyone else."

Sherrie said she remembered her history teachers saying that anyone can set out to change a law.

She said she originated the family plan to file a petition to submit a repeal initiative to the state's voters next year.

To succeed in that goal, the Devine family and their helpers must collect more than 117,000 valid signatures of registered voters.

"I think the people will be with us," Mrs. Devine said.

Since the law allowing hitchhiking became effective in mid 1972, statistics of the state patrol and Seattle Police Department indicate the state has averaged about 20 hitchhiking-related crimes per month.

Only two hitchikers became murder victims—Katherine and a 20-year-old Western Washington State College student, Laura L. Brock, killed in September 1972. Both crimes are unsolved.

Other crimes related to hitchiking range from rape to robbery.

AGAINST HITCHHIKING — Sherrie Devine, 16, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William L. Devine announced this week that they are mounting a campaign to repeal the 1972 Washington state law legalizing hitchhiking. They blame the law for the rape-murder of daughter Katherine, 14, shown in picture held by father.

Dog's tail should be level with her skull

By Dr. Frank Miller

DEAR DR. MILLER: Angie is a beautiful young Airedale and should be a top show prospect. We are worried about the length of her tail. Only two-thirds of it was left. We have been told by an expert that only one quarter of her tail should have been taken off, not a third. We feel her tail is, therefore, too short. Do you share our concern? — G. D.

Dear G. D.: Your concern needn't be great. Experts have come up with both these figures. Ideally, the tip of the dog's tail should be approximately level with the top of the skull. (That would be with Angie in the show position.)

DEAR DR. MILLER: Can you give me a formula for raising mealworms? — A.O.

Dear A. O.: There are many mealworm culture techniques. Here's one: Punch small holes in a large pie tin, put down three layers of old burlap sprinkled with bran, add to this some bread and slices of raw potato. Triple deck it, and cover it with raw cabbage leaves. Add mealworms and wait several weeks while they go through their life cycle, keeping them at room temperature.

DEAR DR. MILLER: What's with thoroughbred trainers who swim some of their horses a lot instead of galloping them?

I'm a runner myself. My coaches have always told me that if you are going to be a runner you have to run. How come they teach race horses to swim instead of to gallop? — K. F.

Dear K. F.: It's true — and hardly surprising — that to do the best in any physical activity the training program should emphasize by constant repetition, that particular exercise. This applies to racehorses, too, obviously. The one who doesn't spend considerable time running prior to the race is going to take too much time running during the race.

However, don't knock swimming for a racehorse. It is an excellent method of getting the horse in top condition and has one big advantage over track workouts — it doesn't put nearly as much strain on the legs. Some families of horses, while they may be fast enough to be potential winners, have a tendency to become unsound in their legs if worked too hard.

If this type of horse receives a fair share of his workouts in the water instead of pounding down the track, the odds are better that his legs can hold together long enough to win a race or two.

Lakers' Price just right

By DON BRADLEY
P-B Staff Writer

INGLEWOOD — Two thousand sports fans blew it.

The actual count is 2,362. That's the difference between Tuesday's night's attendance of 15,143 at the Lakers-Milwaukee Bucks game and a sellout (17,505).

The ones that were smart enough to buy a ticket got more than their money's worth even at Forum prices. It was such a great game no one left early.

To cap off a great evening, they saw second-year man Jimmy Price throw in a 25-foot jump shot as the horn ended the game to give the Lakers a 109-107 win over the Bucks.

Price, a second-round draft choice two years ago, made two of the last three Laker baskets and stole the ball from Oscar Robertson to give Bill Bridges the opportunity for the other.

The replacement for Jerry West wound up his night's work with 16 points and 11 assists. He hit on seven of 10 field goal attempts and cashed in on both free throw opportunities.

The game was tied 16 times including seven times in the last quarter. But Milwaukee never held the lead until there were only 6:13 left in the game. Kareem Abdul-Jabbar's 10-foot hook shot put the Bucks ahead 93-91 for the first time.

Gail Goodrich, who led all scorers with 40 points, tied it with a 24-foot jumper. The Bucks scored twice to take a 97-93 lead, but a layin by Bridges and a slam dunk by Connie Hawkins tied it.

It was knotted again at 99-99, 101-101, and 103-103 before Milwaukee spurted to a four-point lead again on Jabbar's 12-foot hook. That made it 107-103 with 59 seconds left.

Price hit a 14-foot jumper with 46 seconds left to pull within two, 107-105. With the Bucks in the process of running the clock down, Price stole the ball with 32 seconds left.

Bridges got his tipin at the 14-second mark and the game was tied. Milwaukee took a time out with the 11-seconds left to set up their play.

Robertson got open but missed an easy shot with six seconds left and Elmore Smith grabbed the rebound, his ninth and biggest of the game.

Coach Bill Sharman was screaming for a time out, but the clock was down to the two-second mark before it stopped and Sharman nearly jumped out of his skin.

"I saw it clicking off those seconds and instead of having four or five like I thought we would, we got just two," he smiled wanly. We wanted to get the ball to Gail when we put it in play, but he was covered."

Bridges inbounded the ball to Price who whirled, put it up, jumped in the air and then dashed off the floor as the fans went wild.

"Sometimes you can feel a shot," he explained. "This was a low percentage shot. But there wasn't any time to pass or dribble. I really felt it was going in as soon as I put it up."

"It's my biggest thrill as a pro," he grinned and then added, (Curtis) Perry jumped and I released the ball before he got up there. A split second later and he would have blocked the shot."

The month that West will be out may not be as long as most persons feared.

Kunzman better, moving arm

UPLAND — Race driver Lee Kunzman, who was seriously injured in a 190-mile-an-hour crash at Ontario Motor Speedway more than a week ago, was reported Tuesday to be steadily improving.

Kunzman, 25, of Gutenberg, Iowa, was talking and moving his left arm, which had been feared paralyzed after the crash Dec. 10, his doctors said.

The accident occurred when Kunzman lost control of his car during a tire test and it slammed into a guard rail. He is in San Antonio Community Hospital.

Poly gets chance at Long Beach

By BILL LANGLEY
P-B Staff Writer

LONG BEACH — Cal Poly faces its toughest basketball assignment in the university's history tonight when the Broncos meet nationally-ranked Long Beach State at the Long Beach Arena.

Few college basketball teams face the schedule Poly has this week. Following tonight's game here, the Broncos host North Dakota State Friday then head for Nevada, Las Vegas Saturday night.

So coach Don Hogan's Broncos have the honor of meeting Jerry Tarkanian's old and new teams within four days—both on the road.

Tonight's tipoff is 8:05 p.m. following the junior varsity game.

Tarkanian has left Long Beach but he left a lot of talent next to the Queen Mary. And Lute Olson, an outstanding junior college coach at Long Beach City College, has taken over the job of putting everything together.

Olson is obviously doing it. The 49ers are currently ranked 11th and 13th respectively in the Associated Press and United Press International polls with a 5-1 record.

After an unexpected loss at Colorado, Long Beach has bounced back to beat San Francisco, Loyola, Canisius and Long Island in order.

Upsetting Long Beach is tough enough without having the additional problem of playing the 49ers on their court.

No team has defeated the 49ers in Long Beach since the pre-Tarkanian era way back in 1968. Long Beach expects to make Poly its 68th consecutive victim tonight.

Even though the odds are against Poly, coach Don Hogan feels his team is more ready to play Long Beach tonight then it was against nationally-ranked Arizona two weeks ago.

"We're going into this game with our spirits high," Hogan said. "If we run our offense right, I believe we can stay in the game. I know a lot of things would have to happen for us to win but we will accomplish a lot if we can play our game."

Hogan's main objective is to get his team ready for the start of California Collegiate Athletic Association play in January.

Last Saturday's 90-78 win over Wheaton (Ill.) showed the progress the Broncos have made.

Poly is 2-3 going into tonight's game.

Hogan isn't certain who will start against Long Beach but it's a safe assumption Lee Roy Williams (6-9) will be at the center post. It's doubtful if Williams can duplicate his 33 rebounds against Wheaton tonight but his rapid improvement has been a delight. He is averaging 15.8 points and 15.6 rebounds per game while shooting at a 57.9 per cent clip.

Horace Aubrey is second in scoring with a 14.6 average.

Hogan is also delighted with the leadership of the seniors plus the hustle of guard Bill Bunker.

"Bunker is providing a lot of spark," Hogan said, "and Williams has just been unreal for us."

Poly will need all the rebounds it can get from Williams tonight against Long Beach's big front line of Leonard Gray (6-8, 235), Roscoe Pondexter (6-7, 230) and freshman Clifton Pondexter (6-8, 230). Roscoe and Clifton, the former prep sensations at Fresno's San Joaquin Memorial High, are leading the scoring with respective averages of 16.5 and 15.0.

The other Long Beach starters are guards Glenn McDonald, an excellent defensive player, and Rick Aberegg, the 49ers' playmaker. As a team, Long Beach is shooting at a 52.6 per cent clip.

"Like us, Poly has a lot of new faces," Olson said. "It is taking time for Hogan to put everything together but Poly is improving. I like to think we have better talent but that doesn't necessarily mean anything on the floor."

BRONCO NOTES — Olson is continuing where Tarkanian left off. In his five years at Long Beach, Tarkanian compiled an 122-20 record including four consecutive berths in the NCAA tournament . . .

Tonight's game will be broadcast by KGBS-FM (97.1) . . .

Kyle Jackson, a junior forward for the 49ers, is the younger brother of La-Motta Jackson, former Pomona-Pitzer star . . .

Carlos Mina, who is Long Beach's first sub, is a transfer from USC while Bob Gross came to the 49ers from Seattle University.

Poly, Chaffey stars honored

POMONA — Cal Poly's Lee Roy Williams and Chaffey College's Bob Kovach were honored as the Players of the Week at Tuesday's weekly Pomona Valley basketball luncheon at The Castaway Restaurant.

Williams grabbed a record 33 rebounds and scored 21 points — making eight of 12 field goals — in Poly's win over Wheaton (Ill.). Kovach, a sophomore from Fontana, scored 36 points and 29 rebounds in Chaffey's two games in the Chaffey Invitational Tournament.

Morningside easy winner

Oakland guests edge Covina

By CRAIG TRAVIS
P-B Staff Writer

WALNUT — Morningside and St. Elizabeth advanced to the championship bracket of the San Dimas Tournament of Champions Basketball Tournament Tuesday night at Mt. San Antonio College.

Morningside, the defending T of C champion, defeated Murphy, the defending CIF 3-A champs, easily 78-61, while St. Elizabeth, the defending Northern California champs, withstood a fourth quarter Covina challenge, to edge the Colts, 54-53.

All eight teams are off tonight as the MSAC Mounties host East Los Angeles.

But the teams resume action Thursday with Ganesha (4-2) playing San Dimas (2-5) at 2:30 p.m. and Covina (3-2) battling Murphy (2-2) at 4 p.m. in consolation games.

The championship bracket gets under way at 7 p.m. with Verbum Dei (7-0), five-time defending CIF champs, tangling with Pasadena (5-1), the 4-A runner-up. At 8:30 p.m. Morningside (5-1) battles St. Elizabeth (6-5).

Morningside, with only one starter back from last year's No. 1 ranked 4-A team, had very few problems in disposing of Murphy in the opener.

First-year coach Ron Jacobs has four starting players up from last year's 28-1 junior varsity team with 5-foot-11 forward Oscar Williams the only varsity starter returning.

The 1972 Monarchs and Williams lost their only game of the year in the 4-A quarterfinals. They won the T of C tourney last year, beating Verbum Dei, the eventual 4-A champs, in the finals.

Mike Santos led the Monarchs in their tourney-opeining victory. The 6-foot-7 center scored 23 points, hitting on 11 of 12 shot attempts, grabbed seven rebounds and blocked four shots.

The game was matched to be a personal duel between Santos and Murphy's Ollie Matson, Jr.

Although Matson, the son of the former Ram football star Ollie Matson, tallied 22 points and grabbed eight rebounds, eight of those points came in the fourth quarter against the Morningside reserves.

The Monarchs jumped out to a 9-0 lead when guard Phil Chow gave Murphy its first bucket of the game with 5:05 remaining in the first quarter.

Chow, with four points, and Matson, who averages 18 points per game, accounted for all of the Nobles' 12 first period points as the team hit on 6 of 13 field goal attempts.

Santos, who averages 18 points a game, and guard John Gibson paced the Monarchs' 17 points, scoring five points each.

The second eight-minute stanza set the stage for the remainder of the contest for the Nobles as they missed on 13 of 16 shot attempts.

Morningside, on the otherhand, enjoyed a hot shooting quarter, connecting on eight of 14 attempts. Santos had eight points. And Morningside led at intermission, 35-22.

The Monarchs put the game on ice in the third quarter, shooting a sizzling 80 per cent (12 of 15) from the floor. Gibson and Williams provided the spark as they combined for 18 of their 24 period points. Williams hit on five of seven attempts while Gibson canned four of five field goal attempts.

Matson scored four of the Nobles' 16 points in the period as Murphy trailed 59-38 entering the fourth stanza.

Wilkes is 'smooth as silk'

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — By outshining North Carolina State All-America David Thompson at St. Louis, Keith Wilkes finally has emerged from beneath Bill Walton's shadow.

"I think the players' name for him, Silky, describes him pretty well," said UCLA basketball coach John Wooden when asked to assess his star 6-7 forward.

Wilkes, the quiet-spoken son of a preacher man, pumped in 27 points in the Bruins' big 84-66 victory over the Wolfpack Saturday while holding Thompson to 17.

"Keith has a way of making players (shoot) lower their shooting percentages a little bit," Wooden said with a grin. "I feel confident he surprised Thompson but I think he surprises a lot of people."

Quiet and unassuming on and off the court, the Santa Barbara, Calif., senior may have won himself an All-America first team berth with his performance against the brilliant North Carolina State forward.

Wilkes, whose father is a Baptist minister in Santa Barbara, also increased his bargaining power when it comes time to deal with the moguls of pro basketball.

Wooden was asked about the future of his star forward.

"I'm going to let the pros decide that," he replied. "I hope they think he'll be a tremendous player, though, and take care of him accordingly."

Until last weekend, Wilkes had gone virtually unnoticed on a team that is led by college basketball's player of the year for the past two seasons.

"He just does everything so effortlessly," said Wooden, "that I think you sometimes fail to appreciate him. I liken him somewhat to Walt Frazier or an Oscar Robertson."

The UCLA mentor added:

"He's so smooth and he seems to do so many things effortlessly. His hands are very quick and he doesn't commit himself too much. Plus he does all things pretty well. He's stronger than he appears, too.

"He's not heavy, of course (180 pounds), but he's wiry and sometimes that type of player can go longer and be less susceptible to injuries than a heavily muscled player."

Wilkes, a center in high school, delivers his jump shot from behind his head.

"I don't like the style but he gets it away and he's accurate so I'm not about to monkey with him," said Wooden.

With 918 points in 64 varsity games at UCLA, Wilkes will become the 14th Bruin to score more than 1,000 career points.

He's averaging 17.3 in four games this year after a 13.5 average as a sophomore and a 14.8 average as a junior.

PALM SPRINGS VACATION

Franco Harris of the Pittsburgh Steelers participates in warmup exercises with his teammates at Angel Stadium in Palm Springs in preparation for this weekend's NFL playoff game at Oakland.

Kings travel to St. Louis after battling Detroit to tie

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — After battling back to gain a 4-4 tie in Detroit on Tuesday, the Los Angeles Kings end a two-game road trip here against the Blues tonight.

Bob Nevin scored twice in the Red Wings game, beating rookie goalie Bill McKenzie with the first and last goals of the game.

Nevin's first score, his 10th, sailed past McKenzie at 5:40 of the opening period. Mickey Redmond tied it near the end of the period with a power play goal.

The Kings went ahead briefly in the second period when Mike Murphy scored at 8:29. The Red Wings took the lead when Doug Roberts and Bill Hogaboam scored within in a 2:01 span.

Bill Lesuk tied it with his first goal of the season at 3:48 of the final period but Pierre Jarry put Detroit ahead again 38 seconds later with his fifth goal.

Nevin then beat McKenzie again at 5:42 of the final period to tie the contest. Kings' goalie Rogie Vachon had to stop two Detroit breakaway attempts in the closing seconds to perserve the tie.

The Kings are 9-16-5 on the year for 23 points and a tie with Minnesota for fifth place in the NHL West. St. Louis is in fourth place at 12-10-6, a full seven points ahead of the Kings.

Los Angeles returns home Saturday night to host the Minnesota North Stars.

Stags hurting

USIU, flu team to beat Claremont

By GRAHAM CROW
P-B Correspondent

CLAREMONT — Around Christmas time, many college coaches worry about players who "flew the coop" and went home for the Holidays. But at Claremont-Mudd, Ted Ducey has a different problem, he is trying to figure out how to "coop the flu."

It was that pesty little disease that kept two Stag players from suiting up Tuesday night as Claremont-Mudd suffered its sixth loss in eight starts to United States International University, 79-64, at Stag Gym.

Ducey only had eight players to choose from for his starting five as top scorer George Glonka and top reserve, and part-time starter, Ray Rotolo, were both sidelined with a case of influenza.

The absence of Glonka was most apparent in the Stag offense as the team was limited to mostly outside shots by the taller southern visitors and had no one on the floor who could effectively go toward the basket with the ball on offense.

All in all, Ducey was happy with the way his troops piayed, especially the way they battled back in the second half after trailing by as many as 19 points with 13 minutes to go.

Behind the outside shooting of guard Johnny Daniels, the Stags climbed from a 51-32 deficit to a 69-62 disadvantage with slightly more than three minutes to play.

But the Westerners, behind the clutch shooting of forward Preston Jackson, came back with three hoops and the San Diego based squad claimed its fifth win in six games while Claremont-Mudd's record fell to 2-6.

The Stags were hurt the most on the backboards as the taller USIU team grabbed 39 rebounds to Claremont's 31, but where it hurt the most was on the offensive board, where the Westerners gathered in 16 while the Stags were limited to just six.

Because of this, and the 23 turnovers committed by the Stags in the contest, USIU was able to take 19 more shots than the hosts. USIU was 36 for 67 from the field (54 per cent) while the Stags were 25 of 48 (52 per cent).

Daniels, a 5-6 freshman guard, was the leading scorer for C-M with 18 points while Dave Willhite, starting at center, added 12. Chet Hancock grabbed game honors with 19 for the Westerners who had Jackson add 14 and mobile center R. J. Kunysz chip in 12.

Judge won't block move of Padres

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — A federal judge has refused to issue an order blocking the proposed move of the San Diego Padres baseball franchise from here to Washington, D. C.

U.S. District Court Judge Howard B. Turrentine said Tuesday his decision against granting the temporary restraining order was not a reflection on the merits of the city's $72 million antitrust against the National League.

The suit, filed last week,

The suit, filed last week, accused league owners and several public officials, including Vice President Gerald R. Ford of conspiring to deprive San Diego of its lawful business relationship with the baseball team. The Padres have 15 years remaining on a 20-year pact for use of San Diego Stadium.

Turrentine said the restraining order sought by the city was too drastic, but added that if the team's transfer is judged wrongful the city will be "adequately compensated."

Earlier this month the National League owners approved the transfer of the franchise. The league set a Friday deadline for concluding negotiations relating to the sale.

The suit contends the defendants violated federal antitrust lows by conspiring to shift the franchise.

Chino alumni return to play varsity

CHINO — Chino High will host its Lettermen's Club Alumni Basketball Game Thursday night in the Cowboy gym at 8 p.m.

Alumni stars returning to the hardcourts Thursday evening will be Joe Murrillo (1965), Al Garnica (1970), John Monger (1966), Gary Weiberg (1966), Harvey Visser (1971), Rick Green (1971), Phil Pinto (1972), John Delgado (1963), Paul Delgado (1965), Henry Guillen (1952), Kenny Hay (1970) and Bob Fisk (1973).

Also returning to coach the Alumni, which will be playing this year's Chino varsity team, is veteran coach Frank Elder, who retired last year after 25 years of service.

The Alumni will don the famous Chino stripes, while the varsity will wear its regular game uniforms.

Admission to the Alumni-Varsity game will be 75 cents for students and $1.50 for adults.

MSAC gets better—Victor

By MIKE RAWLINSON
P-B Staff Writer

WALNUT — Mt. San Antonio brings a 2-9 record into its rematch with East Los Angeles tonight at 7:30, but Mountie coach Gene Victor says he has high hopes for success here on out.

"The Mounties are squared away," the veteran MSAC skipper declared Tuesday afternoon. "We'll be very, very tough by the time South Coast Conference play begins in January. Even though we're 2-9 we have high hopes."

MSAC lost to East L.A. in one previous encounter, 91-73 in the consolation quarterfinals of the Chaffey Invitational last week.

"We've been playing hard, but we're still making mistakes," Victor added. "One thing is certain we're going to play tough against East L.A."

The loss to the Huskies in the tournament followed MSAC's best game of the year, a 70-67 setback to rugged L.A. Harbor, a team which at that point was 6-1 on the season.

Victor intends to make his third personnel change at forward for tonight's contest.

Roger Borg, a freshman from Los Altos, who Victor calls "a 6-foot-3 jumping jack," will make his first start of the year. He has seen action in only two previous games.

At the other forward, another freshman, 6-foot-6 Gary Melugin, has become a fixture since breaking into the lineup four games ago. He has scored in double figures in each contest and is averaging 12.7 points per game.

"Melugin may be a better future prospect than Jim Bogdanowicz," said Victor.

Bogdanowicz, a former CIF 3-A Player of the Year, was an All-South Coast forward for the Mounties for two seasons, 1971-72 and 1972-73. He's now at Cal State Fullerton.

The other starters for the Mounties tonight will be 6-foot-10 center Gary Nash, and guards Steve Arthur, and Bill Keilty, who go 5-10 and 6-foot respectively. All three are sophomores.

Nash leads the team in scoring and rebounding with 21 points and 12 rebounds per game. Arthur is the team leader in assists with 41.

East L.A. (5-4) is a veteran team, featuring an all sophomore starting lineup. Center Sam Jimenez (6-6) led the victory over the Mounties in the tournament with 26 points.

Following tonight's contest, MSAC takes a break of the holidays and return to action at the Hancock Tournament in Santa Maria, Dec. 27-29. The Mounties open against Modesto in the first round of the tournament at 3 p.m.

Bryant claims Giants can't win flag with Fox

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — An angry Ron Bryant says that the San Francisco Giants reneged on verbal contract agreements for next year and also feels the team, "will neve win a pennant with Charlie Fox as manager."

Bryant, the National League's top winner with 24 victories last season, asserted from his San Mateo home that the Giants had offered him $47,500, about a 60 per cent increase over his 1972 salary of $30,000. But Bryant said that a team spokesman three times "guaranteed me a certain figure. When the contract got here, the figure was changed.

"What's a 24-game winner worth?" Bryant asked. He answered that he thought he deserved between $60,000 and $70,000.

Bryant was 24-12 after starting the most games (39) and working the most innings (270) among National League hurlers. He completed eight games and had an ERA of 3.53.

Bryant admitted he was disappointed first when he was overlooked for the All-Star game and then when he finished third in the Cy Young Award voting won by Tom Seaver of the New York Mets.

But he said he thought the Giants' organization understood his frustrations until "they turn around and send me a contract like this. I've been very fair in the past and I think they should be more fair with me."

Bryant also has little respect for the managerial ability of Fox.

"Believe me, I'm speaking for the team, and I've got the guts to say it: The Giants will never win a pennant with Charlie Fox as manager. He cannot handle a team. He'd be better off in the front office.

Rams not making offensive changes

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Los Angeles Rams scored 22 touchdowns on passes and 18 on the ground during the regular season but they are basically a rushing team.

Chuck Knox, who does not talk or coach like a rookie head coach, indicates the Rams won't make any big changes in their offense in the NFC playoff game Sunday against the favored Dallas Cowboys.

The Cowboys are favored by one or two points, apparently because the game is on their home field.

Knox said Tuesday the Rams will "approach the game in the same way" as they did other games when they ran up a 12-2 record, best in Los Angeles history.

"We have 18-20 different running plays," he said, "and we'll have a few gimmick plays ready as usual — reverses, screens and statues ... We may have a few minor changes but nothing big. There will be a lot of intensity in that game. We are going to try to do what we have to do to win."

The Rams gained an average of 208.9 yards rushing per game during the season. Yet they used the pass to great advantage in spots.

When they beat Dallas 37-31 in Ocober, John Hadl threw four touchdown passes to Harold Jackson, two of them in the bomb range — 50-60 yards.

"We had perfect execution on those passes," Knox recalled. "The Dallas defense was set up right but their execution was lacking."

Dallas won the NFC East with a 10-4 record. The Cowboys won their last three with comparative ease after losing to Miami 14-7.

The Cowboy offense, with scrambler Roger Staubach at the controls, is "explosive," Knox says, and adds, "Calvin Hill is a tremendous runner. He breaks a lot of tackles. They come at you with a lot of weapons."

He also has great respect for the Dallas defense, composed largely of veterans.

"Dallas plays defense like no other team," he said. "Their defense is designed to keep all the blockers off their middle linebacker. They play it with such discipline. They've been playing together so long ... they take the same steps but they do enough different things to upset the offense. Most teams have trouble running on Dallas."

The Dallas middle linebacker, Leroy Jordan, is "one of the greatest," according to Knox who pointed out, "He's a sure tackler and he's got six pass interceptions."

Knox didn't look worried as he spoke.

"Dallas has a great football team and great personnel but they're not unbeatable," he pointed out.

Ram runners Lawrence McCutcheon and Jim Bertelsen have a faculty for slashing through the line and cutting back for good yardage. McCutcheon gained 1,097 yards, a club record, and Bertelsen, a fine blocker, picked up 854.

"McCutcheon has real fine quickness," he said. "He has the ability to pick a hole. He has good straightaway speed move quickly to the side, but more importantly he can slash back and break away."

Knox is not predicting the outcome but says, "We're going to have to play mistake-free football to win."

Chaffey falls to Hilo again

HILO, HAWAII — Turnovers proved to costly for Chaffey College for the second night in a row as the Panthers dropped a 92-89 decision to Hilo College here.

Chaffey was guilty of 36 turnovers in the loss as Hilo built a 20-point lead in the second half before the Panthers rallied to make it close at the finish.

Forward Bob Kovach led Panther scoring and rebounding with 27 points and 12 rebounds. Russ Williams added 15 points, and guard Phil Merenda came off the bench to score 10.

The Panthers (5-5) return to the mainland at the end of the week and will play again at the San Joaquin Delta Tournament in Stockton, Dec. 27-29.

San Diego passer leads Blues to win

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — Quarterback Jesse Freitas of San Diego State believes that in an all-star game like the Blue-Gray football classic, the best offense is to keep throwing the ball.

That's what he did Tuesday night, completing 14-of-23 passes for 168 yards and one touchdown as the Blues downed the Grays 20-14. For his efforts, Freitas was named the game's Most Valuable Player.

"In this kind of a game, you don't have as complicated an offense but they don't have as much time to prepare their defense," said Freitas, who led the nation in total offense last season. "In this kind of game, it's much easier to pass than run."

Freitas, who completed 8-of-9 passes in the first quarter, led the Blues on a 32-yard opening drive in six plays, capped by a three-yard scoring run by Pete Taggares of Washington.

Early in the second quarter the Blues battled deep into Gray territory only to stall on the 13-yard line. John Phillips of Xavier (Ohio) kicked a 29-yard field goal. He also kicked a 33-yard field goal in the fourth quarter to put the game away for the Blues.

Freitas capped a 38-yard scoring drive in the third quarter when he threw a 10-yard touchdown pass to Gehald Tinker of Kent State, an Olympic gold medal sprinter.

The Grays did all their scoring in the second quarter, with the first touchdown coming on a three-yard run by Barty Smith of Richmond, ending a 78-yard drive.

Then quarterback Carl Summerell of East Carolina, who completed 15-of-21 passes for 146 yards, threw a nine-yard scoring pass to Charles Dancer of Baylor with 38 seconds left inthe half.

The win was the first for the Blues in five years but the series stands at 20-14-1 in favor of the South.

The Grays drove to the Blue 10-yard line late in the first quarter but Chuck Ramsey's 27-yard field goal attempt was wide.

In the third quarter, Doug Nettles of Vanderbilt picked off a Freitas pass at the Gray 31 and returned ct 21 yards to the Blue 48. But Grays were unable to move the ball.

The Blues had two more chances at scoring in the third quarter when linebacker Cleveland Vann of Oklahoma State snared a Summerell pass and ran it back 15 yards to the Gray 38. Later, Cal Peterson of UCLA blocked a Ramsey punt and Barry Price of Oklahoma State recovered on the Gray 44. But neither time could the Blues capitalize for a score.

Damien wins in tourney

Both Damien and Ontario opened tournament action with victories Tuesday afternoon.

Damien, going into the opening round of the Pius X Tournament with a 1-3 record, knocked off Bosco Tech in the opening round, 76-72.

Meanwhile, Ontario opened play in the Laguna Beach Tournament with an identical 1-3 slate and dumped Saddleback in the first round, 50-42.

In other non-league action Tuesday, Upland defeated Alta Loma by a 70-60 count.

It took a blistering third quarter by Damien to pull away from the stubborn Bosco Tech Techmen. The Spartans, led by Gerard Piccioni's nine points in the quarter, outscored the Techmen 23-15 in the third stanza after trailing by a 37-31 margin at halftime.

Bosco Tech did manage to catch the Spartans again in the fourth quarter and eventually tied the score at 71-all with a little under one minute left in the game. But Damien put on the full court press and forced Bosco Tech into two turnovers to turn the game around.

Piccioni and forward John Pignotti were the leading scorers for Damien with 17 points each. Forward Larry Pekarcik added 14 and guard Billy Karr pumped in 10 to give Damien four starters in double figures. Brian Krueger even came off the bench to score in double figures with 13 points.

Damien will now play Pius X tonight at 8 p.m. in the championship bracket of the tournament at St. John Bosco High in Bellflower.

After a 4-4 tie early in the game against Alta Loma, Upland dumped in points in the second quarter — paced by forward Curt Oldenkamp's 11 points. Oldenkamp finished the first half with 18 points and capped the day with 26 points.

Alta Loma installed the press in the third quarter and was able to trim the Upland lead to seven points. The Braves eventually pulled to within four points, 58-54, with 5:04 remaining in the game on guard Jamie Broecker's jumper — but that was as close as the Braves were going to get.

Along with Oldenkamp, other double-figure scorers for Upland included forward Orien Ogg with 13 points, center Stu DuVall with 14 and guard Mike Matusewicz with 10.

Center Jim Donaldson paced the Jaguars to their second win of the season with 21 points.

The Jags took a 28-21 lead at halftime and built it up to a 42-29 lead going into the final eight minutes of play. They then coasted in from there.

Ontario now faces Laguna Beach Thursday night at 6:30 p.m. in the second round of the championship bracket.

Ontario course hosts international matches

ONTARIO — Top collegiate golfers from Japan and the U.S. will compete in matches here at Ontario National Golf Club beginning Thursday and continuing through Friday. A practice round was scheduled this morning.

U.S. Amateur Champion Craig Stadler and Walker Cup teammate Mark Pfeil of USC will lead the 40-man American team captained by USC golf coach Stan Wood.

Among those competing for the U.S. will be Bill Pharr, one of the top players in the Southern California Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (SCIAC) and a senior at Claremont Men's College.

The first round of the 54-hole matches will be four ball (partner best ball) beginning at 8 a.m. Thursday. Two rounds of head-to-head singles competition will be played Friday beginning at 7:30 a.m.

Ganesha bows in wrestling

CORONA — Ganesha High jumped out to a 15-0 lead Tuesday afternoon in a non-league wrestling match, but failed to come up with the big points in the heavier weights and lost a 47-17 decision to Corona.

Ganesha picked up victories in three of the first four weight divisions, but lost all but one of the final nine match-ups.

The only other bright spot was when the Giants' Charles Stewart, who is now 10-0-1 for the year, drew with Corona's Bob Holden.

Ganesha is now 1-10 for the season and won't see anymore action until the San Antonio League season begins Thursday, Jan. 10 against Montclair.

Chisox send hurler to Cubs

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Chicago White Sox Tuesday sent left handed pitcher Jim Kremmel to the Chicago Cubs as the fourth and final player in the deal that moved All-Star third baseman Ron Santo to the White Sox.

Kremmel, 25, a native of Belleville, Ill., played last season with Triple-A clubs at Tulsa, Okla., in the American Association, and Spokane, Wash., in the Pacific Coast League, and briefly with the Texas Rangers.

Vikes beat Glendale, enter Vegas tourney

LAS VEGAS — Garey High meets Reno at 5:15 p.m. Thursday in the first round of the Warrior Holiday Classic here at Western High.

In a prelude to the tourney, the Vikings topped Glendale, 64-58, Tuesday night in a single game at Glendale. Bill Evans with 23 points and Gary Carpenter with 18 points led Garey scoring in the victory.

In the tournament, Garey may get a chance to meet the top rated team in Nevada in host Western.

In other first round pairings Western faces Rancho of Las Vegas, Bishop Gorman meets Bullard of Fresno, and San Diego Military faces L.A. Lutheran.

As usual, Ohio State says no to beef contest

LOS ANGELES — It's Beef Scrimmage time again at Lawry's The Prime Rib and, as usual, the USC Trojans will be making a pre-Rose Bowl Game stop at the La Cienega Blvd., restaurant.

John McKay's Pacific Eight champions will meet with the Southland's sports reporting corps Wednesday, making their sixth visit to Lawry's and the Rose Bowl in the past eight years.

And, also, as usual, Ohio State coach Woody Hayes has turned down an invitation for his Buckeyes to attend the Beef Scrimmage. He gave no reason, but Lawry's president Richard Frank wasn't surprised.

Hayes first refused the invitation in 1968, the first time a Rose Bowl team had done so in the history of the traditional event. Ohio State also declined in 1970 and '72.

Oakland visitors play top defense

Williams finished the night with 12 points, nine rebounds and a game-high 11 assists. Gibson added 15 points and five assists.

St. Elizabeth of Oakland may be the most mysterious team in the tourney. The Mustangs won the Northern California championship last year, paced by All-American Wolfe Perry and super sophomore Northern Shavers.

But both Perry and Shavers have transferred to Oakland Tech (7-0), forcing first-year coach John Burks to transform a team that averaged 90 points per game in '72 into a defensive team this year.

The Mustangs paced by Louis Woods offensively and a quick zone defense, did something to Covina that no team has ever done to a Doc Sooter Colt team . . . kept them from scoring a field goal for an entire quarter.

Sooter has been at Covina 25 years. Since that time, the Colts have won 568 and lost 138 games. He has had 17 championships, 60 all-league players, 30 All-CIF ball players and one CIF Player of the Year. His teams have made the playoffs 18 times and his lowest finish at Covina has been third place. He was runnerup for Coach of the Year nationally in '69.

A St. Elizabeth quintet of Bruce Youngblood, Norm Eirstedt, Woods, Mike Dry and Darryl Nelson checked the Colts on eight field goal attempts. The only Covina points in the first quarter came on Rande Cuellar's two free throws with 3:37 to play.

Meanwhile, Woods singed the nets for 10 of his teams' 12 points, connecting on four of five from the field.

In fact, Covina didn't score its first field goal of the contest until the 4:27 mark of the second quarter. Rod Littlepage, 6-foot-10 center, who averages 19 points per game, banked a shot off the glass from eight feet out.

Covina played sloppy ball in the first half, committing 14 turnovers as it trailed 26-14 at the half.

St. Elizabeth called on its defense again in the third stanza to check the Colts on just four field goals on 15 attempts in extending its lead to 40-22.

At the outset of the final quarter, Burks emptied his bench in an attempt to give the Mustang reserves playing time.

The strategy proved to be most costly . . . to the point of near defeat.

The Colts put on a harrassing press that forced eight turnovers in the final eight minute stanza.

Slowly . . . at first . . . Covina began to cut intto its 18-point deficit. Then when the Colts trailed by just eight points with slightly over a minute to play, the St. Elizabeth turnovers occurred at a rapid pace.

The margin was cut to six . . . then four . . . then three. The Colts then got the ball out of bounds, via an errant pass, with two seconds remaining in the game.

With Burks shouting to his reserves on the court, "Don't move, just stand there. Let them have the bucket but don't anyone move a muscle," the Colts threw the ball into Littlepage, under the hoop, who softly dropped the ball through the hoop as the final buzzer sounded.

Littlepage, who being guarded by Woods for three periods, scored six points in the second quarter and 10 in the fourth (against the reserves) to finish the game with 16 points.

Woods finished the contest with 19 points, hitting on seven of 13 field goal attempts, and 12 rebounds. Cry and Youngblood tallied 11 points each while Eirstedt canned 10 points in the second half.

Five rookies play for NFC in Pro Bowl

NEW YORK (UPI) — Five rookies were named Wednesday to the National Football Conference Pro Bowl squad for the Jan. 20th contest in Kansas City.

The newcomers are tight end Charley Young of Philadelphia, running backs Lawrence McCutcheon of Los Angeles and Chuck Foreman of Minnesota, punter Tom Wittrum of San Francisco and kicker Nick Mike-Mayer of Atlanta.

McCutcheon was on the Los Angeles squad last year but officially qualifies as a rookie under NFL rules because he didn't line up for an offensive play and didn't appear on the special teams in five games.

The team was selected by the 13 NFC coaches, who weren't allowed to name players from their own squad.

The 40-man squad includes 20 offensive and 17 defensive players plus three specialists. Nineteen of the 40 players were voted for the first time.

Among the repeaters, defensive tackle Merlin Olsen was named for the 12th straight times in his 12-year NFL career and cornerback Mel Renfro was selected for the ninth time in nine seasons.

Outside linebacker Dave Wilcox of San Francisco was the only unanimous selection on the NFC squad.

One man whose name is conspicuous by its absence is Fran Tarkenton, the Minnesota Vikings' quarterback who's led his team to a 12-2 regular season record. Tarkenton was beaten out by John Hadl of Los Angeles and Roman Gabriel of Philadelphia.

Hadl is appearing on the NFC team for the first time after playing for the AFC three times. He was traded from San Diego to Los Angeles this year.

Despite Tarkenton's absence, Minnesota placed the most players on the squad—seven. Los Angeles and Dallas each placed six players on the team.

Four teams, Chicago, New Orleans, the New York Giants and the St. Louis Cardinals, failed to place a single player on the squad.

Cowboys say defense is better

DALLAS (UPI) — A great deal of football has been played since the Los Angeles Rams whipped the Dallas Cowboys five weeks deep into the season, 37-31.

Between then and now—or to be specific next Sunday when the two teams meet again in the NFC divisional playoffs— the Cowboys have altered somewhat.

At least star linebacker Lee Roy Jordan thinks they have, and it's hard to argue with him since Dallas put together three must victories at the end of the season which shoved the Cowboys into the playoffs for the eighth straight year—an NFL record.

"When we played Los Angeles before, it was the combination of 40 guys who were not ready to play," said Jordan, who Coach Tom Landry says has had the best of his 11 seasons as a pro.

"We began to wake up in the second half and made a comeback. We didn't get all the way back, but we made a game of it when we could have been really embarrassed."

The Cowboy defense had been embarrassed fairly well in the first half thanks to four touchdown passes from John Hadl to flanker Harold Jackson.

"We will throw some changeups at Jackson," said Jordan. "We've been changing up for the last few weeks and have been having some success against good receivers like Charley Taylor of Washington.

"Against Los Angeles we were just caught flat-footed and Hadl threw some perfect passes in there.

"At the end of the game I felt like they were no longer confident againt us. The Rams have a lot of new guys who have not been in this siatuion before (the playoffs). I feel confident we can take them."

In the last half of the season the Cowboy defense allowed more than one touchdown only once (two against Miami. And in the final three games of the season only one touchdown was scored against the Dallas defense. That came late in the game against Denver when the outcome was no longer in doubt.

The only touchdown scored by Washington in that critical game two weeks ago came on a blocked punt.

"I think our defense is comparable to the years we went to the Super Bowl," Jordan said. "And we have more offensive firepower now than we did. Still, the defense goes out there with the feeling that we have to shut the other team out.

"If we do that there is no way we can lose."

Edmontons Harrison leads All-Star voting

SANTA ANA, Calif. (UPI) — Edmonton Oilers' center Jim Harrison was the leading votegetter among 18 members of the World Hockey Association's Western Division all-star team, the WHA announced Tuesday.

Harrison received 59 votes and was named on 10 of 11 first-team ballots for the game to be played in St. Paul, Minn., on Jan. 3.

Ex-National Hockey League great Bobby Hull, now a Winnipeg Jet, was second in overall votes with 44 and was named on eight first team ballots. Hull, a former Chicago Black Hawk, will serve as playercoach in the WHA contest.

Another former NHL star, Gordie Howe, was named to the squad. Howe, of the Houston Aeros, was named to the third team right wing position, behind Frank Hughes of Houston and Danny Lawson of Vancouver.

Goaltender Jack Norris of Edmonton also polled eight first place ballots to earn a spot on the starting squad. Also named to the starting team were John Garrett of Minnesota and Ernie Wakely of Winnipeg.

Other selections to the squad include:

Ron Climie, Edmonton; Marc Tardif, Los Angeles; Mike Walton, Minnesota; Larry Lund, Houston; Al Hamilton, Edmonton; Larry Hornung, Winnipeg; Rick Smith, Minnesota; Paul Popiel, Houston; Bart Crashley and Gerry Odrowski, Los Angeles.

Taylor returns to Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Veteran infielder Tony Taylor, released earlier this month by the Detroit Tigers, has rejoined the Philadelphia Phillies.

A team spokesman said Taylor, 38, was signed Tuesday by the National League Club. The Phillies traded Taylor to the Tigers in 1971 for two minor league pitchers.

Buckeyes hurt by cold spell

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — The Ohio State Buckeyes worked out in French Field House Tuesday because of cold weather in preparation for the Rose Bowl game Jan. 1 against Southern California.

Five players missed the workouts because they were snowbound in the East.

Missing the practice were offensive tackle Scott Dannelley of Williamsport, Pa.; defenive back Carl Kern of Dallas, Pa.; quarterback Cornelius Greene and tailback Woody Roach, both of Washington, D.C., and tailback Archie Griffin of Columbus, Ohio, who had gone home for the weekend with Greene.

Sharks fall to Blazers

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Ron Plumb and John Migneault scored power play goals in the second period Tuesday night to spark the Vancouver Blazers to a 5-2 World Hockey Association win over the Los Angeles Sharks.

Goalie Peter Donnelly turned away 16 Sharks' shots during the crucial second period when the Blazers broke open a 2-2 tie.

Garry Veneruzzo scored both Los Angeles goals, getting assists from Brian McDonald and J.P. LeBlanc each time. Both came in the first period, the first on an 18-footer and the second on a breakaway.

Dennis Meloche and Michel Plante tied the game with two scores within a 40-second span in the first period.

After Plumb and Migenault broke the game open in the second period, Plumb came back in the third period and scored the final goal at 13:53.

Riverside hosts NASCAR opener

RIVERSIDE — For the 12th consecutive year, America's major professional auto racing season will open in Southern California with a 500-mile stock car race at Riverside International Raceway.

The Winston Western 500, sanctioned by the National Association for Stock Car Automobile Racing (NASCAR), will be held on Sunday, January 20, and carry a purse of more than $100,000.

The Winston Western 500 is one of just two Grand National stock car races held on a road course. The other, the Tuborg 400, is also held at Riverside in June.

Drivers expected to compete in the January race include four-time NASCAR champion Richard Petty, Driver of the Year David Pearson, Bobby Allison, Cale Yarborough, Buddy Baker and West Coast stars Ray Elder, Hershel McGriff and Jack McCoy.

Gary Bettenhausen, a veteran Indianapolis driver is also expected to be entered by Roger Penske to drive a new 1974 American Motors Matador. A Matador, driven by the recently retired Mark Donohue, won this event a year ago.

Co-featured with the Winston Western 500 will be the eighth running of the Permatex 200 on Saturday, January 19. The Permatex race, which carries a purse of more than $20,000 is the premiere event of the year for West Coast sportsman car drivers.

Lee Richter, president of Riverside Raceway, said tickets for both events are now on sale at all Sears Ticketron, Liberty agencies, Wallich's Music City Stores and at the Raceway.

Action picking up in managerial talks

BOSTON (UPI) — Action was expected to pick up today in the American league hearings on broken managerial contracts as Dick Williams and his past present boss, Charles O. Finley, were called before President Joe Cronin.

Williams, like Ralph Houk who testified at league hearings Tuesday, bailed out of a major league contract to sign with another club while two years still remained on the original pact.

Cronin, acting as judge in accordance with the American League constitution, must decide what compensation—if any —Finley deserves for letting Williams abandon his Oakland contract and what recompense Yankees President Gabe Paul will receive for allowing Houk to sign with the Detroit Tigers.

No decision was expected today.

The hearings apparently went quietly Tuesday, with all parties smiling at meet-the-press time. But no grins were expected today after Finley, who filed suit to restrain Williams from managing anywhere but Oakland in the next two years, and Williams testify before Cronin.

Finley said after filing the suit Tuesday he would drop the action if the Yankees gave adequate compensation for signing Williams.

Finley said Willams 'can go with our blessing if we're properly compensated. If we get proper compensation, we'll withdraw the suit. If not, the suit stands."

The Oakland owner said he turned down the original Yankee offer of infielder-outfielder Horace Clarke and a later offer of $150,000 spread over three years and "a couple of minor league players who didn't know the back from the front of a jockstrap."

Williams declined comment on Finley's suit but said upon his arrival for the hearings he was "optimistic I will manage the Yankees next year. I already signed a contract."

Cronin, who retires Jan. 1, said he will rule on the Williams and Houk jumps "as soon as possible" but added that no decision would be reached immediately.

"First I have to hear all the evidence from all sides, then I have to weigh it. As an old shortstop with just a curbstone knowledge of the law, I have a formal study," said Cronin, who will be replaced by present Yankee General Manager Lee MacPhail.

Both Williams and Houk have said they received verbal agreement from their owners to sign with other clubs.

When the Tigers signed Houk, they believed there would be no repurcussions but then Finley refused to allow the Yankees to talk to Williams the Yankees then said Detroit never asked permission to talk to Houk and also sought compensation.

Houk testified at Tuesday's four-hour meeting along with Paul, MacPhail and Detroit General Manager Jim Campbell and his assistant Rick Ferrell. Both sides were accompanied by counsel. Finley and Williams were to speak today along with Paul, who was to explain the Yankee side of the major league soap opera.

Finley's contentions, as spelled out in the suit filed in U.S. District Court in San Franciso, are many. His petition states Williams' service as a manager are "special, unique, unusual, extraordinary and of unusual character" and that the loss of the manger would result in "irreparable injury and damage to the club."

The suit also noted that by winning two straight World Series with Oakland, Williams has become extremely popular and "a great factor in attendance, gate receipts, success of the Athletics on the playing field and the financial success of the Athletics."

Finley said additionally he had spent great sums of money to enhance Williams' popularity and to shape "the playing personnel of the Athletics to suit the style of play followed by Williams."

And, Finley said, Oakland "employed four coaches who are personal friends of Williams and whose skills and value are uniquely dependent on their ability to work with Williams."

Majors voted top coach

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI) — Pittsburgh's Johnny Majors edged Oklahoma rookie coach Barry Switzer for the Football Writers Association of America's "Coach of the Year" award, it was announced Weednesday.

The association said Majors, who converted Pitt from a 10-time loser to a bowl participant in one season, received 151 votes to 130 for Switzer, whose probation-strapped Sooners compiled a 10-0-1 record and No. 2 national ranking.

Majors' Panthers play Arizona State in the Fiesta Bowl in Phoenix, Ariz., Friday.

Foyt enters first for Daytona 500

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. — A. J. Foyt, one of the most talented and colorful competitors in auto racing, is the first driver to confirm an entry in the 16th annual Daytona 500 set for a 12 noon start Sunday, Feb. 17, at Daytona International Speedway.

The legendary driver from Houston, Texas, who recently overcame a serious bout with hepatitis, will drive a 1974 Chevelle Laguna in the rich Winston Cup stock car classic. Foyt won the premier NASCAR Grand National 500-miler in 1972 with a Mercury.

Foyt, three-time Indianapolis 500 winner and USAC's all-time record holder in practically every division of competition, will be seeing "double-duty" when the SPEED WEEKS action kicks off. He's one of six drivers who qualified for the finals in the International Race of Champions (IROC).

Foyt will join David Pearson, Mark Donohue, Peter Revson, George Follmer and Bobby Unser in the unique IROC road race set for Friday, Feb. 15. The competitors will draw for cars from among six identical Porsche Carreras prior to the $65,000 finale.

Foyt's Chevrolet for the Daytona 500-mile Grand National event is being prepared by veteran stock car mechanic Banjo Matthews of Asheville, N. C.

Foyt will be among the favorites when pole position qualifying runs for the Daytona 500 being Saturday, Feb. 9. He'll also be one of the top contenders Thursday, Feb. 14, when two 125-mile qualifying races over the 2.5-mile trioval determine the starting order for the rich 500-miler.

Motocross racing still held at Indian Dunes

VALENCIA — With resumption of motocross racing on Saturdays, starting this Saturday, Indian Dunes Park near Saugus will again become a battleground three times a week for motorcycle competition on the dirt obstacle tracks.

Running under sanction of American Motocross Enterprises of Hawthorne, the Saturday programs, which begin at 10 a.m., will be in addition to regularly scheduled races every Friday night and during daytime shows on Sundays.

Large fields of minibike and minicycle riders will continue their competition events, on a course separate from that used by the big bikes, on the first and third Sundays of each month for the remainder of the winter seasons, while tri-wheeler racing is featured the second Sunday of every month.

Kenny Zahrt of Canoga Park, who swept to overall victories against all three professional riding divisions in his most recent motocross encounter at the 'Dunes, is considered as the man to beat in races this weekend at the Valencia-based speed complex.

Among top riders expected to furnish young Zahrt his closet "go' for the cash purses that will be awarded professionals are Eddie Cole of Saugus, Jeff Blix of West Los Angeles, and Bill Payne of Simi, all of whom are currently leading their respective divisions in the point standings for the 1973 racing season.

Indian Dunes Park is located on Highway 126, two miles west of its junction with the Golden State Freeway.

Recreation

Pomona's first season of girls soccer is about to come to a successful conclusion. Championship playoffs will be played on Saturday at Palomares Park beginning at 11 p.m. Three games are on tap.

The intial year of the Pomona Park and Recreation Department's sponsored program has had its share of ups and downs. What youth league doesn't? Especially one on its first trip.

The volunteer coaches and their fine work have been one of the strongest points. Mrs. Dave Hughlock, Evelyn Wilbur, Thema Richardson, Anelica Dow, Judith Fugua, Madlyn Norman, Larry Hanks and Ron Flint have contributed heavily in time and hard work.

The coaches handled eight teams that made up two division. Their efforts to teach girls a sport that most had never played will be obvious to those who watch Saturday's playoffs. The individual as well as team improvement has been unbelievable.

Three young ladies who deserve a pat on the back are recreation leaders Dorothy Dun, Betty Kurtzer and Odette Simpson. They have been the coordinators, referees, and anything else that needed to be taken care of.

The trio has had considerable background in sports. However, prior to this fall, soccer wasn't on their list. Someone handed them a copy of the Laws of Soccer and a league schedule and said, "Go out and do a job."

We have mentioned that the program had a few minus factors. The first was the failure to register enough girls for an older division that would have allowed those in the seventh, eighth, and ninth grade to play. Only 20 signed up, and after a great deal of effort to find more, the division had to be dropped.

Variance of age

This brings up the major problem in the program. The great variance of age. Teams made up of girls primarily in the nine and ten year old category competed against squads composed of basically 11 and 12 year olds.

The great difference came about in two ways. One, girls were registered by grades; fourth, fifth and sixth. Secondly, they were placed on teams that had a close proximity to their residence. It was felt this would help in travel to and from practice and games.

The residence idea is a good one, but the grade breakdown rather than age will be changed. Next year the girls will have three divisions identical to the boys program. Division I, for the 13 to 15 year olds; Division II for 10 to 12 year olds, and Division III for the seven to nine year olds will make a big difference.

The last complaint has been on the shortness of the schedule. The boys and girls leagues both began in mid-October. The boys finish up in early February while the girls are through this weekend.

It is quite probable this will also change next year. As pointed out here last week, the basketball program has grown so much that gym space may be a problem. It might be well to offset some of the season. Beginning girls basketball in late February will help both activities.

On Saturday, two undefeated squads, the Majestics of the Blue League and the Imperials of the Red League, meet for the league championship at 1 p.m. Both have identical 6-0 marks.

The Pintos, second, and Daffodils, third, will represent the Red League in the remaining two games. Their opponents will be the Hawks and Picadilly's. The match ups will be decided after a playoff between the two blue League entrants who posted identical 3-3 records. The time of that game had not been set at this writing.

The addition of girls soccer to the local sports scene has been a positive move. A few years ago there were no organized leagues for girls, now we have softball, basketball and soccer. It is nice to see progress in action.

Two Claremont clubs enjoy big soccer wins

CLAREMONT — The Claremont Stars scored their 10th shutout of the Pacific Soccer League season by blanking the Costa Mesa Coast Rangers, 13-0, in a Division Five game.

Allen Pitts and Henry Gonzales led the scoring with four goals apiece followed by Tom Carry with two plus one apiece by Steve Mason, Larry Jackson and Mark Harris. The Stars host St. Stephen's at noon Saturday at El Roble Intermediate School.

Meanwhile, the Division 4 Spittin' Image Knights scored an 8-1 victory over the Garden Grove Internationals. Pat Jones led the way with two goals while Ray Calderon, Greg Brich, Jim Bently, Todd Sturgis, Todd Hart and Tony Massagli contributed one apiece. The Knights travel to Pico Rivera on Jan. 5 to determine the championship. They are currently tied in the championship round.

Pomona QB, Azusa back on NAIA list

Quarterback Larry Cenotto of Pomona-Pitzer and running back Jim Farmer of Azusa Pacific have been given honorable mention on the 1973 NAIA All-America football team.

Both palyers are juniors and will be playing again next year.

Cenotto was the leading passer and total offense leader in the Southern California Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (SCIAC). The 6-1, 185 pounder from Jackson, Calif., was a first-team selection on both the all-Conference and all-district football teams.

Farmer playing for independent APC, set a single season rushing record for the school. The 6-1, 200 pounder gained 1,132 yards and averaged 7.2 yards per carry. He, too, was a first-team all-district pick.

Broncos honor Johnson, Smith

DENVER (UPI) — The Denver Broncos Tuesday voted the Earl F. Hartman Memorial Awards to veteran quarterback Charley Johnson and defensive tackle Paul Smith.

The awards, named in honor of the late Earl Hartman, former business manager of Rocky Mountain Empire Sports, go annually to the best offensive and defensive players as selected by their colleagues.

Last year—the first year the awards were given—the honor went to Smith and running back Floyd Little.

Both Johnson and Smith are New Mexico products. Johnson, 35, former quarterback at St. Louis and Houston before coming to Denver in 1972, is a graduate of New Mexico State. Smith, 6-3, 256 pounds, played college ball at New Mexico.

Progress-Bulletin Food and Recipes

THE THOUGHTFUL GIFT

A home-baked bread is one of the nicest gifts for a neighbor or friend during this busy season, and this Apricot Savarin uses an old-fashioned secret, mashed potatoes, that keeps the bread moist longer. Generously butter a nine-inch tube or bundt pan, sprinkle with ½ cup finely chopped blanched almonds and turn pan to coat evenly. Stir together 3 cups all-purpose flour, ¼ cup instant mashed potato granules, ½ cup sugar, 1 teaspoon lemon peel and ¾ teaspoon salt. Add 2 packages active dry yeast to 1-3rd of the flour mixture in a mixing bowl. Combine ¾ cup milk and ¾ cup butter in a pan and heat until very warm to the touch. Butter does not have to melt. Add the warm liquid to the yeast-flour mixture in bowl; beat two minutes at medium speed, scraping bowl occasionally. Add ½ cup more of the flour mixture and 4 eggs. Beat two more minutes, scraping bowl occasionally. Stir in remaining flour mixture and 1 cup golden raisins. Spoon into prepared pan. Cover and let rise in warm place until light and double in size, about 45 to 60 minutes. Bake at 350 degrees for 35 to 40 minutes, until deep golden brown. Remove from pan. Prepare Sherry Apricot Glaze by combining in small saucepan ½ cup apricot preserves, ½ cup water, ½ cup cream sherry or ruby port wine and ¼ cup sugar. Simmer together for 3 or 4 minutes. Pour half the hot glaze into bread pan. Return savarin to pan and pour on remaining glaze. Let stand several hours, then turn out onto serving plate.

No time to make bread? try these

Bread baking is richly satisfying to the baker and rewarding to those lucky enough to enjoy the bounty.

Making good yeast bread can be time-consuming but breads leavened with baking powder and baking soda are quick and easy for those who have time problems. Interesting breads for the holidays include a Molasses Health Bread made with wheat germ, yogurt and orange juice; Raisin Date and Nut Bread, and a Butterscotch Nut Bread with pecans or walnuts. All are nutritious and tasty as dessert snacks and or for sandwiches.

You can slice these breads while they are still warm from the oven. However, they are better in flavor and texture if they are stored overnight.

MOLASSES HEALTH BREAD

- 2¾ cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 1½ teaspoons baking powder
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 1¼ teaspoons salt
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- ¼ teaspoon mace
- 1 cup sugar
- ¼ cup wheat germ
- 1 cup dark raisins, chopped
- 1 tablespoon grated orange peel
- 1 egg, slightly beaten
- 1 container (8 ounce) plain yogurt
- 1-3rd cup dark molasses
- ¼ cup orange juice
- ¼ cup melted shortening
- Confectioners' sugar (optional)

Into a large mixing bowl, sift together flour, baking powder, baking soda, salt, cinnamon, mace and sugar. Stir in wheat germ, raisins and orange peel. In medium-size bowl, combine eggs, yogurt, molasses and orange juice. Add to flour mixture and stir just until flour is dampenedm Stir in shortening ann mix just until flour is dampened. Stir in shortening and mix just until blended. Pour batter into well greased 9 x 5 x 4-inch loaf pan. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven for 1 hour 10 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out dry. Cool 10 minutes; remove from pan to wire rack; cool completely. Wrap in foil or plastic wrap and store overnight for easy slicing. Dust with confectioners' sugar, if desired. Makes 1 loaf.

RAISIN DATE AND NUT BREAD

- 3 cups sifted all-purpose flour
- ½ cup sugar
- 2½ teaspoons baking powder
- ½ teaspoon baking soda
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 cup chopped walnuts
- 1 cup chopped dates
- 1 cup dark raisins
- 1 egg
- 1 cup milk
- ¼ cup light molasses
- 3 tablespoons vegetable oil
- Butter or cream cheese (optional)

In large mixing bowl, sift together flour, sugar, baking powder, baking soda and salt. Stir in walnuts, dates and raisins. In small bowl, mix egg, milk, molasses and oil. Add to flour mixture; stir just until evenly moist. Turn into greased 9 x 5 x 3-inch loaf pan. Bake in a preheated 350 degree oven for 1 hour or until wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool in pan on wire rack 10 minutes. Loosen around edges; turn out onto wire rack; cool completely. Wrap in foil or plastic wrap. Store overnight to mellow flavors. Cut into thin slices. Spread with butter or cream cheese, if desired. Makes 1 loaf.

BUTTERSCOTCH NUT BREAD

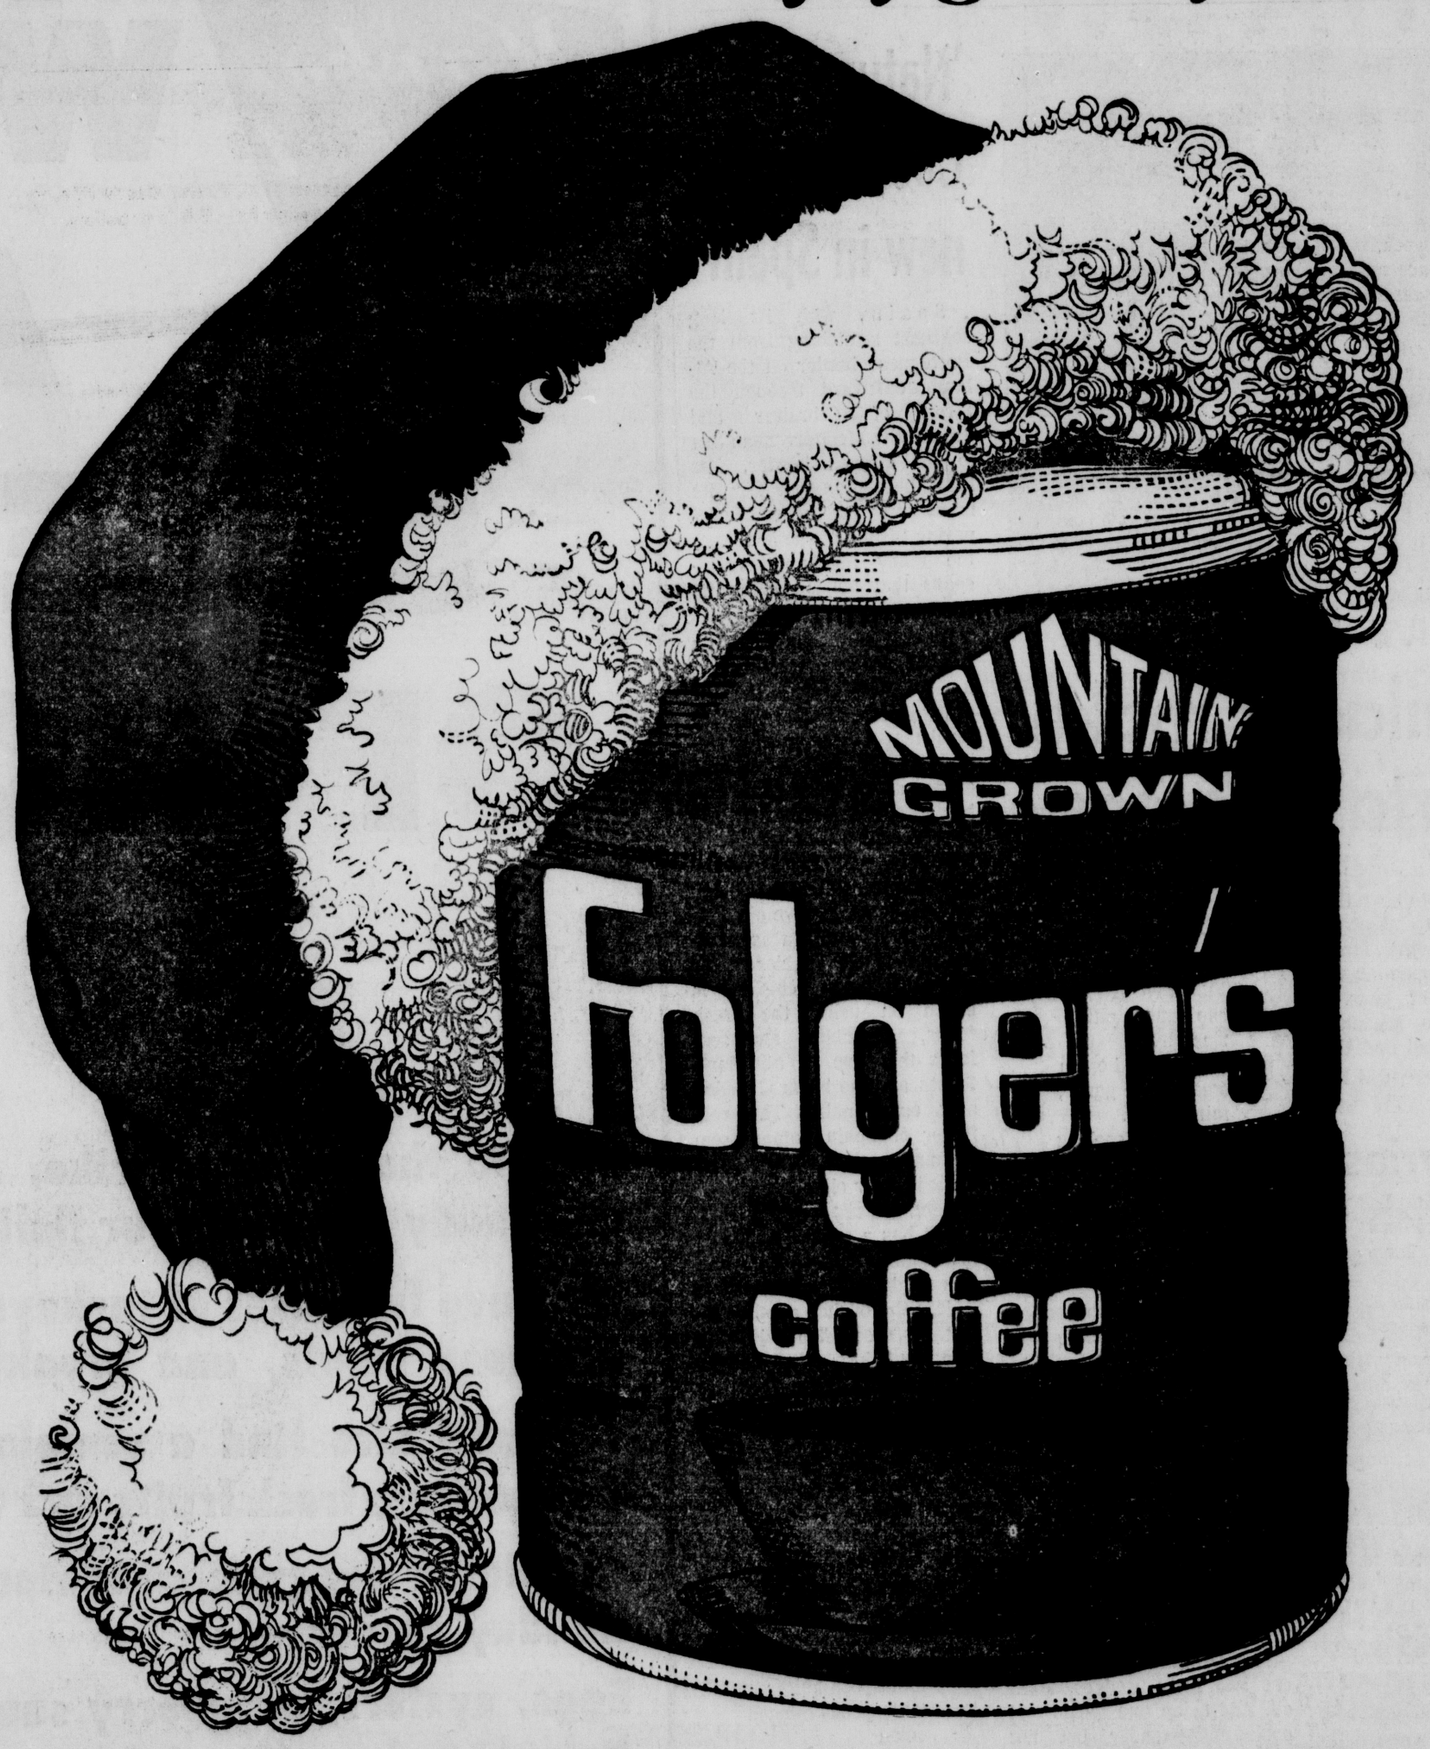
- 3 cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 2½ teaspoons baking powder
- 1¼ teaspoon salt
- R teaspoon baking soda
- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- 1 cup sugar
- ¼ cup light molasses
- 1 egg
- 1¼ cups milk
- 1 cup finely chopped pecans or walnuts
- Confectioners' sugar frosting (optional)

On to waxed paper, sift together flour, baking powder, salt and baking soda. In large bowl, cream butter. Add sugar and molasses and beat until light and fluffy. Add egg, beating well. Add flour mixture alternately with the milk, beating until smooth after each addition. Fold in nuts. Pour batter into a well-greased 9 x 5 x 3-inch loaf pan. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven for 1 to 1¼ hours. Remove from pan and cool on a wire rack. Wrap bread in foil or plastic wrap and store overnight for easy slicing. Frost, if desired. Makes 1 loaf.

Wrong number for Santa calls

BIRMINGHAM, England (UPI) — Post Office engineer Eric Webbley spent several hours trying to convince callers that he was not Santa Claus before he discovered the post office had given his office number in error for the "dial a story from Santa" service.

'Tis the season to enjoy great flavor.



And a nice time to save money.

Holiday dinners and get-togethers deserve great tasting coffee. Folger's. Folger's is blended special for great taste. And it smells so good you can taste it, even before you taste it.

Folger's is mountain grown. That's the richest kind of coffee there is. Taste something really good. And save a little Christmas money, too.

Main attraction

This centerpiece cornucopia is edible down to the last crumb of crisp meringue. Shape a cornucopia about 11 inches long by 6½ inches wide at the mouth by using aluminum foil. Pierce the foil with a knife to allow air to pass through. Bend the foil to make the tipped cornucopia shape and flatten the bottom slightly to make it stand firmly on a baking sheet. Beat 6 egg whites with a pinch of salt until foamy Add ½ teaspoon cream of tartar and continue to beat until egg whites stand in soft peaks. Gradually add 1½ cups superfine sugar and beat until very stiff. Fold in 2 teaspoons vanilla. Spread meringue thickly to cover cornucopia and bake at 250 degrees for about an hour or until meringue is dry and crisp. Turn off the heat and let meringue stand in the oven with the door closed several hours or over night. Cover loosely and store in a dry place for later use. To prepare for the table, stuff the meringue with a selection of dried fruits, including prunes, raisins and apricots. For an extra touch, tuck pieces of nuts and miniature marshmallows in the dimples of the prunes.

OLIVE ENCHILADAS

Enchiladas make entertaining easy

Students home for the holidays enjoy entertaining their friends and a dish that goes a long way keeps the family budget within bounds at this expensive time of year. A Ripe Olive Swiss Enchilada can be made ahead and then heated for a late evening party after a dance or ballgame. Serve with salad, fruit or ice cream for dessert.

RIPE OLIVE SWISS ENCHILADAS

- 1 cup canned pitted ripe olives
- ½ cup chopped onion
- 1 small clove garlic, minced
- 1 tablespoon cooking oil
- 1 (1 pound) can tomatoes
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon white pepper
- 3 tablespoons chopped canned green chile
- 1½ cups diced cooked chicken
- 2 chicken bouillon cubes
- 1 cup light cream
- 6 large flour or corn tortillas
- Oil for frying (about 1 cup)
- 1½ cups grated Jack or Muenster cheese

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Drain ripe olives and cut into large wedges. Heat oil. Add onion and garlic and cook until tender but not brown. Add tomatoes, salt, pepper and green chile to onion. Cook gently for 15 minutes. Remove from heat; add ripe olives and chicken. Crumble bouillon cubes into cream. Heat cream, stirring until bouillon cubes are dissolved. Pour into a shallow dish. Heat oil and fry each tortilla lightly until puffed and tinged with brown. Drain on paper towels. Dip fried tortillas, one at a time, in cream to soften. Remove from cream. Divide the ripe olive-chicken mixture between the tortillas. Roll up each filled tortilla. Place seam-side down in medium-size baking dish. Pour any remaining cream over tortillas. Top with cheese. Bake in oven for 25 minutes until well heated. Makes 6 servings.

Cranberries tangy dish

The holiday season suddenly is here and many are caught with few plans for dressing up traditional turkey, ham or chicken dishes. Although cranberries now go into many year-round dishes they still make a tangy and cheerily bright accompaniment for holiday foods. A Cranberry-Vegetable Aspic Mold is ideal for company and can be prepared in advance.

CRANBERRY VEGETABLE ASPIC MOLD

- 2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
- 2 cups cranberry juice cocktail
- 2 cups apple juice
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1 small onion, grated
- 1 cup fresh cranberries, rinsed, drained and ground
- 1 cup drained cooked sliced carrots
- 1 cup sliced raw celery

Sprinkle gelatin over ½ cup cranberry juice. Let stand 5 minutes to soften. Stir over low heat until gelatin is dissolved. Add remaining cranberry juice, apple juice and lemon juice. Blend well. Chill until thickened. Fold in remaining ingredients. Pour mixture into 2-quart mold. Chill until firm. Unmold and garnish with crisp salad greens. Serve with salad dressing, if desried. Makes 9 servings or 2-quart mold.

'Natural' Cooking not new in Spain

Spain, with its long seacoast stretching from the Portuguese border on the Atlantic eastward through the Strait of Gibraltar and around the Mediterranean Sea to the French border, has long been famous for its many and varied ways of preparing "fruits of the sea" . . . the many fish and crustaceans that abound along its coasts.

On the East coast of Spain lies the province of Valencia, an area known for its oranges, too. So it is only natural that a very special recipe for fish with a delicate orange sauce would come into being. Other products native to Spain are used . . . wine and probably the most common ingredient in Spanish recipes, Spanish olive oil.

"Natural" cooking is nothing new to the Spaniards, for this distinctive cuisine is based on using the fresh fruits, vegetables, and seafoods that are so abundant. Spices and herbs are needed only occasionally. The real flavor of Spain comes from preparing the many fresh foods in their olive oil. The oil is light and not overpowering, and it has a special ability to blend many different flavors in a single good-tasting dish.

Here the oil has another talent, too. For when it is combined with just a little butter in sauteeing the fish, it keeps the butter from burning. So the fresh sweet taste of the butter remains, too. You will find this simple dish has an elegant flavor.

FISH WITH ORANGE SAUCE

- 2 pounds fillet of halibut
- 2 tablespoons Spanish olive oil
- 1 tablespoon butter
- 3 tablespoons minced onion
- 1½ cups orange juice
- 1 teaspoon grated orange rind
- ½ cup dry white wine
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper

Saute the fish in olive oil and butter until golden on one side; turn, add onion to the oil around the fish, cook over moderate heat until onion is soft and the fish golden on the other side. Remove fish to platter. Add orange juice, rind, wine, salt and pepper to oil mixture in pan. Simmer 10 minutes. Return fish to pan and cook, uncovered, over medium heat 10 minutes longer, or until flesh is firm. Serve fish with sauce. Makes 6 servings.

APRICOT NUT AMBROSIA RING

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Grease and flour bottom of 1½-quart ring mold. In large bowl, combine 1 package apricot nut or nut bread mix, ¾ cup drained, crushed pineapple, ½ teaspoon cinnamon, 1 cup apricot nectar or water and 1 egg. Stir until thoroughly combined, then pour into prepared pan. Bake about 1 hour until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool 15 minutes, then remove from pan. Place right side up on serving plate. In saucepan, combine 4 teaspoons cornstarch, 1 cup apricot nectar, 2 tablespoons brandy or brandy extract if desired. Heat, stirring constantly, until mixture bubbles and thickens. Arrange halves of canned apricots on top of bread. Spoon topping over bread and apricot halves. Garnish with candied fruit, if desired. Powdered sugar glaze may be substituted for the topping. Serve warm or cold. Above 5,200 feet, add an extra tablespoon of flour to the batter and bake at 375 degrees for an hour.

BARBECUED MEATBALL SURPRISE

These aren't ordinary meatballs. There's a surprise in each one. Combine 2 slightly beaten eggs, 1 cup mashed potato flakes and 1 teaspoon salt in mixing bowl. Add 1½ pounds ground beef and mix lightly. Shape into 12 or 15 meatballs, placing a cube of cheese or small chunk of pickle in the center of each. Cook in 2 tablespoons shortening in large skillet, turning to brown all sides. Pour off excess fat. Add ¾ cup barbecue sauce and ¼ cup water. Cover and simmer 10 to 15 minutes. Prepare baked apples for a compatible dessert.

Soybeans studied at meet

A World Soy Protein Conference was held in Munich, Germany, recently to analyze and to provide information on the value of soy protein in the human diet. Technological improvements in the processing of the soybean into ingredients easily and quickly prepared for human consumption were high on the agenda.

In general the purpose was to pinpoint soy potential as a food for people. It is a roaring success as cattle food and a leading cash crop for U.S. farmers based on livestock feeding. There are signs of growing interest in soy products as a basic and acceptable protein food for humans.

But even at the conference there was a gap.

Dr. Fred R. Senti explained, "The conference stressed the processed form of soybeans. It gave no attention to dried soybeans to cook at home. The thinking was that most women today don't want to spend time in the kitchen. Soybeans require hours of cooking." Senti, of the USDA Agricultural Research Service, was program committee chairman.

Food technology plays an important role in the soy picture. To transform soybeans into soy flour and soy concentrates demands skill. Full-fatted and defatted soy flour is used by bakers. Soy flour mixed with whey can replace non-fat dry milk in bread. It is much cheaper. Soy isolated protein is used to fortify foods deficient in protein content. Extended textured soy protein is used in analogues — food in which soy is used to simulate ham, chicken, seafood, etc., in appearance and taste.

"Some say they cannot tell the difference between the analogue and the fresh meat product. Others say they can. Continued progress in technology will narrow the difference" Senti said.

"Use of textured soy protein—in meat or in analogues—is in a definite upswing during these times of higher food costs. As the product is better made and better distributed, it will play a larger and more welcome role in helping the public get more protein at a lower cost for its diets."

For those who want to cook dry soybeans at home, they are available at health food stores, Chinese markets and in some supermarkets. They usually come in one-pound cellophane bags and cost about 50 cents. They look very much like dry navy beans but are more rounded.

To cook one pound, rinse and place 2 cups soybeans in cold water to soak. Beans will swell. Allow enough water and a large container. After soaking, place beans in a large kettle in the soaking liquid. Add a little salt. Bring to a boil and simmer for three to four hours, until tender. Add more salt to taste. Serve as you would cooked dry beans, with sauces or cheese, or in recipes calling for beans.

MERRY CHRISTMAS

PUT SOME PUNCH IN THE PARTY

Three no-fail recipes

Punch makes the holiday party

No-fail punches always are welcome during the holidays.

A tantalizing base for a punch is more important than its container and one doesn't need a crystal bowl for a guest-pleasing concoction. Use your imagination. A clean, large plastic utility tub or king-size pail decorated with cheery cutouts or ribbons will do.

It is easier for most guests to serve themselves when pitchers are used for punch.

These basic punch recipes are refreshing for parties with or without the addition of wine or other alcoholic beverages.

WEDDING PARTY PUNCH

- 1 bottle (1 quart) champagne, chilled
- 8 cups ginger ale, chilled
- 4 cups orange juice, chilled
- 4 cups (1 quart) cranberry juice cocktail, chilled
- 1 large chunk of ice

Pour all ingredients over ice in punch bowl. Serve at once in large punch cups. (Optional: Add 1 jigger Pernod) Makes 20 servings.

CREAMY CRAN-PEACH PUNCH

- 6 cups (1½ quarts) cranberry juice cocktail, chilled
- 3 cups cubed fresh peeled or canned peaches
- 3 cups (1½ pints) vanilla ice cream
- 1 teaspoon almond flavoring

Put cranberry juice cocktail and peaches into blenders. (It may be necessary to blend a small amount at a time, depending on size of blender.) Whirl at top speed for 30 seconds until smooth. Add ice cream and almond flavoring; whirl until smooth and creamy. (Optional: Add 1 cup white wine) Makes 12 servings.

CONCHITA'S CRANGRIA PUNCH

- 6 cups (1½ quarts) cranberry juice cocktail, chilled
- 4 cups claret wine (optional)
- 4 oranges, peeled and cut into slices
- 4 lemons, peeled and cut into slices
- ½ cup granulated sugar
- 6 cups crushed ice
- Club soda, chilled

In a large 6-quart bowl or container combine cranberry juice cocktail, claret or 10 cups cranberry juice, orange and lemon slices, sugar and ice. Stir, crushing fruit until mixture is well chilled and ice is almost melted. Strain mixture and pour into tall glasses, filling them 2-3 full. Fill glasses with club soda and serve. (Optional: A ½ cup brandy) Makes 12 servings.

Sea of cookbooks flooding stores

NEW YORK (UPI) — A main dish with more than 40 ingredients is among the more than 1,000 recipes in a prestigious new cookbook.

"The Dione Lucas Book of French Cooking" by the late Mrs. Lucas and her former pupil and assistant, Marion Gorman, is being heavily promoted for readability, practicality and ease of usage. It is very readable.

The recipes and food preparation tips are from one of the most gifted chefs and cooking teachers of modern times. But ease of usage depends on a reader's basic cooking skills, and many of the recipes are pure fantasy for anyone lacking the time, money and inclination to prepare haute cuisine.

Similar criticisms can be applied to some other gift cookbooks.

"Feast of Italy," translated from the Italian edition of Arnoldo Mondadori Editore, is pictorially stunning but many required ingredients are unobtainable in the United States.

"Couscous and Other Good Food from Morocco" by Paula Wolfert is delightful to read but some necessary ingredients are not widely available here, and many recipes are time-consuming. Couscous is an elaborate stew that is Morocco's national dish.

"The Complete Book of Indonesian Cooking" by Antoinette DeWit and Anita Borghese also makes absorbing reading but calls for hard-to-find ingredients in virtually every recipe. However, an extensive mail order source list is provided, and the book would be a good choice for anyone who dotes on peppery food.

"The Cornucopia" by Judith Herman, and Marguerite Shalett Herman and "The Hundred Glories of French Cooking" by Robert Courtine, a leading French journalist, reflect eating habits of past and present. The Hermans' book contains recipes and food commentary from the 14th through the 19th centuries. Courtine writes of classical and contemporary cuisine. His menus are simple and well-chosen, his recipes sound delectable and introductions to them are witty and thought-provoking. But some ingredients are not available in the U.S. and measurements are a mixture of weights and volume.

By contrast, a facsimile edition of the original "Boston Cooking School Cook Book" by Fannie Merritt Farmer remains useful, even though some of its recipes are outdated. Miss Farmer introduced precise measurements to recipe publishing in 1968, and her book became a prototype for basic cookbooks that remains valid today.

New books better suited to American living include "The Seasonal Kitchen" by Perla Meyers. Like Mrs. Lucas, Mrs. Meyers demands high quality fresh ingredients and no short-cuts. Most of her continental and Middle East recipes do not make exhorbitant demands on time and only rarely on budgets.

"Ann Seranne's Good Food Without Meat" represents vegetarian eating of a high level, including elegant desserts, homemade pasta, quiches — main dish or appetizer pies, crepes, souffles and delicious fresh vegetable recipes.

"Robert Carrier Cooking for You" provides generally simple and delicious recipes ranging from homely ham hash to a showy roast loin of pork striped with apricots and prunes.

"Pearl's Kitchen" by Pearl Bailey is a revealing self-portrait of an extraordinary human being and entertainer who has a real feel for simple home cooking. Her views on life, love, child-rearing and cooking make delightful reading.

"The Cook's Fish Guide" by Jacqueline Knight has recipes sensibly arranged according to the texture and oiliness of the fish and seafood.

"The Kennedy Center Performing Artists Cookbook," published by the Friends of Kennedy Center, Washington, D.C., is remarkable for a fund-raising, celebrity book in that its recipes are the sort real people really cook and eat with pleasure.

Other commendable new publications include: Marie Roberson Hamm's "Gifts from Your Kitchen Cookbook," a paperback; "The Portable Feast" by Diane D. MacMillan, "The Cramped Quarters Cookbook" by Bob Reinhart and Dick Woods; "House and Garden's Party Menu Cookbook" edited by Jose Wilson; new editions of "The Good Housekeeping Cookbook" and the "McCalls Cook Book," "Impromptu Cooking" by Glenn Andrews, and "The College Cookbook" by Geri Harrington.

Yams are wonderful stuffing for meats

Yams make a wonderful stuffing for poultry and other meats although most of us in regions other than the South rarely use them in this way. For the holidays, treat dinner guests to Yam Stuffed Pork Chops. Season the stuffing with onion, orange rind and chopped apple and tuck it into a pocket cut in each thick chop. Bake extra stuffing in a dish. Yams are in good supply (especially from North Carolina) now through April and are very good boiled or baked as you would an Idaho potato and seasoned with butter. You can also hash brown them.

YAM STUFFED PORK CHOPS

- 2 cups mashed cooked yams (4 medium)
- ¼ cup butter or margarine, divided
- ¼ cup chopped fresh onion
- 1 apple, pared, cored and diced
- 1 teaspoon grated fresh orange rind
- 2 tablespoons chopped fresh parsley
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- ½ teaspoon dried leaf thyme
- 1 cup soft bread crumbs
- 6 double cut pork chops, with pocket for stuffing

To prepare yams, bake in 350-degree oven 40 minutes or cook in boiling water to cover for 20 minutes, until soft, Cool, peel and mash until smooth in large bowl. In small skillet melt 2 tablespoons butter, add onion and cook until tender; add yam mixture. Stir in apple, orange rind, parsley, salt, pepper, thyme and bread crumbs. Spoon into pockets of pork chops. Place any remaining stuffing in a small baking dish and bake, covered, along with chops. Close pork chops with stuffing pins or wooden picks. In large skillet melt remaining 2 tablespoons butter, add chops and brown on both sides. Remove to a baking dish, cocver and bake inn 350-degree oven 1 hour or until chops are tender. Makes 6 servings.

PECAN STUFFED SWEET POTATOES

- 6 medium sweet potatoes
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- ¼ teaspoon baking powder
- ½ cup finely chopped celery
- ¼ cup chopped pecans

Wash sweet potatoes and bake in 400-degree oven until soft, 35 to 40 minutes. Cut a slice from the too of each. Scoop out inside, being careful not to break shells. Mash potatoes and add remaining ingredients. Mix well. Fill shells. Bake in 400-degree oven 15 minutes or until puffed and lightly browned. Serve at once. Makes 6 servings.

HASH-BROWN YAMS

- 4 medium yams
- 2 medium onions, chopped
- 2 tablespoons chopped fresh parsley
- 1 teaspoon sale
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- 3 tablespoons bacon droppings or salad oil

Pare and finnely dice raw yams. In bowl, mix yams, onion, parsley, salt and pepper. Hheat bacon drippings or oil in large skillet. Spread yam mixture evenly over skillet and press lightly with a broad spatula. Cover and cook slowly over low heat without stirring until browned on under side, about 15 minutes. Turn and brown on other side, about 5 minutes. (Add more bacon dripping or oil, if necessary.) Makes 4 servings.

If she smells like you, marry her

MANCHESTER, England (UPI) — Dr. Ivor Felstein has been sniffing at love. He claims you should be able to find your ideal partner by smell.

Writing in the medical newspaper, Pulse, he said there should be a new kind of specialist, the Semmologist. He could tell couples if the aromas were not campatible, the doctor said.

"When one considers the overall value that a sense of smell may have for the physician or social worker, it is surprising that neither is asked about this sense at interviews."

DECEMBER IDEAS for COOKING WITH BEER!

GLAZED APPLE-ONION RINGS

- 3 large apples
- 2 large onions
- ½ cup beer
- 2 cups brown sugar
- 3 tsp. butter
- ¼ tsp. ground cloves
- ¼ tsp. salt

Core apples, peeled or unpeeled. Slice into ¼-inch rings. Peel onions, slice and separate into rings. In heavy skillet, combine beer, brown sugar, butter, cloves and salt. Heat slowly, just to boiling, stirring all ingredients together. Add apples and onions, cover, and simmer over very low heat until just tender. (Time will vary according to variety of apples.) Yield: 6 servings.

★

GINGERBREAD UPSIDE DOWN CAKE

- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- ½ cup firmly packed light brown sugar
- 1½ cups well-drained crushed pineapple
- ½ cup pecans
- 1 (14.5 oz.) pkg. gingerbread mix
- 1 cup lukewarm beer
- Vanilla ice cream

Melt butter in 9-inch square pan. Stir in brown sugar. Spoon pineapple over sugar mixture, sprinkle with pecans. Combine gingerbread mix and beer, beat until well blended. Spoon batter evenly over pineapple. Bake in preheated 350 deg. oven 40-45 minutes or until cake feels firm to the touch. Loosen edges, turn cake out while warm on serving platter. Cut into squares while warm and serve each piece topped with a scoop of vanilla ice cream.

Ford will get 'the big bird'

TREMONTON, Utah (UPI) — Deloris Stokes, Bothwell, Utah, is giving Vice President Gerald Ford and his family a big bird for Christmas.

She said she was sending them a 51-pound turkey as she promised when she met Ford in October.

Ford had said he didn't think his oven could accommodate the turkey but, if he was given such a gigantic gift, he would find an oven which could handle it.

TREE SHAPED MEAT LOAF

Too often the holiday theme in food is carried out in desserts only. But here is an economical meat loaf that carries out the spirit of the season. Lightly beat together 2 eggs, 1 cup tomato juice, ½ teaspoon salt and a 1-ounce envelope onion gravy mix. Add 2 pounds ground beef and 2 cups soft bread crumbs. Mix lightly, then spoon onto lightly greased broiler pan and form into a Christmas tree shape about 1½ inches thick. Bake at 400 degrees for 30 or 40 minutes. Slide onto oven-proof serving platter or tray. Spoon mashed potatoes around edge of tree to represent snow. Place under broiler for 2 or 3 minutes until potatoes are set but not browned. Garnish with tiny "Ornaments" cut from pickles and American cheese slices. Serves 8.

Eating is national pastime

Today our nerves and our digestions are under heavy strain.

"People turn to eating when they feel angry, sexually excited, apprehensive or ashamed. It is as though eating protected them from feeling too much" according to psychiatrist Dr. Walter Hamburger, Strong Memorial Hospital, Rochester, N.Y.

Others turn to the bottle. They believe drinking can dull the aches of frustration and bitterness.

At this point in time, our world is wrought with threats, suspicions and doubts, both politically and internationally. We all live under great strain.

But there is a manageable solution: get out of your chair more often and nibble less.

Eat and enjoy good food but not quite so much of it. Get some exercise every day. It will tone your muscles and brighten your outlook. Then you will be more able to face the swiftly changing world.

Any flexing of the muscle is exercise. As used here, it means moderately active daily exercise. A mile walk every day, or even a half mile, will be more effective than digging up the garden or two afternoons of sandlot baseball with the youngsters. So attain the habit of daily exercise, rather than strenuous "play" over the weekend. You will be surprised at your increased sense of well-being.

Most Americans eat more foods than they need. We are so rich we have lulled ourselves into the habit of over indulgence. But if men and women today, under the pressure of modern threats, would eat a little less they would find it easier to cope with daily life.

A wise provision is this: limit yourself to one serving from each dish served even though you might crave a second or a third. In a little while you will adjust to this habit. It pays dividends in bodily easement since you will leave the table without any sensation of being stuffed.

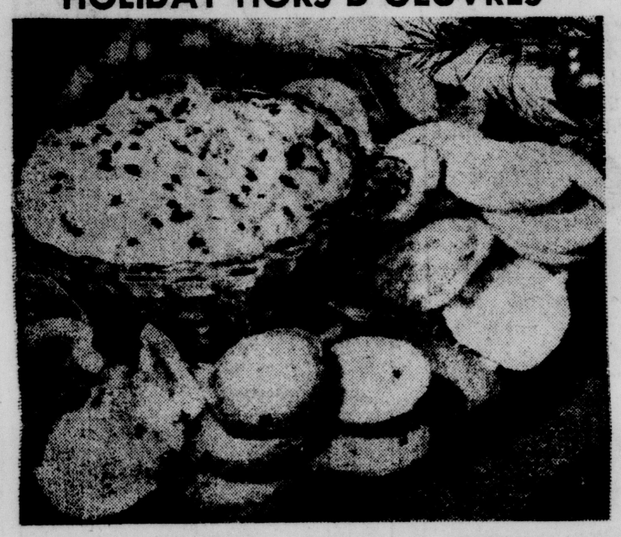
The idea behind restricting your food intake is simply to make your body more efficient. Consider your nibbling habits as adding to your total intake.

Many physicians, nutritionists, and chefs have given this matter serious thought. They have come up with meals adjusted to 20th century man's needs that will please and nourish but not overburden him. The American Heart Association recommends dinners like the following, as good eating and good for the heart:

Lamb chop platter, walnut broccoli, glazed carrots, spinach-avocado-orange toss, herbed biscuits, apple pie.

For the holidays: Christmas tree relish tray, whipped cottage cheese dip, roast turkey with apple dressing, whipped potatoes, broccoli,with mustard dill sauce, creamed onions, cranberry-orange-mold, cornbread muffins, watermelon pickle, pumpkin chiffon pie.

HOLIDAY HORS D'OEUVRES



Here's a recipe made available by the California Egg Program that's good for any festive party anytime, but especially appropriate for the holidays, featuring a colorful egg dip.

SMOKED EGG AND CHIVES DIP

- 12 hard cooked eggs, riced or sieved
- 2 tablespoons soft butter
- 1½ tablespoons liquid smoke seasoning
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice or vinegar
- 2 teaspoons Worcestershire Sauce
- 2 drops Tabasco
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon ground pepper
- ¾ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
- ½ cup frozen chopped chives
- 1 jar (2 ounces) sliced pimiento, diced

Combine all ingredients except accompaniment. Beat until smooth. If desired, add more seasoning. Have consistency soft enough to permit potato chips to be dipped into easily. Refrigerate until ready to serve. About 30 minutes before serving, remove from refrigerator and beat or whip dip to fluffy consistency and soften it. Pile into chilled bowl. Garnish with radish slices. Makes 1 quart. Accompany with cracker, potato chips, melba toast, etc.

1974 picture little brighter for grocery shoppers

WASHGTON (UPI) — There's good news and bad news for consumers looking ahead to prospects for grocery bills in 1974.

The bad news is that average food prices are likely, in the opinion of several leading economists, to keep moving up from this year's record level.

The good news is that next year's gains may be "very modest" compared with the price boom which exploded through most of 1973 in the nation's farm and food markets. One supermarket spokesman, in fact, says he expects practically no more price increases.

Over all, warns Don Paarlberg, Director of Economics for the Agriculture Department, American consumers cannot expect for the foreseeable future to see food prices slide back to last year's level. A typical household food market basket which sold at an annual rate of $1,325 in September, 1972, reached a record rate of $1,653 last August before sliding off to $1,629 in September.

"We may see more month-to-month decreases, but the general level will be above what it was," Paarlberg says.

"I cannot see us going back to 1972 prices because the whole price level is up for everything because of inflation here and around the world. It's not just food, it's everything — washing machines, cars, socks, anything you can name," the official said.

But compared with this year's record, with food prices for the year expected to average 15 to 17 per cent above 1972, Paarlberg predicted 1974 price gains will be comparatively small because supplies are increasing.

"We'll have pretty good beef supplies, especially in the second half of the year. There'll be some more pork, though not much more, and we'll probably have more broilers and eggs," the economist said.

"As for crops in 1974, it's very likely we'll get bigger production than we did this year . . . and I see a favorable outlook for world production."

Opinions vary

Opinions on just how much food prices may increase in 1974 vary.

John A. Schnittker, a private consulting economist who formerly was Undersecretary of Agriculture in the Johnson administration, offers one guess:

"It's not a sure thing. But odds are we'll have about a 5 per cent advance for the first half of next year which would amount to an annual rate of 10 per cent," Schnittker said. However, he also said if farmers around the world harvest hoped-for bumper grain crops in 1974 — big enough to exceed world demand by 15 million tons or more and to permit a rebuilding of world reserves — food prices could "flatten out" in the last half of 1974.

Less than 10 per cent?

If that happened, the average increase for the year as a whole would be considerably less than 10 per cent.

Government economists have not offered any specific percentage forecasts for 1974. In general, however, they are inclined to guess at smaller price increases than Schnittker foresees.

Paarlberg said in the interview that for 1974 as a whole, the food price average might equal the 4.6 per cent gain registered in 1972, "or perhaps a little higher."

One career government economist, in a separate interview, said most of his colleagues think the increase in the first half of 1974 is likely to be a little below five per cent.

Little change

Government economists base their belief that food prices will begin rising again in early 1974 largely on forecasts that beef supplies, which are currently reviving, will dip again in the first three months of 1974. A new upswing in beef output is expected to follow beginning sometime next srping.

But Timothy McEnroe, a spokesman for the National Association of Food Chains predicted in an interview that average food prices next year will show little change form 1973.

"I think we've about had it. I don't think it's going to rise any more," McEnroe said.

Most economists cautious

Most economists are cautious in their 1974 forecasts because the 1973 predictions were so far off base.

When the year opened, the Agriculture Department was expecting the 1973 increase to be smaller than the gain posted in 1972. As a series of shocks hit world farm markets, however, officials kept boosting their estimate until a summer forecast that prices for the year would average about 20 per cent above 1972.

Later, however, the estimate was lowered when livestock prices declined more than expected this fall.

What happened

What happened to our food bills this year was a combination of jolts coming on the heels of a decline in world farm production in 1972. Farmers, businessmen, governments and consumers woke up to the fact that once-ample grain reserves had been pulled down to low levels. Protein feed supplies for livestock were abruptly tightened because of a drop in Peruvian fishmeal production.

And deflation of the U.S. dollar, which helped touch off speculative commodity buying, helped send foreign purchases of U.S. crops soaring and further inflated the record commodity price level.

"I don't know how many of those things can happen again in 1974," Paarlberg said.

But he said forecasters will have to keep a watchful eye on other factors which could affect food prices — possible shortages of fuel for farming, and weather conditions which will determine next year's crop yields here and around the world.

FTC revamps price study program

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A controversial and long-delayed U.S. government plan to find out and tell the public which supermarkets really have the lowest prices is undergoing review and possible revision.

"The program has been much more expensive than we thought it would be." J. Thomas Rosch, director of the Federal Trade Commission's Bureau of Consumer Protection, said in an interview. "Now we've got to see whether the benefits are greater than the cost, and whether the program might be feasible in some other form. I think you can expect a decision on that in the near future."

It was almost a year ago that the FTC first announced the plan under which it would survey the major supermarket chains on a regional basis and publish comparative price lists of perhaps 100 commonly bought items. The information would be published with the aim of letting the shopper know, for instance, whether eggs were cheaper at A&P or Safeway.

The supermarket industry was heavily opposed to the idea, and a pilot project, which the agency originally scheduled for last spring, never materialized.

On other subjects, Rosch said:

—FTC has begun examining the oil industry's advertising during the energy crisis to whether it accurately informs the public. "We are interested in the accuracy or inaccuracy of some of the advertising that the oil companies are currently running," he said.

-The agency's entire program of making major advertisers substantiate claims they make is being overhauled. He said FTC hopes to reduce the delay between the time when an ad is first challenged and when the public eventually finds out what the company's response was.

Peanut butter can be dressed up to go to a party

Peanut butter sandwiches can be huge and hearty enough to satisfy the hunger of a husky adolescent just back from basketball practice or dainty enough to go to a party. This versatile, popular spread goes well with many different food flavors — sweet, tart or tangy.

Consider the possibilities for variety in dainty pinwheel sandwiches. Center these with sweet gherkin pickles, olives, Vienna sausages, carrot sticks, celery sticks, banana or stuffed dates. Serve a selection of pinwheel sandwiches with a fruit punch for a party to delight young people of almost any age. These are refreshments they will enjoy preparing themselves, too.

When real hunger needs appeasing, make or suggest a hot sandwich such as toast spread with peanut butter and topped with hot, well seasoned pork and beans or a French toasted peanut butter sandwich. On other occasions, call on such old favorites as peanut butter and bacon, peanut butter and jelly and peanut butter with various fruits.

No matter how or when it is eaten, peanut butter can be counted on to provide a good supply of protein, iron and the B vitamin, niacin.

Here are recipes for these sandwiches.

PEANUT BUTTER OLIVE PINWHEELS

2 tablespoons (about 1 ounce) cream cheese
½ teaspoon minced onion
18 pitted giant size ripe olives
12 slices bread, crusts removed
Creamy or chunk style peanut butter (about ¾ cup)

Mix cream cheese and onion. Stuff olives with mixture. Spread bread with peanut butter. Place 2 slices end to end overlapping about ½ inch. Place 3 olives in a row across one narrow end of bread. Roll up jelly roll fashion, keeping olives in place and bread overlapped. Wrap in plastic wrap or waxed paper; twist ends to fasten. Repeat, making 6 rolls. Place on flat surface. Chill. To serve, unwrap and cut each roll into 6 slices. Makes 36.

OTHER PINWHEEL CENTERS: Three-inch celery sticks, 3-inch carrot sticks, Vienna sausages, frankfurters, 3-inch banana sticks (sprinkled with lemon juice), sweet gherkin pickles and dates stuffed with cream cheese.

CRANBERRY PUNCH

2 quarts cranberry juice, chilled
2 bottles (1 pint, 12 ounces each) bitter lemon soda, chilled
1 bottle (1 pint) light corn syrup

In a punch bowl or pitcher, mix together cranberry juice, lemon soda and corn syrup. Serve with ice cubes. Makes about 4 quarts or 22 (¾-cup) servings.

NUTTY BEAN SANDWICHES

1 can (16 ounces) pork and beans, drained
1-3rd cup chopped celery
1 tablespoon minced onion
2 tablespoons catchup
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
¾ cup creamy or chunk style peanut butter
6 to 12 slices toast

Heat together in small saucepan beans, celery, onion, catchup and mustard. Spread each slice of toast with 2 tablespoons peanut butter; top with bean mixture. If desired, top with another slice of toast. Makes 6 sandwiches.

BACON CRUNCH SANDWICHES

½ cup creamy or chunk style peanut butter
1-3rd cup finely chopped celery
8 slices cooked bacon
8 slices bread

Mix peanut butter and celery. Spread on 4 bread slices. Put 2 slices of bacon on each sandwich. Top with remaining bread. Makes 4 sandwiches.

ISLAND TREATS

½ cup creamy or chunk style peanut butter
1-3rd cup drained crushed pineapple or chopped apple
2 bananas, sliced or toast

Mix peanut butter and pineapple. Spread on 4 slices of bread; top with banana slices. Top with remaining bread. Makes 4 sandwiches.

Test scores hint schools not doing job

NEW YORK (UPI) — A 10-year trend of lower scores on the Scholastic Aptitude Test has educators concerned that students' education is not equipping them with the abilities tested by the SAT, The New York Times reported Sunday.

The College Board programs for the Educational Testing Service, Princeton, N.J., reported that average scores this year for the SAT, taken by high school graduates, were 445 on the verbal portion and 481 on the mathematical part. Ten years ago, average scores were 478 for verbal and 502 for mathematics. The tests are scored on a scale of 200 to 800.

The SAT is used by institutions of higher learning in determining admissions.

Authorities interviewed by The Times questioned the explanation of earlier years that average scores had fallen because youngsters who previously would not consider college were taking the tests.

An unidentified College Board official told the Times the number of students taking the SAT had leveled off at about one million several years ago.

"The official suggested that it might be time to start thinking about the possibility that elementary and secondary schools are not preparing students as well in verbal and mathematical skills as they did in former years," The Times said.

Sam McCandless, program service officer for the College Board's Admissions Testing Program, said " ... there seems no longer to be a a general consensus about what it means to be 'well educated.' We're trying to find a way to do a study."

Recover truck, but pantyhose and purse gone

CHICAGO (UPI) — Renee Sheer reported that someone stole her truck, her purse, $330 in the purse, and her 4,600 pairs of pantyhose.

Miss Sheer, a truck driver, said she had parked the truck and was preparing to fill a store's display racks with the $4,800 worth of pantyhose when she looked out of the store and saw the truck being driven away by two men.

Police later recovered the truck but the purse, money and pantyhose were gone.

Wheat germ makes nutritious eating

If you haven't begun to cook with toasted wheat germ, you're missing out on some vety good eating. Beneath the facade of the good looks and good tastes of this appetizing soup and sandwich meal lie the wonderfully nourishing qualities of toasted wheat germ . . . the natural food people everywhere are talking about these days.

The lovely color and texture of the chilled spinach soup are most appealing and you don't have to be a Popeye fan to enjoy it. Surprisingly, in spite of its creamy texture, it is a low-calorie soup. You can make it quickly and effortlessly in a blender with frozen spinach, low-fat yogurt, toasted wheat germ and a few basic seasonings to balance out the flavors.

The ham and cheese sandwiches are a big surprise. They're actually pancakes split and filled with sliced boiled ham. Fold over and secure with a pick held in place with a stuffed olive on either end. The toasted wheat germ and cheddar cheese pancakes are deliciously seasoned with marjoram to make them appropriate for luncheon fare.

The recipe was developed so you can make up the pancakes 12 at a time and freeze the ones you don't use. Designed to be popped into the toaster for reheating, they make a quick meal or a nourishing snack for refrigerator raiders. There is no disputing the fact that toasted wheat germ is a remarkable natural food with its own private endowment of 30 important nutrients. All this information is clearly stated on the vacuum sealed jars of toasted wheat germs.

CHILLED SPINACH WHEAT GERM SOUP

- 1 (10-ounce) package frozen spinach, chopped or leaf
- 1 cup water
- 1 tablespoon chicken seasoned stock base
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon celery salt
- 2 (8-ounce) cartons plain yogurt
- 1 tablespoon freeze dried chives
- 1-3rd cup toasted wheat germ

Allow spinach to partially defrost. Cut into 9 cubes with sturdy knife. Place water and stock base in blender, whir briefly then add spinach cubes and whir stop-and-go fashion until completely blended. Mix in all remaining ingredients, whirring to blend. If desired 1 or 2 tablespoons sugar may be added. Chill 1 hour before serving. Garnish with lemon slices. Makes about 1 quart soup (6 servings).

CHEDDAR WHEAT GERM PANCAKES

- 1 cup flour
- ¾ cup toasted wheat germ
- 1 cup grated sharp Cheddar cheese
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 1¼ teaspoons baking powder
- ¾ teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon marjoram, crumbled
- 1 cup milk
- 2 eggs
- 1 tablespoon cooking oil
- Oil for frying

Mix flour, toasted wheat germ, cheese, sugar, baking powder, salt and marjoram. Beat milk with eggs and oil. Pour over flour mixture and mix in. Portion ¼ cup amounts of batter onto preheated greased griddle or skillet. Cook over medium heat 2 to 3 minutes on each side. Oil griddle in between each set of pancakes for best appearance. Serve at once. If desired split, butter and fill with cooked ham slices.

Makes 10 to 12 (3½-inch pancakes.

For thinner pancakes increase milk to 1½ cups. Serve with butter and syrup.

Pancakes may be wrappped and frozen. Reheat in toaster or place on baking sheet and heat uncovered in moderate oven until warmed through.

Organically grown food nutritionally the same

CHICAGO — "Organically grown foods are identical in nutrition to those grown using inorganic chemicals," according to a Scientfic Status Summary released by the Institute of Food Technologicalists here.

Part of an ongoing program of public information, the four-page report details the status of scientific research as it bears on the general subject of those foods grown without pesticides, and using only organic fertilizers and mulches. Citing a number of studies which have been made over the years, the report by IFT's Expert Panel on Food Safety and Nutrition states that while soil improvement can increase the yield and size of crops, and affect their mineral contents, the nutritional composition of the plant is determined primarily by the genetic composition of the seed and the maturity of the plant at harvest.

The report also discusses using "recycled" municipal wastes to help solve both the problems of waste disposal and nutritional deficiencies. "At the present time," it states, "it is not feasible to transport vast quantities of sewage and garbage from city centers, where they originate, to the farms where they could be utilized." Also, such materials are "unbalanced" in terms of plant nutrients, and they often contain wastes which could be toxic to plants. Citing another danger, the report quotes Harvard University's Jean Mayer: "While organic foods may escape chemical pollution, biologically speaking they tend to become the most contaminated of all. Organic fertilizers of animal or human origin are obviously the most likely to contain gastrointestinal parasites." Thus, sterilization of municipal wastes would appear to be essential for successful recycling.

Concerning the use of pesticides, the report states that although there are promising methods of nonchemical insect control under investigation, "The ultimate goal of total biological control is years away; until then, conventional insecticides must remain our chief method of control." Insecticide residues, it continues, are controlled by government regulations at levels so low that "they must be multiplied a hundred or more times to reach a level that might be harmful to humans; frequently, the safety factor is much higher."

Finally, the report cites the economic factor involved in using organic foods. Such foods are always more expensive than their "non-organic" counterparts in the supermarkets, averaging about twice the price. This results from the lower concentration of nutrients in organic fertilizers and the increased labor costs involved in applying them.

Apple treat offers lots of nutrition

Fresh orchard-picked apples are at their height now and make nutritional, refreshing eating for the holiday season. A Sauce-y Apple Surprise at first glance may sound like a dessert but it is good for breakfast or as a snack after school with a glass of milk.

SAUC-Y APPLE SURPRISE

- 6 medium baking apples
- cup butter or margarine
- ½ cup firmly packed light brown sugar
- ¼ cup raisins
- ½ teaspoon cinnamon
- ¼ cup Grape-Nuts
- 1-3rd ccup bran flakes

Core apples. Remove peel about 1 inch from top of apples and cover lower half with aluminum foil. Place apples in baking dish. Melt butter; add brown sugar, raisins and cinnamon and stir until blended. Add cereals to half of sauce and use to fill apples. Bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes. Reheat remaining sauce and pour over apples. Bake 5 minutes longer. Serve plain or with cream, if desired. Makes 6 servings.

Phone company has plan for 'dial-a-ride'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Pacific Telephone Co. officials think maybe their computers can provide a means of helping commuters find car pools— merely by dialing.

The idea was suggested by William H. Wattenburg, a Berkeley electro ics engineer, and division switching manager George T. Taylor said recently that "it sounds like a very simple thing to handle.

Commuters looking for pools would dial a company computer and then the number of their business offices.

The computer, knowing where the calls came from, would match them with riders who live in the same general neighborhood and who work in the same area.

It would then print out a list of phone numbers for each prospective pool member and mail them out with the next month's bill.

Approval would be necessary from government agencies.

PERKY PEAS

This dish can be the star of your Christmas dinner. In a saucepan, saute a 2½-ounce jar of drained sliced mushrooms, 2 tablespoons minced onion, ½ cup chopped celery in 2 tablespoons butter until celery is crisp, yet tender. Gently stir in a 2-ounce jar diced pimiento and a 17-ounce can small early peas, drained. Heat thoroughly before ladling into a fancy dish and bringing to the table. Serves 4.

Change pace from turkey or chicken

A hearty dish that makes a change of pace from chicken or turkey during the holiday season beginning with Thanksgiving is a Choucroute

The traditional French "choucroute" or sauerkraut was served individually or included in a meal-in-one dish. Such a dish includes pork chops, sausage, white wine, carrots, apples and a variety of spices. Here is a version for the holidays.

CHOUCROUTE

½ cup onion flakes
¾ teaspoon instant minced garlic
1-3rd cup water
3 tablespoons bacon fat or oil
1 cup thinly sliced carrots
1½ cups peeled, cored and diced tart apples
2 cans (1 pounds each) sauerkraut, drained
2 cups chicken broth
¾ cup dry white wine (or apple juice)
1 bay leaf
⅛ teaspoon whole black peppercorns
1 tablespoon caraway seed
1 tablespoon parsley flakes
½ teaspoon thyme leaves
¼ teaspoon salt
1½ pounds pork chops
½ pound sausage links

Rehydrate onion flakes and minced garlic in water for 10 minutes. In a Dutch oven or ovenproof casserole heat bacon fat. Add onion and garlic along with the carrots. Cook and stir over low heat for 10 minutes. Add apple and cook 3 minutes longer. Stir in sauerkraut, broth and wine. Tie bay leaf and peppercorns in a cheesecloth bag. Add to casserole along with caraway seed, parsley flakes and thyme. Cover and cook 15 minutes. Meanwhile, in a large skillet sprinkle salt over the bottom; heat over moderate heat. Add pork chops and brown well on both sides. Remove chops and bury them in the sauerkraut. Brown sausage in the same skillet and add to casserole. Cover and bake in a preheated oven 325 degrees 1½ hours or until meat is tender. Makes 6 portions.

As Selma sees it

Overweight parents bother daughter, 13

DEAR SELMA:

I'm 13 years old, and I am really worried about my mother and father. Both of them are very overweight, and all they do is eat and eat. They do not try to lose anyweight, no matter what I say to them. It's bad enough that the other kids in the neighborhood kid me about them, but I am really worried about their health. What can I do to get them to lose weight so that they will look like the parents of the other kids?

Miss D.R.

Dear Miss D. R.:

You seem like a very nice young lady, and I appreciate your interest in your parents. It is a shame that they don't think more of you by taking care of themselves. There really isn't much you can do about their eating habits, except that you can learn a very good lesson from them on how "not" to eat. Continue to eat sensibly and maybe they will come to their senses and take an example from you.

Dear Selma:

My husband and I recently purchased a small drive-in restaurant and have gained an enormous amount of weight since that time. It seems as though we are always to trying to eat up all of the extra food that is cooked so that it will not go to waste. Have you heard from others with this same problem?

Mrs. K. T.

Dear Mrs. K. T.:

Sounds like your problem is not what to eat but a lack of proficiency in preparing meals. Being around food all day is certainly a temptation, but several restaurant people have told me that once the novelty of owning a restaurant wears off, so will your desire to eat everything in sight. Holding your weight down and being around food can be done. I personally know a pastry chef who recently lost 90 pounds.

Questions to be answered in this column should be sent to Selma Rifkin, Weight Watchers, 3322 W. Beverly Blvd., Montebello. Persons desiring a personal reply should include a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Raising sprouts is fast-growing hobby

Many of us have eaten bean sprouts in Chinese restaurants. We like their delicate flavor and consistency. But most of us have not yet tried sprouted corn, alfalfa, wheat, lentils and other seeds eaten in many parts of the world.

Kanen Cross Whyte of Mill Valley, Calif., has just written a "Sprouting Cookbook" (Troubadour Press, San Francisco) which pretty well tells the story of how to sprout the edible seeds, where to buy them and how to keep them.

Actually, seeds may be sprouted as they are needed. They can be turned into fresh vegetables within two to six days — really fresh and succulent vegetables," Mrs. Whyte says.

She adds, "It is possible to have a sprout garden in your kitchen. You need only a wide-mouthed jar, a bit of cheesecloth and a rubber band. Add moisture to untreated raw seeds and create a miniature hot house. Eat sprouts raw, steamed, roasted or fried. They are at their nutritional best when eaten raw, however."

She points out that many nutritionists believe that sprouting creates a more usable form of protein in many seeds. It also stimulates other beneficial changes — one is to increase the amount of vitamin C. There isn't in-depth research on the nutritional content of sprouted seeds yet but there is enough to make us believe theat sprouting a seed enhances its nutritional content, she says.

She explains graphically what takes place when the seeds sprout, how long to wait for results, what to do with them until eaten.

For sprouting, she says to use reliable seed houses such as W. Atlee Burpee Co. and Ferry-Morse Seed Co. Before starting clean out all damaged, bruised or discolored seeds. They will not sprout but ferment. After the sprouts have grown to desired length, you can "green" the sprouts by placing them in strong light for a few hours.

She gives specific instructions for different types of sprouts. The small red adzuki bean of the Orient, alfalfa, barley, various beans, buckwheat, Indian chin seeds, chick-peas, ccorn fenugreek (used in flavoring curries) flax, millet, wing beans, oats, rice and sesames are some. Also, particularly important today are soybeans. Also she includes the vegetable seeds, such as wheat, endive, radishes and several others.

The book contains recipes using sprouts. For example, there is an alfalfa omelet and sunflower breakfast. There is a cucumber spread using fenugreek sprouts, cheese balls using both alfalfa sprouts and wheat sprouts. For soups, there is watercress soup using buckwheat sprouts and whole earth salad with alfalfa, mung bean, adzuki rye and lentil sprouts.

Oxtail stew with lentil sprouts and stuffed egg plant with fenugreek sprouts are two main dishes. Creamed chicken on toast is there, too, flavored with 1½ cups of mung bean sprouts.

The book is the result of three years of diligent research. "I was interested in getting good reliable food for my three young children. They now eat sprouted seeds and love them. I hope others will, too," she says.

Serve Carrot Tarts with French flair

The French have a way with vegetables and their pureed treats such as chestnuts, greenbeans, peas or carrots are a delight to eat. Serve a Carrot Tart with the same pride as it would be presented to diners in Paris' famous Tour d'Argent restaurant.

CARROT TARTS

Crust
- 2 cups unsifted all-purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ½ cup pure imported olive oil
- 3 tablespoons cold water

Filling
- 2 cups well-drained mashed cooked carrots
- ½ cup sugar
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon each nutmeg, cloves and mace
- 2 eggs, well beaten
- 1 and 2-3rds cups evaporated milk
- 2 tablespoons pure imported olive oil
- ½ teaspoon vanila

For crust, mix flour and salt in a mixing bowl. Add oil and mix well. Stir in water and mix until the dough cleans the bowl. Knead a few times on a floured surface. Shape into a smooth ball. Cut dough into 12 pieces and press with floured fingers into 3-inch tart pans in an even layer covering the bottom and sides. In a bowl, mix carrots, sugar, salt, spices, eggs, milk, olive oil and vanilla. Beat until well blended. Spoon filling into tart shells. Bake in a preheated 400-degree oven for 25 to 30 minutes or until puffed and brown. Served hot. Makes 12 tarts, 3 inches in diameter.

Combine hot and cold foods to vary the menu

The contrast of hot and cold foods and sweet and spicy is a device harried cooks can use to vary meals economically.

For example, who ever heard of a Broiled Iceberg Salad? It exists now. Create this peppy dish by combining cold, crips chunks of western iceberg lettucce and tuna with a creamy herb dressing. The dressing is a broiled topping of egg whites and Parmesan cheese. Garnish with ripe olives and tomato slices.

BROILED ICEBERG SALAD
- 1 small head western iceberg lettuce
- Creamy Herb Dressing
- 1 can (12½ ounce) chunk style tuna
- ½ cup cchopped celery
- 1 tablespoon chopped pimiento
- 1-3rd cup shredded Parmesan cheese
- 1 egg white
- ½ cup crushed potato chips (optional)
- Tomato slices and ripe olives for garnish

Core, rinse and thoroughly drain lettuce. Reserve a few outer lettuce leaves, then cut head into chunks to measure 3 cups. Chill lettuce well. Prepare Creamy Herb Dressing. Combine drained tuna, celery and pimiento; chill. When ready to serve, combine tuna mixture with lettuce chunks and 1-3rd cup Creamy Herb Dressing. Mound on a heatproof dish or small metal steak platter. Combine remaining Creamy Herb Dressing with Parmesan cheese and quickly fold in stiffly beaten egg white. Swirl over chilled salad. Place under broiler a minute or two until lightly tinged with brown. Sprinkle with potato chips, tuck reserved lettuce leaves around outer edge of salad and serve at once, garnished with tomato slices and ripe olives. Makes 4 servings.

Creamy Herb Dressing: Stir together 1 cup real mayonnaise, ½ teaspoon onion powder, ¼ teaspoon each seasoned salt, crushed oregano and thyme, ⅛ teaspoon dry mustard and 1-16 teaspoon each garlic powder and white pepper.

Iceeberg Wedges
- 1 head western iceberg lettuce
- 1 can (7½ ounces) chili with beans
- 1 cup grated sharp Cheddar cheeese
- 1 teaspoon Worchestershire
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon garlic powder
- A few drops Tobasco
- Corn chips, crumbled

Core, rinse and thoroughly drain lettuce; chill. Cut head lengthwise into halves, place cut sides down on board and cut each half into 3 wedges. Place wedges on large, round serving plate. Turn chili into saucepan; mash beans with fork. Add remaining ingredients except corn chips. Cook and stir until heated through and cheese is melted. Pour into warm bowl and place in center of serving plate. Serve lettuce wedge and hot sauce to spoon over it. Pass a small bowl of the chips to sprinkle on top. Makes 6 servings.

WEATHERSTRIPPING
Weatherstripping and caulking is a form of insulation. Infiltration can run up to 30 percent of the total heat loss and heat gain, so if you can do a better job of weatherstripping and caulking around the windows and doors, you have a very significant reduction in the heat load.

HARRY GIFFORD

Claremonter president of Lorbeer Club

CLAREMONT — Harry E. Gifford, 1185 Briarcroft Road, has been elected president of the Carl H. Lorbeer Club, a chartered unit of the Independent Telephone Pioneer Association.

The new president of the 205-member group is area sales manager for General Telephone and currently is assigned to the utility's headquarters in Pomona. He has been employed by General Telphone for more than 25 years.

Gifford has served on the association's California chapter board of directors, and also in a similar capacity for the local club.

Members of the Carl H. Lorbeer Club—all residents of the Pomona-Claremont-Ontario region—are active or retired employes of the independent telephone industry with more than 15 years of service, and individuals retired from other communication fields.

The Carl Lorbeer Club is involved actively in aiding local youth organizations, mentally retarded, the blind and the hard-of-hearing.

Founded a half century ago, the Independent Telephone Pioneer Association was organized to perpetuate the pioneering spirit and ideals of the independent tlephone inthe independent telephon inbers in the United States.

Planners map L.V. master street plan

LA VERNE — A master plan of streets and highways, designed for a community of about 30,000, is being prepared for the city by the Planning Commission.

The plan attempts to pinpoint transportation needs 10 years from now.

If the study goes according to schedule, the commission will hold public hearings on the plan in January or February, according to Planning Director Charles R. Le Gros.

The master plan calls for a regional transportation goal that would open up the northern section of the community, by cutting through Golden Hills Road between Wheeler Avenue and Towne Avenue, and extending and widening Wheeler and Towne to provide a northern corridor of transportation.

The plan also urges the extension of Emerald Avenue north to intersect with Wheeler Avenue. This would open an land mass northeast of Base Line Road and Wheeler Avenue.

Part of the plan deals with the possible development of a street to tie into the Emerald Loop that would enable the opening up of the Live Oak Canyon area.

A north-south connecting street from Puddingstone Drive to Arrow highway, east of A Street, also is on the drawing board.

Le Gros said the study of the master plan is now at the preliminary study stage.

Natural helps in decorating

NEW YORK (UPI) — For greenery when making natural Christmas decorations, use any available branches. Try to cut the branches just before using them to keep them in shape as long as possible.

If cut in advance, keep the branches in water until you're ready to work with them.

By another name

In medieval times, the word "garbage" applied to a combination of chicken heads, feet, and innards stewed as a delicacy by creative chefs.

Griswold's staging Las Posadas

CLAREMONT Las Posadas, colorful Mexican celebration, is being presented at Griswold's Old School House at 6:30 each evening through Sunday. A candlelight procession depicts the journey of Joseph and Mary into Bethlehem on the days before the birth of the Christ Child. The wanderers knock at doors until they find someone who will take them in. A traditional song is sung in Spanish requesting a place to rest.

Once shelter is assured, the procession sings familiar carols and the children break a pinata and scramble for candy as it drops around them.

The ceremony is held in the Pavilion Patio. Hot chocolate and sweet bread are served at the conclusion of the celebration. Griswold's Old School House is at Foothill and Indian Hill Boulevards.

The largest tree

The tree with the biggest girth in hhe world—40 feet—is a Montezuma cypress called El Ahuehuete de Sana Maria de Tule, in Oaxaca, Mexic.

SINGING STARS — The Hagers, identical twins who star on TV's Hee Haw, will present country, pop, folk and rock music in the John Wayne Theater of Knott's Berry Farm at 7 and 9 p.m. Dec. 30 and 31. Columbia recording star Billy Joe Royal will play there at 6, 7:30 and 9 p.m. Dec. 28 and 29.

Japanese Village sets yule program

BUENA PARK — A parade and traditional Oriental decorations mark the holiday season at Japanese Village.

The grounds are decorated with characteristic holiday ornamentation featuring wind chimes, foliage and oriental objects. Two Kadomatsus—bamboo logs wrapped with rope and festooned with pine and fern branches that symbolize a long and prosperous life—flank the main entrance.

At 12:30 and 3 P.M., a holiday parade is held with musicians, karate and sumurai warriors, constumed dancers, banner carriers and the Shishi large, red and gold-lacquered head with a body of glowing ribbons said to bring good luck to all it passes.

Also celebrating the upcoming "Year of the Tiger" will be sea lion, dolphin, bear, tiger and martial arts shows and other ceremonies.

Japanese Village is open from 10 A.M. to 5 P.M. daily.

Philharmonic to present Mahler Third

LOS ANGELES — Zubin Mehta will conduct the Los Angeles Philharmonic in a performance of Gustav Mahler's Symphony No. 3 in D Minor in the Pavilion of the Los Angeles Music Center at 8:30 Thursday and Friday nights and at 3 p.m. Sunday.

Also taking part will be contralto Christina Krooskos, Women of the Los Angeles Master Chorale and the California Boys' Choir. The only other work on the program will be Webern's Concerto for Nine Instruments, Op. 24.

Mahler wrote his Third Symphony between 1893 and 1893. At first affixing the title "Pan" to the work as a whole, and providing program-made headings to its six movements, the composer eventually withdrew all descriptive material. The symphony juxtaposes broad, sweeping expansiveness with delicate miniaturism, powerful utterances with graceful imagery. Mahler uses a contralto solist, and a women's and a boys' choir on the text of a portion of Nietzsche's "Thus Spake Zarathustra" (contralto), and an old German folk carol (contralto, women and boys).

MEETIN' & EATIN' AT BETSY ROSS

By Gene Neighbors

Hi, Neighbors,

'Tis the season to be jolly! . . . NOT drenched! At Claremont Betsy Ross last Friday, some customers were slightly (and some more than slightly) dampened when a water hose to the coffee maker broke and rained water all over the front of the restaurant. Customers were either getting out of the way, or doing their bits toward trying to staunch the flow of water. When I heard the commotion, I raced to the cut-off outside the front, stumbling over the wall, and crawling the last few feet to turn it off. By the time I'd finally gotten it under control, the helpful patron who had grabbed a towel to plug the hose inside, had come, to the door to ascertain that I had things under control, then disappeared. We'd like to learn his name, to thank him, and repay in some measure, his valiant efforts. Among those showered were regular customers JIM and SAM LISKEY, PAUL MEYER, MR. GETTS, and RUTH and HOWARD, whose last names we don't have. 'Twas exciting, and fortunately, nobody was injured; all seemingly taking the inconvenience lightly and laughing about it. I told some of the fellows that it was my way of giving them an early Saturday night bath. But, to allay any fears of such a thing's happening again, let me assure you that we have an entirely different type of hose on that connection now! NOT all in a day's work, I might add!

You know, of course, that we are an expanding operation, our last Coffee Shoppe opening last June in Glendora. If you know of young people looking for management training opportunities, send them around; we'd like to interview them. We do try to keep our restaurants operating according to our high standards of cleanliness, tasty food, and good service, so prefer to train our own managers for future positions. It's that good ole home town feeling we project, a family place, where you may bring your friends with confidence.

Feel the Christmas spirit? Mailed your cards and packages? Now, if you have a dinner or party you'd like us to plan for you during your busiest season of the year, call your favorite manager and let him (or her) help you.

Say, "Hi" to your neighbors . . .

Modern use of old play

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Today's hand illustrates both luck in duplicate and the modern expert use of the grand-slam force.

North is really excited when he hears his partner's forcing two spade opening bid. Then he just raises to three with every intention of taking strong action later. Then South jumps to five notrump and North can't figure what is going on. He has all he has shown plus at least one ace and his partner is trying for a grand slam.

North's first thought is just to bid seven spades. Then he stops to think and decides that his partner must hold either seven spades and six hearts or six of each suit plus the ace of clubs. He really needed that for his grandslam force.

The modernists respond to a grand slam force by bidding seven with two of the three top honors and otherwise showing their trump strength by various gradations. North decides that his trumps are a trifle too good for a mere six club bid and bids six diamonds. South studies a while and decides to settle for just six spades.

Where does duplicate luck come into the picture? Because seven spades is a reasonable contract. It makes against almost all even or nearly even breaks in the two major suits but it just doesn't happen to wheel in this time. Science has paid off but the unscientific bidders who went down at seven are entitled to mild complaints.

For Thursday, Dec. 20

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Assume more initiative today where joint interests are concerned. Point out logically why your ideas should be considered.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You have the upper hand in any negotiating or bargaining, if you use all the facts at your disposal. Have your story ready.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Conditions that have an effect upon your work or career are improving. Most of this is due to happenings you're not yet aware of.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Don't hesitate to do little extras for the one you love today. It will add far more stability to your relationship than you realize.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your message will get through to the youngsters "loud and clear." It's a good time to explain values of rules you've laid down.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Plans you have for bettering conditions that affect the family as a whole should be implemented at this time.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Listen attentively to ideas you may hear from friends or contacts. Their information could later lead you to the bank.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Now and again your financial prospects look brighter than usual. This is one of those fortunate periods. Make the most of it.

SAGGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You're most effective at this time if you pull the strings from behind-the-scenes. Make suggestions, not directives.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Others can do more for you today than you can for yourself. Let those you have faith in run the show — temporarily.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Concentrate on the project that most furthers your ambitions. Don't fear to call on contacts or friends for help.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Desirable results are likely today from something you're involved in. There's more to come if you keep up the good work.

Your Birthday
Dec. 20

This year you will begin to reap the fruits from seeds you've previously sown. More travel for pleasure is also something to look forward to.

6 Bay agencies united to help save wildlife

BERKELEY (UPI) — Six Bay Area organizations have announced the formation of the "Wildlife Rehabilitation Council" to care for injured and orphaned wild creatures.

One committee of the group will study techniques for a coordinated response to disasters such as future oil spills and fires. Other projects include:

—Developing a placement service for permanently damaged and therefore unreleasable animals (such as a zoo).

—Starting a centralized library of resource materials in the wildlife rehabilitation field.

—Developing an animal-food and equipment exchange.

—Providing seminars and conferences on all aspects of wildlife problems.

Appointed temporary cochairmen of the council were Dr. James Harris, member of the board at Berkeley's International Bird Rescue Center, and Gary Bogue, curator of the Alexander Lindsay Jr. Museum in Walnut Creek.

Republicans seek unity in campaign

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Three Republican gubernatorial hopefuls have been told by GOP State Chairman Gordon C. Luce that it is the party's policy to "maintain unity" and "discourage kingmaking activity."

Luce Monday made public a letter he sent to gubernatorial contenders Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke, Attorney General Evelle J. Younger and Controller Houston Flournoy.

The letter was apparently prompted by a newspaper report last week that key backers of Gov. Ronald Reagan have asked Pepperdine University President William Banowsky to consider running for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

Clifford Anderson, a Reinecke campaign cochairman, had responded to the report by saying Reinecke would remain in the gubernatorial race and would not be forced out by "any of the so-called kingmakers."

Luce told the contenders, "It has been our stance in 1973 to maintain unity, discourage kingmaking activity and build the party throughout the state."

"I have also suggested to some of those speculated upon this year to straighten out the record and permanently announce the fact that they are not running,"

Scouts plan projects for holiday season

Scout troops of the Diamond Bar and Walnut Las Caballeras Neighborhood of Spanish Trails Council have planned a variety of Christmas projects for the holiday week as part of their "Action '70" pledges of community awareness.

Various groups from Cadette Troop 295 will sing and play games with patients at Pacific State Hospital where they will also present stuffed animals, pillows, puppets and puzzles they have made. The Scouts also plan a Christmas and Hannukah holiday food party with all troop committee adult members, featuring foreign foods prepared by cadettes from Puerto Rico, Sweden and Hebrew sources.

Junior Troop 275 will sponsor two teen-age girls from Pacific State Hospital by supplying them with Christmas stockings filled with crayons, coloring books, marshmallows and stuffed toys. During the year the troop will celebrate the patients' birthdays and make monthly visits. Troop members will also visit and carol at the Julene Convalescent Hospital in Pomona where they will distribute tray favors and then have a potluck and exchange of gifts at the home of their troop leader, Mrs. Calvin Frei.

Starched yarn decorations were made by Junior Troop 290 and then used to trim the tree at Diamond Point Elementary School. The Scouts will serve as usherettes at Suzanne School during the play presentation of "A Christmas Carol."

A gift of holiday cookies to the faculty and staff of Castle Rock Elementary School will be made by Junior Troop 378.

Members of Junior Troop 443 will purchase a musical mobile for the 10-year-old girl at Pacific State Hospital whom they sponsor. The troop will also make Christmas card books and mobiles for the Immobilized Ward of the hospital. After a party with Brownie Troop 486 the Juniors and Brownies will carol.

At the Town and Country Convalescent Hospital in Fullerton Junior Troop 730 Scouts will decorate the day room and tree with handmade ornaments, present gifts and Christmas carol.

Lifesaver dolls will be presented by Junior Troop 823 to Rowland Hospital, Covina, where the Scouts will visit and carol with their sister troop Brownie 247.

Junior Troop 965 dressed and groomed dolls for Santa Claus Inc. The Scouts will also carol their neighborhood fore a Christmas party.

Twenty candy-filled Christmas stockings will be donated by Brownie Troop 102 to a ward at Pacific State Hospital.

A selection of holiday songs will be presented by Brownie Troop 308 around the Pacific Bank in Diamond Bar.

Girls of Brownie Troop 388 will visit the children's ward in San Dimas Hospital to decorate the tree with handmade items.

Brownie Troop 448 will distribute tray favors and carol at Casa Colina Hospital. Brownies will also have a gift exchange and popcorn stringing party at the home of their leader, Mrs. Ronald Briles.

Members of Brownie Troop 478 will collect old toys to be repaired and donated to Santa Claus Inc.

January wedding planned

A January wedding is planned by Miss Susan Marie Klekner and Jeffrey C. Trudgeon.

The bride-elect, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph E. Klekner of Upland, is a 1968 graduate of Upland High School. She is a graduate of Chaffey College and is seeking a teaching credential at Fullerton State University. Miss Klekner is employed in North Upland as a secretary by the Bank of America.

Mr. Trudgeon, son of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Trudgeon of Redlands, graduated from Charter Oak High School. He graduated from Cal Poly University and is attending law school at La Verne College.

He is employed as a substitue teacher by the Upland School District.

Pays the bill

NEW YORK (UPI) — "Textile Talk," a newsletter of the fabrics industry, says it's the manufacturer who pays for the new labelling required by federal law.

It says one manufacturer estimated it would spend around $500,000 a year on care labelling. But customers have a responsibility too — look for, read, and properly follow the care instructions.

Try walking

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Beat the energy crisis. Walk!

Walking rather than auto-riding saves gasoline, cuts down on pollutants, and improves your physical and mental well-being. This is the message Dr. Gerald Robin, of Chevy Chase, Md., delivered to the annual meeting recently of the American Podiatry Association. He said, "It's one of the best — if not, THE best — exercise for the entire body and a perfect way to work off the tensions of the day."

Secretaries schedule yule party

Pomona Valley-Citrus Legal Secretaries Association has scheduled its annual Christmas party Thursday evening.

Members will gather at Old Hickory Inn, 545 W. Alosta Ave., Glendora.

Further information and reservations may be obtained by calling Mara Lynn Totra, 213 331-6376, or Shirley Vanderbeck, 714-593-1023.

Women to present gifts

Forty-five flannel nightgowns made by members of the Walnut Valley Women's Club will be presented to Ward Seven at Pacific State Hospital for the Christmas holiday.

It will be the sixth consecutive year the club has done this project.

Members of the club will also present to 20 children of preschool age at Pacific State Hospital decorated Christmas stockings filled with candy, nuts, oranges and a doll.

LET'S ASK THE COOK
by Nan Wiley

One of my favorite holiday activities is cookie making. When the card table goes up in the kitchen to make extra space for cookie cooling, it's best to keep out of my way or risk getting clobbered with a rolling pin. For days you may find jam on the doorknobs and flour on the telephone but I am having a good time.

Ever since a reader mentioned that it is easy to remove my raspberry kiss cookies from the cookie sheets if they are non-stick lined I have been besieged with requests from those who missed it first time around two years ago. It is such a pretty little cookie — really, almost like candy — it perks up any assorted cookie plate. So here is what you do.

Beat 3 egg whites with ⅛ teaspoon salt until foamy. Mix 3½ tablespoons raspberry flavored fruit gelatin powder with ¾ cup sugar. Add gradually to foamy egg whites, beat until mixture stands in peaks. Make sure sugar is well dissolved or kisses will be sticky.

Mix in 1 tablespoon vinegar, then fold in 1 cup chocolate bits. Drop by teaspoons onto ungreased cookie sheets lined with brown paper or use non-stick lined pans. Bake 25 minutes at 250 degrees. Turn off heat but leave kisses in the oven for another 20 minutes. Makes about 7 dozen.

Be sure your oven thermostat is accurate. I double check mine with a little portable thermometer placed in the oven.

I count plates or boxes of cookes as an ideal gift for postman, your favorite supermarket checker, your child's teacher, a next door neighbor and so many others. Gifts from your kitchen make the "just right" gift for almost anyone. Who doesn't welcome a loaf of freshly baked homemade bread? It can be accompanied by a small cutting board and knife if you wish, the whole thing done up in clear plastic wrap and ribbons.

If yeast breads are not your forte how about a loaf of pumpkin tea bread or cranberry bread? I try to keep a couple of loaves in the freezer at all times. Perhaps your canning cupboard has a surplus of one of your relish specialties.

Another gift item right at your fingertips—you may not have thought of it, but a sheet of postage stamps is a gift anyone trying to get along on social security or other limited income would appreciate.

More bicycles

NEW YORK (UPI) — The bicycle industry, looking to the future, sees the nation using 18 million bikes by 1975.

That figure counts in both domestic and imported makes and represents a sizeable increase from 1973's total of 15.4 million, says the Bicycle Institute of America.

Ask Dr. Brothers

On day care centers

By DR. JOYCE BROTHERS

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: My husband and I are separated by mutual consent and I'm now left to support our 4-year-old child. I don't want to have to accept support from my husband and I would prefer not involving my parents in this matter because I know that if I do, I will have to give up some of my personal freedom and the freedom I now have to relate to my child as I wish.

My former boss has offered me a chance to return to a job I found interesting and satisfying. I would go back at a higher salary and have excellent opportunities for advancement. Since I don't think I want to remarry, it's important for me to have something I enjoy and a profession that pays well. Obviously, I want to take the job, but my mother insists it will be harmful to my daughter to put her in the day-care center I've selected. She's offered to take car of her, but I don't want this. The day-care center is supposed to be one of the best, but naturally, if I'm really going to be hurting my daughter, I'll find some other solution. —D.D.

Dear D.D.: If you have selected a reliable day-care center, then you proobably have nothing to worry about. As I'm sure you know, there are many arguments pro and con day care, but recent studies indicate that children actually have much to gain from well managed day care.

First, children learn early in life to get along with their peers and to enter into group activities. If you have been very close to your daughter, the first few days may be difficult for her, and for you. The normal child doesn't like being separated from Mother at any age. There is a strong pull that has to be overcome, but in a short time, your daughter will begin to feel secure with other adults and children near her age. This is a healthy adjustment and if you make the most of the time you do spend with her you both will look forward to that time together each day.

A research team at Syracuse University studied some of the effects of child care programs at its own center. Psychologists compared the social behavior of two groups of three-and four-year-olds. One group had been in an infant day-care center continuously from age one, while other, matched case for case, had no previous day-care experience.

The late-comers to the center were more unhappy, tense and withdrawn on their first day and never really caught up with the early group in making new friends. The early group, although attached to their mothers, were accustomed to the absence and were used to unfamiliar adults and children their age. On the slightly negative side, they were also more physically and verbally aggressive. Watch for this aggression and find ways to counteract it if it occurs with your daughter. Those in nursery school from an early age were also more active and somewhat harder to handle.

Apparently, the more socializing agents a child encounters, the better he is able to resist pressure to conform—particularly when the pressure comes from adults. This can have both positive and negative effects. It may mean that the child is more independent at an early age. To me, this seems to be a good quality although it might make the child much more difficult to handle in the ordinary school situation.

Since your daughter is four, it might be easier for her if she could be with children who were making the same adjustment she will have to make. You can help her by introducing her to the day-care center in advance so she can develop confidence in them and in herself. If you can introduce her gradually, and if she is always assured that you are going to return when you say you will, her adjustment will be easier.

LINDA KETCHUM

June 21 nuptials planned

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Ketchum of Pomona announce the engagement of their daughter, Linda Marie, and Clifton Forrest McPherson of Pomona.

A June 21 wedding is planned by the couple.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Pomona High School and Cal Poly University. She is in teacher preparation studies at Cal Poly and works for La Verne recreation department.

Mr. PcPherson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton "Tex" McPherson, former Cucamonga residents who now live in Luxembourg, G.D. Luxembourg.

He is an engineering technology major at Cal Poly and is employed by Fazio's Shopping Bag in Upland.

The engagement was announced in a candlelight ceremony. The bride-elect is a member of Sigma Delta sorority.

Muir-Clovis vows recited in church

After a honeymoon in Kansas City, Mo., Mr. and Mrs. Harry P. Muir Jr. will reside in Lenexa, Kan.

The bride is the former Mary Susan Clovis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence D. Clovis of Salina, Kan. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Muir of Chino.

The Rev. Bernard R. Hawley officiated at the couple's marriage in the First Presbyterian Church of Salina, Kan.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of satapeau and venise lace designed with a high neckline and shepherdess sleeves. A satin and cluny lace cloche enhanced with pearls held the bride's matilla veil which was cathedral length.

She carried a cascade of white gladioli and yellow roses.

Mrs. Larry White was matron of honor.

John Gordon was best man and Larry White was the usher.

A reception at the Salina Country Club followed the ceremony.

MRS. HARRY P. MUIR JR.

Acupuncture

NEW YORK (UPI) — Medical historians say acupuncture probably is the oldest established form of medical practice, having been in use for years in China, France, Great Britain and the Soviet Union. It gained prominence in the United States in 1972 with President Nixon's trip to China and resultant dispatches on health care practices in the modernday People's Republic of China.

NO PROBLEM — Setting up house should be no problem for Britain's Princess Anne and her new husband, Capt. Mark Phillips, provided they aren't too choosy about some of the furnishings. Wedding gifts, some 2,000, the couple received are on public display at St. Jame's Palace.

Fewer high school grads joining army

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Army got fewer high school granduates last month than it has in at least the last four years, raising the spectre that the all volunteer force will be filled with low quality soldiers.

Official Pentagon statistics revealed Monday that only 38 per cent of the Army's new male recruits in November had high school diplomas. The worst previous figure in the last four years was 44 per cent last December.

The proportion of high school granduates has for a long time been a standard measures of the quality of recruits. However, another key measure is the intelligence rating garnered from tests given recruits.

The Army did well by that measure, with only 18 per cent of its November recruits scoring as "Catorgory IVs," the military term for men with below average intelligence.

By comparison, over the last 12 years the proportion of low IQ recruits has ranged from an annual low 17 per cent in the last two years to a high of 28 per cent in 1968.

While the high school diploma is a common measure officials have tried for some months to discount its importance.

Army Lt. Gen. Robert Taber, deputy assistant defense secretary for manpower, said two months ago the high school diploma was not watched as a measure of intelligence or trainability but because graduates "made out better in the structured military society as regards disipline."

Official, said 20 per cent of the dropouts become problems for the Army—a much higher percentage than for graduates.

The Army has decided to accept the questionable cases and watch them closely during basic training period.

Health care plan costs? nobody getting something for nothing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The administration boasts that its new national health plan will require no increase in taxes. This is a half-truth that disguises more than it reveals.

The administration plan does anticipate increased costs. Whether it is called higher taxes or higher costs, it will mean greater out-of-pocket payments for health care by employers, by employes, by the self-employed and by the United States Treasury.

How much more? The administration says it cannot make any meaningful estimates.

The plan would operate entirely through private insurance companies. It would require that firms, as a condition to doing business in the United States, take out health insurance for their employes.

At the outset, employers would have to pick up two-thirds the cost of the insurance, with employes paying the remainder. Ultimately, the employer share would rise to 75 per cent. There would be nothing voluntary about those costs. They would be as compulsory as taxes.

Under the administration plan, the government would set a minimum standard for health care insurance. It would cover the entire nation but would be aimed particularly at insuring the middle-class against catastrophic medical costs.

The middle-class and its employers, of course, would pay for it. So would the self-employed who would be able to buy into the new insurance program.

For the low-income and the aged, the government would pay all or part of the costs, depending upon individual income.

The administration figures that it will cost the government about $4 billion more a year to shift Medicare and Medicaid to the coverage provided by the new health plan. According to the planners, that cost could be absorbed by the U.S. Treasury.

There would be a tax increase involved in a reported proposal to treat employer contributions to health plans as part of an employe's income, subject to federal individual income taxes.

There has been a tendency to compare such a $4 billion cost increase to what some administration sources have estimated as the $70 billion government cost involved in the health plan proposed by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, a $67 billion first-year government cost of the so-called Reuther Commission recommendation, which has become the basis of several major health bills introduced in Congress.

To make such a comparison would be the same as seeing no difference between cherries and watermelons.

Cranked into the estimates of the Kennedy and Reuther Commission plans and omitted from the administration proposal are:

—The existing cost of health care, including payments made to physicians, hospitals, nurses, druggists as well as payments to private insurance plans.

—The existing costs of Medicare and Medicaid.

—The increased private insurance costs under the administration plan.

The Kennedy plan would shift virtually all existing private health care costs to the government and have them paid through a system of federal taxes.

The lesson to be drawn from the confusion over health care costs is simple: no one gets something for nothing, whether it is the U.S. government or private industry. The greater the health care benefit, the higher the cost whether it's paid for through higher taxes or higher premiums to insurance companies.

Kissinger will visit 6 nations

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger will visit six Middle East countries Dec. 13-17 in an effort to get a Geneva peace conference going as hoped on Dec. 18.

The State Department said Kissinger's tight agenda calls for him to be in Egypt Dec. 13-14, Saudi Arabia Dec. 14-15, Syria Dec. 15, Jordan Dec. 15-16, Lebanon Dec. 16, and Israel on Dec. 16-17.

A department spokesman, George Vest, declined to say specifically that the United States was counting on the Geneva Conference to start Dec. 18. However, officials said privately that announcement of the pre-conference Kissinger schedule could be reasonably interpreted to mean that the 18th is still the target date for the peace conference.

Aluminum penny gets Senate OK

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate voted Friday to allow the U. S. Treasury to begin making pennies out of aluminum if it wishes.

The bill, sent to the House by voice vote with only three senators on the floor, would allow the Secretary of the Treasury to determine when the copper one cent piece "is no longer practicable" and switch to aluminum.

The price of copper has risen to a point where its use for pennies could become unprofitable to the government.

The bill prescribes that the penny cannot contain less than 96 per cent aluminum and the balance would be made up of "such other metals as the (the Treasury Secretary) shall determine."

NOTICE

Application for Waste Discharge Requirements National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System Permit for Quaker Chemical California

Public Notice No. 74-2 NPDES No. CA0000175.

Quaker Chemical California, P.O. Box 973, Pomona, California 91769 has filed a report of waste discharge and applied for the requirements for the discharge of wastes in San Antonio Creek tributary to Santa Ana River. Quaker Chemical California is engaged in a process where cooling water waste is generated.

On the basis of preliminary staff review and application of lawful standards and regulations, the California Regional Water Quality Control Board, Santa Ana Region, tentatively proposes to issue waste discharge requirements including effluent limitations and special conditions. Persons wishing to comment upon or object to the proposed discharge requirements are invited to submit same in writing to the above address no later than December 24, 1973. All comments or objections received prior to December 24, 1973, will be considered in the formulation of final determinations regarding the waste discharge. If no objections are received, the Regional Board will issue discharge requirements. A Public hearing will be held upon request of any interested person.

The report of Waste Discharge, related documents, fact sheets, comments received, and other information is on file and may be inspected or copied at California Regional Water Quality Control Board, Santa Ana Region, 6833 Indiana Ave., Riverside, CA 92506, during business hours 8:00 A.M. to 5:00 P.M. weekdays.

A MESSAGE TO CLASSIFIED AD USERS

You are about to invest money for an Ad and you are entitled to get results. To accomplish this it is necessary for you to TELL ALL about the details of your offer. Be sure you don't make any of the following errors that prevent results. Readers can't guess on important details. Remember, a well written informative ad will get results faster and cost less in the long run.

1. Don't Omit The Address

Many out-of-town readers will write you but will not spend money for a long distance call.

2. Don't Omit The Phone Number

Many readers will call you but do not find it convenient to come to your home.

3. Don't Use Blind Box Numbers

Avoid them if at all possible. They are difficult to answer and many people are suspicious of them.

4. Don't Conceal The Price

Surveys show that a high percentage of readers will not answer an ad unless the price is given.

5. Don't Leave Home On The Days You Advertise

Many good prospects will not call the second time if your phone is unanswered.

6. Don't Forget, Check Your Ad The First Day It Runs. Call Us!

FRIENDS,
Here are just a few of the many written comments we receive from our happy customers:

Courteous, cooperative, considerate attention on every detail from all your personnel.
H. & B. RUSH, Mira Loma

Cooperation and concern of your personnel made the transition to mobile home living a pleasant experience.
L. HUTCHINSON, Pom.

Thanks for the fine way you have treated us in our new mobile home and we love every minute of it.
R. & M. BLAND, Pom.

Your Service Personnel have been exceptional, both in workmanship and pleasant attitude. Thanks so much.
A. & D. KRUGER, La Puente

Yes folks, our entire staff of efficient, cooperative personnel are at your service to provide you with courteous customer relations for the rest of your life!
Sincerely
BILL HARRIS

Nader aide spices cocktail party with Nixon tape

WASHINGTON (UPI) — William A. Dobrovir, a lawyer for Ralph Nader, told a federal judge today "I made a very foolish mistake" in playing one of President Nixon's subpoenaed tape recordings at a cocktail party.

U.S. District Court Judge William B. Jones, in a half-hour special hearing he called because of Dobrovir's action, accepted the lawyer's explanation and refused a Justice Department request for a protective order —in effect a "gag" on Dobrovir.

Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott suggested a bar investigation of what he called "questionable ethics" on the part of the lawyer.

Dobrovir represents Nader in a lawsuit contending that an administration decision to allow increased price supports for raw milk was related to dairy industry's campaign contributions to President Nixon's 1972 Campaign.

The tape recording played by Dobrovir Monday was a tape of a meeting by Nixon with dairy leaders on March 23, 1971.

Dobrovir told Judge Jones that he stopped at a Georgetown cocktail party Monday night after making a copy of the tape.

He said he and six other persons were sitting around a fireplace eating salami.

"I made a very foolish mistake. I said I've got in my pocket the hottest item in town. It was suggested —it may have been me —in a moment of relaxation —'may we hear a little bit of it?'"

Dobrovir said he played "maybe four to five minutes."

He told a reporter earlier that the tape was "virtually inaudible."

"I am a very embarrassed man," Dobrovir told the judge.

A Justice Department lawyer, Erwin Goldbloom, asked Judge Jones for a protective order to keep Dobrovir from revealing any of the documents in the dairy case and from making "extra judicial statements."

Jones declined to sign an order, saying if the Justice Department felt there had been unethical behavior, it could file a complaint with the grievance committee of the federal bar.

Jones commented: "I regret very much the condition that exists today. I certainly accept Mr. Dobrovir's explanation. I am quite satisfied there will be no other occasion such as this."

Oil-producing nations adopt new guidelines

VIENNA (UPI) — Representatives of the world's 12 major oil-producing nations have decided on new guidelines expected to increase energy prices for the rest of the world.

Sources in the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) said a conference Tuesday agreed prices should be based on supply and demand. Until now, oil prices have been fixed in advance by the 12 countries.

The sources agreed plans to resrtict supply combined with increasing demand would push prices higher.

Several companies including unidentified American firms last week bought oil at auction from Iran at more than three times the current world price.

OPEC nations from the Middle East, Asia and South America produce 85 per cent of all the world's oil imports. Most other countries must buy oil at OPEC prices or go without fuel.

The sources said closed-door meetings Tuesday and today by technical experts were expected to lead to new price guidelines to be put before OPEC oil ministers at a conference in Tehran Saturday.

OPEC members are Iran, Libya, Saudi Arabia, Iraq, Abu Dhabi, Algeria, Ecuador, Indonesia, Kuwait, Nigeria, Qatar and Venezuela.

Japanese government sources said the nation intended to bid at a Libyan oil auction today, despite the risk of recriminations from American oil companies whose supplies were nationalized by Tripoli earlier this year.

Japan faces the largest fuel shortage of any major industrialized nation. It imports virtually all oil and has had supplies cut back because of its allegedly pro-Israel stance during the Middle East war.

Iraq's oil minister said in an interview with a Beirut newspaper Tuesday his country intended to step up oil production because it did not believe the Arab oil cutback policy was a sound one.

Laird resigns, but agrees to remain until Feb. 1

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon accepted with deepest personal regret Wednesday the resignation of counselor Melvin R. Laird effective Feb. 1. The resignation had been long expected.

Laird, a former defense secretary, said he would be joining Reader's Digest as a senior counselor for national and international affairs.

"I'm leaving in a very pleasant fashion," Laird told a news conference. "There is no difficulty between the President and me."

He said he discussed his departure with Nixon for an hour Monday and at the President's urging agreed to stay on for an additional month to assist in preparing the State of the Union address and the new budget Nixon will submit to Congress in January.

Laird, a former Wisconsin congressman, told reporters that the House should vote on the question of impeaching the President in connection with the Watergate scandal by March 15 at the latest.

"There is no reason why they can't pass judgment in the next 60 days," he commented. "So I call on my colleagues to face up to that responsibility and I hope they will."

He added he had not discussed the question of an impeachment deadline with Nixon and made it clear that he did not expect the House to vote for impeachment.

Laird said: "My estimate is that there is not a majority vote for indictment of the President of the United States. I feel a majority vote does not exist on indictment."

At the same time, Laird said he was "shocked" that a Ralph Nader lawyer had played a subpoenaed White House tape recording at a cocktail party.

Attorney William Dobrovir acknowledged playing the tape at the home of a friend in Georgetown where he stopped for a drink.

Nixon tells media to fly own planes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon, concerned about "the need for conservation of energy" has told White House reporters they will have to fly themselves to Florida when he takes his post Christmas vacation.

State mulls suspension, delay for smog devices

STORM DAMAGE MOUNTING

A crane attempts to lift a tree which crashed against a house Tuesday due to its ice-laden boughs. This was the scene at New Hyde Park, N.Y. in the wake of a winter snowstorm which downed power lines throughout the area, leaving tens of thousands of homes without heat and lights.

Controversial move will be decided today

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The recently shaken up State Air Resources Board Tuesday considered suspension or delay of programs for reduction of air pollutants as a result of the oil shortage crisis.

The five-member board, with four of its members replaced during the past week, heard arguments pro and con for relaxing standards for pollutant emission devices both stationary and automotive.

The principal resolution before the board, to be voted on today, called for deferring for one year the mandatory installation by the end of 1974 of nitrogen oxide control devices on all 1966-70 cars in the state.

The hearing came after Gov. Ronald Reagan wrote former ARB chairman A.J. Haagen-Smith that it was necessary to weigh whether the "immediate need to conserve fuel" does not outmatch air quality controls.

Gladys Meade, one of the former board members, made a plea to the newly constituted ARB not to drop or roll back the nitrogen oxide retrofit program.

"It is the single issue on which we spent the greatest amount of time and it is desperately needed," she said.

"We must not let the energy crisis put us in a state of automatic rejection for environmental programs."

Richard J. Ronan, area manager for technical services and research for Texaco, said that the gasoline industry could not supply sufficient lead free gasoline of the proper octane levels to satisfy the entire car population if all autos were fitted with catalytic converters.

The retrofit program for 1966-70 cars had called for installation according to license plate numbers throughout the state and completed by October.

The resolution before the board would instead defer the plan for a year and call for installation of smog devices on transfer of ownership and registration as is presently under way.

However, it called for that program to be limited at least until next April to the San Francisco Bay, San Diego and Los Angeles basin areas.

Staff reports prepared for the ARB detailed the loss in mileage incurred by cars outfitted with retrofit and catalytic converters.

Legislators agree to give President authority to impose gas rationing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House and Senate conferees have agreed to give President Nixon unlimited authority to impose gasoline rationing, without the consent of Congress.

Hoping to have emergency energy legislation on President Nixon's desk before they adjourn for the holiday, the conferees also agreed Tuesday to allow the President to order other energy conservation measures until June 30, subject only to veto by either house of Congress. After June 30, the president would have to seek specific legislation for any further energy conservation moves except gasoline rationing.

The conferees, trying to iron out differences between House and Senate measures to deal with the energy crisis, worked on the measure until midnight and scheduled another meeting this morning to work out compromises on other portions of the bill.

As a result of lower speed limits imposed because of the energy crisis, the Teamsters union demanded Tuesday that its national contract with the trucking industry be reopened. Truck drivers are paid by the mile, and Teamsters President Frank Fitzsimmons, invoking a wage reopener clause in the contract, said the union will seek to raise the per-mile pay of long-haul drivers. The lower speed limits were imposed to save fuel.

Nixon scheduled a mid-afternoon meeting today with William Simon, his energy chief, presumably to discuss the possibility of rationing. Simon has said he will announce, possibly before the end of the week, whether he will recommend rationing, an option he has said should be used only as a "last resort."

The Senate planned to vote today on legislation creating a federal energy administration, the office now headed by William E. Simon, and a Council on Energy Policy.

Prior to final passage, due late in the day, the Senate scheduled votes on amendments that would strictly limit price increase for crude oil and refined petroleum products, but would allow now-regulated gas prices at the wellhead to rise freely.

Lewis misses majority, to face Ayala in runoff

By PAUL HILL
P-B Staff Writer

Assemblyman Jerry Lewis and San Bernardino County Supervisor Ruben Ayala will compete in a runoff election Jan. 15 to decide who will fill the unoccupied 20th Senate District seat in the state legislature.

The runoff will be held as a result of Tuesday's special election in which Lewis barely missed getting the 50 per cent plus-one majority needed to win the election outright and avert a runoff.

Lewis, a Republican, received 26,860 or 49.1 per cent of the votes cast. Ayala, a Democrat, captured 20,512 votes or 37.5 per cent.

The remaining votes went to Democrat Ralph Carter and Republican Robert Allenthorp. Carter, a Rialto city councilman, received 6,280 votes (11.4 per cent), while Allenthorp, a Big Bear businessman, got 1,014 (1.8 per cent).

Only 26.4 per cent of the district's, 209,092 eligible voters turned out for the election, which was being held to fill the position vacated five weeks ago by William E. Coombs. Coombs, a Republican, resigned to take a job with the Treasury Department.

Lewis maintained a slim lead over Ayala in the first four hours of the counting, which consisted mainly of returns in the heavier-populated western sections of the district. But his lead gradually began to grow shortly after midnight as returns from the Republican-dominated desert areas began pouring into the registrar of voters office in San Bernardino.

By 2 a.m., all 275 precincts had reported, and the registrar of voters released the semi-official tally which confirmed the runoff.

Democrats hold a 56 to 39 per cent edge over Republicans in terms of registered voters in the district.

The election has statewide importance since an Ayala victory could give Democrats a 21-19 edge in the Senate and control of both Houses in the Legislature.

Local observers are also keeping a watchful eye on the outcome, since the winner will be the incumbent in the newly-reapportioned 32nd Senate District in next year's elections. The new Senate district will consist of the western portion of San Bernardino County and the city of Pomona.

Under the shadow of Watergate, the candidates made integrity the main issue during the short five-week campaign. It is likely Lewis and Ayala will follow the same approach between now and the time of the runoff.

Both Lewis and Ayala made repeated attempts to outdo each other in opening up their campaigns for close scrutiny by the press and the public.

Hundreds of men and women of the South Vietnamese militia dig anti-tank trenches near Phu Giao, some 33 miles north of Saigon. The trenches were designed to hinder possible Communist attack.

White House to get subpoenas for tapes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Watergate committee's chief counsel said the White House would be served today with subpoenas for about 200 tape recordings and 100 other documents.

The committee voted Tuesday to issue the subpoenas some 15 hours after a new law took effect empowering it to take such action in quest of Presidential documents.

Samuel Dash, committee counsel and staff director, said today that lawyers for President Nixon had "graciously agreed" to accept the subpoenas on the President's behalf.

Dash would not say precisely when the subpoenas would be served, "because I want this to be as low-key as possible."

There was no word how soon the White House might comply with the subpoenas. The new law empowering the committee to issue subpoenas took effect without Nixon's signature at midnight Monday. He made clear he was opposed to it but allowed the act to become law on grounds a veto might be misunderstood by the public.

Chairman Sam J. Ervin, D-N. C., said in announcing the subpoenas Tuesday that the materials sought "relate to the matters the committee is authorized to investigate."

Some of the tape recordings sought were said to include conversations the President had with such former top officials as H. R. Haldeman, John D. Ehrlichman, John W. Dean, Charles W. Colson, John N. Mitchell and others.

Ervin said the tapes and other documents the committee wants to screen include materials relating to "the burglary of the Watergate, the bugging of the Watergate, the dirty tricks and sabotage of the (1972) campaigns of people seeking the Democratic nomination for President, and all campaign funds."

It was learned that the subpoenas also cover documents related to the dairy industry's $427,500 contribution to the Nixon re-election campaign after price supports for milk were raised, and billionaire Howard Hughes' gift of $100,000 for Nixon through the President's friend, C. G. "Bebe" Rebozo.

Central U.S. paralyzed by blizzard conditions

By United Press International

Freezing rain, heavy snow and blizzard conditions today paralyzed portions of the central United States.

Heavy snow or winter storm warnings extended from the mountains of Colorado and New Mexico, through the Central Plains and Central Mississippi Valley region, and into the northern portions of the Texas Panhandle, Oklahoma and Nebraska.

Blizzard or blizzard conditions, backed by winds up to 45 miles per hour, were expected to last during the day over much of Kansas, Colorado and New Mexico.

Many schools in the Colorado-Wyoming area were closed today. Numerous basketball games scheduled for Tuesday night were canceled.

Firefighters near Glenrock, Wyo., braved 15-degree temperatures and gusty winds with blowing snow in their battle against a two-week old oil well fire where damage was expected to go into the millions.

In the East, many of the 200,000 homes that have been without power since Sunday night today were still without lights or heat.

The Denver Headquarters of the State Patrol reported their switchboard was swamped with calls from drivers who had fought the weather and lost.

"When we have 30 pileups all over the roads, that's pretty bad," said one dispatcher. "We can barely handle all of the accident reports that are pouring in. And it's all over, not just Denver."

The Museum of Natural History in Denver City Park closed up Tuesday after the storm knocked out all power in the building. The Denver Post decided to cancel printing its final street edition because of distribution problems.

Governors from Arizona and New Mexico were forced to cancel their attendance at the Four Corners Regional Commission meeting in Denver because of the snow.

The storm dumped 10 inches of snow in Montana, seven inches in the Black Hills of South Dakota, 12 inches in Meeker, Colo., and in Silver Bay, Minn., 18 inches fell, forcing the closing of schools and keeping many residents home from work. The 18 inches were more than the total received all of last winter.

The new Arctic blast tumbled temperatures in the South by more than 30 degrees, with as much as four inches of snow expected in Texas today.

"We've got snow and blowing snow helped along by northerly winds gusting to 50 miles per hour," said a Dalhart, Tex., resident. "This puts the wind chill factor down to less than 20 degrees below freezing."

A Long Island, N.Y., lighting company spokesman said up to 70,000 customers, mainly in Nassau and Norfolk counties, were still without power today. He said an earlier figure of 53,000 had to be revised upward "Because downed trees and travel conditions prevented us from making a complete inspection."

The death toll from the eastern storm reached at least 22 Tuesday. The weather was blamed for six deaths in New York, five in Virginia, three in Pennsylvania, two each in Connecticut and Maryland, and one each in Massachusetts, Rhode Island, New Jersey and Indiana.

Two deserters to surrender seeking amnesty for selves, 50,000 others

NEW YORK (UPI) — Two men who deserted the U.S. Army because of the Vietnam War planned to surrender to military authorities today. They hoped to establish a precedent of "de facto amensty" for the estimated 50,000 draft dodgers and deserters living in exile or underground.

They are Edward McNally, 24, who has been living with his family somewhere on Long Island for four years and Lewis Simon, 29, a leader of an American deserter group in Sweden since his desertion in 1968.

They were to formally announce their decision to surrender at a Christmas party of Safe Return, an exile support group whose backers include film producer Otto Preminger, film critic Clive Barnes and theatrical producer Joseph Papp. The actual attempt to surrender may take place at Fort Hamilton in Brooklyn.

An Army spokesman said that, normally, deserters who turn themselves in are put on restriction, assigned a lawyer and brought to trial.

The spokesman said McNally and Simon might be able to plead guilty to the lesser charge of being absent without leave rather than desertion.

If found guilty on the AWOL charge, they could be sentenced to jail for six months to two years. The desertion charge carries a penalty of up to life in prison, although the spokesman said that, in practice, this is not used.

Safe Return hopes to persuade the Army to forego court martials for Simon and McNally and instead grant them administrative discharges.

"In a sense, I've come home as a test case," said Simon, a New York City native who returned here last week from Sweden. "If the army is easier on me, that hopefully will set a precedent so that when others continue to come home, they will get better treatment."

Simon, who has a master's degree from the University of Hawaii added, "What we're working for here is a kind of de facto amnesty."

McNally, who grew up in a broken home in a poor area of Brooklyn, came back from Vietnam with a drug habit which he later kicked.

Recently, he enrolled in a Long Island University, posing as a discharged veteran, began helping drug addicts in a rehabilitation program, and became engaged to be married.

"I decided to turn myself in because I was tired of lying, of living dishonestly," he said. "I decided it was time to build a real future.

ANG security officer jailed on dope count

ONTARIO — An 18-year-old Air National Guard security policeman at Ontario International Airport was arrested by an Ontario police officer during a routine traffic stop and booked in the West End Jail on suspicion of possession of marijuana.

Police Officer Harold Hoehn said he observed a vehicle with loud mufflers in the area of Berlyn Avenue and Fourth Street Tuesday and stopped the car driven by George Gustavo Cortes, 18, of 916 E. Granada Court.

Hoehn said Cortes had no driver's license in his possession, but identified himself as a security policeman at the Air National Guard at OIA. Hoehn was given permission by Cortes, to make a search. Hoehn said he found a plastic baggie in Cortes' left outer coat pocket. The baggie contained a green leafy substance and some stems believed to be marijuana, Hoehn said. Cortes was arrested and taken to the West End Jail for booking.

Boyle sentence reduced; ordered to begin term

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal Judge Charles Richey today ordered W. A. "Tony" Boyle jailed immediately for making illegal political contributions from United Mine Workers funds, but reduced the sentence of the former UMW president from five to three years.

Boyle, 72, is expected to be taken to a federal prison hospital at Springfield, Mo. He has been in a hospital since a suicide attempt Sept. 24.

Richey originally sentenced Boyle to the five-year term, and said he was reducing the period because of his health. The pale Boyle, defeated a year ago for re-election as UMW head, sat throughout the hearing in a wheelchair.

Boyle uttered only a few words during the proceeding, telling Richey he had nothing to say on his own behalf.

Richey denied a defense motion to suspend the prison sentence entirely, saying he hoped word would go out "that at least one judge does not view crimes of this type as anything less than serious."

Five hijackers await safe passage from Kuwait camp

KUWAIT (UPI) — Five hijackers waited in a Kuwait military camp today for safe passage out of the country, with the bloodiest Arab guerrilla attack over and the last 12 hostages heading back to Rome where it all began.

The 30-hour ordeal ended Tuesday when the five terrorists surrendered after their hijacked Lufthansa Boeing 737 landed in Kuwait, completing an odyssey of terror stretching from Rome to Athens to the Middle East.

A Lufthansa spokesman in Frankfurt said the hijackers were taken under guard to a Kuwaiti military camp to await safe passage to an unannounced destination in exchange for freeing the hostages unharmed.

The spokesman said the passengers and crew were brought to a Kuwaiti hotel to await a flight later today to Italy.

The Lufthansa official said the terrorists left behind two submachine guns, five pistols, six hand grenades and a few pounds of explosives.

The two days of terror left 33 dead—32 killed at Rome's Leonardo Da Vinci airport and the last victim dying en route to Athens after being wounded in Rome.

In Athens, the guerrillas dumped the last body onto the airport tarmac and ordered the pilot to tell authorities they were killing the hostages one-by-one.

Kuwaiti officials said later there were no killings in Athens, but the commandos ordered the pilot to lie to pressure Greek authorities into releasing two imprisoned Palestinians.

The casualty figure made it the worst Arab terrorist attack to date, topping the 28 persons slain in 1972 during an attack at Israel's Lod International airport.

One hijacker told Kuwait officials the guerrillas "are not criminals" and "carried out this operation in defense of our rights."

The commando raid, however, was condemned by Arab guerrilla organizations and political leaders. Palestinian chief Yasser Arafat called it "an immoral act."

The ordeal began Monday afternoon at the Rome airport when the five suddenly began spraying the passenger lounge with submachine gun fire.

They ran outside and boarded a Pan Am jet, lobbing grenades and firing at the 68 persons on board, including 30 Americans planning to spend Christmas with relatives working for the Arabian-American Oil Co. in Saudi Arabia.

Viet Cong release American civilian

SAIGON (UPI) — The Viet Cong freed an American civilian today more than two months after he was seized by the Communists in a evening ambush in the Mekong Delta.

A spokesman for Pacific Architects and Engineers (PAE), an American contracting company, said Homer L. Elm, 43, of Arcadia, S.C., was set free in a remote hamlet near Can Tho, 75 miles southwest of Saigon.

Airline strike ends, operations resumed

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Trans World Airlines, grounded by a 45-day strike by cabin attendants, resumed operations today. Officials said the nation's second largest air carrier would be back on its normal schedule in time for the Christmas crush.

The Transport Workers Union approved by "a substantial majority" a three-year contract that increased wages by 13.5 per cent and a 5.5 per cent increase retroactive to the expiration of the old contract on Aug. 1, 1972.

A union spokesman said the contract also provides improved life insurance and medical benefits, better travel expenses, and other fringe benefits.

Don't shop for tree in a national forest

SAN BERNARDINO — If "doing your thing" includes cutting your own Christmas tree from a national forest—reconsider.

The practice of providing Christmas trees from the San Bernardino National Forest was abandoned many years ago, officials said.

The demand resulting from increased population, coupled with the constant light to control smog and insect damage, far exceeds the supply.

A policy exception is a limited number of trees provided for military hospitals through a cooperative program with the military and Red Cross.

Previously selected trees will be cut and the Red Cross will distribute them to hospitals at March, Norton and George air force bases, Twentynine Palms and Barstow military installations.

Unathorized cutting of trees or shrubs on national forest or private land is punishable under the state penal code. Persons convicted may receive a maximum $500 fine and six months in jail.

Actor says U.S. Russ detente alive

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Actor Chuck Connors, who has an "in" at the Kremlin, says that as far as Russian leader Leonid I. Brezhnev is concerned, the Soviet-American detente is still healthy despite the Middle East war.

Connors met Brezhnev at the Western White House and discovered that the Soviet leader is a Western movie fan. Since then the two have become friends, exchanging gifts—Connors gave Brezhnev a six gun— and the Russian leader invited Connors to Moscow.

Connors went to Russia earlier this month and said Tuesday Brezhnev told him the detente "did not fall apart at the seams" because of the Arab-Israeli war and that he considers the course of U.S.-Soviet relations "very positive an very good."

Japan leader to quit hospital soon

TOKYO (UPI) — Doctors treating Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka for an ear infection say he will be released from the hospital about Christmas Day— well before his scheduled departure for a tour of Southeast Asia in January.

Attending physician Masateru Kashima said today the prime minister is "recovering favorably" and would be able to leave the hospital for a while on Friday to attend three conferences, including a regular cabinet session.

Tanaka was admitted to the government-run hospital Saturday for treatment of inflammation of the inner ear caused by a cold aggravated by fatigue.

Newsman's widow to get $700,000

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The county agreed Tuesday to pay $700,000 to Sally Salazar, widow of newsmen Ruben Salazar who was killed by a deputy sheriff in August, 1970.

Salazar worked for the Los Angeles Times and KMEX. He was a commentator on Mexican-American affairs and a foreign correspondent in Latin America. Salazar was in the Silver Dollar Cafe when the sheriff's deputy, acting on a report there were armed men inside, fired a tear gas shell into the cafe. The shell hit Salazar in the head, killing him.

Mrs. Salazar sued for $1.5 million on behalf of herself and her three children. The County Board of Supervisors approved a $700,000 settlement, described as the largest such settlement in the history of the board.

Nixon appoints 3 to commission

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Leonard H. Marks, former director of the United States Information Agency, was named by President Nixon Tuesday to be a new member and chairman of the U.S. Advisory Commission on International Education and Cultural Affairs.

Nixon also nominated for reappointment to the commission Leo Cherne of New York, executive director of the Research Institute of America, and added New York lawyer Rita E. Hauser as a new member.

The appointments are subject to Senate confirmation.

Committee okays envoy to Soviet

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee Tuesday recommended confirmation of Walter J. Stoessel Jr., to be the new American ambassador to the Soviet Union.

Stoessel, a career foreign service officer, is now assistant secretary of state for European affairs.

The committee recommended confirming Arthur A. Hartman of New Jersey, also a career diplomat, to replace Stoessel as assistant secretary on the European desk. The Moscow post has been vacant for almost a year.

Richardson bids for U.S. Senate

LOS ANGELES — State Sen. H. L. "Bill" Richardson said today he will seek the Republican nomination next June for the U.S. Senate seat now held by Democrat Alan Cranston.

H. L. RICHARDSON

Richardson made his announcement at press conferences in Los Angeles, San Diego and San Francisco. He is the first Republican to declare Senate candidacy.

Richardson currently represents the 19th state Senate District, which includes San Dimas in the Pomona Valley. However, when the newly reapportioned districts go into effect next year, he will serve the 25th Senate District, which, besides San Dimas, will take in Claremont and La Verne in the Pomona Valley.

He will not have to relinquish his present position in the legislature to run for the U.S. Senate post, since state senators in odd-numbered districts do not have to face re-election until 1976 despite the reapportionment.

The country's economic situation, Richardson says, will serve as the basis for his campaign.

"In the United States, the federal government has embarked upon an inflationary policy, and if it continues I see a 20 per cent inflationary rate by 1975," Richardson said.

Richardson charged the legislators in Washington are "refusing to come to grips with a very difficult economic picture. They have this crazy idea we can spend our way into propserity by the printing of paper currency."

He believes there should be less government interference and regulation in the private sector, and warned that unless action is taken to do so the inevitable conclusion will be "the demand by those in public office for nationalization of our industries for their (industries') common good.' "

Richardson, who did not endorse President Nixon in the 1972 GOP presidential primary (he endorsed Rep Wayne Ashbrook of Ohio), said fallout from Watergate will have an effect on both his Senate campaign and on other Republican candidates running for office.

"Yes, it will have a bad effect," Richardson said. "Any Republican who doesn't think so is fooling himself."

At least three other Republicans are reported considering Senate candidacy. They are Dr. Earl W. Brian, 31, the secretary of the State Health and Welfare Agency; Robert H. Finch, 48, former lieutenant governor and Nixon administration official; and S. I. Hayakawa, 67, retired president of San Francisco State University.

Claremonter nabs suspect in home theft

CLAREMONT — A 24-year-old man subdued a burglary suspect he found carrying two rifles from his ransacked home at 369 S. Mills Ave. late Tuesday afternoon.

The suspect, 18-year-old Christopher Watts, 1102 E. La Verne Ave., Pomona, was taken to Pomona Valley Community Hospital where several stitches were used to close a cut in his scalp. Then he was booked on suspicion of burglary and possession of drugs.

Police gave this account:

Gary W. Pocock returned home shortly before 4:30 and saw Watts in an alley, carrying two rifles belonging to him. Pocock confronted him, subdued him and took him to his landlord's house nearby where he called police.

During the call, Watts tried to leave and was hit on the head with a coffee pot wielded by the landlord. Police arrived shortly after and placed Watts under arrest. They found three-quarters of an ounce of marijuana on him and 43 pills suspected of being amphetamines.

Officers said Pocock's house had been entered through a back door and ransacked. They found a pillowcase containing stereo equipment and other items from the house hidden behind the garage.

Officers quoted Watts as denying the burglary, saying he was just passing by and saw the guns lying on the ground. He said he also found the drugs, they reported.

Suspect in Pomona store slayings charged with gas station robbery

POMONA —Tommy Langston, 21-year-old suspect in the slaying of two men here during a liquor store robbery Oct. 11, has been arraigned on a robbery charge involving a service station.

Langston was arraigned in Pomona Municipal Court before Judge Houston A. Snidow who scheduled his preliminary hearing for Jan. 2, The defendant was ordered held in lieu of $10,000 bail.

No charges have been filed against him in the robbery-slaying.

Langston was returned last weekend from Arkansas by Pomona police officers who went there to pick him up after his arrest on the robbery warrant by Arkansas authorities. The suspect waived extradition.

The holdup he is accused of involves a service station robbery, not the robbery of the Plaza Liquors, 1785 N. Garey Ave., where owner Merle M. Paup, 63, and clerk Herbert Yount, 62, were shot to death.

A second suspect in the slayings, Curtis Lee Williams, 29, is awaiting arraignment in Pomona Superior Court. He is ill in the jail ward of County-USC Medical Center. His statements to police reportedly linked Langston to the Plaza Liquors incident. Police still seek a third man in connection with the killings.

Driver arrested after crash

POMONA — A woman motorist was arrested early this morning after her car hit a parked car and then a house at 643 N. East End Ave.

The motorist, Inez B. Daab, 39, of 707 N. East End Ave., was treated for minor injuries at Pomona Valley Community Hospital and booked on a drunken driving charge.

Police reported she was northbound on East End Avenue shortly after 2 a.m. when her car hit the parked car, jumped the curb and hit the house, breaking a hole in the wall. Both the house and car belong to Harold E. Wells.

Man hit on head and robbed

ONTARIO — A Los Angeles man told Ontario police that he was hit on the back of the head and robbed of a small amount of cash while he was walking in the alley by the Orange Hotel at Firestone Avenue and Lemon Street Tuesday evening.

Joseph Karo, 27, of Los Angeles staggered out of the alley about 5:30 p.m. and called police to report the robbery. Karo was taken to San Antonio Community Hospital with a head injury, and was later released.

Karo said he saw no one in the alley before he was struck on the back of the head. The victim told police that the robbers took the money from his wallet.

Man with revolver robs mart

ONTARIO — A man wearing a wide-brimmed black hat with a gold band and armed with a revolver robbed a cashier of a small amount of cash and checks at Jesse's Market, 606 E. Francis St. Tuesday night, police reported.

Police said that the robber walked into the store, said "Hi" to the cashier, Cayetano R. Bustamonte, and displayed a snub-nosed revolver.

The robber ordered Bustamonte to empty the money from the cash register into a paper bag.

Bustamonte told police that the robber also demanded the checks from the register. The robber escaped on foot.

The robber was described as a Negro, 5 feet 11, 170 pounds, wearing a red shirt and a black leather jacket.

Derailment injures worker

INDUSTRY — A railroad worker was injured in the deliberate derailment of a Southern Pacific work train here late Tuesday night.

John T. Owen, 29, of 1020 St. Malo Ave., West Covina, sprained his back when he jumped from the boxcar which was derailed. Owen was treated at Queen of the Valley Hospital in West Covina.

Sheriff's deputies reported that the four-car work train struck a piece of angle-iron which had been placed on the track. The incident occurred near 15630 E. Valley Blvd.

Fumigation job raises big stink

POMONA — Weary of being bugged, an apartment owner at 759 N. Caswell Ave. decided to take matters in his own hands Tuesday evening.

The result was his rescue by the Pomona Fire Department and he was cited for breaking the law.

Firemen said Robert Helm, owner of the apartment, was trying to fumigate the apartment by placing sulfur on the inside of several garbage can lids and igniting the sulfur. The lighted sulfur created a great deal of smoke which firemen cleared out of the apartment.

Mark Graves is the occupant of the apartment.

Helm was cited for violation of a municipal code which prohibits do-it-yourself fumigation projects such as his attempt.

New suspect is arrested in slaying

LA VERNE — A new suspect was arrested this morning in the slaying Nov. 11 here of Jon Balfour Soupcoff.

La Verne officers booked Ruben Sanchez, 20, 15214 Homeward Ave., La Puente, on suspicion of murder after taking him into custody this morning at his home.

Detective D. F. Griggs said Sanchez is suspected of being the one who stabbed Soupcoff following a party at the La Verne Inn, 1520 White Ave. Soupcoff, 508 Meadow Lane, Pomona, was stabbed four times when a fight broke out on the center divider near the inn.

Three hundred to 400 persons had attended a birthday party there that night. The fight was the result of words exchanged earlier during the party.

During the investigation, police booked six persons in connection with the slaying, but all were released. Griggs said today they expect to make no other arrests.

Armed youth robs motel

POMONA — A youth with an automatic pistol robbed the Chalet Lodge Motel, 2030 W. Holt Ave., Tuesday night.

Annie G. Kow, 14-year-old daughter of the motel owner, said the youth walked in, selected a greeting card from a rack and then pulled the gun as she rang up the sale. He reached over and looted the cash register before running.

The robber was described as a chubby negro about 17, 5 feet 7 weighing 140 pounds. He wore a black windbreaker and blue jeans.

Two youths arrested in knife holdup

POMONA — A pair of 13-year-old boys were arrested late Tuesday morning on charges of trying to rob three other boys at knife point near Freda and Las Vegas avenues.

Brian K. George, 14, one of the victims, said he had a knife put to his stomach, was hit by a rock and chased by the pair who demanded money from him and the others. All five are students at Palomares Junior High School.

The two suspects were booked on suspicion of assault with intent to commit robbery and assault with a deadly weapon. Police quoted them as claiming they weren't serious and were only "fooling around."

Chino's change of zoning dispute remains unresolved

By MAE TATE
P-B Staff Writer

CHINO — The City Council failed to resolve a zone change controversy Tuesday night after 3½ hours of debate and discussion with local residents.

The public hearing merely continued in greater detail the issues presented previously at Planning Commission and council meetings.

The controversy involves a zone change from light manufacturing (M-1) to multiple residential (R-2) for property on the south side of Chino Avenue between Monte Vista Avenue and Third Street.

The council tabled the matter Tuesday night, failing to affirm its action six months ago which amended the general plan to allow for R-2 zoning in this area.

At that time, the council acknowledged nearly two years change in order to improve and expand their homes and adopted the general plan change as an expression of faith. However, although reminded of that action Tuesday, the council balked under protest from an owner of manufacturing property.

The council deleted this area from an ordinance which involves 15 other zone changes after the four members present split on any action to be taken.

Mayor Bob McLeod and Councilman Ed Lynch moved from the matter to be sent back to the Planning Commission with instructions to correct the general plan to conform with land uses. Councilmen Leonard Frketich and Angel Martinez opposed the motion and then moved for approval of the Planning Commission recommendation for the zone change. McLeod and Lynch voted no to this.

City Atty. Bill McVittie told councilmen that the parcel had to be deleted at the end of the 16 zone change hearings in order for the total ordinance to pass.

Bruce Lance, an Ontario attorney representing Pete DiSandro, owner of industrial property in the affected area, spoke against the change to R-2. He pointed out that M-1 zoning was consistent with the existing zone around the area, would cause no substantial loss to landowners and residential citizens could continue to live as they had in the past.

Martin Selgado spoke on behalf of those favoring R-2.

Selgado stated that residents became concerned when DiSandro purchased property in the neighborhood that gave him access to F Street and created a situation to allow heavy traffic to concentrate in the area. Citizens expressed worry about the danger for children of increased industrial traffic and the further deterioriation of the streets. The R-2 zoning would give some control over these concerns, Selgado said.

Two petitions were presented for each side, both having signatures in some instance of the same person. A parade of residents came before the council, protesting both R-2 and M-1 zoning.

Gale Carr, director of building, planning and community development, explained that if the area is to remain M-1 a general plan amendment would be in order because of the previous action by council six months ago. With M-1, residents would be allowed to maintain their houses, but they would not be able to expand or improve, he explained.

Likewise with R-2 zoning, industrial use could continue, but could not expand. He added that DiSandro could expand his industrial use by constructing an office building during the interim period of 45 days before a R-2 zone would go into effect.

"These people in this area have a right to R-2," said Frketich. "As far as when they can sell, economics gives them that right, not the City Council."

"DON'T DISBAR ME" — Spiro Agnew leaves Anne Arundel Circuit Court in Annapolis, Md., Tuesday where he pleaded with a three-judge panel not to disbar him. The former vice president asked for suspension.

Agnew pleads with court not to strip his livelihood

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (UPI) — Former Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, his voice barely audible, pleaded with a three-judge state court Tuesday "not to strip me of my means of livelihood" by forbidding him to practice law in Maryland.

Instead, Agnew, in a 12-minute presentation, suggested that he be suspended temporarily.

"I can resume a useful place in the practice of law after my suspension," Agnew said in a low voice. "The practice of law means quite a lot to me. I want to return at some later date to bring credit to my practice and to the courts."

Agnew, who was governor of Maryland before President Nixon tapped him as his running mate in 1968, was dressed immaculately in a gray suit, light blue shirt and dark tie. Agnew resigned in disgrace as vice president Oct. 10 minutes before he was fined $10,000 on a charge of tax evasion. In a deal with the government to avoid a possible prison sentence, Agnew did not contest the charge. A number of other charges that he extorted thousands of dollars in kickbacks while he was a local official, governor and vice president were dropped.

Professional misconduct

The Maryland Bar Association's ruling board of governors unanimously recommended that Agnew be forbidden to practice law in the state, arguing that his no-contest plea was evidence of "professional misconduct, a crime involving moral turpitude or conduct prejudicial to the administration of justice."

"I had very good reasons to plead the way I did," Agnew told the judges at the crowded disbarment hearing in the 148-year-old Anne Arundel County couurthouse. But he said that "some of the reasons must remain held within me for the foreseeable future."

Agnew said he thought that suspension, rather than disbarment, would be "a reasonable solution to preserve the integrity of the court, the bar, and the legal profession."

Agnew, accompanied by five Secret Service agents, slipped on the ice and momentarily lost his balance as he entered the courthouse. He grabbed a policeman's arm and smiled. Immediately after the hearing he sped away in a chauffeured limousine.

Eddie Fenton, a Baltimore radio station political reporter who has known Agnew for many years, said the former vice president's hand trembled when he shook it at the close of the 2-½ hour hearing.

Agents stationed at doorways with a metal detector checked parcels and handbags carried by spectators, including curious housewives and a gallery full of midshipmen from the Naval Academy.

Sits straight

Agnew sat very straight in his chair during the hearing, occasionally turning to confer with attorney E. Dale Adkins. He showed no emotion as Alfred L. Scanlan, representing the bar association, argued for disbarment.

"A large segment of the public has become disenchanted and distrustful of lawyers in public office," Scanlan said. "The purpose of this disciplinary action is to protect the public."

Speaking on behalf of the former vice preesident, Adkins told the panel: "We ask no specific consideration for Mr. Agnew as a result of his former high position. We ask that the sole position of this proceeding is whether he should be permitted to practice law. His atonement has been decided by Judge Walter E. Hoffman." It was Hoffman who fined Agnew $10,000 and placed him on three years probation.

The three-judge panel took the arguments under advisement and promised a recommendation as soon as possible. The Maryland Court of Appeals is expected to make the final decision in the case about 90 days after it receives the panel's reports.

Prescription drug prices can be slashed, says Nader

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Ralph Nader says Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Casper Weinberger has it within his power to shave millions from what consumers and the government pay for prescription drugs.

Weinberger could issue a regulation prohibiting the HEW Department from paying above the lowest price for generic drugs when it makes purchases under federal health programs such as Medicare and Medicaid, Nader said.

When drugs are sold under their chemical, or generic, names they are usually cheaper than when the identical compounds are sold under brand names. The U.S. government spends $1.5 billion a year on prescription drugs. Consumers spend another $7.5 billion.

Weinberger will have an opportunity to reply to Nader today before the Senate health subcommittee.

Nader told the subcommittee Tuesday that if Weinberger would direct the government to buy drugs only by their generic names and if it educated doctors to prescribe by generic names, the savings could exceed $1 billion.

Series of hearings

He was the first witness at a series of hearings into drug industry practices chaired by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass. The hearings are expected to stretch into the summer and to be conducted in other cities.

Nader said they could equal in importance the hearings in the 1960s by the late Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., which led to many reforms and removed from the market drugs found to be ineffective.

Nader said the Food and Drug Administration has established that there is no significant difference in quality between generic and brand name prescription drugs.

"Surely this is reasonable ground for the immediate institution of regulations providing that HEW will pay no more than the lowest-priced generics under its programs," he said." After all, senators and congressmen — and indeed the President — receive generics when they enter Walter Reed or the Naval Hospital (in Bethesda, Md.)."

When the Defense Department bought the tranquilizer meprobamate from a Danish firm under its generic name, Nader said, it paid $1.68 per 500 tablets. When the Veterans Administration bought the same drug from a U.S. maker, he said, it paid $10 for the same quantity.

But when pharmacists buy the identical drug, the prevailing price is $31.20, he said, to which druggists add their customary markup of 66.7 per cent.

Higher ethics

Another witness, Henry J. Stern, deputy consumer commissioner of New York City, said the supermarket industry has higher ethics than drugs stores exhibit in their pricing policies.

He said studies in New York showed some supermarkets charging as much as 20 per cent more than others for identical products. Some drug stores were found to be charging five times as much for a prescription as others for the identical drug, he said.

If shoppers found a quart of milk selling for 39 cents in one store and $1.25 in another, he said, "people would be shocked, but that is the situation in the drug field."

Nader called for these reforms of the drug industry:

—Ending patents for new drugs. He would permit drug makers to be the exclusive marketers of new products for two years, after which they would be required to license their processes to other firms.

—Repealing state laws which prohibit pharmacists in most states from substituting a generic drug when a doctor has prescribed by brand name. He said drug makers lobbied such laws through the legislatures in the 1950s.

—Requiring drug stores to post prices for prescription drugs so consumers can shop around.

Oregon leads in removing billboards

SALEN, Ore. (UPI) — Oregon may be among the first states in the nation to rid itself of roadside billboards, part of the cleanup and beautification program that began with Lady Bird Johnson and the Congress a few years ago.

The state has let contracts to bring the billboards down at the rate of 25 per week and there were 2,400 billboards to be taken down in the program. Cost of removing the billboards was estimated at $6.5 million, with the federal government covering 75 per cent of those costs.

Energy crisis cuts estimate of traffic deaths

CHICAGO (UPI) — Because of the nation's energy crisis the National Safety Council has reduced its original estimate on the number of persons who will die from traffic accidents during the Christmas holiday by 50.

"Our adjusted Christmas fatality estimate of 550 to 650 traffic deaths represents a reduction of 50 fatalities from what the toll might have been if the gasoline shortage did not exist," said NSC President Vincent L. Tofany. "Our projection of 25,000 to 29,000 disabling injuries below our non-shortage estimate."

The four-day Christmas holiday starts at 6 p.m Friday, Dec. 21, and ends at midnight Tuesday, Dec. 25.

Tofany Sunday advised motorist to observe reduced speed limits and schedule trips to avoid running low on gasoline on Sundays.

"Under no circumstances," he said, "should drivers try to expand their cruising range by carrying extra cans of gasoline in their cars. This is a potentially lethal practice, since as little as 1.4 parts of gasoline per volume of air is an explosive mixture."

Not true, says automakers

Super-carburetor story going around

By EDWARD S. LECHTZIN
UPI Auto Writer

DETROIT (UPI) — You've probably heard the story about the guy who invented a superbarbureator and then had it bought up by one of the auto companies so the fantastic device would never get on the market. So have the automakers.

In one form or another, that story has been making the rounds for years. What with the state of the energy situation, it's getting even wider circulation.

The story usually goes something like this:

You heard from a friend who has a friend who knew a guy that somehow got a new car that was giving him 50 miles to a gallon of gasoline—or maybe 75 or 100 miles. It seems an experimental carburetor was accidentally put on the car.

When he took it back to his dealer, he was given an offer he couldn't refuse and another "supercarb" comes off the market.

"It used to be the oil companies that got blamed for trying to hide these miracle devices," said a Ford Motor Co. spokesman. "Now it's us."

An East Coast radio personality recently wrote to Ford and cited "three sources" as saying a special carburetor has been developed that allows gas mileage as high as 35 to 40 miles per gallon.

"One source said he got the demo by mistake and Ford refused to allow him to keep the auto," he said in the letter. "I understand it took litigation on your part to regain this vehicle."

Richard Place, emissions and power train product planning manager at Ford—better known as the company's economy expert—says he usually answers the letters by saying that rather than suppressing such a device, Ford would be fighting to be the first on the market.

"If we were aware of anything that gives us 20 per cent more in fuel economy—an advantage our competitors didn't have—we'd break down the Great Wall of China to get it on the market," says Place. "Any car with that kind of advantage would sell."

Cooler temperatures may cut off poundage

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Turning the thermostat down to 60 degrees won't give you a cold, flu or pneumonia, and it might be help you lose a few pounds, the government says.

Health, Education and Welfare Caspar W. Weinberger said Monday: "Our medical specialists report that a reduction in room temperatures from 72 to even down to 60 degrees would have no effect on the likelihood of an individual contracting a common cold, influenza or pneumonia, and by the same token, a reduction to 68 (the officially recommended level) would certainly have no ill effects."

According to an HEW study, cooler living may be more healthy because most bacteria and viruses thrive better at higher temperatures.

"For some individuals, particularly the affluent, overweight person, reduced temperatures may assist in weight reduction since more calories will be used to maintain body heat and there probably will be more physical activity," the study said.

In general, the study said, temperatures should be reduced gradually to aid the adjustment, people should dress warmly, and room humidity should be maintained at as high a level as possible.

The study said no special precautions need be taken for infants, preschoolers or pregnant women, and elderly persons should be able to adjust —although some may take a month or longer to be comfortable with a 10-degree reduction.

'Saturday Night Specials' chief weapon of muggers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The "Saturday Night Special," a cheap, easily concealed handgun usually .32 caliber or less, has become the chief weapon of muggers, according to Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms Bureau (ATF) director Rex D. Davis.

Davis said Monday a new study showed 70 per cent of 4,537 handguns used in street crimes in four selected cities were "Specials" and the bears out law enforcement officials suspicion the guns are muggers primary weapons.

The ATF traced every weapon seized in street crimes in New York, Detroit, Atlanta and New Orleans to the original dealer—more often than not located in a distant state. Davis said that in the next phase of the project the ATF will try to dry up the sources by prosecuting illegal sellers and persons who purchase guns under false pretenses.

"Statistics from this ATF generic study show concretely for the first time that a majority of guns used in crimes in these cities are Saturday night specials," Davis said. He said the percentages were nearly the same for each city. "It is likely that this pattern will be found to be nationwide."

Davis said the ATF, a Treasury Department agency responsible for enforcing federal gun laws, believes the study will provide information helpful to congressional efforts to tighten present gun laws.

Erma Bombeck

New York magazine came out recently with an article by Elin Schoen and Aaron Cohen entitled, "100 Ways To Stay Warm."

Only three of the 100 suggestions made any sense to me at all. One advised, "Gain ten pounds for better insulation." The other urged, "Eat chocolate sandwiches which Swiss skiers swear by to keep them warm on the slopes" and the third was "Get into isometric exercises."

Normally, exercise is a word I do not use in front of the children, but isometrics are different. You don't have to climb into --a little jump suit, straddle kitchen chairs, or wind your legs around your ears like a yo-yo. You just pit one muscle against the other.

The first exercise was relatively simple. I stood in the center of the kitchen with my legs slightly apart, weight on the balls of my feet and held my hands, as if in prayer, at breast level. Then I breathed deeply in and out as hard as I could.

My husband watched for a full ten minutes before he spoke. "You're trying to tell me one of the kids flushed a Dixie cup down the john again."

I continued to push my hands together in prayer and breathe deeply in and out.

"You've just been to the obstetrician and the 46-year-old rabbit died!" he continued.

I shook my head vigorously, "Don't interrupt. I'm circulating my blood."

"What happens when it is circulated?"

"You keep warmer," I explained.

"You're kidding," he said.

"No, no, here's another way the article said to keep from getting cold." I sat down at the kitchen desk and in spread-eagle fashion pressed one leg against one side of the kneehole desk and the other leg against the opposite side. "You feel a little like Carol Burnett at first," I giggled, "but you get used to it."

My husband walked over to the picture window and drew the curtains. "You may get used to it, but the milkman won't. I just saw him fall to his knees and promise God he'd never touch another drop if He'd make the hallucinations go away."

I stood up, smoothed my skirt and took a bite out of a chocolate sandwich. "That's the trouble with some people They want an end to the energy crisis, but they're not willing to sacrifice!"

San DIMAS — The recreation department has planned an action packed program to keep youngsters busy during the Christmas vacation.

Five supervised playgrounds will be open from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. beginning Thursday. The playgrounds will be closed Saturdays, Sundays and on Christmas Day. The program will conclude Dec. 31.

Activities are scheduled at Ekstrand School, San Dimas Elementary School, Gladstone School, Lone Hill School and at Via Verde at 1370 Camino Del Sur.

The program will feature sports, tournaments, crafts, games, parties, bike hikes, cook-outs, and drama. In addition to the individual playground programs, five other city-wide events will be planned during the holidays.

These include a trip to Santa's Village, a bike rallye, a movie day and a visit by Santa to the playgrounds and a teens-only excursion to Disneyland.

The trip to Santa's Village will be held Dec. 21 youngsters 3 to 13 will pay a $3 fee and those 14 and older will pay $4. All children under 7 must be accompanied by an adult. The bus will leave city hall at 9 a.m. and return at 5 p.m. Advance registration is required.

Santa will visit the playgrounds in his sleigh on Dec. 24 to talk to youngsters and to give away Christmas treats. He is expected to visit San Dimas Elementary at 11 and Via Verde at 11:30 a.m. and Lone Hill School at 12:15, Gladstone School at 1 and Ekstrand School at 2 p.m.

A bike rallye will be held Dec. 26 at 10 a.m. at city hall.

Movie day Dec. 27 at 1 p.m. in the Stanley Plummer Community Building will feature the Three Stooges in a full length film.

A teens-only excursion to Disneyland is planned for Dec. 28. The bus will leave city hall at 11 a.m. and return at 11 p.m.

Specific information about the recreation program may be obtained at city hall at 599-6713.

Claremont schools study ways to conserve energy

CLAREMONT — Energy use, payment for board members and year-round school were discussed at the Claremont school board meeting Monday night.

A representative from the Southern California Edison Co. said it was "unpredictable" whether lengthening the Christmas vacation and then extending school in June would result in a savings of electricity.

This had been one method of conservation the board had considered.

Board members, allowed to pay themselves for attending board meetings under Assembly Bill 1489, discussed this possibility and directed Supt. Richard Kirkendall to return at a latter meeting with a recommendation on which board members could make a decision.

A status report was presented on the year-round program at Oakmont Elementary School. It is anticipated that administrators, at a later meeting, will recommend to the board that it be continued next year.

Several options open in gas rationing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — If President Nixon decides this month to ration gasoline one result is certain—his rationing system will not satisfy everyone.

In simple terms, Nixon and his newly appointed energy chief, William E. Simon, have several basic options. They can:

—Let the price of gasoline rise, perhaps as high as 75 to 90 cents a gallon on the assumption that the high price will cut consumption.

—Place a stiff federal tax on gasoline, again in hopes the tax will keep consumption down.

—Institute a system of "coupon rationing" similar to that used inWorld War II.

—Use a combination of these systems.

Energy officials are predicting that Nixon will pick the combination formula.

One front-running proposal is to create a so-called "white market" to prevent a World War II style black market.

The white market idea has many variations. Basically, consumers would be provided with gasoline rationing stamps which they could either use or sell. A consumer who needed more than his normal gasoline allotment could buy stamps from other consumers who needed less.

In another possible version, the price of gasoline could be raised by a 50 cent tax, bringing the total price per gallon up to about $1. The government would also issue each driver six specal gasoline stamps with a value of 50 cents each.

With a rationing system based on six gallons a week, a driver would use the stamps to pay the 50-cent tax. If he needed more than six have to pay the additional 50 gallons a week, he would cent tax per gallon out of his own pocket. But if a coupon holder didn't want any gasoline, he would be able to redeem the stamps for the original price.

Officals also are considering a plan which has worked in Israel, using different colored stickers. Under this plan, a driver must decide on which day of the week he would prefer not to drive his car. Each day is color coded and a sticker is placed on the car to indicate to police the day it should be kept idle.

Burlap wrap saves roots

NEW YORK (UPI) — If you are buying a live tree for Christmas make sure it is balled in burlap and not too big to handle.

Move the tree indoors gradually. First to the garage or a sheltered area outside, then to the basement and finally to the room where it will be displayed, a room that usually is warmer.

More school lunches at reduced price

WASHINGTON (UPI) — More children will be eligible to buy school lunches at reduced prices under new Agriculture Department guidelines.

States previously could serve lower priced luncheons to students whose family income level was 50 per cent higher than the annual income level set by the federal government as the minimum with which a family can sustain itself without serious deprivation.

Department spokesmen said Thursday that under child nutrition legislation signed Nov. 7 by President Nixon, states will be authorized to serve lower priced meals to children whose family income is 75 per cent higher than the federal poverty-level minimum income.

That minimum now is $4,250 annual income for a family of four.

The new guidelines will permit schools to serve reduced priced luncheons to children from four-member families having an income of $7,440. Under the 50 per cent provision, the cutoff figure was $6,380.

Use of the new 75 per cent guideline by schools is optional, so there is no estimate on how many children might benefit from it.

PUBLIC NOTICE

NOTICE INVITING SEALED BIDS

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the City Council of La Verne will receive bids for the following two projects:

1 — IMPROVEMENT OF FOOTHILL BLVD. FROM MORENO AVE. TO EMERALD AVE. Description of Work: The removal of existing AC pavement, removal of dirt, constructing P.C.C. headers and construction of cobble paving, installation and maintenance of landscaping in existing median islands in Foothill Blvd. from Moreno Ave. to Emerald Ave., a State Highway.

Completion of Work: All work must be completed within 30 calendar days after the date of execution of the contract by the City.

The successful bidder will be required to furnish a Labor and Materials Bond and a Faithful Performance Bond in amounts equal to 100% of the Contractor's price, said bonds to be secured by a surety company satisfactory to the City Council of the City of La Verne; and adequate proof of workmen's compensation insurance, and $500,000-$500,000 public liability insurance and $500,000 property damage insurance.

2 — The construction of the Palomares Avenue grade crossing over the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway spur line between Arrow Highway and Third Street, Westerly of Wheeler Avenue.

The successful bidder will be required to furnish a Labor and Materials Bond and a Faithful Performance Bond in amounts equal to 100% of the Contractor's price, said bonds to be secured by a surety company satisfactory to the City Council of the City of La Verne; and adequate proof of workmen's compensation insurance, and $500,000-$1,000,000 public liability insurance and $500,000 property damage insurance.

Opening of Proposals: The proposals for both projects will be publicly opened and read at 11:00 A.M. on Wednesday, Dec. 26, 1973, in the Council Chambers of the La Verne City Hall, 2061 Third Street, La Verne, California, 91750.

Obtaining Contract Documents: Contract documents, plans, and specifications are available in the office of the City Clerk. A $5.00 deposit will be required for each set of contract documents, said deposit to be refunded on the return of the contract documents in good condition within five (5) days after award of contract.

Proposal Guarantee: Each proposal shall be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check or bidder's bond in the amount of 10 percent (10%) of the total bid price payable to the City of La Verne as a guarantee that the bidder, if his proposal is accepted, will enter into a contract within 15 days after being requested to do so by the Council of the City of La Verne.

Insurance Certificate: The Contractor shall file with the City, prior to execution of the Contract, a certificate issued by the insurance carrier certifying that the stipulated insurance policies are in effect, and that ten days written notice will be given the City prior to cancellation thereof.

Wage Rates: Not less than the general prevailing rate of per diem wages so adopted by the Council of the City of La Verne by its Resolution No. 73-36 (a copy of which the Contractor, if awarded the contract, must post at the job site) shall be paid any workman needed to execute the agreement, including workmen employed by the Contractor or any Sub-Contractor. Changes, if any, to such general prevailing rate of per diem wages since the adoption of said resolution are indicated in the proposal forms.

Each bid shall be in accordance with the Contract Documents now on file in the office of the City Clerk of the City of La Verne and each envelope shall be marked with the project name. Detailed information may be obtained from the Department Head involved with each project.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ZONING CASE NO. 6026-(1)

PROPOSED CHANGE OF OFFICIAL ZONING PLAN OF THE SAN JOSE ZONED DISTRICT NO. 21, AMENDING SECTION 332 OF ZONING ORDINANCE NO. 1494, COUNTY OF LOS ANGELES, STATE OF CALIFORNIA.

Notice is hereby given that a public hearing will be held by the Board of Supervisors on the matter of proposed changes of zone. Said hearing will be held on January 10, 1974 at 9:30 a.m. in the Hearing Room of the Board of Supervisors, Room 381, Hall of Administration, 500 West Temple Street (corner of Temple Street and Grand Avenue), Los Angeles, California 90012, at which time proponents and opponents of the proposed changes will be heard before the Board of Supervisors. The affected properties are within the area bounded as follows:

On the east by the Orange Freeway; on the south by Brea Canyon Cut-off Road; on the west by a line parallel to the adjacent A-1-1, R-1-8,500 and A1-20,000 zoning and on the north by a line perpendicular to and running between the A-1-26,000 zoning and the Orange Freeway.

The Regional Planning Commission, County of Los Angeles, has adopted a resolution recommending:

1. Change of zone to RPD-8,000-6.5U (Residential Planned Development—8,000 square foot required area — 6.5 units per acre) and CPD (Commercial Planned Development) for the expanded areas as shown on Study "A" dated December 5, 1973 on file with this case in the office of the Regional Planning Commission;
2. That the Board of Supervisors find the recommended change of zone is consistent with the Los Angeles County General Plan;
3. That the Board of Supervisors approve the Environmental Impact Report and certify its completion, and determine that the project will not have a significant effect on the environment;
4. That the Board of Supervisors repeal that portion of Section 34 of Ordinance No. 10,710 which established Urgency Zoning of R-1-25,000 and R-1-7,500 on portions of the subject property;
5. That the Board of Supervisors hold a public hearing to consider the above-recommended change of zone.

By order of the Board of Supervisors, County of Los Angeles, State of California, adopted December 11, 1973

Junk car program moves ahead

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A state program to rid the countryside of junked cars is "moving along without problems" with 50 per cent of California's counties joining 147 cities in the cleanup effort, it was reported today.

Lt. Bob Mitchell, coordinator of the highway patrol's abandoned vehicle abatement program, said that 38 cities said they did not wish to join the state effort, but in most cases they had their own abatement program.

"Overall we are moving along with no problems and full cooperation," Mitchell said in an interview.

The abatement program went into effect last July 1. the aim of the effort is to rid the state of some 240,000 derelict vehicles and the 80,000 added each year.

Mitchell said in January the program will begin removing 120,000 abandoned vehicles from public and private land each year. He said in five years the 240,000 vehicles will be scraped plus the additional ones added each year.

Mitchell said among the 38 cities not wishing to join in the effort were San Jose, Berkeley, San Bernardino and "we are still negotiating with Los Angeles."

The project is being financed by a $14 million fund created by a one-time addition of $1 to the 1973 automobile registration fee.

So far, nearly 30,000 of the derelicts have been contracted under the program with county officials and another 28,000 through cities.

If local governments do not wish to contract with the patrol, the state agency will contract with private operators to remove the junked cars and scrap them.

With the program nearing its first six months of existence, Mitchell said 29 counties will join the state program for removal of the vehicles starting Jan. 1, with the remaining 29 handling their own abatement.

Mitchell said 147 cties have entered into the program and an additional 190 have indicated they want to join.

Mitchell urged citizens to call the highway patrol and report any cases of abandoned vehicles. He said cars can be removed after 10 days of receiving such a report.

Those cities joining the program, according to Mitchell, range from Sacramento to San Diego.

Body-detecting device used in MIA search

YUBA CITY (UPI) — A body-detecting device, developed as a result of the Juan Corona mass murder case, is being tested by the U.S. Army in Soutseast Asia in the search for bodies of missing American servicemen.

Army Disposition Program Director William Annetti Monday also reported in a telephone interview from Washington, D.C., that a staff sergeant recently received three weeks training in the instrument's use at a Yuba City firm which developed the device.

Annetti said S. Sgt. Ronnie L. Watson of Ft. Pierce, Fla., underwent training at the Andermac Inc. firm here to learn how to use the device which detects body gases given off by decaying animal tissue through the use of probes pushed into the ground.

It was first developed in June 1971 during a search for bodies in the Corona case. Corona was convicted of hacking to death 25 farm workers and burying their bodies in orchards along the Feather River. The device did not locate any bodies in the case.

MAY COMPANY PRESIDENT HOSTS LUNCHEON FOR MAY DEPARTMENT STORES COMPANY BOARD OF DIRECTORS

Mr. George Foos, President and Chief Executive Officer of May Company California, hosted a luncheon recently in the Founders Room of the Dorothy Chandler Pavilion, Los Angeles Music Center. The luncheon, in honor of the Board of Directors of the May Department Stores Company, followed the Board's quarterly meeting, held in May Co's Downtown store.

Luncheon guests were leading representatives from the business, industrial, and government communities in Southern California, including Mayor Thomas Bradley; Mr. Alfred Bloomingdale; Mr. Armand Hammer, Chairman of Occidental Petroleum Corp.; Mr. Philip Hawley, President of Broadway-Hale Stores, Inc.; Mr. William Arnold, President of Robinson's Department Stores; Councilman Billy Mills; Judge Charles Older, Superior Court of Los Angeles; Dr. Norman Topping, Chancellor of the University of Southern California; Mr. Dennis Stanfill, Chairman of the Board of 20th Century Fox; Assemblyman Julian C. Dixon and Assemblyman Bill Greene; and Mr. Stanton G. Hale, Chairman of Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company.

Mr. Stanley J. Goodman, Chairman of the Board of the May Department Stores Company, spoke to the group about the Company's strong belief in the ever-increasing potential of Southern California; within fifty years May Company California has grown from one to twenty-one stores, and by 1980 will number over thirty stores in order to serve a projected population of thirteen million.

The May Department Stores Company, founded in 1877 by Mr. David May, is one of the largest retailers in the United States, operating 134 department and discount stores in cities coast to coast. The Company has divisions in nine states and the District of Columbia, with Corporate headquarters in St. Louis. May Company California is the largest division in the corporation, totaling 21 stores in the Southern portion of the state.

HHH among officials who got deductions for papers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey got a tax deduction after donating his papers, and a large number of other prominent and middle-echelon officials did the same and presumably claimed tax relief, according to the Scripps - Howard News Service.

Scripps-Howard staff writer Dan Thomasson, who surveyed General Services Adminstration (GSA) records for the last 10 years, said Humphrey's office confirmed his gift and that a tax deduction had been claimed.

"He is now preparing the figures and a statement," a Humphrey spokesman said.

Humphrey, now Democratic senator from Minnesota, was vice president from 1965 to 1969 and donated his personal papers from those years to the Minnesota State Historical Society.

Checking Nixons gift

The Congressional Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation is currently checking, at President Nixon's request, the propriety of Nixon's gift of his vice presidential papers and the $576,000 in tax deductions he got for doing so.

Scripps-Howard said it obtained a GSA list of present and former public officials who gave their personal papers to the government in the last decade for inclusion in one or more of the seven presidential libraries supervised by the GSA and the National Archives.

"While there was no indication that tax deductions were claimed under the tax provision which Congress abolished effectively July 25, 1969," Scripps - Howard said, "those making the donations had the opportunity to do so and presumably did."

GSA records made available to Scripps-Howard showed that the late President Lyndon B. Johnson donated his presidential and vice presidential papers in 1965, presumably claiming a tax deduction in 1965. He also donated personal papers to the government in 1966, 1967 and 1968, all eligible for use as tax deductions.

Gift by Ike

A gift of President Dwight D. Eisenhower's papers was made June 27, 1969—less than a month before the new regulation abolished tax deductions on such a transactions. His widow, Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower, donated papers to the government in 1966.

"GSA records," Scripps-Howard said, "show that a surprisingly large number of prominent and even middle-echelon officials in the last five administrations donated their papers on which they could have claimed tax deductions from 1963 through the first six months of 1969 when the law was changed."

In addition to cabinet members and presidential advisers, the list included officals who served in relatively minor jobs ranging from an associate director of the Bureau of Land Management to a director of the Federal Housing Administration.

It also included three newspapermen and authors who made donations of their papers in 1965, 1966 and 1968.

Others named

Among those named in the GSA list were: Stephen T. Early, press secretary to President Franklin D. Roosevelt; Rexford G. Tugwell, an undersecretary of agriculture and adviser to Roosevelt; Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, former military aide to President Harry S Truman, and the late Supreme Court Justice Sherman Minton.

Also—under the Eisenhower Administration — Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy, Attorney General William P. Rogers, Economic Adviser Arthur F. Burns, and Assistant Defense Secretary Chales G. Finucane.

From the Kennedy Administration the GSA listed such figures as presidential advisers Arthur M. Schlesinger Jr. and Theodore C. Sorensen; John Kenneth Gailbraith, ambassador to India and a leading economist; Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler; Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman and science adviser Jerome B. Weisner.

The three newspapermen said to have made gifts of their papers in 1965, 1966 and 1968 and to have been entitled to tax deductions, were:

—Theodore H. White, author of "The Making of the President" series;

—Clark Mollehoff of the Des Moines Register and a former adviser to Nixon;

— Walter Trohan, former Washington Bureau Chief of the Chicago Tribune.

Scripps-Howard said "one of the champion givers of personal papers appears to be James E. Webb, budget director under Truman and later head of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration." He gave papers in 1963, 1964, 1965, 1966 and 1968 with the last donation April 1, 1969 just before the law was changed abolishing tax deductions for such gifts.

UC establishing council to solve energy crisis

BERKELEY (UPI) — The University of California is establishing a Council on energy & resources to propose solutions to ease the energy crisis, according to the university.

Members of the council will be appointed within the next several weeks by UC President Charles J. Hitch.

In addition, the university said Monday, an advisory group to the council will be formed which will include ex officio public members and other citizens selected for their knowledge and concern for energy and resources.

Cal administrators said they were also implementing measures to cut energy useage on campus, including reducing lighting, lowering thermostats to 68 degrees, turning off ventilator fans in unoccupied buildings and discontinuing hot water in most rest room facilities.

10 drafts written and no council consensus

City hiring policy proves elusive

POMONA — More than two years after the state Fair Employment Practice Commission (FEPC) issued a report critical of the city's hiring practices, city hall has been unable to come up with an acceptable program on equal employment opportunities.

Members of the present City Council, organized last April, agree on the principle of equal opportunity but disagree on how this should be worded in a written policy statement to comply with federal and state requirements.

The FEPC authorized an investigation into the city's hiring practices Sept. 10, 1970, at the request of the Pomona Valley Chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), and made its findings known in a report dated September 1971.

Eleven major recommendations for improving city employment opportunities among minority ethnic groups were included in the report. Some of the recommendations subsequently were implemented by the city.

But since issuance of the report, the city has come under increased pressure not only from the state but also from the federal government, for an acceptable employment program on opportunities not only for ethnic minorities but women as well.

The Merit System Commission, the council's advisory body on personnel and employment matters, working in conjunction with community groups, the FEPC, department heads and others, developed a proposal for an Affirmative Action Employment Policy and Program.

Simply put, the carefully written proposal lists the steps and principles believed necessary to insure that employment and promotional opportunities for minorities and women are brought to fair level.

Final recommendations of the commission are included in a 10th draft of the proposal submitted to the council Monday for approval.

Following much discussion, the council was unable to reach an agreement and unanimously voted to hold the matter over at least until Jan. 14.

Major differences of opinion were voiced by Councilman Ben Ochoa Sr., who described the latest version as "watered down" and Councilman Charles W. Bader, who said the proposal went too far.

Ochoa referred to the more than $7 million in funds from the federal and state governments the city stands to gain in the next two years by saying:

"We stand to lose this if we don't have a good Affirmative Action Plan."

Bader repeated the position he took in 1971 that he desires to have the city as an employer judged on its actions rather than words.

He objected to a chart on goals and a timetable attached to the proposal. On a department-by-department basis, the chart lists the number of present employes and desirable increases among females, Negro and Latin-American employes as goals for 1974-75.

"It's so specific it is a quota and I don't support that," said Bader.

One of the FEPC recommendations was that "specific goals and timetables must be established to increase the utilization of minorities and correct identifiable deficiencies."

Mayor Ray J. Lepire said he had been told by a U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) official the federal government did not want a "quota" system.

Sidney Simms, personnel officer, defined a quota as a specific target the city had to meet or suffer penalties.

The goals and timetables, Simms continued, were put together based on the past turnover rate in each department and were things to shoot for that would not result in penalties if not met.

In some of the steps listed to insure against discrimination in employment, the words, "whenever possible" are used, and Ochoa obected to their inclusion.

He said he recalled the council had appropriated funds to validate all employment tests but Simms said this would cost close to $10,000 of which the council had appropriated $2,000 although about $2,400 already had been spent for this.

Ochoa said he believed that if the city did not come up with an acceptable program, the federal government would move in and do the job for the city.

Bader said he did not want to see the council act on the basis that if the city didn't do something, "someone will clobber us."

Share fuel ideas with P-B readers

The Progress-Bulletin would like to share fuel saving ideas from readers. They will be published daily as long as the reader supply holds out.

Here's the first one:

Set your air-conditioning two degrees warmer in the summer and your furnace two degrees cooler in winter. If every home and business in the nation followed this advice, enough energy would be saved per day to supply electric ty to 49,000 homes for a year.

Readers with energy tips should send them to the Progress-Bulletin, City Desk, 300 S. Thomas St., Pomona 91766.

Man is found guilty of rape in laundromat

POMONA — A young Montclair man has been convicted in Pomona Superior Court of rape and robbery in a laundromat here Aug. 1.

Harry Donaldson, 19, 4521 Bonnie Brae Ave., was ruled guilty of first-degree robbery, forcible rape and being armed with a pistol during the commission of both offenses.

The jury received the case Monday morning in the courtroom of Judge Glenn M. Pfau and returned with the verdict that afternoon. The case was prosecuted by Deputy Dist. Atty. William Roth.

The incident occurred at 10:30 a.m. in the laundromat at 140 W. Orange Grove Ave. The victim, a 45-year-old Pomona woman, said she was attacked while another woman was nearby, working. The second woman said she saw the incident taking place, but was too afraid to do anything but grab her purse and run.

After attacking the victim, the man looted the cash register and fled in a car.

Judge Pfau scheduled Donaldson's probation hearing and sentencing for Jan. 15.

Arson detail probing three fires at home

POMONA — The arson detail of the Pomona Fire Department is investigating three fires that were set Tuesday at 1157 N. Hamilton St.

The fires did $100 damage to a two-car garage, destroyed a 1973 model car valued at $3,000 and did $200 damage to another car parked at the rear of the house. The property and the cars are owned by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Soto.

The first fire started in the garage and burned the walls. While firemen were putting out the blaze, they discovered a 1969 model car parked at the rear of the property was also on fire. A short time later, another fire was discovered in a 1973 model car in front of the house. It was a total loss.

A flammable liquid was used to start each fire, authorities said. The liquid was apparently poured on the front of the hoods of both cars until it soaked through to the engine.

Firemen believe that the arsonsist may have remained in the area and could have set the fire in front of the house while firemen were fighting fires in the rear of the property. The fires were set before daylight Tuesday.

Youth finally receives part of yard-work pay

My 14-year-old son worked several days last summer cleaning the yard of a vacant house. He hasn't been able to collect his pay.

When my son or I call the man who hired him, we are told that he will call back but he never does. He knows our phone number and where we live.

Let me know if you can help my son get money he earned the honest way instead of the easy way.

Kids can get money stealing or other illegal ways. They get in trouble because they figure: "Why work, if we don't get paid?" —Mrs. A. R., Pomona.

The man who hired your son explained that he didn't own the house but represented the owner when he employed your son.

He paid your son $40 of the $45.50 you say was owed him out of his own pocket and will try to recover the sum from the owner.

You report the boy used the money to buy clothes.

This letter is being written at the request of a woman whose husband was killed while working on his job on Oct. 13. The woman is from Mexico and speaks very little English.

I was asked to look into the life insurance coverage that her husband had on his home. I phoned Lomas & Nettleton Co., who are the policy holders, in Los Angeles.

One of the company's agents informed me that United American Life Insurance Co. was no longer in business and that the policy had been switched to Bankers American Insurance Co.

I was told that Bankers American, in taking over United American, no longer included the "death benefit" after Oct. 1. The agent went on to say that all United American policy holders were notified of the change by letter.

I informed the agent that the widow does not recall receiving such a letter, that there was no new policy to sign and that no agent or representative was sent to their home to discuss the change of coverage.

Enclosed is a copy of the November computer payment card. Please note that the original premium with death benefit coverage was $4.16. On the computer card you will find that the present premium is $6.30. If I understand correctly what the agent said, the increased premium apparently represents less coverage.

Anything that Action Line could do to help resolve this problem would be appreciated. —K. E., Chino.

Norman R. Hall, executive vice president of Lomas & Nettleton Co., sent Action Line a copy of an undated letter which he said was mailed approximately Sept. 10 to all individuals who were carrying the insurace under-written by United American Life Insurance Co.

Accompanying the letter to homeowners, he said, was the policy of the American Bankers Life Assurance Co. of Florida.

The letter stated that the policy had been issued "at the same premium you are now paying monthly."

It continued with the statement that the policy "provides you with monthly disability income to make your monthly mortgage payments during periods that you may be unable to work as a result of sickness or accident for as long as five years (2½ years for those age 50 and over) after you have been disabled for more than 30 days."

The dropping of the death benefit was indicated only by omission in the letter to homeowners.

We wrote again, asking about the change in premium shown on the computer card. We were told that the premium was changed Jan. 1 to $5.50 per $100 monthly payment, which brought the premium up to $6.31.

Santa workshop begins giving toys

POMONA — Some 250 families will shop for Christmas toys at Santa's workshop here today and Thursday.

The toys are offered by the Santa Claus, Inc., at no cost to the recipients. They include bikes, trikes, baby buggies and puzzles. There are also doll cribs, wagons and games.

Shopping hours are 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 5 p.m. both days. The toy center is located at 163 Pomona Mall West.

Some 3,000 toy items are expected to be given during the two days, said Mrs. Ella Bockover, Santa's vice president.

Families will come from Pomona, San Dimas, La Verne and possibly Walnut. Their sizes range from three to eight children. These families have been referred by the Salvation Army and must have referral slips to get inside the toy center. Once inside, however, the parents will have counters of toys from which to select.

Shoppers will be assisted by members of Junior Women's clubs of Pomona and Diamond Bar.

The toy distribution will climax a year of preparation for Santa's volunteers. This group includes Mrs. Bockover and her two daughters, Eula Smith and Barbara Jefford.

Santa's program has also been aided by various service clubs and church groups.

Worden to be installed as new Royal Masons leader

POMONA — David W. Worden of Pomona will be installed high priest of Pomona Chapter 76, Royal Arch Masons, at a public installation dinner at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Masonic Temple.

He will head a slate of officers who will be sworn into office by Joseph L. Bellot state grand chaplain, and Oliver F. Fisher, past high priest of the local chapter.

Installed with Worden will be Dale R. Connor as king; Sal Giuliano as scribe; John B. Forbes as treasurer; Chris A. Celaya, secretary; John W. Ridley Jr., chaplain; Daniel Martinez, captain of the host; Richard G. Little, principal sojourner, Samuel G. Weaver, royal Arch captain; Clyde Brodell, William W. Hamel and John H. Rizley, masters of the veils; and R. Collins as sentinel.

Frederick B. Erbe, outgoing high priest, will give the welcoming address.

The chapter takes its name from the stone arch that completed King Solomon's Temple about 3,000 years ago. The keystone of that arch is frequently used as a symbol of the organization.

Most of the offices are named for the parts they play in the Royal Arch degree, which depicts the return of the Jews from captivity in Babylon to rebuild the temple after its destruction by King Nebuchadnezzar.

Kaiser asks delay in pollution control

FONTANA (UPI) — The Kaiser Steel Corp. Tuesday asked the county Air Pollution Control District for a variance that would allow it to continue to emit pollution from one of its coke ovens. The APCD will hear the firm's request Jan. 10 to give it until March 7 to successfully develop a new afterburner that would virtually eliminate smoke from the plant's stacks.

Kaiser already has spent $100,000 on the afterburner.

Redevelopment unit mulls 2 proposals

POMONA — The Community Redevelopment Commission, meeting at the Heritage House Coffee Shop Tuesday, further considered two tentative redevelopment proposals but took no action.

The proposals are from Caesar C. Cantu and Associates and the Spanish Speaking Management and Construction Corp. Cantu's proposal is for a complex that could include a trade center, some 400 stores, apartment housing and a park. The other proposal, estimated at $75 million, is for an International Village development.

HHH among officials who got deductions for papers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey got a tax deduction after donating his papers, and a large number of other prominent and middle-echelon officials did the same and presumably claimed tax relief, according to the Scripps - Howard News Service.

Scripps-Howard staff writer Dan Thomasson, who surveyed General Services Adminstration (GSA) records for the last 10 years, said Humphrey's office confirmed his gift and that a tax deduction had been claimed.

"He is now preparing the figures and a statement," a Humphrey spokesman said.

Humphrey, now Democratic senator from Minnesota, was vice president from 1965 to 1969 and donated his personal papers from those years to the Minnesota State Historical Society.

Checking Nixons gift

The Congressional Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation is currently checking, at President Nixon's request, the propriety of Nixon's gift of his vice presidential papers and the $576,000 in tax deductions he got for doing so.

Scripps-Howard said it obtained a GSA list of present and former public officials who gave their personal papers to the government in the last decade for inclusion in one or more of the seven presidential libraries supervised by the GSA and the National Archives.

"While there was no indication that tax deductions were claimed under the tax provision which Congress abolished effectively July 25, 1969," Scripps - Howard said, "those making the donations had the opportunity to do so and presumably did."

GSA records made available to Scripps-Howard showed that the late President Lyndon B. Johnson donated his presidential and vice presidential papers in 1965, presumably claiming a tax deduction in 1965. He also donated personal papers to the government in 1966, 1967 and 1968, all eligible for use as tax deductions.

Gift by Ike

A gift of President Dwight D. Eisenhower's papers was made June 27, 1969—less than a month before the new regulation abolished tax deductions on such a transactions. His widow, Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower, donated papers to the government in 1966.

"GSA records," Scripps-Howard said, "show that a surprisingly large number of prominent and even middle-echelon officials in the last five administrations donated their papers on which they could have claimed tax deductions from 1963 through the first six months of 1969 when the law was changed."

In addition to cabinet members and presidential advisers, the list included officals who served in relatively minor jobs ranging from an associate director of the Bureau of Land Management to a director of the Federal Housing Administration.

It also included three newspapermen and authors who made donations of their papers in 1965, 1966 and 1968.

Others named

Among those named in the GSA list were: Stephen T. Early, press secretary to President Franklin D. Roosevelt; Rexford G. Tugwell, an undersecretary of agriculture and adviser to Roosevelt; Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, former military aide to President Harry S Truman, and the late Supreme Court Justice Sherman Minton.

Also—under the Eisenhower Administration — Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy, Attorney General William P. Rogers, Economic Adviser Arthur F. Burns, and Assistant Defense Secretary Chales G. Finucane.

From the Kennedy Administration the GSA listed such figures as presidential advisers Arthur M. Schlesinger Jr. and Theodore C. Sorensen; John Kenneth Gailbraith, ambassador to India and a leading economist; Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler; Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman and science adviser Jerome B. Weisner.

The three newspapermen said to have made gifts of their papers in 1965, 1966 and 1968 and to have been entitled to tax deductions, were:

—Theodore H. White, author of "The Making of the President" series;

—Clark Mollehoff of the Des Moines Register and a former adviser to Nixon;

— Walter Trohan, former Washington Bureau Chief of the Chicago Tribune.

Scripps-Howard said "one of the champion givers of personal papers appears to be James E. Webb, budget director under Truman and later head of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration." He gave papers in 1963, 1964, 1965, 1966 and 1968 with the last donation April 1, 1969 just before the law was changed abolishing tax deductions for such gifts.

UC establishing council to solve energy crisis

BERKELEY (UPI) — The University of California is establishing a Council on energy & resources to propose solutions to ease the energy crisis, according to the university.

Members of the council will be appointed within the next several weeks by UC President Charles J. Hitch.

In addition, the university said Monday, an advisory group to the council will be formed which will include ex officio public members and other citizens selected for their knowledge and concern for energy and resources.

Cal administrators said they were also implementing measures to cut energy useage on campus, including reducing lighting, lowering thermostats to 68 degrees, turning off ventilator fans in unoccupied buildings and discontinuing hot water in most rest room facilities.

10 drafts written and no council consensus

City hiring policy proves elusive

POMONA — More than two years after the state Fair Employment Practice Commission (FEPC) issued a report critical of the city's hiring practices, city hall has been unable to come up with an acceptable program on equal employment opportunities.

Members of the present City Council, organized last April, agree on the principle of equal opportunity but disagree on how this should be worded in a written policy statement to comply with federal and state requirements.

The FEPC authorized an investigation into the city's hiring practices Sept. 10, 1970, at the request of the Pomona Valley Chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), and made its findings known in a report dated September 1971.

Eleven major recommendations for improving city employment opportunities among minority ethnic groups were included in the report. Some of the recommendations subsequently were implemented by the city.

But since issuance of the report, the city has come under increased pressure not only from the state but also from the federal government, for an acceptable employment program on opportunities not only for ethnic minorities but women as well.

The Merit System Commission, the council's advisory body on personnel and employment matters, working in conjunction with community groups, the FEPC, department heads and others, developed a proposal for an Affirmative Action Employment Policy and Program.

Simply put, the carefully written proposal lists the steps and principles believed necessary to insure that employment and promotional opportunities for minorities and women are brought to fair level.

Final recommendations of the commission are included in a 10th draft of the proposal submitted to the council Monday for approval.

Following much discussion, the council was unable to reach an agreement and unanimously voted to hold the matter over at least until Jan. 14.

Major differences of opinion were voiced by Councilman Ben Ochoa Sr., who described the latest version as "watered down" and Councilman Charles W. Bader, who said the proposal went too far.

Ochoa referred to the more than $7 million in funds from the federal and state governments the city stands to gain in the next two years by saying:

"We stand to lose this if we don't have a good Affirmative Action Plan."

Bader repeated the position he took in 1971 that he desires to have the city as an employer judged on its actions rather than words.

He objected to a chart on goals and a timetable attached to the proposal. On a department-by-department basis, the chart lists the number of present employes and desirable increases among females, Negro and Latin-American employes as goals for 1974-75.

"It's so specific it is a quota and I don't support that," said Bader.

One of the FEPC recommendations was that "specific goals and timetables must be established to increase the utilization of minorities and correct identifiable deficiencies."

Mayor Ray J. Lepire said he had been told by a U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) official the federal government did not want a "quota" system.

Sidney Simms, personnel officer, defined a quota as a specific target the city had to meet or suffer penalties.

The goals and timetables, Simms continued, were put together based on the past turnover rate in each department and were things to shoot for that would not result in penalties if not met.

In some of the steps listed to insure against discrimination in employment, the words, "whenever possible" are used, and Ochoa obected to their inclusion.

He said he recalled the council had appropriated funds to validate all employment tests but Simms said this would cost close to $10,000 of which the council had appropriated $2,000 although about $2,400 already had been spent for this.

Ochoa said he believed that if the city did not come up with an acceptable program, the federal government would move in and do the job for the city.

Bader said he did not want to see the council act on the basis that if the city didn't do something, "someone will clobber us."

Share fuel ideas with P-B readers

The Progress-Bulletin would like to share fuel saving ideas from readers. They will be published daily as long as the reader supply holds out.

Here's the first one:

Set your air-conditioning two degrees warmer in the summer and your furnace two degrees cooler in winter. If every home and business in the nation followed this advice, enough energy would be saved per day to supply electric ty to 49,000 homes for a year.

Readers with energy tips should send them to the Progress-Bulletin, City Desk, 300 S. Thomas St., Pomona 91766.

Man is found guilty of rape in laundromat

POMONA — A young Montclair man has been convicted in Pomona Superior Court of rape and robbery in a laundromat here Aug. 1.

Harry Donaldson, 19, 4521 Bonnie Brae Ave., was ruled guilty of first-degree robbery, forcible rape and being armed with a pistol during the commission of both offenses.

The jury received the case Monday morning in the courtroom of Judge Glenn M. Pfau and returned with the verdict that afternoon. The case was prosecuted by Deputy Dist. Atty. William Roth.

The incident occurred at 10:30 a.m. in the laundromat at 140 W. Orange Grove Ave. The victim, a 45-year-old Pomona woman, said she was attacked while another woman was nearby, working. The second woman said she saw the incident taking place, but was too afraid to do anything but grab her purse and run.

After attacking the victim, the man looted the cash register and fled in a car.

Judge Pfau scheduled Donaldson's probation hearing and sentencing for Jan. 15.

Opinion

Russia again shows caution

No matter how strongly they threaten, the men in the Kremlin have always — as of this writing — backed down when faced with a determined, resolute and reasonably strong adversary.

This seems to have been demonstrated again in the Soviet decision to back the U.S. proposal to the United Nations that any peacekeeping forces sent to the Middle East exclude troops from Russia, the United States and other great powers. Only a few hours before, Moscow had threatened to send its own armies to impose unilaterally its concept of a truce.

Back some years ago, the Russians withdrew their forces from northern Iran when President Truman insisted. So far as is known, the President had no practical way of enforcing his demands, but there was no doubt of his determination.

When Tito of Yugoslavia broke with the USSR, letting it be known his people would fight to the death in the hills if Soviet armies invaded, Moscow let him alone.

In the Cuban missile crisis, much of the world held its breath when President Kennedy ordered a blockade of the island to halt the Soviet shipment of missiles threatening this nation. But no Soviet ship defied, or even threatened to, that resolute U.S. action.

Though the North Koreans received a great deal of help from Moscow when their forces invaded the South, no Soviet armies moved in to help the North Koreans even after the United States and the United Nations entered the war and drove the invaders north. The Soviet Union made gestures; but it was the Chinese who entered the war.

Hungary, Czechoslovakia and East Germany were not exceptions to this Soviet caution. The forces opposed to the Russian armies were brave, but so small and scattered as to be no threat. And neither the United States nor West Europe took, or even threatened, anything resembling resolute action.

There is some worry, however, that the Soviet Union will no longer back away from confrontations when and if its strategic forces become noticeably more powerful than those of the United States. It is known that Secretary of State Henry Kissinger has been deeply concerned with that problem the past several years and that he has said that it was a different world altogether back at the time of the Cuban missile crisis, when our strategic muscle was as 10 times that of the Russians.

U.S. consumer has excess of energy

If a 100-pound man loses 25 per cent of his weight, he is likely to be in serious trouble.

But if a 200-pound man drops 25 per cent of his weight, not only is he not in trouble, he may even feel better and live longer.

As regards the energy crisis, and the resulting cutback in fuel, power and a large assortment of consumer products, the United States is that 200-pound man.

The profligate American consumer has long enjoyed an excess of energy. The question is not what happens if the American economy stumbles to a power-starved halt but what is the minimum amount of energy needed to fuel the fires of industry, transportation and people — with the dampers on?

The question is easily put, but not so easily answered. Since this nation has no semblance of a realistic energy policy, and no amount of catch-up baseball in Washington is likely to fashion one in the critical months ahead, the energy statistics which have been flying about lately are not necessarily accurate.

For example, President Nixon says our supply of petroleum will fall from 10 to 17 per cent short of our anticipated demands this winter. But Congresman Mike McCormack, chairman of the House Subcommittee on Energy, believes the shortage will probably amount to about twice as much. No one knows, for sure, who is right.

A writer in the current issue of New Times estimates that by February this country will be enmeshed in a deep recession. His grim forecast notes that factories will be closed down, work weeks will be reduced, the price of food will continue to rise, the stock market will continue to fall. And he adds:

"Some industries such as travel, packaging, food will have changed beyond recognition. Others such as petrochemicals, fertilizers, drugs, cosmetics and film, will be heavily regulated. Housing starts will be dropping 10 per cent a month, newsprint in short supply. There will be a total rationing of all kinds of fuel. Probably about 10 to 15 gallons a week for your car, 50 per cent to 70 per cent of what you burned for your house except in the Southwest."

"Crisis," under the circumstances, is an appropriate word.

Fiddle-playing while our Rome freezes is not an appropriate response, nor is raising the spectre of imminent catastrophe. As any portly person can tell you, enforced diets are no fun — but when the doctor says "get rid of the excess fat or suffer the consequences," the prudent portly person may miss his cheesecake but will nevertheless comply.

Who says we must have our dessert, anyway?

Petroleum firms siphon Navy oil

WASHINGTON — The Navy suspects that commercial oil companies may be siphoning oil from both its Teapot Dome field in Wyoming and the larger Elk Hills reserve in California.

A few weeks ago, Standard Oil of California opened up five new wells just north of the government's Elk Hills field. These wells are now producing between 10,000 and 30,000 barrels a day.

The Navy is concerned that the oil is actually being drained from Elk Hills. By the geological "law of capture," oil will run to a nearby well like water toward a drain.

The navy has been unable to prove that Socal is pumping military oil. But as evidence of its alarm, the Navy has rushed to create its own drain by sinking three new wells within the Elk Hills field. Two more wells are planned.

Doesn't want wells

The drilling cost the taxpayers an estimated $450,000 per well. This didn't bother Socal which, incredibly, is squeezing profits from both sides of the Elk Hills boundaries. For Socal has a contract to provide the Navy with its drilling equipment and crews.

The Navy would prefer to leave the oil in the ground. But because of Socal's new wells, the Navy is forced to use Socal men and equipment to drill wells it doesn't want.

In Wyoming, three oil companies have been busily drilling oil wells around the infamous Teapot Dome reserve. Representative John Moss, D-Calif., has charged that the Bureau of Land Management and the Geological Survey let the companies drill illegally.

Meanwhile, President Nixon has recommended that the Navy open its oil reserves for civilian use to help ease the energy crunch. This would mean unparalleled profits for the oil companies involved.

Billion-dollar profit

Socal, forexample, owns 20 per cent of the Elk Hills oil. Experts in the oil industry estimate that the company would reap more than $1 billion from the commercial opening of Elk Hills.

The Dutch-owned Shell Oil Company would also ring up windfall profits. For the Navy's 80 per cent share of Elk Hills oil must be sold to Shell under a 1970 contract signed by President Nixon. This is worth about $2.6 billion, according to a General Accounting Office estimate.

The decision whether to open the Elk Hills reserve, meanwhile, awaits congressional action.

NIXON AND MILLS: When President Nixon wanted someone to clear him of income tax irregularities, he personally chose an old friend, Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark.

This has caused some sour comment in the cloakrooms on Capitol Hill. If Congress is going to do the President's financial wash, members have complained, the investigation should have gone through the Senate-House leadership and should never have been assigned by the President to the committee of his choice.

Some congressmen suspect that the President deliberately selected Mills as the committee chairman most likely to whitewash the charges. Consider these facts:

— Mills' own political skirts are soiled. A Mills associate accepted a $15,000 cash contribution from Gulf Oil to help finance Mills' abortive 1972 presidential bid. The cash was transmitted in a sealed envelope from Gulf's Vice President Claude Wild to Mills' crony Carl Arnold who, as it happens, was a lobbyist for the American Petroleum Institute before opening his own lobbying office.

— Gulf pleaded guilty on November 13 to the criminal offense of skimming the contribution from corporate funds. Yet Mills declined to return the $15,000 until we began inquiring into the possibility of federal prosecution. It is a crime punishable by a $10,000 fine and two years in jail to accept a corporate contribution knowingly. Parenthetically, Mills' committee has granted the oil industry tax breaks, which permitted Gulf to get away with a shockingly low 1.2 per cent tax rate in 1972.

— Mills' joint committee whitewashed the Internal Revenue Service by claiming it didn't hound those on the White House "enemies list." A painstaking American Civil Liberties Union study showed just the opposite and a high IRS official has admitted secretly to the Senate Watergate Committee that favors were granted at White House request.

— When a White House task force was about to bring more oil into the United States in 1969 over the objections of most oil companies, Mills fired off a telegram to the task force chief warning against "tinkering with oil imports." The task force was overruled by President Nixon's personal oil advisers.

— When Mills let it be known he had a speaking engagement on the West Coast, Tenneco, the oil-and-gas behemoth, flew him across the country in a sumptuous private jet. Yet he could have made just as good time in any one of 12 daily scheduled commercial flights.

LETTERS FROM P-B READERS

As others see it . . . . . letters

Stop dividing nation

I feel like a very small, lonesome voice going against the networks, the news services, the Washington opinion makers, the New Left, etc. to support the president against this impeachment, but I think it's important.

They have campaigned relentlessly to get Nixon. And the crucial key to their strategy lies in the next few weeks when Congressmen are home. Will the only voices they hear be the organized left-wingers, college professors and students, etc., with plenty of time and a lynch mob hysteria behind them, or will you find a little time to phone, visit or write your Congressman to tell him to stop this impeachment drive and get back to doing the job that we elected him and Nixon to do of running the country not dividing it? It's public opinion now that will determine whether he is impeached or not!

It amazes me that Nixon could withstand over a year of furious accusations, circumstantial evidence, twisted and half truths and lies and come out as clean as he has. Millions have been spent and trillions of words have spewed forth, but not one scrap of solid evidence. Could Johnson have withstood such an attack? or Kennedy? or Truman? or Roosevelt? or any other president or Congressman, or you for that matter? Sure they've come close on his raising campaign funds exactly like every other major politician from our beginning. So let's run all of them out, not just one.

For a moment, pause and consider what Nixon has accomplished — more than any other president. His critics have accomplished a lot too. Decreasing value of the dollar overseas, panic on Wall Street, division of the nation to name a few. Also this group has ruined the Democratic party, possibly the Republican party now and maybe our entire political process. Is Nixon the guilty one, or are his single-minded accusers? Who is working for the country and who against?

Example: Nixon sent bills and spoke to Congress on the fuel crisis last winter and spring, but his accusers said, "Yes, but what about San Clemente?" He alerted our military in the latest Mid-East crisis and they said, "Smoke screen to divert us from Watergate." Now they are selling us to have a recession. Instead of asking when will the real guilty party be brought to justice, we buy their story — hook, line and sinker and say nothing.

Please speak to your Congressman against this impeachment foolishness and urge your friends and their friends to speak to him before he returns to Washington. Your voice does count! Our nation deserves better than to be run by this small mob of well placed, loud mouth critics. — Harold Cannon, Chapel Hill, N.C.

Corporate power

On Dec. 11 the Progress-Bulletin carried a lead editorial captioned "The Pure Myth of America, Inc.". The editorial quoted Prof. Neil H. Jacoby of U.C.L.A. as stating that America is not on the way to domination by a few giant corporations because "Corporate economic power is effectively constrained by market competition". As "proof" of this he notes that there are more than five million established business enterprises in the United States.

No analysis is made in the editorial as to how many of these enterprises are service enterprises. Certainly there are a large number of small independent service enterprises in the United States, but these do not exert control of the economy. Control is exerted by giant corporations in such basics as steel, oil, rubber, the automotive and food industries, utilizing such instruments as cartels, monopolies, mergers, conglomerates, interlocking management and directorships, and control of trust assets by banks.

Concentration in these basic fields is high and increasing. Dr. Willard Mueller, chief economist of the Federal Trade Commission testified before the Senate Subcommittee on Antitrust and Monopoly in November, 1969, that the 200 largest manufacturing corporations in the U.S. then controlled two thirds of all assets held by corporations primarily engaged in manufacturing.

In a market so dominated, the law of supply and demand no longer operates freely. Prices remain high, no matter what the state of the economy. Characteristics of such an economy are waste, artifically restricted output, unemployment, inflation.

Until the American people wake up to the true facts and face them, we shall continue to suffer these calamities. — Leisa Bronson, Pomona.

Mexican heritage

It gave me much pleasure to read in the paper that there will be a column in Spanish.

The other day I went for the first time to buy a few things at a place called Pomona Mall. I was so sad to see so many empty stores and so much money which appears to have been spent on sculpture and other pieces of art. It appears the Spanish-speaking community is not willing to do anything.

I did not find stores to buy Mexican bread or tamales or hand-made tortillas. I did not find a place to buy fruit or vegetables. There is no center where one can take the family, a place not so formal lest it become too expensive, and at the same time, a place that does honor to our heritage.

There should be studies to teach Latin songs, dances and arts. Much of our generation our parents did not teach us the Mexican idiom.

Why can't we in the Spanish-speaking community do something for ourselves and for each other and at the same time help Pomona because it appears the city has been dormant for a long time like ourselves. —Anna Landeros, Pomona.

Gossip for today

We have the genius it takes to install topless shampoo girls in barber shops. We have sufficient ingenuity to start a "Dial a Smile" business which answers your call with recorded jokes. We have a woman who has invented a never-fail reducing system by simply having her jaws cemented together to make it impossible for her to cheat on her eating. And even more wonderful, we have developed a contraceptive pill that can be taken by either the man or the woman. — So why should we worry about a little old thing like an energy crisis? With brainpower like I have just mentioned abroad in the land, someone is bound to come up with an answer. Already a start has been made. A faculty member at the University of Texas claims that sewer gas may be the magic solution to the problem. And while we are waiting for him to perfect a method for harnessing that sewer gas, it's nice to know that everybody and his brother has patriotically become an energy conservationist.

"Since Christmas cards account for almost one third of all mail delivered," says one super brain, "think of all the energy that would be saved if we all quit sending them."

Caretaker veep? Ford has better idea

It's now a fairly strong bet that, despite his present protestations to the contrary, Vice President Gerald Ford will be a live candidate for the GOP presidential nomination in 1976.

The polls which quickly thrust him to the fore don't mean much today except recognition as result of his long grilling in Congress. But they may come to mean a lot more if he is sustained at fairly high levels.

For one thing, that very process has given him a verdict as clean, if somewhat bleached and bland. He gets automatic good marks for accepting the good soldier's role, and seems unlikely to be tarnished by it, no matter what the revelations about the Nixon regime.

Furthermore, a good many party people, including some segments of the leadership, may be drawn to Ford by the awareness that, in the circumstances of Watergate and surrounding issues, he might become president at any time. That may or may not happen. The hard hunches in this town aside, there is yet no convincing sign that President Nixon will either resign or be impeached. But the mere prospect will give him special political life.

Ironically, his situation almost instantly has become like Nixon's in 1959-60, when the late President Eisenhower's varied illnesses put his then vice president in a posture of clear advantage for the next election. Those observers who were around at the time will tell you many Republican leaders were almost afraid to oppose Nixon, for fear he might be president the following day.

Ford, to be sure, will have handicaps to overcome. He will not have had the lengthy national exposure Richard Nixon had enjoyed by 1959-60.

And he will need to build a strong personal staff, well beyond the regionally-flavored group he brings to the job. Some of our recent vice presidents have not been conspicuously endowed with broad-scope assistants of high talent. Ford already is being watched closely on this front.

His position virtually guarantees his steady access to the speaking circuit the other GOP 1976 prospects obviously intend to travel. If Republicans somehow should manage to salvage more from the 1974 elections than is presently indicated, who will get the credit? Ford, a retired Ronald Reagan, a Nelson Rockefeller resigned from office, traveling businessman John Connally?

Ford might come off fairly well. His strength thereafter might show best in those states which don't have primaries. That's where his incumbency would be of most aid.

With so many of the 22 primary states requiring automatic entry for highly visible or avowed presidential prospects, the Vice President — short of an ironclad declaration of non-candidacy — could not of course avoid the primaries. Yet there again he might do reasonably well.

Today Reagan is the clear inheritor of the southern party strength that formerly clustered around resigned Spiro Agnew. Rockefeller is the presumed top candidate of the Republicans' progressive wing.

But both will have to run the gamut of primaries in sectors where they have weaknesses, both will be past 65 by 1976, and many GOP spokesmen privately think a Reagan-Rockefeller struggle has a tired ring to it. Despite Rocky's center-ward move, moreover, the fight would take on a left-right tone.

None of this means Ford is suddenly hot stuff. It does mean, though, that he's a lot more than a caretaker prospect.

Natural gas demand forces Edison to switch fuel

ETIWANDA — The energy crunch is even having a crunching effect on energy.

Because of an increasing demand for natural gas by residential, commercial and other industrial customers, the Southern California Gas Co. has turned off the valve to Southern California Edison Co.'s steam generating plant here.

The "curtailment" began Nov. 11 and is expected to last during the cold season, said Wayne Lynch, the gas company's division manager. He could give no date when gas service will be resumed, but said it should be before March or April.

What effect has this had on the electric company plant?

When the natural gas was turned off, the plant had to turn to low sulphur oil, said Vincent Martin, Edison's division manager. "And getting the low sulphur oil is exceedingly difficult."

He reported the company once purchased the oil at $2 a barrel, but is now bidding at $10 a barrel and still can't get all it needs.

The Edison Co. has a storage capability of 23 million barrels of oil and uses approximately one million barrels a week to keep the entire system operating.

With the storage tanks "topped off," this would give Edison a 23-week supply, he said.

Noting that some municipal power departments are short on oil supplies, Martin said Edison might be asked to share its oil with them.

"We have contracted for our oil from major oil companies and from Indonesia," he noted.

The importance of the Etiwanda plant was described by Martin. The company has a total generating capability of about 13,000 megawatts. Etiwanda can produce 1,000 megawatts, or nearly 8 per cent of the total capability.

The company serves about 2.5 million customers in Southern California. This totals about seven million people.

Should there be a cutback in electricity, the company is considering a plan to conduct a "rolling" blackout where individual circuits serving from 500 to 1,500 customers will be turned off for short periods of time.

The natural gas curtailment has also included the Portland Cement Co. plant in Colton, said Lynch.

For these plants to receive the gas company's low industrial rates, they had to be equipped with stand-by fuel systems, he explained.

The length of the curtailment will depend on the weather, he noted. "As the weather gets colder, there is an increased use by residential and commercial customers."

The gas cutback hasn't affected any commercial users.

In an effort to obtain more natural gas for its customers, a gas company affiliate applied to the Federal Power Commission for permission to import liquefied natural gas (LNG) from Indonesia.

Application by Pacific Indonesia LNG Co. includes terms of a previously announced 20-year contract signed Sept. 6 by Pacific Lighting International S. A., and Pertamina, the Indonesian national oil and gas company.

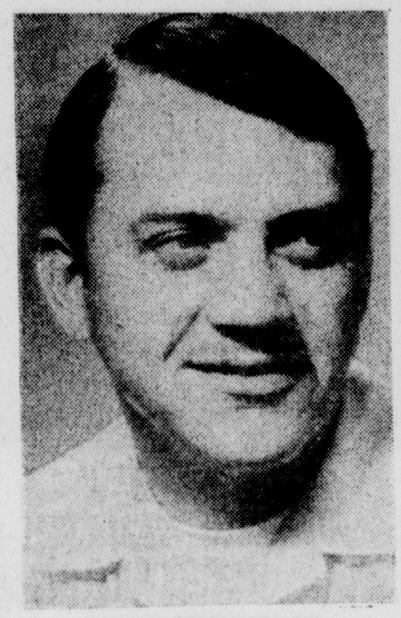
The contract calls for delivery of the liquefied natural gas equivalent to 620 million cubic feet per day, or about 20 per cent of the amount consumed on an average day throughout the system, said Lynch.

The Port Hueneme area north of Los Angeles is being considered as the location of receiving and regasification facilities, he said.

The Edison Co. had hoped to generate more electricity with less fuel oil through development of two electric generating units at the San Onofre Nuclear Generating Station, said Martin.

The California Coastal Zone Conservation Commission, however, voted recently to deny these permits.

The decision will require an additional 25 to 30 million barrels of oil each year to provide for Southern California's needs, Edison officials said.



SCOTTY MCCULLOUGH

New Air Force recruiter named for Montclair

MONTCLAIR — T. Sgt. Scotty McCullough has been assigned by the Air Force to its recruiting office at 10665 Mills Ave. He has been in the Air Force for more than nine years, and served in Illinois, Arizona, Thailand, Japan and Texas before being assigned to the Asuza office for the past year.

McCullough is married, and has two children.

During his time off, he studies at Mt. San Antonio College and is working toward a degree in broadcast science and journalism.

McCullough has extended an invitation to anyone living in Montclair, Pomona, San Dimas, La Verne, Claremont or Chino to visit his office Monday through Friday 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. or Saturday by appointment.

Vernon Jr. High concert slated

MONTCLAIR — A Christmas concert featuring the Vernon Junior High School orchestra and vocal groups will be presented Thursday in the school auditorium.

The concert will begin at 7 p.m., and is open to the public free of charge.

Chaffey, O-M districts cutting back on fuel use

ONTARIO — Like other school districts throughout the Pomona Valley, the Chaffey and Ontario-Montclair districts have taken steps to conserve fuel and energy.

Both school districts have adopted conservation measures similar to those in other districts.

At Chaffey, the Board of Trustees has approved a broad administration-developed plan which allows the superintendent and his staff to act immediately to meet any problems that arise from fuel and energy shortages.

The Chaffey administration has compiled a list of 17 conservation measures, six of which are now in use. The measures include a reduction in the allocated mileage for each of the five high schools for field trips and athletic events, the discontinuation of "rooter" buses for the remainder of the year, and lowering the thermostat to 68 degrees.

While the Ontario-Montclair district also took similar measures like lowering the thermostat to 68 degrees, its most urgent problem is an acute fuel shortage for its buses which provide student transportation to and from school.

Supt. Jack Jones said the district is already this year "several thousand gallons above last year's consumption rate." This situation exists, Jones said, because the district provided extensive bus service for summer school class students last summer in order to get compensation from the state for average daily attendance (ADA), and established additional bus routes due to the closing of San Antonio school. The school was closed because it did not meet earthquake safety standards in the Field Act.

Deputy Supt. George Duerr said the district has been notified it will receive less gasoline in 1974 than it did for the current year.

As a result, Duerr said, the district's entire field trip program will be eliminated after the holiday season.

With the exception of buses, all district vehicles will be limited to a maximum speed of 50 miles per hour. Buses will be allowed to go 55, which Duerr described as "their most efficient operating speed."

Currently, kindergarten through third-grade students living farther than one mile from the school they attend are provided bus transportation to school. Fourth through eighth grade students who live farther than 1½ miles are transported to the school by bus.

15 Serrano Jr. High girls cited for aid

MONTCLAIR — Fifteen girls from Serrano Junior High School were recently honored for serving 50 or more hours helping retarded children and senior citizens in convalescent homes.

They are Debbie Albert, Elena Gomez, Jessica Gomez, Julie Haynes, Lisa Hemphill, Jane Johnson, Kerrie Kean, Linda McClure, Darlene McKay, Betsy Molitor, Vicki Outlaw, Kathy Payton, Pam Seal, Jammee Tedder and Janet Tedder.

The girls, all members of Volunteens, were honored at Red Cross capping ceremony at San Antonio Community Hospital in Upland.

Yule show tonight at Chaffey High

ONTARIO — A holiday musical, "That Christmas Feeling," will be presented tonight at Chaffey High School's Spring Auditorium, beginning at 7:30.

The Chaffey choral department along with the Ontario Youth Orchestra will provide the musical entertainment.

TOYS FOR TINY TOTS

Capt. Clyde Mathis, left, of the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Posse, hands over one of many Snoopy dogs being donated by the organization to the Marine Corps Reservists' Toys for Tots program. Accepting the gift are Sgt. Ralph Prince, middle, Marine Corps recruiter at Montclair, and Cpl. Guy Woods of Pomona. The Reservists' toy drive will continue until Saturday.

17 achieve all-A grades at Chino High School

CHINO — Students earning a place on the school honor list for the first quarter of the 1973-74 academic year at Chino High School have been announced by Dr. Terry Terril, principal.

Students receiving all A grades are:

Annie Aldersebaes, Gayle Blevens, John DeAguiar, Henry DeVries, Kim Elmore, Michael Ford, Lynne Fournier, Kara Hanson, Mark Horn, William Jost, Lori Kayashima, William McCombs, William Mumbleau, Timothy Nelson, Lorelei Pinder, Derrick Story, Sara Waldron.

The following students had a B or better average for the first quarter:

12th GRADE — Timothy Abbott, Richard Adler, Deborah Aguilar, Dwight Aitken, Annie Aldersebaes, Shirley Arellano, Catherine Arita, Vivian Arredondo, Rose Arreguin, David Baca, Katherine Bachock, Steven Banks, Edward Barberis, Sharron Barton.

David Bell, Russell Bennett, Marie Berterretche, Cynthia Biery, Ronald Bosch, Vicki Brandon, Patrick Briney, Danice Bruno, Deborah Burson, Eileen Carroll, Paula Carver, Marcella Chacon, Jeffrey Chapman, Donna Chulos, Matthew Clark, Lisa Conner, Elizabeth Cordero.

Bill Dalrymple, Shari Dixon, Stephen Dotta, Justine Dyke, Ronald Eaton, Peter Echert, Anne Ernsberger, Marta Escanuelas, Michelle Fisher, Michael Ford, Debbie Forsgren, Deborah Gildner, Robert Gingg, Nancy Glidewell, Bambi Gravatt, Lorrie Gray, Manuel Guerrero.

Robert Hairston, Tammy Halstead, Rodney Hansen, Deborah Harris, Darlene Heigle, Sherrie Helzer, Steven Hernandez, Mark Horn, Cecelia Howell, Melissa Inabinette, Ray Ito, William Jost, Colleen Kayashima, Dawn Kehret, Kathy Kelley, William Korth, Terry Krieg.

Randy Lako, Robert Lightner, Nora Lizarraga, Dorian Long, Christine Lopez, Danial Lovio, Colette Lucas, Jeffrey McCool, William Malcolm, Danny Maldonado, Maria Marquez, Bill Martinez, Katherine Martinez, Dave Mathieson, David Maxwell.

Russ children's art

ONTARIO — Children's art from the Soviet Union will be on display at the city library beginning Friday.

The exhibits will be displayed in the library's children's department through Jan. 26, and is sponsored by the Jane Addams Peace Association and the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom.

6% rise in passengers

OIA not hurt by strike or oil crisis

ONTARIO —An airline strike and a cutback in flights due to the energy crisis failed to reduce the number of airline passengers at Ontario International Airport. In fact, the airport posted a 6.3 per cent gain last month over November 1972.

The 91,719 passengers counted during November 1973 boosted the 11-month total to 1,082,324. This compared to 86,312 passengers for November 1972 and an 11-month total of 934,947.

Due to a fuel shortage, three airlines, Western, Air California, and PSA, reduced the number of their flights between Ontario and San Francisco, San Diego, San Jose and Oakland. In addition, PSA later halted all its Ontario operations on Nov. 16 because of a strike.

"Service from Ontario to 24 destination cities is still good but travelers just have to plan a little further ahead during the holiday season," said Robert Hamilton, airport manager.

"Nine airlines that service the Ontario airport continue to fly convenient schedules to many Midwest and Western states. It is sometimes easier to get a flight from Ontario than Los Angeles International Airport," he added.

"The first-time traveler thinks of only Los Angeles, which gets inundated during the holidays. Those who travel frequently realize the flight they need may be leaving Ontario," said Hamilton.

Contrary to the increased passenger count, there were fewer flight operations last month than during the previous November — 11,622 compared to 13,601.

Showing a decrease were military, general aviation, air taxi and alternate operations. Only the air carrier activity was up due to an increase in charter flights.

The amount of air cargo last month totaled 565,114 pounds, a sharp increase from the 363,269 pounds during the previous November.

Owners of Upland massage parlor guilty of 3 charges

UPLAND — The owners of the Roman Holiday massage parlor at 931 W. Foothill Blvd. have been found guilty of pimping, pandering and conspiracy to commit prostitution following a court trail in West Valley Superior Court.

Thomas Cook, also known as Jim Roberts, 39, and Wanda Davis, 39, both of 790 W. Wellesley Drive, Claremont, the owners of the massage parlor, were ordered to return to the Superior Court within 90 days for sentencing. They were found guilty of the charges by Superior Court Judge Richard C. Garne Friday after a court trial.

Cook and Miss Davis were arrested on warrants at their Claremont home on Jan. 19 after a police investigation into alleged prostitution at the massage parlor.

The doctor comments

Enzymes are needed to assist digestion

DEAR DR. LAMB — I would appreciate anything you could tell me about enzymes in the intestines.

I have a little grandson who is 2 years old, and ever since he was a small baby he has had this problem with his bowels. The first of this year he was so bad he became dehydrated and had to be hospitalized. The hospital said he had no enzymes in the intestines to make food into solids and would always have this diarrhea problem. And, of course, he was put on a very strict diet.

Now the little fellow is a typical youngster, runs and plays and enjoys life, but at least three or four times a day, and often many more, he has diarrhea.

The doctors I have talked to all seem so evasive that I am of the opinion that no one really knows too much about the enzyme bit.

Several of my friends have suggested I write to you and perhaps you could tell me if there is really no cure for this problem, or if he will eventually outgrow it. what really causes it? I'll appreciate any information you can give.

DEAR READER — The enzymes in the small intestine that we need to digest our food are from the pancreas or from the juices formed by the intestinal wall. I would guess that your little grandson has a problem with his pancreas.

The enzymes are used to split our carbohydrates down to simple sugars that can be absorbed through the intestine into the bloodstream. They also split the fats and even the proteins down to basic small units that can be absorbed. When this is not done properly, the undigested food is not absorbed, and what is worse, it acts to some extent like a chemical laxative. This is what causes the diarrhea, and sometimes the bloating and abdominal discomfort.

The severity of the problem depends on just how many enzymes are missing. A lot of otherwise healthy adults lack the enzyme to split milk sugar and they only need to guard against milk and foods made with milk. In more extensive loss of enzymes, the diet problems are much more complicated.

Lack of enzymes is usually a result of characteristics present from birth. And, in most cases, the problem is one of managing the person through diet and other medical means, if required throughout life. However, new things are being learned all the time and if the problem is limited to deficient enzymes, perhaps in time it can be managed better.

I know from the rest of your letter that your grandson has been seen by an outstanding medical staff, an I am confident that he has been given the best of care. So, what remains is following their instructions, hoping for the best, and perhaps time will improve the outlook. Or perhaps new advances will eventually make the problem more simple. I do wish there was more to offer at this time, but at least you can be thankful that your grandson was diagnosed early and that so much is known already to help in such cases.

Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, in care of The Progress-Bulletin, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. For a copy on Dr. Lamb's booklet on balanced diet, send 50 cents to the same address and ask for "Balanced Diet" booklet.

Rattles & straws

No news is better

By JOSEPH FIRMAN

About this time of year, give or take a bowl game or two, it behooves every columnist worth his wire taps to survey the waning year and compile a list of the Top Eleven news stories of 1973. Exempt, of course, are all items dealing with Watergate, the ITT, the dairy industry and donations to the Committee to Re-Elect the President. Who wants the IRS knocking at his door?

To my mind, the significant stories of any year are those that add to our knowledge of man and his environment. Watergate and its subsequent flushings simply reiterate that politicians are venal, which civilized man has known since the days of early Greece, so the peccadilloes on Capitol Hill, however bizarre and imaginative, do not constitute a news story as it is known in the trade.

Obviously the No. 1 news story of 1973 — possibly of the decade — was the landing of our astronauts on Jupiter. This was an incredible scientific feat, paralleled perhaps only by the Battle of San Juan Hill or the discovery of athlete's foot. All civilization will profit from the explorations of the mysterious "Red Planet," and I'm sure we will all welcome back our intrepid radio-active space explorers when they return in late 1983.

The second most important news story of the current annus mirabilis was the United States cutting off oil to the Arab countries, causing power failure and blackouts in Cairo, Suez, Port Said, Port Says, Beirut, Sodom, Gomorrah and Miami Beach. Despite UAR naming Henry Kissinger the Abdul Abulbul Ahmir of the Bar-Lev Line and increased shipments of Russian wheat to the United States, the sanction continued, and American service stations refused to pump gas for Arab caravans on Sunday.

Well up among the Top Ten news stories of 1973 was, of course, the nomination of Disney's new medical film, "Deep Throat," for seven Academy Awards — Best Black and White Musical Not Starring Julie Andrews, Most Tracheas, Best Editing of the Eustachian Tubes, and others. It is a tribute to showbiz that in times of crisis they are able to recognize where the real contributions to the film industry are being made.

Sports made a significant bid for news recognition when it was announced that the San Diego Vicars, professional baseball team, formerly the Washington Representatives, had been sold to Venezuela in exchange for Howard Hughes. The San Diego team, recently traded to Tijuana for two bullfighters and the tequilla concession, will be managed by Richard M. N----, until recently chief strategist for the Washington Redskins. The new manager said he had some reservations about leaving the Redskins but felt he could hold his new team together with tape, if none of them were missing.

Another important news story of the year was Ronald Reagan's Machiavellian defeat of Proposition 1, a tax measure he bitterly opposed. "I wanted it to lose," he said, after it did. "I knew that anyone who had seen my old movies on television would vote against it if I supported it. Whatever happened to Shirley Temple?"

There really aren't any other news items worthy of the top ten anything. Not till next year. Honk if you love Kohoutek.

Russ general, once purged, expires at 82

MOSCOW (UPI) — Army Gen. Alexander V. Gorbatov, who fought in the Russian Revolution and was later jailed by Stalin, died recently, the army newspaper Krasnaya Zvezda reported. He was 82.

Gorbatov joined the Russian army in 1912 and first saw battle in World War I. Later he became a cavalry officer. In 1937 he was relieved of command by Stalin but reinstated a year later.

Soon afterward he became caught up in Stalin's army purges. He was transferred to the reserves, arrested and sentenced to 15 years in prison. He spent two years in a concentration camp before being released and appointed deputy commander of the 25th Rifle Corps.

In 1950 he was appointed commander of airborne troops, a post he held for four years. Later he was commander of the Baltic Military District and worked at the Defense Ministry in Moscow.

Female employes told to get BVDs for cold

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — An assemblyman has suggested that female state employes put on "some BVDs or something" to beat the lower 68-degree settings on state office thermostats.

Assemblyman Willie L. Brown Jr., D-San Francisco, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, made the comment Monday at a committee hearing into state actions in connection with the energy crisis.

One state official reported some female employes were attempting to beat the 68-degree thermostat settings by bringing in portable electric heaters.

Brown then commented, "Let them put on some BVDs or something."

Officials assured Brown the practice of using the heaters was being stopped.

Assemblyman Ken MacDonald, D-Ojai, told the committee some state employes are ignoring Gov. Ronald Reagan's order that state cars be driven no faster than 55 miles an hour.

MacDonald said he was driving at 55 in the Sacramento area recently, and "I had state cars passing me like I was standing still."

Wreath on bed bespeaks tragedy

Family fights to ban hitchhiking

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI) — The wreath on the bed that once was Katherine Merry Devine's speaks in red and green of Christmas and of sorrow.

It says that Katherine won't be home for the day that was to be both Christmas and her 15th birthday.

She was last seen alive by two classmates Nov. 25 as she stood hitchhiking at a North Seattle intersection. Her body, with clothing partly removed and her throat slit, was found two weeks later in the woods of a state park south of Olympia.

Because of that, her family announced Monday a campaign to repeal the state's 1972 law that legalized hitchhiking except on interstate or other limited access highways.

"Our daughter wouldn't have been hitchhiking if it was against the law," Mrs. William L. Devine said.

"She thought because it was legal, it was safe," the girl's father added.

"I want it all banned," said Sherrie, Katherine's 16-year-old sister. "Nobody has to hitchhike. I don't want what happened to Kathy to happen to anyone else."

Sherrie said she remembered her history teachers saying that anyone can set out to change a law.

She said she originated the family plan to file a petition to submit a repeal initiative to the state's voters next year.

To succeed in that goal, the Devine family and their helpers must collect more than 117,000 valid signatures of registered voters.

"I think the people will be with us," Mrs. Devine said.

Since the law allowing hitchhiking became effective in mid 1972, statistics of the state patrol and Seattle Police Department indicate the state has averaged about 20 hitchhiking-related crimes per month.

Only two hitchikers became murder victims—Katherine and a 20-year-old Western Washington State College student, Laura L. Brock, killed in September 1972. Both crimes are unsolved.

Other crimes related to hitchiking range from rape to robbery.

AGAINST HITCHHIKING — Sherrie Devine, 16, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William L. Devine announced this week that they are mounting a campaign to repeal the 1972 Washington state law legalizing hitchhiking. They blame the law for the rape-murder of daughter Katherine, 14, shown in picture held by father.

Dog's tail should be level with her skull

By Dr. Frank Miller

DEAR DR. MILLER: Angie is a beautiful young Airedale and should be a top show prospect. We are worried about the length of her tail. Only two-thirds of it was left. We have been told by an expert that only one quarter of her tail should have been taken off, not a third. We feel her tail is, therefore, too short. Do you share our concern? — G. D.

Dear G. D.: Your concern needn't be great. Experts have come up with both these figures. Ideally, the tip of the dog's tail should be approximately level with the top of the skull. (That would be with Angie in the show position.)

DEAR DR. MILLER: Can you give me a formula for raising mealworms? — A.O.

Dear A. O.: There are many mealworm culture techniques. Here's one: Punch small holes in a large pie tin, put down three layers of old burlap sprinkled with bran, add to this some bread and slices of raw potato. Triple deck it, and cover it with raw cabbage leaves. Add mealworms and wait several weeks while they go through their life cycle, keeping them at room temperature.

DEAR DR. MILLER: What's with thoroughbred trainers who swim some of their horses a lot instead of galloping them?

I'm a runner myself. My coaches have always told me that if you are going to be a runner you have to run. How come they teach race horses to swim instead of to gallop? — K. F.

Dear K. F.: It's true — and hardly surprising — that to do the best in any physical activity the training program should emphasize by constant repetition, that particular exercise. This applies to racehorses, too, obviously. The one who doesn't spend considerable time running prior to the race is going to take too much time running during the race.

However, don't knock swimming for a racehorse. It is an excellent method of getting the horse in top condition and has one big advantage over track workouts — it doesn't put nearly as much strain on the legs. Some families of horses, while they may be fast enough to be potential winners, have a tendency to become unsound in their legs if worked too hard.

If this type of horse receives a fair share of his workouts in the water instead of pounding down the track, the odds are better that his legs can hold together long enough to win a race or two.

Lakers' Price just right

By DON BRADLEY
P-B Staff Writer

INGLEWOOD — Two thousand sports fans blew it.

The actual count is 2,362. That's the difference between Tuesday's night's attendance of 15,143 at the Lakers-Milwaukee Bucks game and a sellout (17,505).

The ones that were smart enough to buy a ticket got more than their money's worth even at Forum prices. It was such a great game no one left early.

To cap off a great evening, they saw second-year man Jimmy Price throw in a 25-foot jump shot as the horn ended the game to give the Lakers a 109-107 win over the Bucks.

Price, a second-round draft choice two years ago, made two of the last three Laker baskets and stole the ball from Oscar Robertson to give Bill Bridges the opportunity for the other.

The replacement for Jerry West wound up his night's work with 16 points and 11 assists. He hit on seven of 10 field goal attempts and cashed in on both free throw opportunities.

The game was tied 16 times including seven times in the last quarter. But Milwaukee never held the lead until there were only 6:13 left in the game. Kareem Abdul-Jabbar's 10-foot hook shot put the Bucks ahead 93-91 for the first time.

Gail Goodrich, who led all scorers with 40 points, tied it with a 24-foot jumper. The Bucks scored twice to take a 97-93 lead, but a layin by Bridges and a slam dunk by Connie Hawkins tied it.

It was knotted again at 99-99, 101-101, and 103-103 before Milwaukee spurted to a four-point lead again on Jabbar's 12-foot hook. That made it 107-103 with 59 seconds left.

Price hit a 14-foot jumper with 46 seconds left to pull within two, 107-105. With the Bucks in the process of running the clock down, Price stole the ball with 32 seconds left.

Bridges got his tipin at the 14-second mark and the game was tied. Milwaukee took a time out with the 11-seconds left to set up their play.

Robertson got open but missed an easy shot with six seconds left and Elmore Smith grabbed the rebound, his ninth and biggest of the game.

Coach Bill Sharman was screaming for a time out, but the clock was down to the two-second mark before it stopped and Sharman nearly jumped out of his skin.

"I saw it clicking off those seconds and instead of having four or five like I thought we would, we got just two," he smiled wanly. We wanted to get the ball to Gail when we put it in play, but he was covered."

Bridges inbounded the ball to Price who whirled, put it up, jumped in the air and then dashed off the floor as the fans went wild.

"Sometimes you can feel a shot," he explained. "This was a low percentage shot. But there wasn't any time to pass or dribble. I really felt it was going in as soon as I put it up."

"It's my biggest thrill as a pro," he grinned and then added, (Curtis) Perry jumped and I released the ball before he got up there. A split second later and he would have blocked the shot."

The month that West will be out may not be as long as most persons feared.

Kunzman better, moving arm

UPLAND — Race driver Lee Kunzman, who was seriously injured in a 190-mile-an-hour crash at Ontario Motor Speedway more than a week ago, was reported Tuesday to be steadily improving.

Kunzman, 25, of Gutenberg, Iowa, was talking and moving his left arm, which had been feared paralyzed after the crash Dec. 10, his doctors said.

The accident occurred when Kunzman lost control of his car during a tire test and it slammed into a guard rail. He is in San Antonio Community Hospital.

Poly gets chance at Long Beach

By BILL LANGLEY
P-B Staff Writer

LONG BEACH — Cal Poly faces its toughest basketball assignment in the university's history tonight when the Broncos meet nationally-ranked Long Beach State at the Long Beach Arena.

Few college basketball teams face the schedule Poly has this week. Following tonight's game here, the Broncos host North Dakota State Friday then head for Nevada, Las Vegas Saturday night.

So coach Don Hogan's Broncos have the honor of meeting Jerry Tarkanian's old and new teams within four days—both on the road.

Tonight's tipoff is 8:05 p.m. following the junior varsity game.

Tarkanian has left Long Beach but he left a lot of talent next to the Queen Mary. And Lute Olson, an outstanding junior college coach at Long Beach City College, has taken over the job of putting everything together.

Olson is obviously doing it. The 49ers are currently ranked 11th and 13th respectively in the Associated Press and United Press International polls with a 5-1 record.

After an unexpected loss at Colorado, Long Beach has bounced back to beat San Francisco, Loyola, Canisius and Long Island in order.

Upsetting Long Beach is tough enough without having the additional problem of playing the 49ers on their court.

No team has defeated the 49ers in Long Beach since the pre-Tarkanian era way back in 1968. Long Beach expects to make Poly its 68th consecutive victim tonight.

Even though the odds are against Poly, coach Don Hogan feels his team is more ready to play Long Beach tonight then it was against nationally-ranked Arizona two weeks ago.

"We're going into this game with our spirits high," Hogan said. "If we run our offense right, I believe we can stay in the game. I know a lot of things would have to happen for us to win but we will accomplish a lot if we can play our game."

Hogan's main objective is to get his team ready for the start of California Collegiate Athletic Association play in January.

Last Saturday's 90-78 win over Wheaton (Ill.) showed the progress the Broncos have made.

Poly is 2-3 going into tonight's game.

Hogan isn't certain who will start against Long Beach but it's a safe assumption Lee Roy Williams (6-9) will be at the center post. It's doubtful if Williams can duplicate his 33 rebounds against Wheaton tonight but his rapid improvement has been a delight. He is averaging 15.8 points and 15.6 rebounds per game while shooting at a 57.9 per cent clip.

Horace Aubrey is second in scoring with a 14.6 average.

Hogan is also delighted with the leadership of the seniors plus the hustle of guard Bill Bunker.

"Bunker is providing a lot of spark," Hogan said, "and Williams has just been unreal for us."

Poly will need all the rebounds it can get from Wfliams tonight against Long Beach's big front line of Leonard Gray (6-8, 235), Roscoe Pondexter (6-7, 230) and freshman Clifton Pondexter (6-8, 230). Roscoe and Clifton, the former prep sensations at Fresno's San Joaquin Memorial High, are leading the scoring with respective averages of 16.5 and 15.0.

The other Long Beach starters are guards Glenn McDonald, an excellent defensive player, and Rick Aberegg, the 49ers' playmaker. As a team, Long Beach is shooting at a 52.6 per cent clip.

"Like us, Poly has a lot of new faces," Olson said. "It is taking time for Hogan to put everything together but Poly is improving. I like to think we have better talent but that doesn't necessarily mean anything on the floor."

BRONCO NOTES — Olson is continuing where Tarkanian left off. In his five years at Long Beach, Tarkanian compiled an 122-20 record including four consecutive berths in the NCAA tournament . . .

Tonight's game will be broadcast by KGBS-FM (97.1) . . .

Kyle Jackson, a junior forward for the 49ers, is the younger brother of LaMotta Jackson, former Pomona-Pitzer star . . .

Carlos Mina, who is Long Beach's first sub, is a transfer from USC while Bob Gross came to the 49ers from Seattle University.

Poly, Chaffey stars honored

POMONA — Cal Poly's Lee Roy Williams and Chaffey College's Bob Kovach were honored as the Players of the Week at Tuesday's weekly Pomona Valley basketball luncheon at The Castaway Restaurant.

Williams grabbed a record 33 rebounds and scored 21 points — making eight of 12 field goals — in Poly's win over Wheaton (Ill.). Kovach, a sophomore from Fontana, scored 36 points and 29 rebounds in Chaffey's two games in the Chaffey Invitational Tournament.

Morningside easy winner

Oakland guests edge Covina

By CRAIG TRAVIS
P-B Staff Writer

WALNUT — Morningside and St. Elizabeth advanced to the championship bracket of the San Dimas Tournament of Champions Basketball Tournament Tuesday night at Mt. San Antonio College.

Morningside, the defending T of C champion, defeated Murphy, the defending CIF 3-A champs, easily 78-61, while St. Elizabeth, the defending Northern California champs, withstood a fourth quarter Covina challenge, to edge the Colts, 54-53.

All eight teams are off tonight as the MSAC Mounties host East Los Angeles.

But the teams resume action Thursday with Ganesha (4-2) playing San Dimas (2-5) at 2:30 p.m. and Covina (3-2) battling Murphy (2-2) at 4 p.m. in consolation games.

The championship bracket gets under way at 7 p.m. with Verbum Dei (7-0), five-time defending CIF champs, tangling with Pasadena (5-1), the 4-A runner-up. At 8:30 p.m. Morningside (5-1) battles St. Elizabeth (6-5).

Morningside, with only one starter back from last year's No. 1 ranked 4-A team, had very few problems in disposing of Murphy in the opener.

First-year coach Ron Jacobs has four starting players up from last year's 28-1 junior varsity team with 5-foot-11 forward Oscar Williams the only varsity starter returning.

The 1972 Monarchs and Williams lost their only game of the year in the 4-A quarterfinals. They won the T of C tourney last year, beating Verbum Dei, the eventual 4-A champs, in the finals.

Mike Santos led the Monarchs in their tourney-opeining victory. The 6-foot-7 center scored 23 points, hitting on 11 of 12 shot attempts, grabbed seven rebounds and blocked four shots.

The game was matched to be a personal duel between Santos and Murphy's Ollie Matson, Jr.

Although Matson, the son of the former Ram football star Ollie Matson, tallied 22 points and grabbed eight rebounds, eight of those points came in the fourth quarter against the Morningside reserves.

The Monarchs jumped out to a 9-0 lead when guard Phil Chow gave Murphy its first bucket of the game with 5:05 remaining in the first quarter.

Chow, with four points, and Matson, who averages 18 points per game, accounted for all of the Nobles' 12 first period points as the team hit on 6 of 13 field goal attempts.

Santos, who averages 18 points a game, and guard John Gibson paced the Monarchs' 17 points, scoring five points each.

The second eight-minute stanza set the stage for the remainder of the contest for the Nobles as they missed on 13 of 16 shot attempts.

Morningside, on the otherhand, enjoyed a hot shooting quarter, connecting on eight of 14 attempts. Santos had eight points. And Morningside led at intermission, 35-22.

The Monarchs put the game on ice in the third quarter, shooting a sizzling 80 per cent (12 of 15) from the floor. Gibson and Williams provided the spark as they combined for 18 of their 24 period points. Williams hit on five of seven attempts while Gibson canned four of five field goal attempts.

Matson scored four of the Nobles' 16 points in the period as Murphy trailed 59-38 entering the fourth stanza.

Wilkes is 'smooth as silk'

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — By outshining North Carolina State All-America David Thompson at St. Louis, Keith Wilkes finally has emerged from beneath Bill Walton's shadow.

"I think the players' name for him, Silky, describes him pretty well," said UCLA basketball coach John Wooden when asked to assess his star 6-7 forward.

Wilkes, the quiet-spoken son of a preacher man, pumped in 27 points in the Bruins' big 84-66 victory over the Wolfpack Saturday while holding Thompson to 17.

"Keith has a way of making players (shoot) lower their shooting percentages a little bit," Wooden said with a grin. "I feel confident he surprised Thompson but I think he surprises a lot of people."

Quiet and unassuming on and off the court, the Santa Barbara, Calif., senior may have won himself an All-America first team berth with his performance against the brilliant North Carolina State forward.

Wilkes, whose father is a Baptist minister in Santa Barbara, also increased his bargaining power when it comes time to deal with the moguls of pro basketball.

Wooden was asked about the future of his star forward.

"I'm going to let the pros decide that," he replied. "I hope they think he'll be a tremendous player, though, and take care of him accordingly."

Until last weekend, Wilkes had gone virtually unnoticed on a team that is led by college basketball's player of the year for the past two seasons.

"He just does everything so effortlessly," said Wooden, "that I think you sometimes fail to appreciate him. I liken him somewhat to Walt Frazier or an Oscar Robertson."

The UCLA mentor added:

"He's so smooth and he seems to do so many things effortlessly. His hands are very quick and he doesn't commit himself too much. Plus he does all things pretty well. He's stronger than he appears, too.

"He's not heavy, of course (180 pounds), but he's wiry and sometimes that type of player can go longer and be less susceptible to injuries than a heavily muscled player."

Wilkes, a center in high school, delivers his jump shot from behind his head.

"I don't like the style but he gets it away and he's accurate so I'm not about to monkey with him," said Wooden.

With 918 points in 64 varsity games at UCLA, Wilkes will become the 14th Bruin to score more than 1,000 career points.

He's averaging 17.3 in four games this year after a 13.5 average as a sophomore and a 14.8 average as a junior.

Kings travel to St. Louis after battling Detroit to tie

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — After battling back to gain a 4-4 tie in Detroit on Tuesday, the Los Angeles Kings end a two-game road trip here against the Blues tonight.

Bob Nevin scored twice in the Red Wings game, beating rookie goalie Bill McKenzie with the first and last goals of the game.

Nevin's first score, his 10th, sailed past McKenzie at 5:40 of the opening period. Mickey Redmond tied it near the end of the period with a power play goal.

The Kings went ahead briefly in the second period when Mike Murphy scored at 8:29. The Red Wings took the lead when Doug Roberts and Bill Hogaboam scored within in a 2:01 span.

Bill Lesuk tied it with his first goal of the season at 3:48 of the final period but Pierre Jarry put Detroit ahead again 38 seconds later with his fifth goal.

Nevin then beat McKenzie again at 5:42 of the final period to tie the contest. Kings' goalie Rogie Vachon had to stop two Detroit breakaway attempts in the closing seconds to perserve the tie.

The Kings are 9-16-5 on the year for 23 points and a tie with Minnesota for fifth place in the NHL West. St. Louis is in fourth place at 12-10-6, a full seven points ahead of the Kings.

Los Angeles returns home Saturday night to host the Minnesota North Stars.

Stags hurting

USIU, flu team to beat Claremont

By GRAHAM CROW
P-B Correspondent

CLAREMONT — Around Christmas time, many college coaches worry about players who "flew the coop" and went home for the Holidays. But at Claremont-Mudd, Ted Ducey has a different problem, he is trying to figure out how to "coop the flu."

It was that pesty little disease that kept two Stag players from suiting up Tuesday night as Claremont-Mudd suffered its sixth loss in eight starts to United States International University, 79-64, at Stag Gym.

Ducey only had eight players to choose from for his starting five as top scorer George Glonka and top reserve, and part-time starter, Ray Rotolo, were both sidelined with a case of influenza.

The absence of Glonka was most apparent in the Stag offense as the team was limited to mostly outside shots by the taller southern visitors and had no one on the floor who could effectively go toward the basket with the ball on offense.

All in all, Ducey was happy with the way his troops played, especially the way they battled back in the second half after trailing by as many as 19 points with 13 minutes to go.

Behind the outside shooting of guard Johnny Daniels, the Stags climbed from a 51-32 deficit to a 69-62 disadvantage with slightly more than three minutes to play.

But the Westerners, behind the clutch shooting of forward Preston Jackson, came back with three hoops and the San Diego based squad claimed its fifth win in six games while Claremont-Mudd's record fell to 2-6.

The Stags were hurt the most on the backboards as the taller USIU team grabbed 39 rebounds to Claremont's 31, but where it hurt the most was on the offensive board, where the Westerners gathered in 16 while the Stags were limited to just six.

Because of this, and the 23 turnovers committed by the Stags in the contest, USIU was able to take 19 more shots than the hosts. USIU was 36 for 67 from the field (54 per cent) while the Stags were 25 of 48 (52 per cent).

Daniels, a 5-6 freshman guard, was the leading scorer for C-M with 18 points while Dave Willhite, starting at center, added 12. Chet Hancock grabbed game honors with 19 for the Westerners who had Jackson add 14 and mobile center R. J. Kunysz chip in 12.

MSAC gets better—Victor

By MIKE RAWLINSON
P-B Staff Writer

WALNUT — Mt. San Antonio brings a 2-9 record into its rematch with East Los Angeles tonight at 7:30, but Mountie coach Gene Victor says he has high hopes for success here on out.

"The Mounties are squared away," the veteran MSAC skipper declared Tuesday afternoon. "We'll be very, very tough by the time South Coast Conference play begins in January. Even though we're 2-9 we have high hopes."

MSAC lost to East L.A. in one previous encounter, 91-73 in the consolation quarterfinals of the Chaffey Invitational last week.

"We've been playing hard, but we're still making mistakes," Victor added. "One thing is certain we're going to play tough against East L.A."

The loss to the Huskies in the tournament followed MSAC's best game of the year, a 70-67 setback to rugged L.A. Harbor, a team which at that point was 6-1 on the season.

Victor intends to make his third personnel change at forward for tonight's contest.

Roger Borg, a freshman from Los Altos, who Victor calls "a 6-foot-3 jumping jack," will make his first start of the year. He has seen action in only two previous games.

At the other forward, another freshman, 6-foot-6 Gary Melugin, has become a fixture since breaking into the lineup four games ago. He has scored in double figures in each contest and is averaging 12.7 points per game.

"Melugin may be a better future prospect than Jim Bogdanowicz," said Victor.

Bogdanowicz, a former CIF 3-A Player of the Year, was an All-South Coast forward for the Mounties for two seasons, 1971-72 and 1972-73. He's now at Cal State Fullerton.

The other starters for the Mounties tonight will be 6-foot-10 center Gary Nash, and guards Steve Arthur, and Bill Keilty, who go 5-10 and 6-foot respectively. All three are sophomores.

Nash leads the team in scoring and rebounding with 21 points and 12 rebounds per game. Arthur is the team leader in assists with 41.

East L.A. (5-4) is a veteran team, featuring an all sophomore starting lineup. Center Sam Jimenez (6-6) led the victory over the Mounties in the tournament with 26 points.

Following tonight's contest, MSAC takes a break of the holidays and return to action at the Hancock Tournament in Santa Maria, Dec. 27-29. The Mounties open against Modesto in the first round of the tournament at 3 p.m.

Bryant claims Giants can't win flag with Fox

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — An angry Ron Bryant says that the San Francisco Giants reneged on verbal contract agreements for next year and also feels the team, "will neve win a pennant with Charlie Fox as manager."

Bryant, the National League's top winner with 24 victories last season, asserted from his San Mateo home that the Giants had offered him $47,500, about a 60 per cent increase over his 1972 salary of $30,000. But Bryant said that a team spokesman three times "guaranteed me a certain figure. When the contract got here, the figure was changed.

"What's a 24-game winner worth?" Bryant asked. He answered that he thought he deserved between $60,000 and $70,000.

Bryant was 24-12 after starting the most games (39) and working the most innings (270) among National League hurlers. He completed eight games and had an ERA of 3.53.

Bryant admitted he was disappointed first when he was overlooked for the All-Star game and then when he finished third in the Cy Young Award voting won by Tom Seaver of the New York Mets.

But he said he thought the Giants' organization understood his frustrations until "they turn around and send me a contract like this. I've been very fair in the past and I think they should be more fair with me."

Bryant also has little respect for the managerial ability of Fox.

"Believe me, I'm speaking for the team, and I've got the guts to say it: The Giants will never win a pennant with Charlie Fox as manager. He cannot handle a team. He'd be better off in the front office.

Judge won't block move of Padres

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — A federal judge has refused to issue an order blocking the proposed move of the San Diego Padres baseball franchise from here to Washington, D. C.

U.S. District Court Judge Howard B. Turrentine said Tuesday his decision against granting the temporary restraining order was not a reflection on the merits of the city's $72 million antitrust against the National League.

The suit, filed last week, accused league owners and several public officials, including Vice President Gerald R. Ford of conspiring to deprive San Diego of its lawful business relationship with the baseball team. The Padres have 15 years remaining on a 20-year pact for use of San Diego Stadium.

Turrentine said the restraining order sought by the city was too drastic, but added that if the team's transfer is judged wrongful the city will be "adequately compensated."

Earlier this month the National League owners approved the transfer of the franchise. The league set a Friday deadline for concluding negotiations relating to the sale.

The suit contends the defendants violated federal antitrust lows by conspiring to shift the franchise.

Rams not making offensive changes

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Los Angeles Rams scored 22 touchdowns on passes and 18 on the ground during the regular season but they are basically a rushing team.

Chuck Knox, who does not talk or coach like a rookie head coach, indicates the Rams won't make any big changes in their offense in the NFC playoff game Sunday against the favored Dallas Cowboys.

The Cowboys are favored by one or two points, apparently because the game is on their home field.

Knox said Tuesday the Rams will "approach the game in the same way" as they did other games when they ran up a 12-2 record, best in Los Angeles history.

"We have 18-20 different running plays," he said, "and we'll have a few gimmick plays ready as usual — reverses, screens and statues ... We may have a few minor changes but nothing big. There will be a lot of intensity in that game. We are going to try to do what we have to do to win."

The Rams gained an average of 208.9 yards rushing per game during the season. Yet they used the pass to great advantage in spots.

When they beat Dallas 37-31 in Ocober, John Hadl threw four touchdown passes to Harold Jackson, two of them in the bombrange—50-60 yards.

"We had perfect execution on those passes," Knox recalled. "The Dallas defense was set up right but their execution was lacking."

Dallas won the NFC East with a 10-4 record. The Cowboys won their last three with comparative ease after losing to Miami 14-7.

The Cowboy offense, with scrambler Roger Staubach at the controls, is "explosive," Knox says, and adds, "Calvin Hill is a tremendous runner. He breaks a lot of tackles. They come at you with a lot of weapons."

He also has great respect for the Dallas defense, composed largely of veterans.

"Dallas plays defense like no other team," he said. "Their defense is designed to keep all the blockers off their middle linebacker. They play it with such discipline. They've been playing together so long ... they take the same steps but they do enough different things to upset the offense. Most teams have trouble running on Dallas."

The Dallas middle linebacker, Leroy Jordan, is "one of the greatest," according to Knox who pointed out, "He's a sure tackler and he's got six pass interceptions."

Knox didn't look worried as he spoke.

"Dallas has a great football team and great personnel but they're not unbeatable," he pointed out.

Ram runners Lawrence McCutcheon and Jim Bertelsen have a faculty for slashing through the line and cutting back for good yardage. McCutcheon gained 1,097 yards, a club record, and Bertelsen, a fine blocker, picked up 854.

"McCutcheon has real fine quickness," he said. "He has the ability to pick a hole. He has good straightaway speed move quickly to the side, but more importantly he can slash back and break away."

Knox is not predicting the outcome but says, "We're going to have to play mistake-free football to win."

Chaffey falls to Hilo again

HILO, HAWAII — Turnovers proved to costly for Chaffey College for the second night in a row as the Panthers dropped a 92-89 decision to Hilo College here.

Chaffey was guilty of 36 turnovers in the loss as Hilo built a 20-point lead in the second half before the Panthers rallied to make it close at the finish.

Forward Bob Kovach led Panther scoring and rebounding with 27 points and 12 rebounds. Russ Williams added 15 points, and guard Phil Merenda came off the bench to score 10.

The Panthers (5-5) return to the mainland at the end of the week and will play again at the San Joaquin Delta Tournament in Stockton, Dec. 27-29.

Chino alumni return to play varsity

CHINO — Chino High will host its Lettermen's Club Alumni Basketball Game Thursday night in the Cowboy gym at 8 p.m.

Alumni stars returning to the hardcourts Thursday evening will be Joe Murrillo (1965), Al Garnica (1970), John Monger (1966), Gary Weiberg (1966), Harvey Visser (1971), Rick Green (1971), Phil Pinto (1972), John Delgado (1963), Paul Delgado (1965), Henry Guillen (1952), Kenny Hay (1970) and Bob Fisk (1973).

Also returning to coach the Alumni, which will be playing this year's Chino varsity team, is veteran coach Frank Elder, who retired last year after 25 years of service.

The Alumni will don the famous Chino stripes, while the varsity will wear its regular game uniforms.

Admission to the Alumni-Varsity game will be 75 cents for students and $1.50 for adults.

San Diego passer leads Blues to win

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — Quarterback Jesse Freitas of San Diego State believes that in an all-star game like the Blue-Gray football classic, the best offense is to keep throwing the ball.

That's what he did Tuesday night, completing 14-of-23 passes for 168 yards and one touchdown as the Blues downed the Grays 20-14. For his efforts, Freitas was named the game's Most Valuable Player.

"In this kind of a game, you don't have as complicated an offense but they don't have as much time to prepare their defense," said Freitas, who led the nation in total offense last season. "In this kind of game, it's much easier to pass than run."

Freitas, who completed 8-of-9 passes in the first quarter, led the Blues on a 32-yard opening drive in six plays, capped by a three-yard scoring run by Pete Taggares of Washington.

Early in the second quarter the Blues battled deep into Gray territory only to stall on the 13-yard line. John Phillips of Xavier (Ohio) kicked a 29-yard field goal. He also kicked a 33-yard field goal in the fourth quarter to put the game away for the Blues.

Freitas capped a 38-yard scoring drive in the third quarter when he threw a 10-yard touchdown pass to Gehald Tinker of Kent State, an Olympic gold medal sprinter.

The Grays did all their scoring in the second quarter, with the first touchdown coming on a three-yard run by Barty Smith of Richmond, ending a 78-yard drive.

Then quarterback Carl Summerell of East Carolina, who completed 15-of-21 passes for 146 yards, threw a nine-yard scoring pass to Charles Dancer of Baylor with 38 seconds left inthe half.

The win was the first for the Blues in five years but the series stands at 20-14-1 in favor of the South.

The Grays drove to the Blue 10-yard line late in the first quarter but Chuck Ramsey's 27-yard field goal attempt was wide.

In the third quarter, Doug Nettles of Vanderbilt picked off a Freitas pass at the Gray 31 and returned ct 21 yards to the Blue 48. But Grays were unable to move the ball.

The Blues had two more chances at scoring in the third quarter when linebacker Cleveland Vann of Oklahoma State snared a Summerell pass and ran it back 15 yards to the Gray 38. Later, Cal Peterson of UCLA blocked a Ramsey punt and Barry Price of Oklahoma State recovered on the Gray 44. But neither time could the Blues capitalize for a score.

Pomona booters win first game

POMONA — Pomona High officially won its first soccer match of the season Tuesday afternoon against Ontario Christian.

The hosting Red Devils opened their season with the 2-1 victory with Mark Button and Bill Shegana scoring the two Devil goals.

Button assisted on Shegena's goal and Shegana returned the favor by assisting on Button's goal.

All three goals of the game came in the first half.

Pomona will now compete in the South Torrance Soccer Tournament today at 4 p.m. against San Gabriel in Torrance.

As usual, Ohio State says no to beef contest

LOS ANGELES — It's Beef Scrimmage time again at Lawry's The Prime Rib and, as usual, the USC Trojans will be making a pre-Rose Bowl Game stop at the La Cienega Blvd., restaurant.

John McKay's Pacific Eight champions will meet with the Southland's sports reporting corps Wednesday, making their sixth visit to Lawry's and the Rose Bowl in the past eight years.

And, also, as usual, Ohio State coach Woody Hayes has turned down an invitation for his Buckeyes to attend the Beef Scrimmage. He gave no reason, but Lawry's president Richard Frank wasn't surprised.

Hayes first refused the invitation in 1968, the first time a Rose Bowl team had done so in the history of the traditional event. Ohio State also declined in 1970 and '72.

Damien wins in tourney

Both Damien and Ontario opened tournament action with victories Tuesday afternoon.

Damien, going into the opening round of the Pius X Tournament with a 1-3 record, knocked off Bosco Tech in the opening round, 76-72.

Meanwhile, Ontario opened play in the Laguna Beach Tournament with an identical 1-3 slate and dumped Saddleback in the first round, 50-42.

In other non-league action Tuesday, Upland defeated Alta Loma by a 70-60 count.

It took a blistering third quarter by Damien to pull away from the stubborn Bosco Tech Techmen. The Spartans, led by Gerard Piccioni's nine points in the quarter, outscored the Techmen 23-15 in the third stanza after trailing by a 37-31 margin at halftime.

Bosco Tech did manage to catch the Spartans again in the fourth quarter and eventually tied the score at 71-all with a little under one minute left in the game. But Damien put on the full court press and forced Bosco Tech into two turnovers to turn the game around.

Piccioni and forward John Pignotti were the leading scorers for Damien with 17 points each. Forward Larry Pekarcik added 14 and guard Billy Karr pumped in 10 to give Damien four starters in double figures. Brian Krueger even came off the bench to score in double figures with 13 points.

Damien will now play Pius X tonight at 8 p.m. in the championship bracket of the tournament at St. John Bosco High in Bellflower.

After a 4-4 tie early in the game against Alta Loma, Upland dumped in points in the second quarter — paced by forward Curt Oldenkamp's 11 points. Oldenkamp finished the first half with 18 points and capped the day with 26 points.

Alta Loma installed the press in the third quarter and was able to trim the Upland lead to seven points. The Braves eventually pulled to within four points, 58-54, with 5:04 remaining in the game on guard Jamie Broecker's jumper — but that was as close as the Braves were going to get.

Along with Oldenkamp, other double-figure scorers for Upland included forward Orien Ogg with 13 points, center Stu DuVall with 14 and guard Mike Matusewicz with 10.

Center Jim Donaldson paced the Jaguars to their second win of the season with 21 points.

The Jags took a 28-21 lead at halftime and built it up to a 42-29 lead going into the final eight minutes of play. They then coasted in from there.

Ontario now faces Laguna Beach Thursday night at 6:30 p.m. in the second round of the championship bracket.

Vikes beat Glendale, enter Vegas tourney

LAS VEGAS — Garey High meets Reno at 5:15 p.m. Thursday in the first round of the Warrior Holiday Classic here at Western High.

In a prelude to the tourney, the Vikings topped Glendale, 64-58, Tuesday night in a single game at Glendale. Bill Evans with 23 points and Gary Carpenter with 18 points led Garey scoring in the victory.

In the tournament, Garey may get a chance to meet the top rated team in Nevada in host Western.

In other first round pairings Western faces Rancho of Las Vegas, Bishop Gorman meets Bullard of Fresno, and San Diego Military faces L.A. Lutheran.

Ontario course hosts international matches

ONTARIO — Top collegiate golfers from Japan and the U.S. will compete in matches here at Ontario National Golf Club beginning Thursday and continuing through Friday. A practice round was scheduled this morning.

U.S. Amateur Champion Craig Stadler and Walker Cup teammate Mark Pfeil of USC will lead the 40-man American team captained by USC golf coach Stan Wood.

Among those competing for the U.S. will be Bill Pharr, one of the top players in the Southern California Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (SCIAC) and a senior at Claremont Men's College.

The first round of the 54-hole matches will be four ball (partner best ball) beginning at 8 a.m. Thursday. Two rounds of head-to-head singles competition will be played Friday beginning at 7:30 a.m.

Chisox send hurler to Cubs

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Chicago White Sox Tuesday sent left handed pitcher Jim Kremmel to the Chicago Cubs as the fourth and final player in the deal that moved All-Star third baseman Ron Santo to the White Sox.

Kremmel, 25, a native of Belleville, Ill., played last season with Triple-A clubs at Tulsa, Okla., in the American Association, and Spokane, Wash., in the Pacific Coast League, and briefly with the Texas Rangers.

Ganesha bows in wrestling

CORONA — Ganesha High jumped out to a 15-0 lead Tuesday afternoon in a non-league wrestling match, but failed to come up with the big points in the heavier weights and lost a 47-17 decision to Corona.

Ganesha picked up victories in three of the first four weight divisions, but lost all but one of the final nine match-ups.

The only other bright spot was when the Giants' Charles Stewart, who is now 10-0-1 for the year, drew with Corona's Bob Holden.

Ganesha is now 1-10 for the season and won't see anymore action until the San Antonio League season begins Thursday, Jan. 10 against Montclair.

Oakland visitors play top defense

Williams finished the night with 12 points, nine rebounds and a game-high 11 assists. Gibson added 15 points and five assists.

St. Elizabeth of Oakland may be the most mysterious team in the tourney. The Mustangs won the Northern California championship last year, paced by All-American Wolfe Perry and super sophomore Northern Shavers.

But both Perry and Shavers have transferred to Oakland Tech (7-0), forcing first-year coach John Burks to transform a team that averaged 90 points per game in '72 into a defensive team this year.

The Mustangs paced by Louis Woods offensively and a quick zone defense, did something to Covina that no team has ever done to a Doc Sooter Colt team . . . kept them from scoring a field goal for an entire quarter.

Sooter has been at Covina 25 years. Since that time, the Colts have won 568 and lost 138 games. He has had 17 championships, 60 all-league players, 30 All-CIF ball players and one CIF Player of the Year. His teams have made the playoffs 18 times and his lowest finish at Covina has been third place. He was runnerup for Coach of the Year nationally in '69.

A St. Elizabeth quintet of Bruce Youngblood, Norm Eirstedt, Woods, Mike Dry and Darryl Nelson checked the Colts on eight field goal attempts. The only Covina points in the first quarter came on Rande Cuellar's two free throws with 3:37 to play.

Meanwhile, Woods singed the nets for 10 of his teams' 12 points, connecting on four of five from the field.

In fact, Covina didn't score its first field goal of the contest until the 4:27 mark of the second quarter. Rod Littlepage, 6-foot-10 center, who averages 19 points per game, banked a shot off the glass from eight feet out.

Covina played sloppy ball in the first half, committing 14 turnovers as it trailed 26-14 at the half.

St. Elizabeth called on its defense again in the third stanza to check the Colts on just four field goals on 15 attempts in extending its lead to 40-22.

At the outset of the final quarter, Burks emptied his bench in an attempt to give the Mustang reserves playing time.

The strategy proved to be most costly . . . to the point of near defeat.

The Colts put on a harrassing press that forced eight turnovers in the final eight minute stanza.

Slowly . . . at first . . . Covina began to cut intto its 18-point deficit. Then when the Colts trailed by just eight points with slightly over a minute to play, the St. Elizabeth turnovers occurred at a rapid pace.

The margin was cut to six . . . then four . . . then three. The Colts then got the ball out of bounds, via an errant pass, with two seconds remaining in the game.

With Burks shouting to his reserves on the court, "Don't move, just stand there. Let them have the bucket but don't anyone move a muscle," the Colts threw the ball into Littlepage, under the hoop, who softly dropped the ball through the hoop as the final buzzer sounded.

Littlepage, who being guarded by Woods for three periods, scored six points in the second quarter and 10 in the fourth (against the reserves) to finish the game with 16 points.

Woods finished the contest with 19 points, hitting on seven of 13 field goal attempts, and 12 rebounds. Cry and Youngblood tallied 11 points each while Eirstedt canned 10 points in the second half.

Five rookies play for NFC in Pro Bowl

NEW YORK (UPI) — Five rookies were named Wednesday to the National Football Conference Pro Bowl squad for the Jan. 20th contest in Kansas City.

The newcomers are tight end Charley Young of Philadelphia, running backs Lawrence McCutcheon of Los Angeles and Chuck Foreman of Minnesota, punter Tom Wittrum of San Francisco and kicker Nick Mike-Mayer of Atlanta.

McCutcheon was on the Los Angeles squad last year but officially qualifies as a rookie under NFL rules because he didn't line up for an offensive play and didn't appear on the special teams in five games.

The team was selected by the 13 NFC coaches, who weren't allowed to name players from their own squad.

The 40-man squad includes 20 offensive and 17 defensive players plus three specialists. Nineteen of the 40 players were voted for the first time.

Among the repeaters, defensive tackle Merlin Olsen was named for the 12th straight times in his 12-year NFL career and cornerback Mel Renfro was selected for the ninth time in nine seasons.

Outside linebacker Dave Wilcox of San Francisco was the only unanimous selection on the NFC squad.

One man whose name is conspicuous by its absence is Fran Tarkenton, the Minnesota Vikings' quarterback who's led his team to a 12-2 regular season record. Tarkenton was beaten out by John Hadl of Los Angeles and Roman Gabriel of Philadelphia.

Hadl is appearing on the NFC team for the first time after playing for the AFC three times. He was traded from San Diego to Los Angeles this year.

Despite Tarkenton's absence, Minnesota placed the most players on the squad—seven. Los Angeles and Dallas each placed six players on the team.

Four teams, Chicago, New Orleans, the New York Giants and the St. Louis Cardinals, failed to place a single player on the squad.

Cowboys say defense is better

DALLAS (UPI) — A great deal of football has been played since the Los Angeles Rams whipped the Dallas Cowboys five weeks deep into the season, 37-31.

Between then and now—or to be specific next Sunday when the two teams meet again in the NFC divisional playoffs— the Cowboys have altered somewhat.

At least star linebacker Lee Roy Jordan thinks they have, and it's hard to argue with him since Dallas put together three must victories at the end of the season which shoved the Cowboys into the playoffs for the eighth straight year—an NFL record.

"When we played Los Angeles before, it was the combination of 40 guys who were not ready to play," said Jordan, who Coach Tom Landry says has had the best of his 11 seasons as a pro.

"We began to wake up in the second half and made a comeback. We didn't get all the way back, but we made a game of it when we could have been really embarrassed."

The Cowboy defense had been embarrassed fairly well in the first half thanks to four touchdown passes from John Hadl to flanker Harold Jackson.

"We will throw some changeups at Jackson," said Jordan. "We've been changing up for the last few weeks and have been having some success against good receivers like Charley Taylor of Washington.

"Against Los Angeles we were just caught flat-footed and Hadl threw some perfect passes in there.

"At the end of the game I felt like they were no longer confident againt us. The Rams have a lot of new guys who have not been in this siatuion before (the playoffs). I feel confident we can take them."

In the last half of the season the Cowboy defense allowed more than one touchdown only once (two against Miami. And in the final three games of the season only one touchdown was scored against the Dallas defense. That came late in the game against Denver when the outcome was no longer in doubt.

The only touchdown scored by Washington in that critical game two weeks ago came on a blocked punt.

"I think our defense is comparable to the years we went to the Super Bowl," Jordan said. "And we have more offensive firepower now than we did. Still, the defense goes out there with the feeling that we have to shut the other team out.

"If we do that there is no way we can lose."

Edmontons Harrison leads All-Star voting

SANTA ANA, Calif. (UPI) — Edmonton Oilers' center Jim Harrison was the leading votegetter among 18 members of the World Hockey Association's Western Division all-star team, the WHA announced Tuesday.

Harrison received 59 votes and was named on 10 of 11 first-team ballots for the game to be played in St. Paul, Minn., on Jan. 3.

Ex-National Hockey League great Bobby Hull, now a Winnipeg Jet, was second in overall votes with 44 and was named on eight first team ballots. Hull, a former Chicago Black Hawk, will serve as playercoach in the WHA contest.

Another former NHL star, Gordie Howe, was named to the squad. Howe, of the Houston Aeros, was named to the third team right wing position, behind Frank Hughes of Houston and Danny Lawson of Vancouver.

Goaltender Jack Norris of Edmonton also polled eight first place ballots to earn a spot on the starting squad. Also named to the starting team were John Garrett of Minnesota and Ernie Wakely of Winnipeg.

Other selections to the squad include:

Ron Climie, Edmonton; Marc Tardif, Los Angeles; Mike Walton, Minnesota; Larry Lund, Houston; Al Hamilton, Edmonton; Larry Hornung, Winnipeg; Rick Smith, Minnesota; Paul Popiel, Houston; Bart Crashley and Gerry Odrowski, Los Angeles.

Taylor returns to Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Veteran infielder Tony Taylor, released earlier this month by the Detroit Tigers, has rejoined the Philadelphia Phillies.

A team spokesman said Taylor, 38, was signed Tuesday by the National League Club. The Phillies traded Taylor to the Tigers in 1971 for two minor league pitchers.

Buckeyes hurt by cold spell

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — The Ohio State Buckeyes worked out in French Field House Tuesday because of cold weather in preparation for the Rose Bowl game Jan. 1 against Southern California.

Five players missed the workouts because they were snowbound in the East.

Missing the practice were offensive tackle Scott Dannelley of Williamsport, Pa.; defenive back Carl Kern of Dallas, Pa.; quarterback Cornelius Greene and tailback Woody Roach, both of Washington, D.C., and tailback Archie Griffin of Columbus, Ohio, who had gone home for the weekend with Greene.

Sharks fall to Blazers

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Ron Plumb and John Migneault scored power play goals in the second period Tuesday night to spark the Vancouver Blazers to a 5-2 World Hockey Association win over the Los Angeles Sharks.

Goalie Peter Donnelly turned away 16 Sharks' shots during the crucial second period when the Blazers broke open a 2-2 tie.

Garry Veneruzzo scored both Los Angeles goals, getting assists from Brian McDonald and J.P. LeBlanc each time. Both came in the first period, the first on an 18-footer and the second on a breakaway.

Dennis Meloche and Michel Plante tied the game with two scores within a 40-second span in the first period.

After Plumb and Migenault broke the game open in the second period, Plumb came back in the third period and scored the final goal at 13:53.

Riverside hosts NASCAR opener

RIVERSIDE — For the 12th consecutive year, America's major professional auto racing season will open in Southern California with a 500-mile stock car race at Riverside International Raceway.

The Winston Western 500, sanctioned by the National Association for Stock Car Automobile Racing (NASCAR), will be held on Sunday, January 20, and carry a purse of more than $100,000.

The Winston Western 500 is one of just two Grand National stock car races held on a road course. The other, the Tuborg 400, is also held at Riverside in June.

Drivers expected to compete in the January race include four-time NASCAR champion Richard Petty, Driver of the Year David Pearson, Bobby Allison, Cale Yarborough, Buddy Baker and West Coast stars Ray Elder, Hershel McGriff and Jack McCoy.

Gary Bettenhausen, a veteran Indianapolis driver is also expected to be entered by Roger Penske to drive a new 1974 American Motors Matador. A Matador, driven by the recently retired Mark Donohue, won this event a year ago.

Co-featured with the Winston Western 500 will be the eighth running of the Permatex 200 on Saturday, January 19. The Permatex race, which carries a purse of more than $20,000 is the premiere event of the year for West Coast sportsman car drivers.

Lee Richter, president of Riverside Raceway, said tickets for both events are now on sale at all Sears Ticketron, Liberty agencies, Wallich's Music City Stores and at the Raceway.

Foyt enters first for Daytona 500

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. — A. J. Foyt, one of the most talented and colorful competitors in auto racing, is the first driver to confirm an entry in the 16th annual Daytona 500 set for a 12 noon start Sunday, Feb. 17, at Daytona International Speedway.

The legendary driver from Houston, Texas, who recently overcame a serious bout with hepatitis, will drive a 1974 Chevelle Laguna in the rich Winston Cup stock car classic. Foyt won the premier NASCAR Grand National 500-miler in 1972 with a Mercury.

Foyt, three-time Indianapolis 500 winner and USAC's all-time record holder in practically every division of competition, will be seeing "double-duty" when the SPEED WEEKS action kicks off. He's one of six drivers who qualified for the finals in the International Race of Champions (IROC).

Foyt will join David Pearson, Mark Donohue, Peter Revson, George Follmer and Bobby Unser in the unique IROC road race set for Friday, Feb. 15. The competitors will draw for cars from among six identical Porsche Carreras prior to the $65,000 finale.

Foyt's Chevrolet for the Daytona 500-mile Grand National event is being prepared by veteran stock car mechanic Banjo Matthews of Asheville, N. C.

Foyt will be among the favorites when pole position qualifying runs for the Daytona 500 being Saturday, Feb. 9. He'll also be one of the top contenders Thursday, Feb. 14, when two 125-mile qualifying races over the 2.5-mile trioval determine the starting order for the rich 500-miler.

Motocross racing still held at Indian Dunes

VALENCIA — With resumption of motocross racing on Saturdays, starting this Saturday, Indian Dunes Park near Saugus will again become a battleground three times a week for motorcycle competition on the dirt obstacle tracks.

Running under sanction of American Motocross Enterprises of Hawthorne, the Saturday programs, which begin at 10 a.m., will be in addition to regularly scheduled races every Friday night and during daytime shows on Sundays.

Large fields of minibike and minicycle riders will continue their competition events, on a course separate from that used by the big bikes, on the first and third Sundays of each month for the remainder of the winter seasons, while tri-wheeler racing is featured the second Sunday of every month.

Kenny Zahrt of Canoga Park, who swept to overall victories against all three professional riding divisions in his most recent motocross encounter at the 'Dunes, is considered as the man to beat in races this weekend at the Valencia-based speed complex.

Among top riders expected to furnish young Zahrt his closet "go' for the cash purses that will be awarded professionals are Eddie Cole of Saugus, Jeff Blix of West Los Angeles, and Bill Payne of Simi, all of whom are currently leading their respective divisions in the point standings for the 1973 racing season.

Indian Dunes Park is located on Highway 126, two miles west of its junction with the Golden State Freeway.

Action picking up in managerial talks

BOSTON (UPI) — Action was expected to pick up today in the American league hearings on broken managerial contracts as Dick Williams and his past present boss, Charles O. Finley, were called before President Joe Cronin.

Williams, like Ralph Houk who testified at league hearings Tuesday, bailed out of a major league contract to sign with another club while two years still remained on the original pact.

Cronin, acting as judge in accordance with the American League constitution, must decide what compensation—if any —Finley deserves for letting Williams abandon his Oakland contract and what recompense Yankees President Gabe Paul will receive for allowing Houk to sign with the Detroit Tigers.

No decision was expected today.

The hearings apparently went quietly Tuesday, with all parties smiling at meet-the-press time. But no grins were expected today after Finley, who filed suit to restrain Williams from managing anywhere but Oakland in the next two years, and Williams testify before Cronin.

Finley said after filing the suit Tuesday he would drop the action if the Yankees gave adequate compensation for signing Williams.

Finley said Willams 'can go with our blessing if we're properly compensated. If we get proper compensation, we'll withdraw the suit. If not, the suit stands."

The Oakland owner said he turned down the original Yankee offer of infielder-outfielder Horace Clarke and a later offer of $150,000 spread over three years and "a couple of minor league players who didn't know the back from the front of a jockstrap."

Williams declined comment on Finley's suit but said upon his arrival for the hearings he was "optimistic I will manage the Yankees next year. I already signed a contract."

Cronin, who retires Jan. 1, said he will rule on the Williams and Houk jumps "as soon as possible" but added that no decision would be reached immediately.

"First I have to hear all the evidence from all sides, then I have to weigh it. As an old shortstop with just a curbstone knowledge of the law, I have a formal study," said Cronin, who will be replaced by present Yankee General Manager Lee MacPhail.

Both Williams and Houk have said they received verbal agreement from their owners to sign with other clubs.

When the Tigers signed Houk, they believed there would be no repurcussions but then Finley refused to allow the Yankees to talk to Williams the Yankees then said Detroit never asked permission to talk to Houk and also sought compensation.

Houk testified at Tuesday's four-hour meeting along with Paul, MacPhail and Detroit General Manager Jim Campbell and his assistant Rick Ferrell. Both sides were accompanied by counsel. Finley and Williams were to speak today along with Paul, who was to explain the Yankee side of the major league soap opera.

Finley's contentions, as spelled out in the suit filed in U.S. District Court in San Franciso, are many. His petition states Williams' service as a manager are "special, unique, unusual, extraordinary and of unusual character" and that the loss of the manger would result in "irreparable injury and damage to the club."

The suit also noted that by winning two straight World Series with Oakland, Williams has become extremely popular and "a great factor in attendance, gate receipts, success of the Athletics on the playing field and the financial success of the Athletics."

Finley said additionally he had spent great sums of money to enhance Williams' popularity and to shape "the playing personnel of the Athletics to suit the style of play followed by Williams."

And, Finley said, Oakland "employed four coaches who are personal friends of Williams and whose skills and value are uniquely dependent on their ability to work with Williams."

Majors voted top coach

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI) — Pittsburgh's Johnny Majors edged Oklahoma rookie coach Barry Switzer for the Football Writers Association of America's "Coach of the Year" award, it was announced Weednesday.

The association said Majors, who converted Pitt from a 10-time loser to a bowl participant in one season, received 151 votes to 130 for Switzer, whose probation-strapped Sooners compiled a 10-0-1 record and No. 2 national ranking.

Majors' Panthers play Arizona State in the Fiesta Bowl in Phoenix, Ariz., Friday.

Recreation

Pomona's first season of girls soccer is about to come to a successful conclusion. Championship playoffs will be played on Saturday at Palomares Park beginning at 11 p.m. Three games are on tap.

The intial year of the Pomona Park and Recreation Department's sponsored program has had its share of ups and downs. What youth league doesn't? Especially one on its first trip.

The volunteer coaches and their fine work have been one of the strongest points. Mrs. Dave Hughlock, Evelyn Wilbur, Thema Richardson, Anelica Dow, Judith Fugua, Madlyn Norman, Larry Hanks and Ron Flint have contributed heavily in time and hard work.

The coaches handled eight teams that made up two division. Their efforts to teach girls a sport that most had never played will be obvious to those who watch Saturday's playoffs. The individual as well as team improvement has been unbelievable.

Three young ladies who deserve a pat on the back are recreation leaders Dorothy Dun, Betty Kurtzer and Odette Simpson. They have been the coordinators, referees, and anything else that needed to be taken care of.

The trio has had considerable background in sports. However, prior to this fall, soccer wasn't on their list. Someone handed them a copy of the Laws of Soccer and a league schedule and said, "Go out and do a job."

We have mentioned that the program had a few minus factors. The first was the failure to register enough girls for an older division that would have allowed those in the seventh, eighth, and ninth grade to play. Only 20 signed up, and after a great deal of effort to find more, the division had to be dropped.

Variance of age

This brings up the major problem in the program. The great variance of age. Teams made up of girls primarily in the nine and ten year old category competed against squads composed of basically 11 and 12 year olds.

The great difference came about in two ways. One, girls were registered by grades; fourth, fifth and sixth. Secondly, they were placed on teams that had a close proximity to their residence. It was felt this would help in travel to and from practice and games.

The residence idea is a good one, but the grade breakdown rather than age will be changed. Next year the girls will have three divisions identical to the boys program. Division I, for the 13 to 15 year olds; Division II for 10 to 12 year olds, and Division III for the seven to nine year olds will make a big difference.

The last complaint has been on the shortness of the schedule. The boys and girls leagues both began in mid-October. The boys finish up in early February while the girls are through this weekend.

It is quite probable this will also change next year. As pointed out here last week, the basketball program has grown so much that gym space may be a problem. It might be well to offset some of the season. Beginning girls basketball in late February will help both activities.

On Saturday, two undefeated squads, the Majestics of the Blue League and the Imperials of the Red League, meet for the league championship at 1 p.m. Both have identical 6-0 marks.

The Pintos, second, and Daffodils, third, will represent the Red League in the remaining two games. Their opponents will be the Hawks and Picadilly's. The match ups will be decided after a playooff between the two blue League entrants who posted identical 3-3 records. The time of that game had not been set at this writing.

The addition of girls soccer to the local sports scene has been a positive move. A few years ago there were no organized leagues for girls, now we have softball, basketball and soccer. It is nice to see progress in action.

Two Claremont clubs enjoy big soccer wins

CLAREMONT — The Claremont Stars scored their 10th shutout of the Pacific Soccer League season by blanking the Costa Mesa Coast Rangers, 13-0, in a Division Five game.

Allen Pitts and Henry Gonzales led the scoring with four goals apiece followed by Tom Carry with two plus one apiece by Steve Mason, Larry Jackson and Mark Harris. The Stars host St. Stephen's at noon Saturday at El Roble Intermediate School.

Meanwhile, the Division 4 Spittin' Image Knights scored an 8-1 victory over the Garden Grove Internationals. Pat Jones led the way with two goals while Ray Calderon, Greg Brich, Jim Bently, Todd Sturgis, Todd Hart and Tony Massagli contributed one apiece. The Knights travel to Pico Rivera on Jan. 5 to determine the championship. They are currently tied in the championship round.

Pomona QB, Azusa back on NAIA list

Quarterback Larry Cenotto of Pomona-Pitzer and running back Jim Farmer of Azusa Pacific have been given honorable mention on the 1973 NAIA All-America football team.

Both palyers are juniors and will be playing again next year.

Cenotto was the leading passer and total offense leader in the Southern California Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (SCIAC). The 6-1, 185 pounder from Jackson, Calif., was a first-team selection on both the all-Conference and all-district football teams.

Farmer playing for independent APC, set a single season rushing record for the school. The 6-1, 200 pounder gained 1,132 yards and averaged 7.2 yards per carry. He, too, was a first-team all-district pick.

Broncos honor Johnson, Smith

DENVER (UPI) — The Denver Broncos Tuesday voted the Earl F. Hartman Memorial Awards to veteran quarterback Charley Johnson and defensive tackle Paul Smith.

The awards, named in honor of the late Earl Hartman, former business manager of Rocky Mountain Empire Sports, go annually to the best offensive and defensive players as selected by their colleagues.

Last year—the first year the awards were given—the honor went to Smith and running back Floyd Little.

Both Johnson and Smith are New Mexico products. Johnson, 35, former quarterback at St. Louis and Houston before coming to Denver in 1972, is a graduate of New Mexico State. Smith, 6-3, 256 pounds, played college ball at New Mexico.

THE THOUGHTFUL GIFT

A home-baked bread is one of the nicest gifts for a neighbor or friend during this busy season, and this Apricot Savarin uses an old-fashioned secret, mashed potatoes, that keeps the bread moist longer. Generously butter a nine-inch tube or bundt pan, sprinkle with ½ cup finely chopped blanched almonds and turn pan to coat evenly. Stir together 3 cups all-purpose flour, ¼ cup instant mashed potato granules, ½ cup sugar, 1 teaspoon lemon peel and ¾ teaspoon salt. Add 2 packages active dry yeast to 1-3rd of the flour mixture in a mixing bowl. Combine ¾ cup milk and ¾ cup butter in a pan and heat until very warm to the touch. Butter does not have to melt. Add the warm liquid to the yeast-flour mixture in bowl; beat two minutes at medium speed, scraping bowl occasionally. Add ½ cup more of the flour mixture and 4 eggs. Beat two more minutes, scraping bowl occasionally. Stir in remaining flour mixture and 1 cup golden raisins. Spoon into prepared pan. Cover and let rise in warm place until light and double in size, about 45 to 60 minutes. Bake at 350 degrees for 35 to 40 minutes, until deep golden brown. Remove from pan. Prepare Sherry Apricot Glaze by combining in small saucepan ½ cup apricot preserves, ½ cup water, ½ cup cream sherry or ruby port wine and ¼ cup sugar. Simmer together for 3 or 4 minutes. Pour half the hot glaze into bread pan. Return savarin to pan and pour on remaining glaze. Let stand several hours, then turn out onto serving plate.

No time to make bread? try these

Bread baking is richly satisfying to the baker and rewarding to those lucky enough to enjoy the bounty.

Making good yeast bread can be time-consuming but breads leavened with baking powder and baking soda are quick and easy for those who have time problems. Interesting breads for the holidays include a Molasses Health Bread made with wheat germ, yogurt and orange juice; Raisin Date and Nut Bread, and a Butterscotch Nut Bread with pecans or walnuts. All are nutritious and tasty as dessert snacks and or for sandwiches.

You can slice these breads while they are still warm from the oven. However, they are better in flavor and texture if they are stored overnight.

MOLASSES HEALTH BREAD

2¾ cups sifted all-purpose flour
1½ teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon baking soda
1½ teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon mace
1 cup sugar
¼ cup wheat germ
1 cup dark raisins, chopped
1 tablespoon grated orange peel
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 container (8 ounce) plain yogurt
1-3rd cup dark molasses
¼ cup orange juice
¼ cup melted shortening
Confectioners' sugar (optional)

Into a large mixing bowl, sift together flour, baking powder, baking soda, salt, cinnamon, mace and sugar. Stir in wheat germ, raisins and orange peel. In medium-size bowl, combine eggs, yogurt, molasses and orange juice. Add to flour mixture and stir just until flour is dampenedm Stir in shortening ann mix just until flour is dampened. Stir in shortening and mix just until blended. Pour batter into well greased 9 x 5 x 4-inch loaf pan. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven for 1 hour 10 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out dry. Cool 10 minutes; remove from pan to wire rack; cool completely. Wrap in foil or plastic wrap and store overnight for easy slicing. Dust with confectioners' sugar, if desired. Makes 1 loaf.

RAISIN DATE AND NUT BREAD

3 cups sifted all-purpose flour
½ cup sugar
2½ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup chopped walnuts
1 cup chopped dates
1 cup dark raisins
1 egg
1 cup milk
½ cup light molasses
3 tablespoons vegetable oil
Butter or cream cheese (optional)

In large mixing bowl, sift together flour, sugar, baking powder, baking soda and salt. Stir in walnuts, dates and raisins. In small bowl, mix egg, milk, molasses and oil. Add to flour mixture; stir just until evenly moist. Turn into greased 9 x 5 x 3-inch loaf pan. Bake in a preheated 350 degree oven for 1 hour or until wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool in pan on wire rack 10 minutes. Loosen around edges; turn out onto wire rack; cool completely. Wrap in foil or plastic wrap. Store overnight to mellow flavors. Cut into thin slices. Spread with butter or cream cheese, if desired. Makes 1 loaf.

BUTTERSCOTCH NUT BREAD

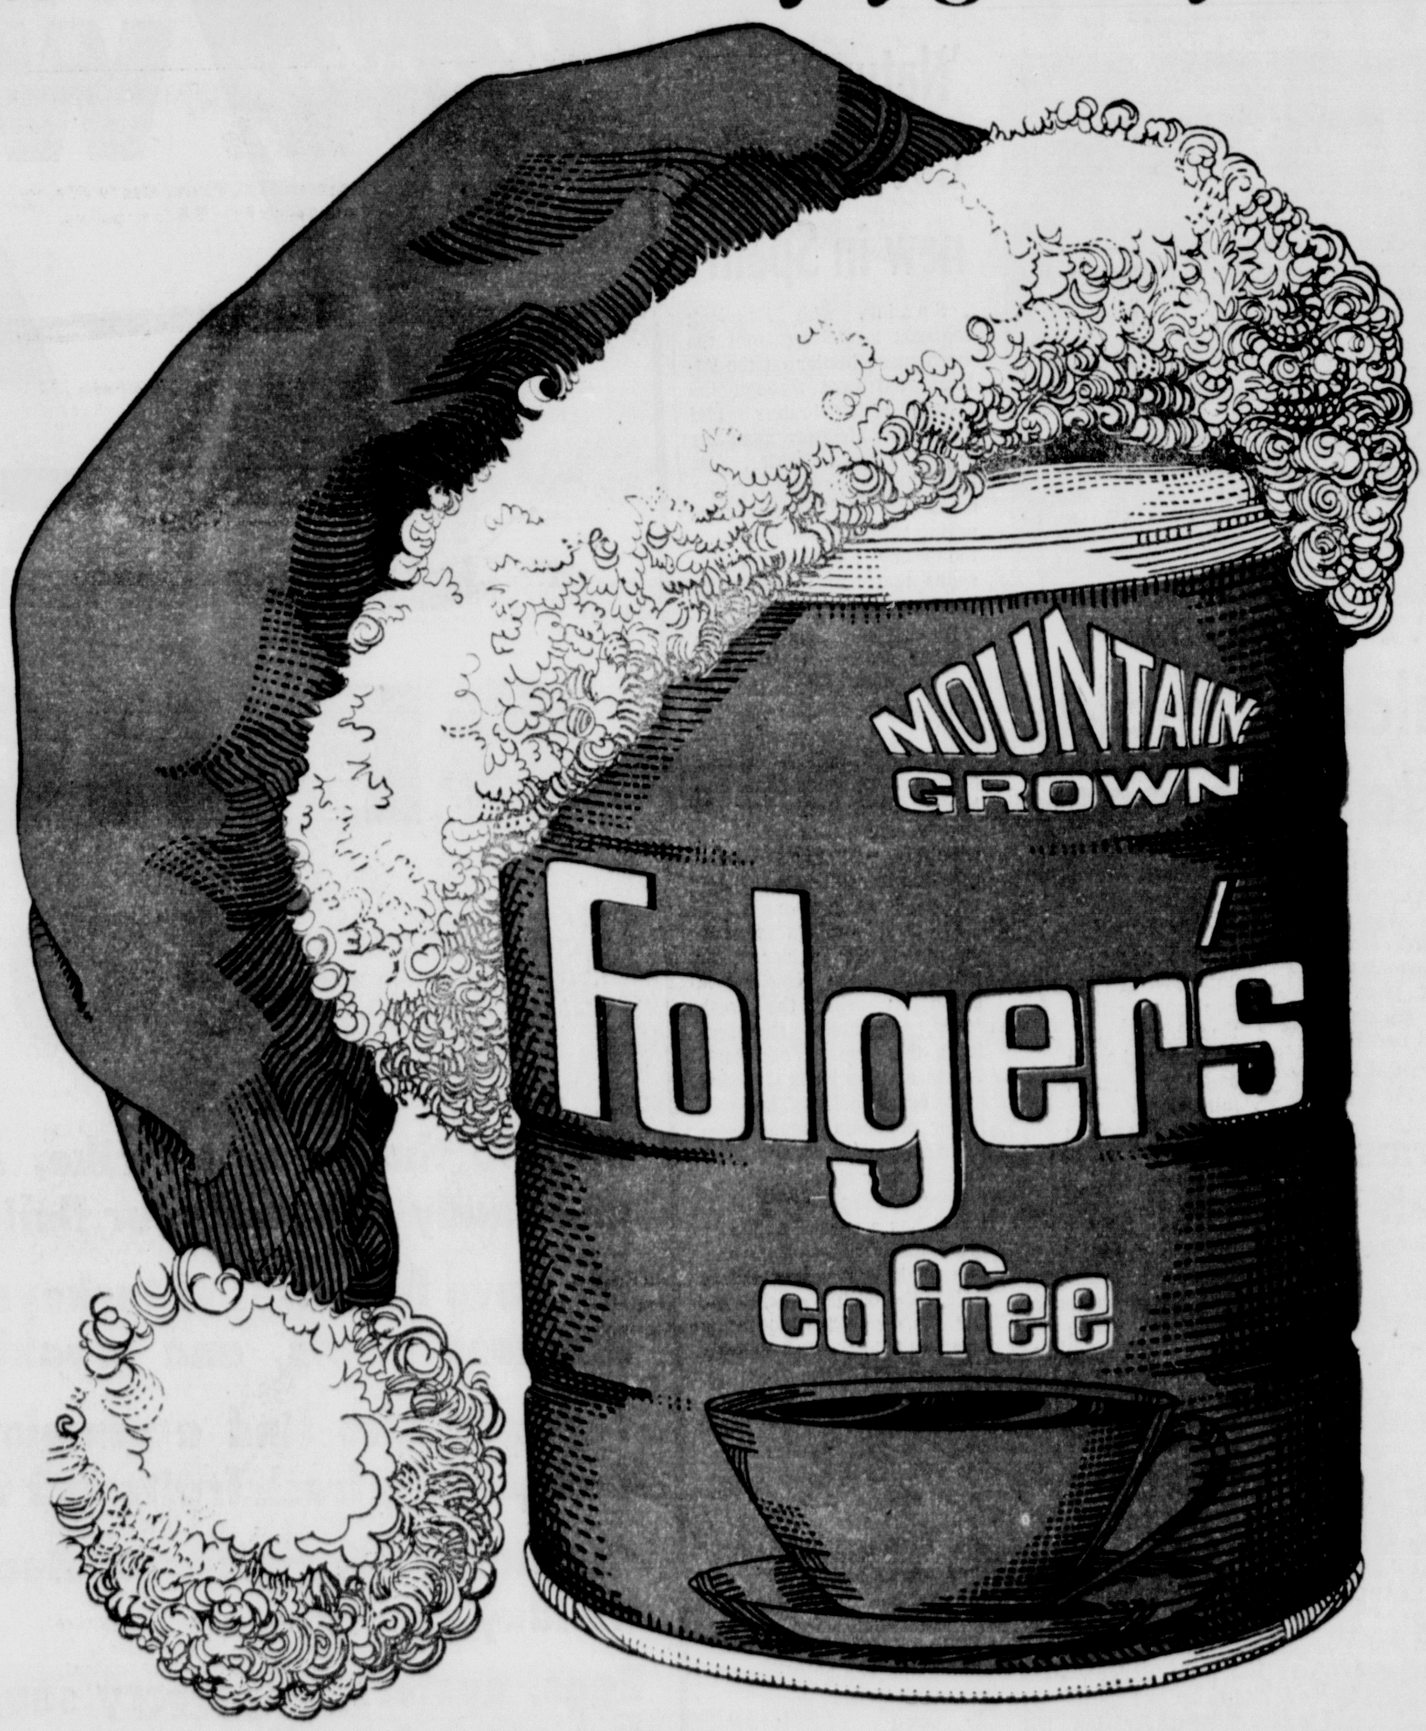
3 cups sifted all-purpose flour
2½ teaspoons baking powder
1¼ teaspoon salt
R teaspoon baking soda
¼ cup butter or margarine
1 cup sugar
¼ cup light molasses
1 egg
1¼ cups milk
1 cup finely chopped pecans or walnuts
Confectioners' sugar frosting (optional)

On to waxed paper, sift together flour, baking powder, salt and baking soda. In large bowl, cream butter. Add sugar and molasses and beat until light and fluffy. Add egg, beating well. Add flour mixture alternately with the milk, beating until smooth after each addition. Fold in nuts. Pour batter into a well-greased 9 x 5 x 3-inch loaf pan. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven for 1 to 1¼ hours. Remove from pan and cool on a wire rack. Wrap bread in foil or plastic wrap and store overnight for easy slicing. Frost, if desired. Makes 1 loaf.

Wrong number for Santa calls

BIRMINGHAM, England (UPI) — Post Office engineer Eric Webbley spent several hours trying to convince callers that he was not Santa Claus before he discovered the post office had given his office number in error for the "dial a story from Santa" service.

'Tis the season to enjoy great flavor.



And a nice time to save money.

Holiday dinners and get-togethers deserve great tasting coffee. Folger's. Folger's is blended special for great taste. And it smells so good you can taste it, even before you taste it.

Folger's is mountain grown. That's the richest kind of coffee there is. Taste something really good. And save a little Christmas money, too.

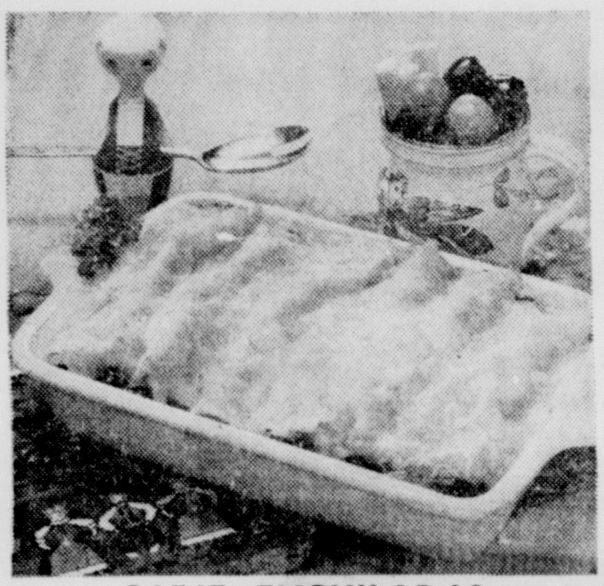
Main attraction

This centerpiece cornucopia is edible down to the last crumb of crisp meringue. Shape a cornucopia about 11 inches long by 6½ inches wide at the mouth by using aluminum foil. Pierce the foil with a knife to allow air to pass through. Bend the foil to make the tipped cornucopia shape and flatten the bottom slightly to make it stand firmly on a baking sheet. Beat 6 egg whites with a pinch of salt until foamy Add ½ teaspoon cream of tartar and continue to beat until egg whites stand in soft peaks. Gradually add 1½ cups superfine sugar and beat until very stiff. Fold in 2 teaspoons vanilla. Spread meringue thickly to cover cornucopia and bake at 250 degrees for about an hour or until meringue is dry and crisp. Turn off the heat and let meringue stand in the oven with the door closed several hours or over night. Cover loosely and store in a dry place for later use. To prepare for the table, stuff the meringue with a selection of dried fruits, including prunes, raisins and apricots. For an extra touch, tuck pieces of nuts and miniature marshmallows in the dimples of the prunes.



OLIVE ENCHILADAS

Enchiladas make entertaining easy

Students home for the holidays enjoy entertaining their friends and a dish that goes a long way keeps the family budget within bounds at this expensive time of year. A Ripe Olive Swiss Enchilada can be made ahead and then heated for a late evening party after a dance or ballgame. Serve with salad, fruit or ice cream for dessert.

RIPE OLIVE SWISS ENCHILADAS

- 1 cup canned pitted ripe olives
- ½ cup chopped onion
- 1 small clove garlic, minced
- 1 tablespoon cooking oil
- 1 (1 pound) can tomatoes
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon white pepper
- 3 tablespoons chopped canned green chile
- 1½ cups diced cooked chicken
- 2 chicken bouillon cubes
- 1 cup light cream
- 6 large flour or corn tortillas
- Oil for frying (about 1 cup)
- 1½ cups grated Jack or Muenster cheese

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Drain ripe olives and cut into large wedges. Heat oil. Add onion and garlic and cook until tender but not brown. Add tomatoes, salt, pepper and green chile to onion. Cook gently for 15 minutes. Remove from heat; add ripe olives and chicken. Crumble bouillon cubes into cream. Heat cream, stirring until bouillon cubes are dissolved. Pour into a shallow dish. Heat oil and fry each tortilla lightly until puffed and tinged with brown. Drain on paper towels. Dip fried tortillas, one at a time, in cream to soften. Remove from cream. Divide the ripe olive-chicken mixture between the tortillas. Roll up each filled tortilla. Place seam-side down in medium-size baking dish. Pour any remaining cream over tortillas. Top with cheese. Bake in oven for 25 minutes until well heated. Makes 6 servings.

Cranberries tangy dish

The holiday season suddenly is here and many are caught with few plans for dressing up traditional turkey, ham or chicken dishes. Although cranberries now go into many year-round dishes they still make a tangy and cheerily bright accompaniment for holiday foods. A Cranberry-Vegetable Aspic Mold is ideal for company and can be prepared in advance.

CRANBERRY VEGETABLE ASPIC MOLD

- 2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
- 2 cups cranberry juice cocktail
- 2 cups apple juice
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1 small onion, grated
- 1 cup fresh cranberries, rinsed, drained and ground
- 1 cup drained cooked sliced carrots
- 1 cup sliced raw celery

Sprinkle gelatin over ½ cup cranberry juice. Let stand 5 minutes to soften. Stir over low heat until gelatin is dissolved. Add remaining cranberry juice, apple juice and lemon juice. Blend well. Chill until thickened. Fold in remaining ingredients. Pour mixture into 2-quart mold. Chill until firm. Unmold and garnish with crisp salad greens. Serve with salad dressing, if desried. Makes 9 servings or 2-quart mold.

'Natural' Cooking not new in Spain

Spain, with its long seacoast stretching from the Portuguese border on the Atlantic eastward through the Strait of Gibraltar and around the Mediterranean Sea to the French border, has long been famous for its many and varied ways of preparing "fruits of the sea" . . . the many fish and crustaceans that abound along its coasts.

On the East coast of Spain lies the province of Valencia, an area known for its oranges, too. So it is only natural that a very special recipe for fish with a delicate orange sauce would come into being. Other products native to Spain are used . . . wine and probably the most common ingredient in Spanish recipes, Spanish olive oil.

"Natural" cooking is nothing new to the Spaniards, for this distinctive cuisine is based on using the fresh fruits, vegetables, and seafoods that are so abundant. Spices and herbs are needed only occasionally. The real flavor of Spain comes from preparing the many fresh foods in their olive oil. The oil is light and not overpowering, and it has a special ability to blend many different flavors in a single good-tasting dish.

Here the oil has another talent, too. For when it is combined with just a little butter in sauteeing the fish, it keeps the butter from burning. So the fresh sweet taste of the butter remains, too. You will find this simple dish has an elegant flavor.

FISH WITH ORANGE SAUCE

- 2 pounds fillet of halibut
- 2 tablespoons Spanish olive oil
- 1 tablespoon butter
- 3 tablespoons minced onion
- 1½ cups orange juice
- 1 teaspoon grated orange rind
- ½ cup dry white wine
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper

Saute the fish in olive oil and butter until golden on one side; turn, add onion to the oil around the fish, cook over moderate heat until onion is soft and the fish golden on the other side. Remove fish to platter. Add orange juice, rind, wine, salt and pepper to oil mixture in pan. Simmer 10 minutes. Return fish to pan and cook, uncovered, over medium heat 10 minutes longer, or until flesh is firm. Serve fish with sauce. Makes 6 servings.

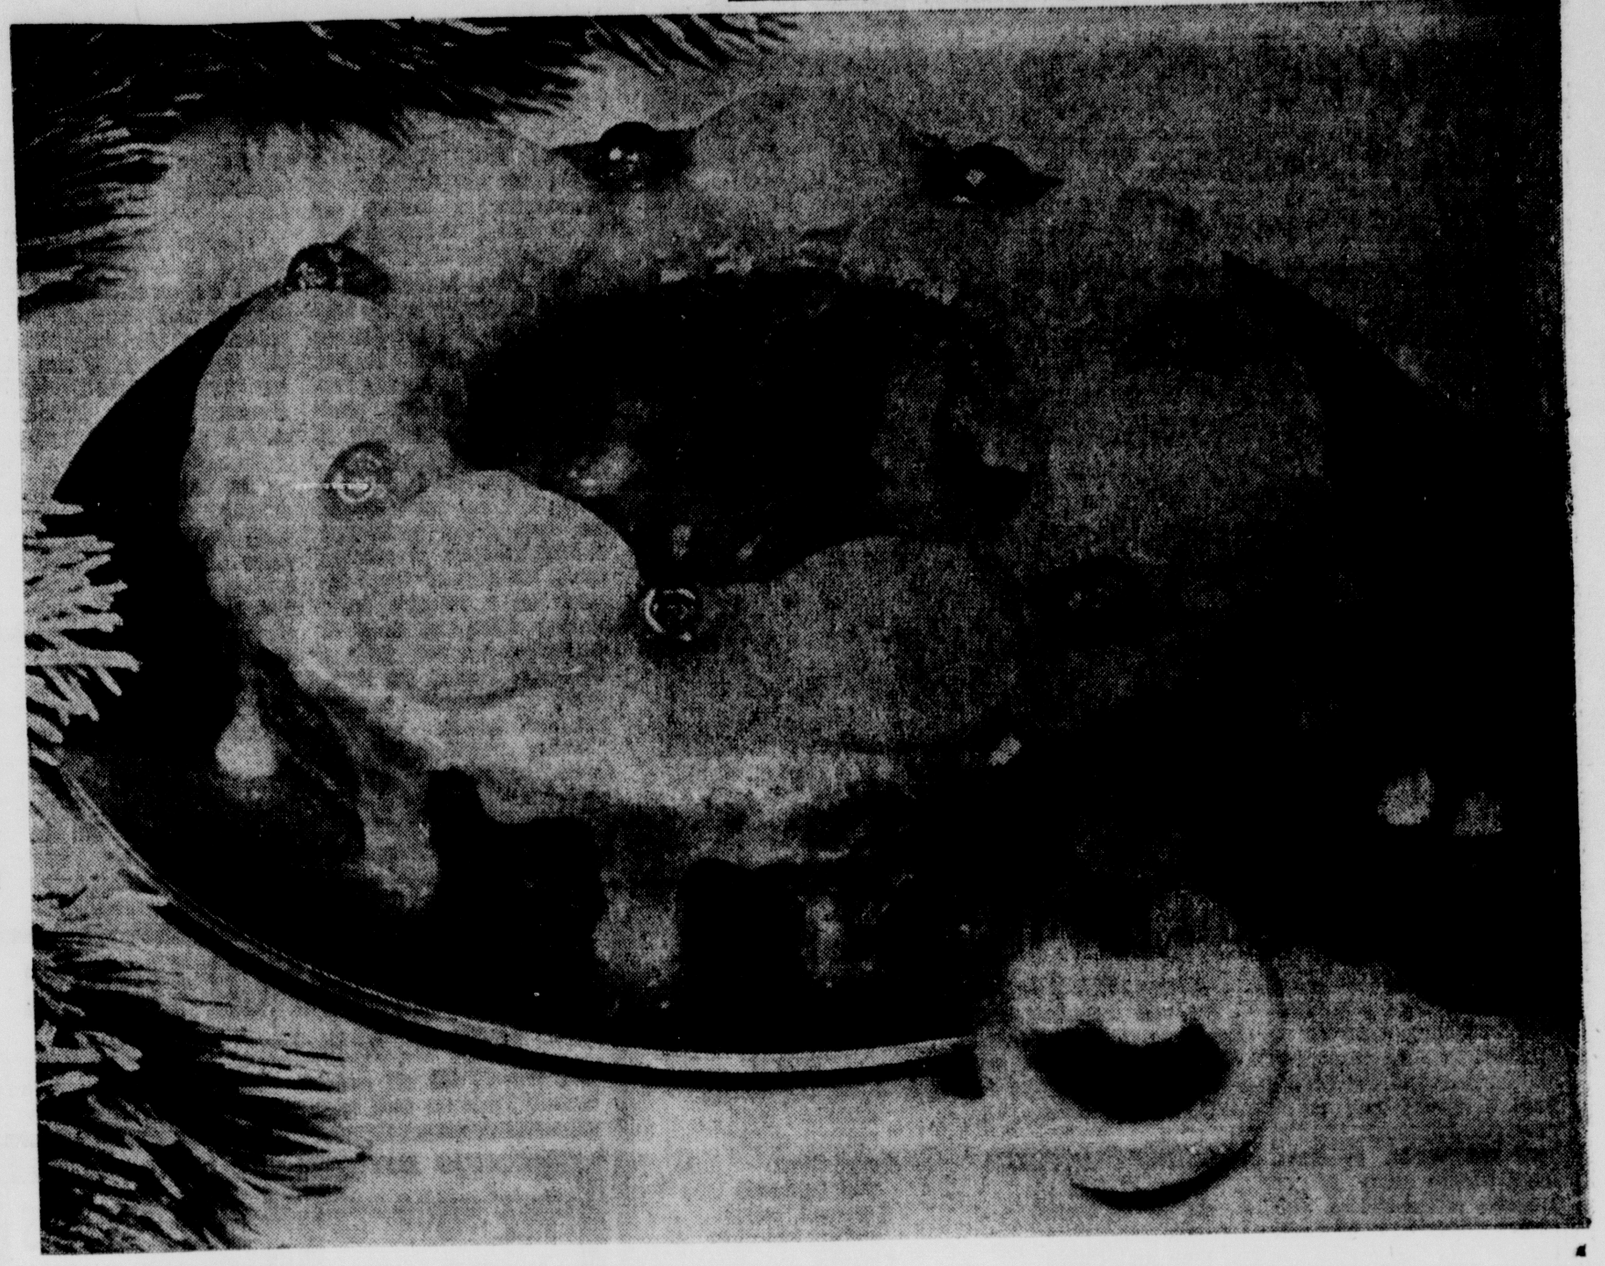
APRICOT NUT AMBROSIA RING



Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Grease and flour bottom of 1½-quart ring mold. In large bowl, combine 1 package apricot nut or nut bread mix, ¾ cup drained, crushed pineapple, ½ teaspoon cinnamon, 1 cup apricot nectar or water and 1 egg. Stir until thoroughly combined, then pour into prepared pan. Bake about 1 hour until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool 15 minutes, then remove from pan. Place right side up on serving plate. In saucepan, combine 4 teaspoons cornstarch, 1 cup apricot nectar, 2 tablespoons brandy or brandy extract if desired. Heat, stirring constantly, until mixture bubbles and thickens. Arrange halves of canned apricots on top of bread. Spoon topping over bread and apricot halves. Garnish with candied fruit, if desired. Powdered sugar glaze may be substituted for the topping. Serve warm or cold. Above 5,200 feet, add an extra tablespoon of flour to the batter and bake at 375 degrees for an hour.

BARBECUED MEATBALL SURPRISE

These aren't ordinary meatballs. There's a surprise in each one. Combine 2 slightly beaten eggs, 1 cup mashed potato flakes and 1 teaspoon salt in mixing bowl. Add 1½ pounds ground beef and mix lightly. Shape into 12 or 15 meatballs, placing a cube of cheese or small chunk of pickle in the center of each. Cook in 2 tablespoons shortening in large skillet, turning to brown all sides. Pour off excess fat. Add ¾ cup barbecue sauce and ¼ cup water. Cover and simmer 10 to 15 minutes. Prepare baked apples for a compatible dessert.

Soybeans studied at meet

A World Soy Protein Conference was held in Munich, Germany, recently to analyze and to provide information on the value of soy protein in the human diet. Technological improvements in the processing of the soybean into ingredients easily and quickly prepared for human consumption were high on the agenda.

In general the purpose was to pinpoint soy potential as a food for people. It is a roaring success as cattle food and a leading cash crop for U.S. farmers based on livestock feeding. There are signs of growing interest in soy products as a basic and acceptable protein food for humans.

But even at the conference there was a gap.

Dr. Fred R. Senti explained, "The conference stressed the processed form of soybeans. It gave no attention to dried soybeans to cook at home. The thinking was that most women today don't want to spend time in the kitchen. Soybeans require hours of cooking." Senti, of the USDA Agricultural Research Service, was program committee chairman.

Food technology plays an important role in the soy picture. To transform soybeans into soy flour and soy concentrates demands skill. Full-fatted and defatted soy flour is used by bakers. Soy flour mixed with whey can replace non-fat dry milk in bread. It is much cheaper. Soy isolated protein is used to fortify foods deficient in protein content. Extended textured soy protein is used in analogues — food in which soy is used to simulate ham, chicken, seafood, etc., in appearance and taste.

"Some say they cannot tell the difference between the analogue and the fresh meat product. Others say they can. Continued progress in technology will narrow the difference" Senti said.

"Use of textured soy protein—in meat or in analogues—is in a definite upswing during these times of higher food costs. As the product is better made and better distributed, it will play a larger and more welcome role in helping the public get more protein at a lower cost for its diets."

For those who want to cook dry soybeans at home, they are available at health food stores, Chinese markets and in some supermarkets. They usually come in one-pound cellophane bags and cost about 50 cents. They look very much like dry navy beans but are more rounded.

To cook one pound, rinse and place 2 cups soybeans in cold water to soak. Beans will swell. Allow enough water and a large container. After soaking, place beans in a large kettle in the soaking liquid. Add a little salt. Bring to a boil and simmer for three to four hours, until tender. Add more salt to taste. Serve as you would cooked dry beans, with sauces or cheese, or in recipes calling for beans.

MERRY CHRISTMAS

PUT SOME PUNCH IN THE PARTY

Three no-fail recipes

Punch makes the holiday party

No-fail punches always are welcome during the holidays.

A tantalizing base for a punch is more important than its container and one doesn't need a crystal bowl for a guest-pleasing concoction. Use your imagination. A clean, large plastic utility tub or king-size pail decorated with cheery cutouts or ribbons will do.

It is easier for most guests to serve themselves when pitchers are used for punch.

These basic punch recipes are refreshing for parties with or without the addition of wine or other alcoholic beverages.

WEDDING PARTY PUNCH

- 1 bottle (1 quart) champagne, chilled
- 8 cups ginger ale, chilled
- 4 cups orange juice, chilled
- 4 cups (1 quart) cranberry juice cocktail, chilled
- 1 large chunk of ice

Pour all ingredients over ice in punch bowl. Serve at once in large punch cups. (Optional: Add 1 jigger Pernod) Makes 20 servings.

CREAMY CRAN-PEACH PUNCH

- 6 cups (1½ quarts) cranberry juice cocktail, chilled
- 3 cups cubed fresh peeled or canned peaches
- 3 cups (1½ pints) vanilla ice cream
- 1 teaspoon almond flavoring

Put cranberry juice cocktail and peaches into blenders. (It may be necessary to blend a small amount at a time, depending on size of blender.) Whirl at top speed for 30 seconds until smooth. Add ice cream and almond flavoring; whirl until smooth and creamy. (Optional: Add 1 cup white wine) Makes 12 servings.

CONCHITA'S CRANGRIA PUNCH

- 6 cups (1½ quarts) cranberry juice cocktail, chilled
- 4 cups claret wine (optional)
- 4 oranges, peeled and cut into slices
- 4 lemons, peeled and cut into slices
- ½ cup granulated sugar
- 6 cups crushed ice
- Club soda, chilled

In a large 6-quart bowl or container combine cranberry juice cocktail, claret or 10 cups cranberry juice, orange and lemon slices, sugar and ice. Stir, crushing fruit until mixture is well chilled and ice is almost melted. Strain mixture and pour into tall glasses, filling them 2-3 full. Fill glasses with club soda and serve. (Optional: A ½ cup brandy) Makes 12 servings.

Yams are wonderful stuffing for meats

Yams make a wonderful stuffing for poultry and other meats although most of us in regions other than the South rarely use them in this way. For the holidays, treat dinner guests to Yam Stuffed Pork Chops. Season the stuffing with onion, orange rind and chopped apple and tuck it into a pocket cut in each thick chop. Bake extra stuffing in a dish. Yams are in good supply (especially from North Carolina) now through April and are very good boiled or baked as you would an Idaho potato and seasoned with butter. You can also hash brown them.

YAM STUFFED PORK CHOPS

- 2 cups mashed cooked yams (4 medium)
- ¼ cup butter or margarine, divided
- ¼ cup chopped fresh onion
- 1 apple, pared, cored and diced
- 1 teaspoon grated fresh orange rind
- 2 tablespoons chopped fresh parsley
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- ½ teaspoon dried leaf thyme
- 1 cup soft bread crumbs
- 6 double cut pork chops, with pocket for stuffing

To prepare yams, bake in 350-degree oven 40 minutes or cook in boiling water to cover for 20 minutes, until soft, Cool, peel and mash until smooth in large bowl. In small skillet melt 2 tablespoons butter, add onion and cook until tender; add yam mixture. Stir in apple, orange rind, parsley, salt, pepper, thyme and bread crumbs. Spoon into pockets of pork chops. Place any remaining stuffing in a small baking dish and bake, covered, along with chops. Close pork chops with stuffing pins or wooden picks. In large skillet melt remaining 2 tablespoons butter, add chops and brown on both sides. Remove to a baking dish, cocver and bake inn 350-degree oven 1 hour or until chops are tender. Makes 6 servings.

PECAN STUFFED SWEET POTATOES

- 6 medium sweet potatoes
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- ¼ teaspoon baking powder
- ½ cup finely chopped celery
- ¼ cup chopped pecans

Wash sweet potatoes and bake in 400-degree oven until soft, 35 to 40 minutes. Cut a slice from the too of each. Scoop out inside, being careful not to break shells. Mash potatoes and add remaining ingredients. Mix well. Fill shells. Bake in 400-degree oven 15 minutes or until puffed and lightly browned. Serve at once. Makes 6 servings.

HASH-BROWN YAMS

- 4 medium yams
- 2 medium onions, chopped
- 2 tablespoons chopped fresh parsley
- 1 teaspoon sale
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- 3 tablespoons bacon droppings or salad oil

Pare and finnely dice raw yams. In bowl, mix yams, onion, parsley, salt and pepper. Hheat bacon drippings or oil in large skillet. Spread yam mixture evenly over skillet and press lightly with a broad spatula. Cover and cook slowly over low heat without stirring until browned on under side, about 15 minutes. Turn and brown on other side, about 5 minutes. (Add more bacon dripping or oil, if necessary.) Makes 4 servings.

If she smells like you, marry her

MANCHESTER, England (UPI) — Dr. Ivor Felstein has been sniffing at love. He claims you should be able to find your ideal partner by smell.

Writing in the medical newspaper, Pulse, he said there should be a new kind of specialist, the Semmologist. He could tell couples if the aromas were not campatible, the doctor said.

"When one considers the overall value that a sense of smell may have for the physician or social worker, it is surprising that neither is asked about this sense at interviews."

DECEMBER IDEAS for COOKING WITH BEER!

GLAZED APPLE-ONION RINGS

- 3 large apples
- 2 large onions
- ½ cup beer
- 2 cups brown sugar
- 3 tsp. butter
- ¼ tsp. ground cloves
- ¼ tsp. salt

Core apples, peeled or unpeeled. Slice into ¼-inch rings. Peel onions, slice and separate into rings. In heavy skillet, combine beer, brown sugar, butter, cloves and salt. Heat slowly, just to boiling, stirring all ingredients together. Add apples and onions, cover, and simmer over very low heat until just tender. (Time will vary according to variety of apples.) Yield: 6 servings.

GINGERBREAD UPSIDE DOWN CAKE

- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- ½ cup firmly packed light brown sugar
- 1½ cups well-drained crushed pineapple
- ½ cup pecans
- 1 (14.5 oz.) pkg. gingerbread mix
- 1 cup lukewarm beer
- Vanilla ice cream

Melt butter in 9-inch square pan. Stir in brown sugar. Spoon pineapple over sugar mixture, sprinkle with pecans. Combine gingerbread mix and beer, beat until well blended. Spoon batter evenly over pineapple. Bake in preheated 350 deg. oven 40-45 minutes or until cake feels firm to the touch. Loosen edges, turn cake out while warm on serving platter. Cut into squares while warm and serve each piece topped with a scoop of vanilla ice cream.

Ford will get 'the big bird'

TREMONTON, Utah (UPI) — Deloris Stokes, Bothwell, Utah, is giving Vice President Gerald Ford and his family a big bird for Christmas.

She said she was sending them a 51-pound turkey as she promised when she met Ford in October.

Ford had said he didn't think his oven could accommodate the turkey but, if he was given such a gigantic gift, he would find an oven which could handle it.

Sea of cookbooks flooding stores

NEW YORK (UPI) — A main dish with more than 40 ingredients is among the more than 1,000 recipes in a prestigious new cookbook.

"The Dione Lucas Book of French Cooking" by the late Mrs. Lucas and her former pupil and assistant, Marion Gorman, is being heavily promoted for readability, practicality and ease of usage. It is very readable.

The recipes and food preparation tips are from one of the most gifted chefs and cooking teachers of modern times. But ease of usage depends on a reader's basic cooking skills, and many of the recipes are pure fantasy for anyone lacking the time, money and inclination to prepare haute cuisine.

Similar criticisms can be applied to some other gift cookbooks.

"Feast of Italy," translated from the Italian edition of Arnoldo Mondadori Editore, is pictorially stunning but many required ingredients are unobtainable in the United States.

"Couscous and Other Good Food from Morocco" by Paula Wolfert is delightful to read but some necessary ingredients are not widely available here, and many recipes are time-consuming. Couscous is an elaborate stew that is Morocco's national dish.

"The Complete Book of Indonesian Cooking" by Antoinette DeWit and Anita Borghese also makes absorbing reading but calls for hard-to-find ingredients in virtually every recipe. However, an extensive mail order source list is provided, and the book would be a good choice for anyone who dotes on peppery food.

"The Cornucopia" by Judith Herman, and Marguerite Shalett Herman and "The Hundred Glories of French Cooking" by Robert Courtine, a leading French journalist, reflect eating habits of past and present. The Hermans' book contains recipes and food commentary from the 14th through the 19th centuries. Courtine writes of classical and contemporary cuisine. His menus are simple and well-chosen, his recipes sound delectable and introductions to them are witty and thought-provoking. But some ingredients are not available in the U.S. and measurements are a mixture of weights and volume.

By contrast, a facsimile edition of the original "Boston Cooking School Cook Book" by Fannie Merritt Farmer remains useful, even though some of its recipes are outdated. Miss Farmer introduced precise measurements to recipe publishing in 1968, and her book became a prototype for basic cookbooks that remains valid today.

New books better suited to American living include "The Seasonal Kitchen" by Perla Meyers. Like Mrs. Lucas, Mrs. Meyers demands high quality fresh ingredients and no short-cuts. Most of her continental and Middle East recipes do not make exhorbitant demands on time and only rarely on budgets.

"Ann Seranne's Good Food Without Meat" represents vegetarian eating of a high level, including elegant desserts, homemade pasta, quiches — main dish or appetizer pies, crepes, souffles and delicious fresh vegetable recipes.

"Robert Carrier Cooking for You" provides generally simple and delicious recipes ranging from homely ham hash to a showy roast loin of pork striped with apricots and prunes.

"Pearl's Kitchen" by Pearl Bailey is a revealing self-portrait of an extraordinary human being and entertainer who has a real feel for simple home cooking. Her views on life, love, child-rearing and cooking make delightful reading.

"The Cook's Fish Guide" by Jacqueline Knight has recipes sensibly arranged according to the texture and oiliness of the fish and seafood.

"The Kennedy Center Performing Artists Cookbook," published by the Friends of Kennedy Center, Washington, D.C., is remarkable for a fund-raising, celebrity book in that its recipes are the sort real people really cook and eat with pleasure.

Other commendable new publications include: Marie Roberson Hamm's "Gifts from Your Kitchen Cookbook," a paperback; "The Portable Feast" by Diane D. MacMillan, "The Cramped Quarters Cookbook" by Bob Reinhart and Dick Woods; "House and Garden's Party Menu Cookbook" edited by Jose Wilson; new editions of "The Good Housekeeping Cookbook" and the "McCalls Cook Book," "Impromptu Cooking" by Glenn Andrews, and "The College Cookbook" by Geri Harrington.

TREE SHAPED MEAT LOAF

Too often the holiday theme in food is carried out in desserts only. But here is an economical meat loaf that carries out the spirit of the season. Lightly beat together 2 eggs, 1 cup tomato juice, ½ teaspoon salt and a 1-ounce envelope onion gravy mix. Add 2 pounds ground beef and 2 cups soft bread crumbs. Mix lightly, then spoon onto lightly greased broiler pan and form into a Christmas tree shape about 1½ inches thick. Bake at 400 degrees for 30 or 40 minutes. Slide onto oven-proof serving platter or tray. Spoon mashed potatoes around edge of tree to represent snow. Place under broiler for 2 or 3 minutes until potatoes are set but not browned. Garnish with tiny "Ornaments" cut from pickles and American cheese slices. Serves 8.

Eating is national pastime

Today our nerves and our digestions are under heavy strain.

"People turn to eating when they feel angry, sexually excited, apprehensive or ashamed. It is as though eating protected them from feeling too much" according to psychiatrist Dr. Walter Hamburger, Strong Memorial Hospital, Rochester, N.Y.

Others turn to the bottle. They believe drinking can dull the aches of frustration and bitterness.

At this point in time, our world is wrought with threats, suspicions and doubts, both politically and internationally. We all live under great strain.

But there is a manageable solution: get out of your chair more often and nibble less.

Eat and enjoy good food but not quite so much of it. Get some exercise every day. It will tone your muscles and brighten your outlook. Then you will be more able to face the swiftly changing world.

Any flexing of the muscle is exercise. As used here, it means moderately active daily exercise. A mile walk every day, or even a half mile, will be more effective than digging up the garden or two afternoons of sandlot baseball with the youngsters. So attain the habit of daily exercise, rather than strenuous "play" over the weekend. You will be surprised at your increased sense of well-being.

Most Americans eat more foods than they need. We are so rich we have lulled ourselves into the habit of over indulgence. But if men and women today, under the pressure of modern threats, would eat a little less they would find it easier to cope with daily life.

A wise provision is this: limit yourself to one serving from each dish served even though you might crave a second or a third. In a little while you will adjust to this habit. It pays dividends in bodily easement since you will leave the table without any sensation of being stuffed.

The idea behind restricting your food intake is simply to make your body more efficient. Consider your nibbling habits as adding to your total intake.

Many physicians, nutritionists, and chefs have given this matter serious thought. They have come up with meals adjusted to 20th century man's needs that will please and nourish but not overburden him. The American Heart Association recommends dinners like the following, as good eating and good for the heart:

Lamb chop platter, walnut broccoli, glazed carrots, spinach-avocado-orange toss, herbed biscuits, apple pie.

For the holidays: Christmas tree relish tray, whipped cottage cheese dip, roast turkey with apple dressing, whipped potatoes, broccoli,with mustard dill sauce, creamed onions, cranberry-orange-mold, cornbread muffins, watermelon pickle, pumpkin chiffon pie.

HOLIDAY HORS D'OEUVRES

Here's a recipe made available by the California Egg Program that's good for any festive party anytime, but especially appropriate for the holidays, featuring a colorful egg dip.

SMOKED EGG AND CHIVES DIP

- 12 hard cooked eggs, riced or sieved
- 2 tablespoons soft butter
- 1½ tablespoons liquid smoke seasoning
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice or vinegar
- 2 teaspoons Worcestershire Sauce
- 2 drops Tabasco
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon ground pepper
- ¾ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
- ½ cup frozen chopped chives
- 1 jar (2 ounces) sliced pimiento, diced

Combine all ingredients except accompaniment. Beat until smooth. If desired, add more seasoning. Have consistency soft enough to permit potato chips to be dipped into easily. Refrigerate until ready to serve. About 30 minutes before serving, remove from refrigerator and beat or whip dip to fluffy consistency and soften it. Pile into chilled bowl. Garnish with radish slices. Makes 1 quart. Accompany with cracker, potato chips, melba toast, etc.

1974 picture little brighter for grocery shoppers

WASHGTON (UPI) — There's good news and bad news for consumers looking ahead to prospects for grocery bills in 1974.

The bad news is that average food prices are likely, in the opinion of several leading economists, to keep moving up from this year's record level.

The good news is that next year's gains may be "very modest" compared with the price boom which exploded through most of 1973 in the nation's farm and food markets. One supermarket spokesman, in fact, says he expects practically no more price increases.

Over all, warns Don Paarlberg, Director of Economics for the Agriculture Department, American consumers cannot expect for the foreseeable future to see food prices slide back to last year's level. A typical household food market basket which sold at an annual rate of $1,325 in September, 1972, reached a record rate of $1,653 last August before sliding off to $1,629 in September.

"We may see more month-to-month decreases, but the general level will be above what it was," Paarlberg says.

"I cannot see us going back to 1972 prices because the whole price level is up for everything because of inflation here and around the world. It's not just food, it's everything — washing machines, cars, socks, anything you can name," the official said.

But compared with this year's record, with food prices for the year expected to average 15 to 17 per cent above 1972, Paarlberg predicted 1974 price gains will be comparatively small because supplies are increasing.

"We'll have pretty good beef supplies, especially in the second half of the year. There'll be some more pork, though not much more, and we'll probably have more broilers and eggs," the economist said.

"As for crops in 1974, it's very likely we'll get bigger production than we did this year . . . and I see a favorable outlook for world production."

Opinions vary

Opinions on just how much food prices may increase in 1974 vary.

John A. Schnittker, a private consulting economist who formerly was Undersecretary of Agriculture in the Johnson administration, offers one guess:

"It's not a sure thing. But odds are we'll have about a 5 per cent advance for the first half of next year which would amount to an annual rate of 10 per cent," Schnittker said. However, he also said if farmers around the world harvest hoped-for bumper grain crops in 1974 — big enough to exceed world demand by 15 million tons or more and to permit a rebuilding of world reserves — food prices could "flatten out" in the last half of 1974.

Less than 10 per cent?

If that happened, the average increase for the year as a whole would be considerably less than 10 per cent.

Government economists have not offered any specific percentage forecasts for 1974. In general, however, they are inclined to guess at smaller price increases than Schnittker foresees.

Paarlberg said in the interview that for 1974 as a whole, the food price average might equal the 4.6 per cent gain registered in 1972, "or perhaps a little higher."

One career government economist, in a separate interview, said most of his colleagues think the increase in the first half of 1974 is likely to be a little below five per cent.

Little change

Government economists base their belief that food prices will begin rising again in early 1974 largely on forecasts that beef supplies, which are currently reviving, will dip again in the first three months of 1974. A new upswing in beef output is expected to follow beginning sometime next srping.

But Timothy McEnroe, a spokesman for the National Association of Food Chains predicted in an interview that average food prices next year will show little change form 1973.

"I think we've about had it. I don't think it's going to rise any more," McEnroe said.

Most economists cautious

Most economists are cautious in their 1974 forecasts because the 1973 predictions were so far off base.

When the year opened, the Agriculture Department was expecting the 1973 increase to be smaller than the gain posted in 1972. As a series of shocks hit world farm markets, however, officials kept boosting their estimate until a summer forecast that prices for the year would average about 20 per cent above 1972.

Later, however, the estimate was lowered when livestock prices declined more than expected this fall.

What happened

What happened to our food bills this year was a combination of jolts coming on the heels of a decline in world farm production in 1972. Farmers, businessmen, governments and consumers woke up to the fact that once-ample grain reserves had been pulled down to low levels. Protein feed supplies for livestock were abruptly tightened because of a drop in Peruvian fishmeal production.

And deflation of the U.S. dollar, which helped touch off speculative commodity buying, helped send foreign purchases of U.S. crops soaring and further inflated the record commodity price level.

"I don't know how many of those things can happen again in 1974," Paarlberg said.

But he said forecasters will have to keep a watchful eye on other factors which could affect food prices — possible shortages of fuel for farming, and weather conditions which will determine next year's crop yields here and around the world.

FTC revamps price study program

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A controversial and long-delayed U.S. government plan to find out and tell the public which supermarkets really have the lowest prices is undergoing review and possible revision.

"The program has been much more expensive than we thought it would be." J. Thomas Rosch, director of the Federal Trade Commission's Bureau of Consumer Protection, said in an interview. "Now we've got to see whether the benefits are greater than the cost, and whether the program might be feasible in some other form. I think you can expect a decision on that in the near future."

It was almost a year ago that the FTC first announced the plan under which it would survey the major supermarket chains on a regional basis and publish comparative price lists of perhaps 100 commonly bought items. The information would be published with the aim of letting the shopper know, for instance, whether eggs were cheaper at A&P or Safeway.

The supermarket industry was heavily opposed to the idea, and a pilot project, which the agency originally scheduled for last spring, never materialized.

On other subjects, Rosch said:

—FTC has begun examining the oil industry's advertising during the energy crisis to whether it accurately informs the public. "We are interested in the accuracy or inaccuracy of some of the advertising that the oil companies are currently running," he said.

-The agency's entire program of making major advertisers substantiate claims they make is being overhauled. He said FTC hopes to reduce the delay between the time when an ad is first challenged and when the public eventually finds out what the company's response was.

Peanut butter can be dressed up to go to a party

Peanut butter sandwiches can be huge and hearty enough to satisfy the hunger of a husky adolescent just back from basketball practice or dainty enough to go to a party. This versatile, popular spread goes well with many different food flavors — sweet, tart or tangy.

Consider the possibilities for variety in dainty pinwheel sandwiches. Center these with sweet gherkin pickles, olives, Vienna sausages, carrot sticks, celery sticks, banana or stuffed dates. Serve a selection of pinwheel sandwiches with a fruit punch for a party to delight young people of almost any age. These are refreshments they will enjoy preparing themselves, too.

When real hunger needs appeasing, make or suggest a hot sandwich such as toast spread with peanut butter and topped with hot, well seasoned pork and beans or a French toasted peanut butter sandwich. On other occasions, call on such old favorites as peanut butter and bacon, peanut butter and jelly and peanut butter with various fruits.

No matter how or when it is eaten, peanut butter can be counted on to provide a good supply of protein, iron and the B vitamin, niacin.

Here are recipes for these sandwiches.

PEANUT BUTTER OLIVE PINWHEELS

2 tablespoons (about 1 ounce) cream cheese
½ teaspoon minced onion
18 pitted giant size ripe olives
12 slices bread, crusts removed
Creamy or chunk style peanut butter (about ¾ cup)

Mix cream cheese and onion. Stuff olives with mixture. Spread bread with peanut butter. Place 2 slices end to end overlapping about ½ inch. Place 3 olives in a row across one narrow end of bread. Roll up jelly roll fashion, keeping olives in place and bread overlapped. Wrap in plastic wrap or waxed paper; twist ends to fasten. Repeat, making 6 rolls. Place on flat surface. Chill. To serve, unwrap and cut each roll into 6 slices. Makes 36.

OTHER PINWHEEL CENTERS: Three-inch celery sticks, 3-inch carrot sticks, Vienna sausages, frankfurters, 3-inch banana sticks (sprinkled with lemon juice), sweet gherkin pickles and dates stuffed with cream cheese.

CRANBERRY PUNCH

2 quarts cranberry juice, chilled
2 bottles (1 pint, 12 ounces each) bitter lemon soda, chilled
1 bottle (1 pint) light corn syrup

In a punch bowl or pitcher, mix together cranberry juice, lemon soda and corn syrup. Serve with ice cubes. Makes about 4 quarts or 22 (¾-cup) servings.

NUTTY BEAN SANDWICHES

1 can (16 ounces) pork and beans, drained
1-3rd cup chopped celery
1 tablespoon minced onion
2 tablespoons catchup
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
¾ cup creamy or chunk style peanut butter
6 to 12 slices toast

Heat together in small saucepan beans, celery, onion, catchup and mustard. Spread each slice of toast with 2 tablespoons peanut butter; top with bean mixture. If desired, top with another slice of toast. Makes 6 sandwiches.

BACON CRUNCH SANDWICHES

½ cup creamy or chunk style peanut butter
1-3rd cup finely chopped celery
8 slices cooked bacon
8 slices bread

Mix peanut butter and celery. Spread on 4 bread slices. Put 2 slices of bacon on each sandwich. Top with remaining bread. Makes 4 sandwiches.

ISLAND TREATS

½ cup creamy or chunk style peanut butter
1-3rd cup drained crushed pineapple or chopped apple
2 bananas, sliced or toast

Mix peanut butter and pineapple. Spread on 4 slices of bread; top with banana slices. Top with remaining bread. Makes 4 sandwiches.

Test scores hint schools not doing job

NEW YORK (UPI) — A 10-year trend of lower scores on the Scholastic Aptitude Test has educators concerned that students' education is not equipping them with the abilities tested by the SAT, The New York Times reported Sunday.

The College Board programs for the Educational Testing Service, Princeton, N.J., reported that average scores this year for the SAT, taken by high school graduates, were 445 on the verbal portion and 481 on the mathematical part. Ten years ago, average scores were 478 for verbal and 502 for mathematics. The tests are scored on a scale of 200 to 800.

The SAT is used by institutions of higher learning in determining admissions.

Authorities interviewed by The Times questioned the explanation of earlier years that average scores had fallen because youngsters who previously would not consider college were taking the tests.

An unidentified College Board official told the Times the number of students taking the SAT had leveled off at about one million several years ago.

"The official suggested that it might be time to start thinking about the possibility that elementary and secondary schools are not preparing students as well in verbal and mathematical skills as they did in former years," The Times said.

Sam McCandless, program service officer for the College Board's Admissions Testing Program, said " ... there seems no longer to be a a general consensus about what it means to be 'well educated.' We're trying to find a way to do a study."

Recover truck, but pantyhose and purse gone

CHICAGO (UPI) — Renee Sheer reported that someone stole her truck, her purse, $330 in the purse, and her 4,600 pairs of pantyhose.

Miss Sheer, a truck driver, said she had parked the truck and was preparing to fill a store's display racks with the $4,800 worth of pantyhose when she looked out of the store and saw the truck being driven away by two men.

Police later recovered the truck but the purse, money and pantyhose were gone.

Wheat germ makes nutritious eating

If you haven't begun to cook with toasted wheat germ, you're missing out on some vety good eating. Beneath the facade of the good looks and good tastes of this appetizing soup and sandwich meal lie the wonderfully nourishing qualities of toasted wheat germ . . . the natural food people everywhere are talking about these days.

The lovely color and texture of the chilled spinach soup are most appealing and you don't have to be a Popeye fan to enjoy it. Surprisingly, in spite of its creamy texture, it is a low-calorie soup. You can make it quickly and effortlessly in a blender with frozen spinach, low-fat yogurt, toasted wheat germ and a few basic seasonings to balance out the flavors.

The ham and cheese sandwiches are a big surprise. They're actually pancakes split and filled with sliced boiled ham. Fold over and secure with a pick held in place with a stuffed olive on either end. The toasted wheat germ and cheddar cheese pancakes are deliciously seasoned with marjoram to make them appropriate for luncheon fare.

The recipe was developed so you can make up the pancakes 12 at a time and freeze the ones you don't use. Designed to be popped into the toaster for reheating, they make a quick meal or a nourishing snack for refrigerator raiders. There is no disputing the fact that toasted wheat germ is a remarkable natural food with its own private endowment of 30 important nutrients. All this information is clearly stated on the vacuum sealed jars of toasted wheat germs.

CHILLED SPINACH WHEAT GERM SOUP

- 1 (10-ounce) package frozen spinach, chopped or leaf
- 1 cup water
- 1 tablespoon chicken seasoned stock base
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon celery salt
- 2 (8-ounce) cartons plain yogurt
- 1 tablespoon freeze dried chives
- 1-3rd cup toasted wheat germ

Allow spinach to partially defrost. Cut into 9 cubes with sturdy knife. Place water and stock base in blender, whir briefly then add spinach cubes and whir stop-and-go fashion until completely blended. Mix in all remaining ingredients, whirring to blend. If desired 1 or 2 tablespoons sugar may be added. Chill 1 hour before serving. Garnish with lemon slices. Makes about 1 quart soup (6 servings).

CHEDDAR WHEAT GERM PANCAKES

- 1 cup flour
- ¾ cup toasted wheat germ
- 1 cup grated sharp Cheddar cheese
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 1¼ teaspoons baking powder
- ¾ teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon marjoram, crumbled
- 1 cup milk
- 2 eggs
- 1 tablespoon cooking oil
- Oil for frying

Mix flour, toasted wheat germ, cheese, sugar, baking powder, salt and marjoram. Beat milk with eggs and oil. Pour over flour mixture and mix in. Portion ¼ cup amounts of batter onto preheated greased griddle or skillet. Cook over medium heat 2 to 3 minutes on each side. Oil griddle in between each set of pancakes for best appearance. Serve at once. If desired split, butter and fill with cooked ham slices.

Makes 10 to 12 (3½-inch pancakes.

For thinner pancakes increase milk to 1½ cups. Serve with butter and syrup.

Pancakes may be wrappped and frozen. Reheat in toaster or place on baking sheet and heat uncovered in moderate oven until warmed through.

Organically grown food nutritionally the same

CHICAGO — "Organically grown foods are identical in nutrition to those grown using inorganic chemicals," according to a Scientfic Status Summary released by the Institute of Food Technologicalists here.

Part of an ongoing program of public information, the four-page report details the status of scientific research as it bears on the general subject of those foods grown without pesticides, and using only organic fertilizers and mulches. Citing a number of studies which have been made over the years, the report by IFT's Expert Panel on Food Safety and Nutrition states that while soil improvement can increase the yield and size of crops, and affect their mineral contents, the nutritional composition of the plant is determined primarily by the genetic composition of the seed and the maturity of the plant at harvest.

The report also discusses using "recycled" municipal wastes to help solve both the problems of waste disposal and nutritional deficiencies. "At the present time," it states, "it is not feasible to transport vast quantities of sewage and garbage from city centers, where they originate, to the farms where they could be utilized." Also, such materials are "unbalanced" in terms of plant nutrients, and they often contain wastes which could be toxic to plants. Citing another danger, the report quotes Harvard University's Jean Mayer: "While organic foods may escape chemical pollution, biologically speaking they tend to become the most contaminated of all. Organic fertilizers of animal or human origin are obviously the most likely to contain gastrointestinal parasites." Thus, sterilization of municipal wastes would appear to be essential for successful recycling.

Concerning the use of pesticides, the report states that although there are promising methods of nonchemical insect control under investigation, "The ultimate goal of total biological control is years away; until then, conventional insecticides must remain our chief method of control." Insecticide residues, it continues, are controlled by government regulations at levels so low that "they must be multiplied a hundred or more times to reach a level that might be harmful to humans; frequently, the safety factor is much higher."

Finally, the report cites the economic factor involved in using organic foods. Such foods are always more expensive than their "non-organic" counterparts in the supermarkets, averaging about twice the price. This results from the lower concentration of nutrients in organic fertilizers and the increased labor costs involved in applying them.

Apple treat offers lots of nutrition

Fresh orchard-picked apples are at their height now and make nutritional, refreshing eating for the holiday season. A Sauce-y Apple Surprise at first glance may sound like a dessert but it is good for breakfast or as a snack after school with a glass of milk.

SAUC-Y APPLE SURPRISE

- 6 medium baking apples
- cup butter or margarine
- ½ cup firmly packed light brown sugar
- ¼ cup raisins
- ½ teaspoon cinnamon
- ¼ cup Grape-Nuts
- 1-3rd ccup bran flakes

Core apples. Remove peel about 1 inch from top of apples and cover lower half with aluminum foil. Place apples in baking dish. Melt butter; add brown sugar, raisins and cinnamon and stir until blended. Add cereals to half of sauce and use to fill apples. Bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes. Reheat remaining sauce and pour over apples. Bake 5 minutes longer. Serve plain or with cream, if desired. Makes 6 servings.

Phone company has plan for 'dial-a-ride'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Pacific Telephone Co. officials think maybe their computers can provide a means of helping commuters find car pools— merely by dialing.

The idea was suggested by William H. Wattenburg, a Berkeley electro ics engineer, and division switching manager George T. Taylor said recently that "it sounds like a very simple thing to handle.

Commuters looking for pools would dial a company computer and then the number of their business offices.

The computer, knowing where the calls came from, would match them with riders who live in the same general neighborhood and who work in the same area.

It would then print out a list of phone numbers for each prospective pool member and mail them out with the next month's bill.

Approval would be necessary from government agencies.

PERKY PEAS

This dish can be the star of your Christmas dinner. In a saucepan, saute a 2½-ounce jar of drained sliced mushrooms, 2 tablespoons minced onion, ½ cup chopped celery in 2 tablespoons butter until celery is crisp, yet tender. Gently stir in a 2-ounce jar diced pimiento and a 17-ounce can small early peas, drained. Heat thoroughly before ladling into a fancy dish and bringing to the table. Serves 4.

Change pace from turkey or chicken

A hearty dish that makes a change of pace from chicken or turkey during the holiday season beginning with Thanksgiving is a Choucroute

The traditional French "choucroute" or sauerkraut was served individually or included in a meal-in-one dish. Such a dish includes pork chops, sausage, white wine, carrots, apples and a variety of spices. Here is a version for the holidays.

CHOUCROUTE

½ cup onion flakes
¾ teaspoon instant minced garlic
1-3rd cup water
3 tablespoons bacon fat or oil
1 cup thinly sliced carrots
1½ cups peeled, cored and diced tart apples
2 cans (1 pounds each) sauerkraut, drained
2 cups chicken broth
¾ cup dry white wine (or apple juice)
1 bay leaf
⅛ teaspoon whole black peppercorns
1 tablespoon caraway seed
1 tablespoon parsley flakes
½ teaspoon thyme leaves
¼ teaspoon salt
1½ pounds pork chops
½ pound sausage links

Rehydrate onion flakes and minced garlic in water for 10 minutes. In a Dutch oven or ovenproof casserole heat bacon fat. Add onion and garlic along with the carrots. Cook and stir over low heat for 10 minutes. Add apple and cook 3 minutes longer. Stir in sauerkraut, broth and wine. Tie bay leaf and peppercorns in a cheesecloth bag. Add to casserole along with caraway seed, parsley flakes and thyme. Cover and cook 15 minutes. Meanwhile, in a large skillet sprinkle salt over the bottom; heat over moderate heat. Add pork chops and brown well on both sides. Remove chops and bury them in the sauerkraut. Brown sausage in the same skillet and add to casserole. Cover and bake in a preheated oven 325 degrees 1½ hours or until meat is tender. Makes 6 portions.

Robber gives in to Yule spirit

MONTEREY, Calif. (UPI) — The Christmas spirit got the best of a robber this weekend.

The man, who said he was plagued with guilt because Christmas was approaching, dropped $10,000 in stolen jewelry into a street corner mail box and called a local TV station.

As Selma sees it

Overweight parents bother daughter, 13

DEAR SELMA:

I'm 13 years old, and I am really worried about my mother and father. Both of them are very overweight, and all they do is eat and eat. They do not try to lose anyweight, no matter what I say to them. It's bad enough that the other kids in the neighborhood kid me about them, but I am really worried about their health. What can I do to get them to lose weight so that they will look like the parents of the other kids?

Miss D.R.

Dear Miss D. R.:

You seem like a very nice young lady, and I appreciate your interest in your parents. It is a shame that they don't think more of you by taking care of themselves. There really isn't much you can do about their eating habits, except that you can learn a very good lesson from them on how "not" to eat. Continue to eat sensibly and maybe they will come to their senses and take an example from you.

Dear Selma:

My husband and I recently purchased a small drive-in restaurant and have gained an enormous amount of weight since that time. It seems as though we are always to trying to eat up all of the extra food that is cooked so that it will not go to waste. Have you heard from others with this same problem?

Mrs. K. T.

Dear Mrs. K. T.:

Sounds like your problem is not what to eat but a lack of proficiency in preparing meals. Being around food all day is certainly a temptation, but several restaurant people have told me that once the novelty of owning a restaurant wears off, so will your desire to eat everything in sight. Holding your weight down and being around food can be done. I personally know a pastry chef who recently lost 90 pounds.

Questions to be answered in this column should be sent to Selma Rifkin, Weight Watchers, 3322 W. Beverly Blvd., Montebello. Persons desiring a personal reply should include a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Raising sprouts is fast-growing hobby

Many of us have eaten bean sprouts in Chinese restaurants. We like their delicate flavor and consistency. But most of us have not yet tried sprouted corn, alfalfa, wheat, lentils and other seeds eaten in many parts of the world.

Kanen Cross Whyte of Mill Valley, Calif., has just written a "Sprouting Cookbook" (Troubadour Press, San Francisco) which pretty well tells the story of how to sprout the edible seeds, where to buy them and how to keep them.

Actually, seeds may be sprouted as they are needed. They can be turned into fresh vegetables within two to six days — really fresh and succulent vegetables," Mrs. Whyte says.

She adds, "It is possible to have a sprout garden in your kitchen. You need only a wide-mouthed jar, a bit of cheesecloth and a rubber band. Add moisture to untreated raw seeds and create a miniature hot house. Eat sprouts raw, steamed, roasted or fried. They are at their nutritional best when eaten raw, however."

She points out that many nutritionists believe that sprouting creates a more usable form of protein in many seeds. It also stimulates other beneficial changes — one is to increase the amount of vitamin C. There isn't in-depth research on the nutritional content of sprouted seeds yet but there is enough to make us believe theat sprouting a seed enhances its nutritional content, she says.

She explains graphically what takes place when the seeds sprout, how long to wait for results, what to do with them until eaten.

For sprouting, she says to use reliable seed houses such as W. Atlee Burpee Co. and Ferry-Morse Seed Co. Before starting clean out all damaged, bruised or discolored seeds. They will not sprout but ferment. After the sprouts have grown to desired length, you can "green" the sprouts by placing them in strong light for a few hours.

She gives specific instructions for different types of sprouts. The small red adzuki bean of the Orient, alfalfa, barley, various beans, buckwheat, Indian chin seeds, chick-peas, ccorn fenugreek (used in flavoring curries) flax, millet, wing beans, oats, rice and sesames are some. Also, particularly important today are soybeans. Also she includes the vegetable seeds, such as wheat, endive, radishes and several others.

The book contains recipes using sprouts. For example, there is an alfalfa omelet and sunflower breakfast. There is a cucumber spread using fenugreek sprouts, cheese balls using both alfalfa sprouts and wheat sprouts. For soups, there is watercress soup using buckwheat sprouts and whole earth salad with alfalfa, mung bean, adzuki rye and lentil sprouts.

Oxtail stew with lentil sprouts and stuffed egg plant with fenugreek sprouts are two main dishes. Creamed chicken on toast is there, too, flavored with 1½ cups of mung bean sprouts.

The book is the result of three years of diligent research. "I was interested in getting good reliable food for my three young children. They now eat sprouted seeds and love them. I hope others will, too," she says.

Serve Carrot Tarts with French flair

The French have a way with vegetables and their pureed treats such as chestnuts, greenbeans, peas or carrots are a delight to eat. Serve a Carrot Tart with the same pride as it would be presented to diners in Paris' famous Tour d'Argent restaurant.

CARROT TARTS

Crust
- 2 cups unsifted all-purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ½ cup pure imported olive oil
- 3 tablespoons cold water

Filling
- 2 cups well-drained mashed cooked carrots
- ½ cup sugar
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon each nutmeg, cloves and mace
- 2 eggs, well beaten
- 1 and 2-3rds cups evaporated milk
- 2 tablespoons pure imported olive oil
- ½ teaspoon vanila

For crust, mix flour and salt in a mixing bowl. Add oil and mix well. Stir in water and mix until the dough cleans the bowl. Knead a few times on a floured surface. Shape into a smooth ball. Cut dough into 12 pieces and press with floured fingers into 3-inch tart pans in an even layer covering the bottom and sides. In a bowl, mix carrots, sugar, salt, spices, eggs, milk, olive oil and vanilla. Beat until well blended. Spoon filling into tart shells. Bake in a preheated 400-degree oven for 25 to 30 minutes or until puffed and brown. Served hot. Makes 12 tarts, 3 inches in diameter.

Combine hot and cold foods to vary the menu

The contrast of hot and cold foods and sweet and spicy is a device harried cooks can use to vary meals economically.

For example, who ever heard of a Broiled Iceberg Salad? It exists now. Create this peppy dish by combining cold, crips chunks of western iceberg lettucce and tuna with a creamy herb dressing. The dressing is a broiled topping of egg whites and Parmesan cheese. Garnish with ripe olives and tomato slices.

BROILED ICEBERG SALAD
- 1 small head western iceberg lettuce
- Creamy Herb Dressing
- 1 can (12½ ounce) chunk style tuna
- ½ cup cchopped celery
- 1 tablespoon chopped pimiento
- 1-3rd cup shredded Parmesan cheese
- 1 egg white
- ½ cup crushed potato chips (optional)
- Tomato slices and ripe olives for garnish

Core, rinse and thoroughly drain lettuce. Reserve a few outer lettuce leaves, then cut head into chunks to measure 3 cups. Chill lettuce well. Prepare Creamy Herb Dressing. Combine drained tuna, celery and pimiento; chill. When ready to serve, combine tuna mixture with lettuce chunks and 1-3rd cup Creamy Herb Dressing. Mound on a heatproof dish or small metal steak platter. Combine remaining Creamy Herb Dressing with Parmesan cheese and quickly fold in stiffly beaten egg white. Swirl over chilled salad. Place under broiler a minute or two until lightly tinged with brown. Sprinkle with potato chips, tuck reserved lettuce leaves around outer edge of salad and serve at once, garnished with tomato slices and ripe olives. Makes 4 servings.

Creamy Herb Dressing: Stir together 1 cup real mayonnaise, ½ teaspoon onion powder, ¼ teaspoon each seasoned salt, crushed oregano and thyme, ⅛ teaspoon dry mustard and 1-16 teaspoon each garlic powder and white pepper.

Iceeberg Wedges
- 1 head western iceberg lettuce
- 1 can (7½ ounces) chili with beans
- 1 cup grated sharp Cheddar cheeese
- 1 teaspoon Worchestershire
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon garlic powder
- A few drops Tobasco
- Corn chips, crumbled

Core, rinse and thoroughly drain lettuce; chill. Cut head lengthwise into halves, place cut sides down on board and cut each half into 3 wedges. Place wedges on large, round serving plate. Turn chili into saucepan; mash beans with fork. Add remaining ingredients except corn chips. Cook and stir until heated through and cheese is melted. Pour into warm bowl and place in center of serving plate. Serve lettuce wedge and hot sauce to spoon over it. Pass a small bowl of the chips to sprinkle on top. Makes 6 servings.

HARRY GIFFORD

Claremonter president of Lorbeer Club

CLAREMONT — Harry E. Gifford, 1185 Briarcroft Road, has been elected president of the Carl H. Lorbeer Club, a chartered unit of the Independent Telephone Pioneer Association.

The new president of the 205-member group is area sales manager for General Telephone and currently is assigned to the utility's headquarters in Pomona. He has been employed by General Telphone for more than 25 years.

Gifford has served on the association's California chapter board of directors, and also in a similar capacity for the local club.

Members of the Carl H. Lorbeer Club—all residents of the Pomona-Claremont-Ontario region—are active or retired employes of the independent telephone industry with more than 15 years of service, and individuals retired from other communication fields.

The Carl Lorbeer Club is involved actively in aiding local youth organizations, mentally retarded, the blind and the hard-of-hearing.

Founded a half century ago, the Independent Telephone Pioneer Association was organized to perpetuate the pioneering spirit and ideals of the independent tlephone in the independent telephon inbers in the United States.

Planners map L.V. master street plan

LA VERNE — A master plan of streets and highways, designed for a community of about 30,000, is being prepared for the city by the Planning Commission.

The plan attempts to pinpoint transportation needs 10 years from now.

If the study goes according to schedule, the commission will hold public hearings on the plan in January or February, according to Planning Director Charles R. Le Gros.

The master plan calls for a regional transportation goal that would open up the northern section of the community, by cutting through Golden Hills Road between Wheeler Avenue and Towne Avenue, and extending and widening Wheeler and Towne to provide a northern corridor of transportation.

The plan also urges the extension of Emerald Avenue north to intersect with Wheeler Avenue. This would open an land mass northeast of Base Line Road and Wheeler Avenue.

Part of the plan deals with the possible development of a street to tie into the Emerald Loop that would enable the opening up of the Live Oak Canyon area.

A north-south connecting street from Puddingstone Drive to Arrow highway, east of A Street, also is on the drawing board.

Le Gros said the study of the master plan is now at the preliminary study stage.

Natural helps in decorating

NEW YORK (UPI) — For greenery when making natural Christmas decorations, use any available branches. Try to cut the branches just before using them to keep them in shape as long as possible.

If cut in advance, keep the branches in water until you're ready to work with them.

Griswold's staging Las Posadas

CLAREMONT Las Posadas, colorful Mexican celebration, is being presented at Griswold's Old School House at 6:30 each evening through Sunday. A candlelight procession depicts the journey of Joseph and Mary into Bethlehem on the days before the birth of the Christ Child. The wanderers knock at doors until they find someone who will take them in. A traditional song is sung in Spanish requesting a place to rest.

Once shelter is assured, the procession sings familiar carols and the children break a pinata and scramble for candy as it drops around them.

The ceremony is held in the Pavilion Patio. Hot chocolate and sweet bread are served at the conclusion of the celebration. Griswold's Old School House is at Foothill and Indian Hill Boulevards.

The largest tree

The tree with the biggest girth in hhe world—40 feet—is a Montezuma cypress called El Ahuehuete de Sana Maria de Tule, in Oaxaca, Mexic.

SINGING STARS — The Hagers, identical twins who star on TV's Hee Haw, will present country, pop, folk and rock music in the John Wayne Theater of Knott's Berry Farm at 7 and 9 p.m. Dec. 30 and 31. Columbia recording star Billy Joe Royal will play there at 6, 7:30 and 9 p.m. Dec. 28 and 29.

Japanese Village sets yule program

BUENA PARK — A parade and traditional Oriental decorations mark the holiday season at Japanese Village.

The grounds are decorated with characteristic holiday ornamentation featuring wind chimes, foliage and oriental objects. Two Kadomatsus—bamboo logs wrapped with rope and festooned with pine and fern branches that symbolize a long and prosperous life—flank the main entrance.

At 12:30 and 3 P.M., a holiday parade is held with musicians, karate and sumurai warriors, constumed dancers, banner carriers and the Shishi large, red and gold-lacquered head with a body of glowing ribbons said to bring good luck to all it passes.

Also celebrating the upcoming "Year of the Tiger" will be sea lion, dolphin, bear, tiger and martial arts shows and other ceremonies.

Japanese Village is open from 10 A.M. to 5 P.M. daily.

Philharmonic to present Mahler Third

LOS ANGELES — Zubin Mehta will conduct the Los Angeles Philharmonic in a performance of Gustav Mahler's Symphony No. 3 in D Minor in the Pavilion of the Los Angeles Music Center at 8:30 Thursday and Friday nights and at 3 p.m. Sunday.

Also taking part will be contralto Christina Krooskos, Women of the Los Angeles Master Chorale and the California Boys' Choir. The only other work on the program will be Webern's Concerto for Nine Instruments, Op. 24.

Mahler wrote his Third Symphony between 1893 and 1893. At first affixing the title "Pan" to the work as a whole, and providing programmade headings to its six movements, the composer eventually withdrew all descriptive material. The symphony juxtaposes broad, sweeping expansiveness with delicate miniaturism, powerful utterances with graceful imagery. Mahler uses a contralto solist, and a women's and a boys' choir on the text of a portion of Nietzsche's "Thus Spake Zarathustra" (contralto), and an old German folk carol (contralto, women and boys).

MEETIN' & EATIN' AT BETSY ROSS
By Gene Neighbors

Hi, Neighbors,

'Tis the season to be jolly! . . . NOT drenched! At Claremont Betsy Ross last Friday, some customers were slightly (and some more than slightly) dampened when a water hose to the coffee maker broke and rained water all over the front of the restaurant. Customers were either getting out of the way, or doing their bits toward trying to staunch the flow of water. When I heard the commotion, I raced to the cut-off outside the front, stumbling over the wall, and crawling the last few feet to turn it off. By the time I'd finally gotten it under control, the helpful patron who had grabbed a towel to plug the hose inside, had come, to the door to ascertain that I had things under control, then disappeared. We'd like to learn his name, to thank him, and repay in some measure, his valiant efforts. Among those showered were regular customers JIM and SAM LISKEY, PAUL MEYER, MR. GETTS, and RUTH and HOWARD, whose last names we don't have. 'Twas exciting, and fortunately, nobody was injured; all seemingly taking the inconvenience lightly and laughing about it. I told some of the fellows that it was my way of giving them an early Saturday night bath. But, to allay any fears of such a thing's happening again, let me assure you that we have an entirely different type of hose on that connection now! NOT all in a day's work, I might add!

You know, of course, that we are an expanding operation, our last Coffee Shoppe opening last June in Glendora. If you know of young people looking for management training opportunities, send them around; we'd like to interview them. We do try to keep our restaurants operating according to our high standards of cleanliness, tasty food, and good service, so prefer to train our own managers for future positions. It's that good ole home town feeling we project, a family place, where you may bring your friends with confidence.

Feel the Christmas spirit? Mailed your cards and packages? Now, if you have a dinner or party you'd like us to plan for you during your busiest season of the year, call your favorite manager and let him (or her) help you.

Say, "Hi" to your neighbors . . .

Modern use of old play

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Today's hand illustrates both luck in duplicate and the modern expert use of the grand-slam force.

North is really excited when he hears his partner's forcing two spade opening bid. Then he just raises to three with every intention of taking strong action later. Then South jumps to five notrump and North can't figure what is going on. He has all he has shown plus at least one ace and his partner is trying for a grand slam.

North's first thought is just to bid seven spades. Then he stops to think and decides that his partner must hold either seven spades and six hearts or six of each suit plus the ace of clubs. He really needed that for his grandslam force.

The modernists respond to a grand slam force by bidding seven with two of the three top honors and otherwise showing their trump strength by various gradations. North decides that his trumps are a trifle too good for a mere six club bid and bids six diamonds. South studies a while and decides to settle for just six spades.

Where does duplicate luck come into the picture? Because seven spades is a reasonable contract. It makes against almost all even or nearly even breaks in the two major suits but it just doesn't happen to wheel in this time. Science has paid off but the unscientific bidders who went down at seven are entitled to mild complaints.

For Thursday, Dec. 20

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Assume more initiative today where joint interests are concerned. Point out logically why your ideas should be considered.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You have the upper hand in any negotiating or bargaining, if you use all the facts at your disposal. Have your story ready.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Conditions that have an effect upon your work or career are improving. Most of this is due to happenings you're not yet aware of.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Don't hesitate to do little extras for the one you love today. It will add far more stability to your relationship than you realize.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your message will get through to the youngsters "loud and clear." It's a good time to explain values of rules you've laid down.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Plans you have for bettering conditions that affect the family as a whole should be implemented at this time.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Listen attentively to ideas you may hear from friends or contacts. Their information could later lead you to the bank.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Now and again your financial prospects look brighter than usual. This is one of those fortunate periods. Make the most of it.

SAGGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You're most effective at this time if you pull the strings from behind-the-scenes. Make suggestions, not directives.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Others can do more for you today than you can for yourself. Let those you have faith in run the show — temporarily.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Concentrate on the project that most furthers your ambitions. Don't fear to call on contacts or friends for help.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Desirable results are likely today from something you're involved in. There's more to come if you keep up the good work.

Your Birthday
Dec. 20

This year you will begin to reap the fruits from seeds you've previously sown. More travel for pleasure is also something to look forward to.

6 Bay agencies united to help save wildlife

BERKELEY (UPI) — Six Bay Area organizations have announced the formation of the "Wildlife Rehabilitation Council" to care for injured and orphaned wild creatures.

One committee of the group will study techniques for a coordinated response to disasters such as future oil spills and fires. Other projects include:

—Developing a placement service for permanently damaged and therefore unreleasable animals (such as a zoo).

—Starting a centralized library of resource materials in the wildlife rehabilitation field.

—Developing an animal-food and equipment exchange.

—Providing seminars and conferences on all aspects of wildlife problems.

Appointed temporary cochairmen of the council were Dr. James Harris, member of the board at Berkeley's International Bird Rescue Center, and Gary Bogue, curator of the Alexander Lindsay Jr. Museum in Walnut Creek.

Republicans seek unity in campaign

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Three Republican gubernatorial hopefuls have been told by GOP State Chairman Gordon C. Luce that it is the party's policy to "maintain unity" and "discourage kingmaking activity."

Luce Monday made public a letter he sent to gubernatorial contenders Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke, Attorney General Evelle J. Younger and Controller Houston Flournoy.

The letter was apparently prompted by a newspaper report last week that key backers of Gov. Ronald Reagan have asked Pepperdine University President William Banowsky to consider running for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

Clifford Anderson, a Reinecke campaign cochairman, had responded to the report by saying Reinecke would remain in the gubernatorial race and would not be forced out by "any of the so-called kingmakers."

Luce told the contenders, "It has been our stance in 1973 to maintain unity, discourage kingmaking activity and build the party throughout the state."

"I have also suggested to some of those speculated upon this year to straighten out the record and permanently announce the fact that they are not running."

Scouts plan projects for holiday season

Scout troops of the Diamond Bar and Walnut Las Caballeras Neighborhood of Spanish Trails Council have planned a variety of Christmas projects for the holiday week as part of their "Action '70" pledges of community awareness.

Various groups from Cadette Troop 295 will sing and play games with patients at Pacific State Hospital where they will also present stuffed animals, pillows, puppets and puzzles they have made. The Scouts also plan a Christmas and Hannukah holiday food party with all troop committee adult members, featuring foreign foods prepared by cadettes from Puerto Rico, Sweden and Hebrew sources.

Junior Troop 275 will sponsor two teen-age girls from Pacific State Hospital by supplying them with Christmas stockings filled with crayons, coloring books, marshmallows and stuffed toys. During the year the troop will celebrate the patients' birthdays and make monthly visits. Troop members will also visit and carol at the Julene Convalescent Hospital in Pomona where they will distribute tray favors and then have a potluck and exchange of gifts at the home of their troop leader, Mrs. Calvin Frei.

Starched yarn decorations were made by Junior Troop 290 and then used to trim the tree at Diamond Point Elementary School. The Scouts will serve as usherettes at Suzanne School during the play presentation of "A Christmas Carol."

A gift of holiday cookies to the faculty and staff of Castle Rock Elementary School will be made by Junior Troop 378.

Members of Junior Troop 443 will purchase a musical mobile for the 10-year-old girl at Pacific State Hospital whom they sponsor. The troop will also make Christmas card books and mobiles for the Immobilized Ward of the hospital. After a party with Brownie Troop 486 the Juniors and Browmies will carol.

At the Town and Country Convalescent Hospital in Fullerton Junior Troop 730 Scouts will decorate the day room and tree with handmade ornaments, present gifts and Christmas carol.

Lifesaver dolls will be presented by Junior Troop 823 to Rowland Hospital, Covina, where the Scouts will visit and carol with their sister troop Brownie 247.

Junior Troop 965 dressed and groomed dolls for Santa Claus Inc. The Scouts will also carol their neighborhood fore a Christmas party.

Twenty candy-filled Christmas stockings will be donated by Brownie Troop 102 to a ward at Pacific State Hospital.

A selection of holiday songs will be presented by Brownie Troop 308 around the Pacific Bank in Diamond Bar.

Girls of Brownie Troop 388 will visit the children's ward in San Dimas Hospital to decorate the tree with handmade items.

Brownie Troop 448 will distribute tray favors and carol at Casa Colina Hospital. Brownies will also have a gift exchange and popcorn stringing party at the home of their leader, Mrs. Ronald Briles.

Members of Brownie Troop 478 will collect old toys to be repaired and donated to Santa Claus Inc.

Pays the bill

NEW YORK (UPI) — "Textile Talk," a newsletter of the fabrics industry, says it's the manufacturer who pays for the new labelling required by federal law.

It says one manufacturer estimated it would spend around $500,000 a year on care labelling. But customers have a responsibility too — look for, read, and properly follow the care instructions.

Try walking

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Beat the energy crisis. Walk!

Walking rather than auto-riding saves gasoline, cuts down on pollutants, and improves your physical and mental well-being. This is the message Dr. Gerald Robin, of Chevy Chase, Md., delivered to the annual meeting recently of the American Podiatry Association. He said, "It's one of the best — if not, THE best — exercise for the entire body and a perfect way to work off the tensions of the day."

LET'S ASK THE COOK

by Nan Wiley

One of my favorite holiday activities is cookie making. When the card table goes up in the kitchen to make extra space for cookie cooling, it's best to keep out of my way or risk getting clobbered with a rolling pin. For days you may find jam on the doorknobs and flour on the telephone but I am having a good time.

Ever since a reader mentioned that it is easy to remove my raspberry kiss cookies from the cookie sheets if they are non-stick lined I have been besieged with requests from those who missed it first time around two years ago. It is such a pretty little cookie — really, almost like candy — it perks up any assorted cookie plate. So here is what you do.

Beat 3 egg whites with ⅛ teaspoon salt until foamy. Mix 3½ tablespoons raspberry flavored fruit gelatin powder with ¾ cup sugar. Add gradually to foamy egg whites, beat until mixture stands in peaks. Make sure sugar is well dissolved or kisses will be sticky.

Mix in 1 tablespoon vinegar, then fold in 1 cup chocolate bits. Drop by teaspoons onto ungreased cookie sheets lined with brown paper or use non-stick lined pans. Bake 25 minutes at 250 degrees. Turn off heat but leave kisses in the oven for another 20 minutes. Makes about 7 dozen.

Be sure your oven thermostat is accurate. I double check mine with a little portable thermometer placed in the oven.

I count plates or boxes of cookes as an ideal gift for postman, your favorite supermarket checker, your child's teacher, a next door neighbor and so many others. Gifts from your kitchen make the "just right" gift for almost anyone. Who doesn't welcome a loaf of freshly baked homemade bread? It can be accompanied by a small cutting board and knife if you wish, the whole thing done up in clear plastic wrap and ribbons.

If yeast breads are not your forte how about a loaf of pumpkin tea bread or cranberry bread? I try to keep a couple of loaves in the freezer at all times. Perhaps your canning cupboard has a surplus of one of your relish specialties.

Another gift item right at your fingertips—you may not have thought of it, but a sheet of postage stamps is a gift anyone trying to get along on social security or other limited income would appreciate.

More bicycles

NEW YORK (UPI) — The bicycle industry, looking to the future, sees the nation using 18 million bikes by 1975.

That figure counts in both domestic and imported makes and represents a sizeable increase from 1973's total of 15.4 million, says the Bicycle Institute of America.

Ask Dr. Brothers

On day care centers

By DR. JOYCE BROTHERS

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: My husband and I are separated by mutual consent and I'm now left to support our 4-year-old child. I don't want to have to accept support from my husband and I would prefer not involving my parents in this matter because I know that if I do, I will have to give up some of my personal freedom and the freedom I now have to relate to my child as I wish.

My former boss has offered me a chance to return to a job I found interesting and satisfying. I would go back at a higher salary and have excellent opportunities for advancement. Since I don't think I want to remarry, it's important for me to have something I enjoy and a profession that pays well. Obviously, I want to take the job, but my mother insists it will be harmful to my daughter to put her in the day-care center I've selected. She's offered to take car of her, but I don't want this. The day-care center is supposed to be one of the best, but naturally, if I'm really going to be hurting my daughter, I'll find some other solution. —D.D.

Dear D.D.: If you have selected a reliable day-care center, then you proobably have nothing to worry about. As I'm sure you know, there are many arguments pro and con day care, but recent studies indicate that children actually have much to gain from well managed day care.

First, children learn early in life to get along with their peers and to enter into group activities. If you have been very close to your daughter, the first few days may be difficult for her, and for you. The normal child doesn't like being separated from Mother at any age. There is a strong pull that has to be overcome, but in a short time, your daughter will begin to feel secure with other adults and children near her age. This is a healthy adjustment and if you make the most of the time you do spend with her you both will look forward to that time together each day.

A research team at Syracuse University studied some of the effects of child care programs at its own center. Psychologists compared the social behavior of two groups of three-and four-year-olds. One group had been in an infant day-care center continuously from age one, while other, matched case for case, had no previous day-care experience.

The late-comers to the center were more unhappy, tense and withdrawn on their first day and never really caught up with the early group in making new friends. The early group, although attached to their mothers, were accustomed to the absence and were used to unfamiliar adults and children their age. On the slightly negative side, they were also more physically and verbally aggressive. Watch for this aggression and find ways to counteract it if it occurs with your daughter. Those in nursery school from an early age were also more active and somewhat harder to handle.

Apparently, the more socializing agents a child encounters, the better he is able to resist pressure to conform—particularly when the pressure comes from adults. This can have both positive and negative effects. It may mean that the child is more independent at an early age. To me, this seems to be a good quality although it might make the child much more difficult to handle in the ordinary school situation.

Since your daughter is four, it might be easier for her if she could be with children who were making the same adjustment she will have to make. You can help her by introducing her to the day-care center in advance so she can develop confidence in them and in herself. If you can introduce her gradually, and if she is always assured that you are going to return when you say you will, her adjustment will be easier.

LINDA KETCHUM

June 21 nuptials planned

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Ketchum of Pomona announce the engagement of their daughter, Linda Marie, and Clifton Forrest McPherson of Pomona.

A June 21 wedding is planned by the couple.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Pomona High School and Cal Poly University. She is in teacher preparation studies at Cal Poly and works for La Verne recreation department.

Mr. PcPherson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton "Tex" McPherson, former Cucamonga residents who now live in Luxembourg, G.D. Luxembourg.

He is an engineering technology major at Cal Poly and is employed by Fazio's Shopping Bag in Upland.

The engagement was announced in a candlelight ceremony. The bride-elect is a member of Sigma Delta sorority.

Muir-Clovis vows recited in church

After a honeymoon in Kansas City, Mo., Mr. and Mrs. Harry P. Muir Jr. will reside in Lenexa, Kan.

The bride is the former Mary Susan Clovis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence D. Clovis of Salina, Kan. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Muir of Chino.

The Rev. Bernard R. Hawley officiated at the couple's marriage in the First Presbyterian Church of Salina, Kan.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of satapeau and venise lace designed with a high neckline and shepherdess sleeves. A satin and cluny lace cloche enhanced with pearls held the bride's matilla veil which was cathedral length.

She carried a cascade of white gladioli and yellow roses.

Mrs. Larry White was matron of honor.

John Gordon was best man and Larry White was the usher.

A reception at the Salina Country Club followed the ceremony.

MRS. HARRY P. MUIR JR.

Acupuncture

NEW YORK (UPI) — Medical historians say acupuncture probably is the oldest established form of medical practice, having been in use for years in China, France, Great Britain and the Soviet Union. It gained prominence in the United States in 1972 with President Nixon's trip to China and resultant dispatches on health care practices in the modernday People's Republic of China.

NO PROBLEM — Setting up house should be no problem for Britain's Princess Anne and her new husband, Capt. Mark Phillips, provided they aren't too choosy about some of the furnishings. Wedding gifts, some 2,000, the couple received are on public display at St. Jame's Palace.

Fewer high school grads joining army

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Army got fewer high school granduates last month than it has in at least the last four years, raising the spectre that the all volunteer force will be filled with low quality soldiers.

Official Pentagon statistics revealed Monday that only 38 per cent of the Army's new male recruits in November had high school diplomas. The worst previous figure in the last four years was 44 per cent last December.

The proportion of high school granduates has for a long time been a standard measures of the quality of recruits. However, another key measure is the intelligence rating garnered from tests given recruits.

The Army did well by that measure, with only 18 per cent of its November recruits scoring as "Catorgory IVs," the military term for men with below average intelligence.

By comparison, over the last 12 years the proportion of low IQ recruits has ranged from an annual low 17 per cent in the last two years to a high of 28 per cent in 1968.

While the high school diploma is a common measure, officials have tried for some months to discount its importance.

Army Lt. Gen. Robert Taber, deputy assistant defense secretary for manpower, said two months ago the high school diploma was not watched as a measure of intelligence or trainability but because graduates "made out better in the structured military society as regards disipline."

Official, said 20 per cent of the dropouts become problems for the Army—a much higher percentage than for graduates.

The Army has decided to accept the questionable cases and watch them closely during basic training period.

Health care plan costs? nobody getting something for nothing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The administration boasts that its new national health plan will require no increase in taxes. This is a half-truth that disguises more than it reveals.

The administration plan does anticipate increased costs. Whether it is called higher taxes or higher costs, it will mean greater out-of-pocket payments for health care by employers, by employes, by the self-employed and by the United States Treasury.

How much more? The administration says it cannot make any meaningful estimates.

The plan would operate entirely through private insurance companies. It would require that firms, as a condition to doing business in the United States, take out health insurance for their employes.

At the outset, employers would have to pick up two-thirds the cost of the insurance, with employes paying the remainder. Ultimately, the employer share would rise to 75 per cent. There would be nothing voluntary about those costs. They would be as compulsory as taxes.

Under the administration plan, the government would set a minimum standard for health care insurance. It would cover the entire nation but would be aimed particularly at insuring the middle-class against catastrophic medical costs.

The middle-class and its employers, of course, would pay for it. So would the self-employed who would be able to buy into the new insurance program.

For the low-income and the aged, the government would pay all or part of the costs, depending upon individual income.

The administration figures that it will cost the government about $4 billion more a year to shift Medicare and Medicaid to the coverage provided by the new health plan. According to the planners, that cost could be absorbed by the U.S. Treasury.

There would be a tax increase involved in a reported proposal to treat employer contributions to health plans as part of an employe's income, subject to federal individual income taxes.

There has been a tendency to compare such a $4 billion cost increase to what some administration sources have estimated as the $70 billion government cost involved in the health plan proposed by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, a $37 billion first-year government cost of the so-called Reuther Commission recommendation, which has become the basis of several major health bills introduced in Congress.

To make such a comparison would be the same as seeing no difference between cherries and watermelons.

Cranked into the estimates of the Kennedy and Reuther Commission plans and omitted from the administration proposal are:

—The existing cost of health care, including payments made to physicians, hospitals, nurses, druggists as well as payments to private insurance plans.

—The existing costs of Medicare and Medicaid.

—The increased private insurance costs under the administration plan.

The Kennedy plan would shift virtually all existing private health care costs to the government and have them paid through a system of federal taxes.

The lesson to be drawn from the confusion over health care costs is simple: no one gets something for nothing, whether it is the U.S. government or private industry. The greater the health care benefit, the higher the cost whether it's paid for through higher taxes or higher premiums to insurance companies.

Kissinger will visit 6 nations

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger will visit six Middle East countries Dec. 13-17 in an effort to get a Geneva peace conference going as hoped on Dec. 18.

The State Department said Kissinger's tight agenda calls for him to be in Egypt Dec. 13-14, Saudi Arabia Dec. 14-15, Syria Dec. 15, Jordan Dec. 15-16, Lebanon Dec. 16, and Israel on Dec. 16-17.

A department spokesman, George Vest, declined to say specifically that the United States was counting on the Geneva Conference to start Dec. 18. However, officials said privately that announcement of the pre-conference Kissinger schedule could be reasonably interpreted to mean that the 18th is still the target date for the peace conference.

Aluminum penny gets Senate OK

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate voted Friday to allow the U. S. Treasury to begin making pennies out of aluminum if it wishes.

The bill, sent to the House by voice vote with only three senators on the floor, would allow the Secretary of the Treasury to determine when the copper one cent piece "is no longer practicable" and switch to aluminum.

The price of copper has risen to a point where its use for pennies could become unprofitable to the government.

The bill prescribes that the penny cannot contain less than 96 per cent aluminum and the balance would be made up of "such other metals as the (the Treasury Secretary) shall determine."

NOTICE

Application for Waste Discharge Requirements National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System Permit for Quaker Chemical California

Public Notice No. 74-2 NPDES No. CA0000175.

Quaker Chemical California, P.O. Box 973, Pomona, California 91769 has filed a report of waste discharge and applied for the requirements for the discharge of wastes in San Antonio Creek tributary to Santa Ana River. Quaker Chemical California is engaged in a process where cooling water waste is generated.

On the basis of preliminary staff review and application of lawful standards and regulations, the California Regional Water Quality Control Board, Santa Ana Region, tentatively proposes to issue waste discharge requirements including effluent limitations and special conditions. Persons wishing to comment upon or object to the proposed discharge requirements are invited to submit same in writing to the above address no later than December 24, 1973. All comments or objections received prior to December 24, 1973, will be considered in the formulation of final determinations regarding the waste discharge. If no objections are received, the Regional Board will issue discharge requirements. A Public hearing will be held upon request of any interested person.

The report of Waste Discharge, related documents, fact sheets, comments received, and other information is on file and may be inspected or copied at California Regional Water Quality Control Board, Santa Ana Region, 6833 Indiana Ave., Riverside, CA 92506, during business hours 8:00 A.M. to 5:00 P.M. weekdays.

A MESSAGE TO CLASSIFIED AD USERS

You are about to invest money for an Ad and you are entitled to get results. To accomplish this it is necessary for you to TELL ALL about the details of your offer. Be sure you don't make any of the following errors that prevent results. Readers can't guess on important details. Remember, a well written informative ad will get results faster and cost less in the long run.

1. Don't Omit The Address

Many out-of-town readers will write you but will not spend money for a long distance call.

2. Don't Omit The Phone Number

Many readers will call you but do not find it convenient to come to your home.

3. Don't Use Blind Box Numbers

Avoid them if at all possible. They are difficult to answer and many people are suspicious of them.

4. Don't Conceal The Price

Surveys show that a high percentage of readers will not answer an ad unless the price is given.

5. Don't Leave Home On The Days You Advertise

Many good prospects will not call the second time if your phone is unanswered.

FRIENDS,
Here are just a few of the many written comments we receive from our happy customers:
Courteous, cooperative, considerate attention on every detail from all your personnel.
H. & B. RUSH, Mira Loma
Cooperation and concern of your personnel made the transition to mobile home living a pleasant experience.
L. HUTCHINSON, Pom.
Thanks for the fine way you have treated us in our new mobile home and we love every minute of it.
R. & M. BLAND, Pom.
Your Service Personnel have been exceptional, both in workmanship and pleasant attitude. Thanks so much.
A. & D. KRUGER, La Puente
Yes folks, our entire staff of efficient, cooperative personnel are at your service to provide you with courteous customer relations for the rest of your life!
Sincerely
BILL HARRIS
